A POLITICAL MUDDLE

Open War Declared Between Mayor and Police Commission.

BIDDEFORD, ME., THE SCENE

The City Marshal Refuses to Resign His Office.

BIDDEFORD, Me., July 1.—After th adjournment of yesterday's meeting of the Biddeford police commission, in which open war was declared by Mayor Staples against the appointment of Charles B. Harmon as city marshal, Chairman E. H. Banks waited on City Marshal Cote and asked him to resign.

Marshal Cote said he had no intention of resigning; that he had been elected by the municipal officers for a year, had given bonds for that length of time, and that it would take more authority than the police commission possessed to remove him.

The marshal and Chairman Banks ha quite a lengthy dispute over the matter.

The marshal argued that, under the provisions of the police bill and the rules adopted by the board, the city marshal and that until the expiration of Cote's term his successor cannot be appointed.

Cannot Be Removed Without Cause,

Commissioner Banks declared that the commission would make an appointment, and the courts would be appealed to to sustain its action.

After consulting counsel the two Republican members of the commission served a notice on the mayor announcing that a meeting would be held at 10 o'clock today, at which time a city marshal and police force would be appointed.

The mayor and his backers declare they are acting under the instruction of eminent legal counsel, and that the present marshal and police force shall continue to hold office, even if the commission appoints new ones.

The applicants for policemen's berths under the new commission are not so persistent, now that they foresee a ahead of them and some doubt as to their ability to get pay from the city for their services.

The Democrats claim that Mayor Staples' antagonism is based on his spite against Mr. Harmon, who was a few years ago a Democratic United States marshal, and that had the commission decided on the appointment of any other candidate the mayor would have joined hands with them.

But Harmon's friends deny this, and claim that the mayor would have rebelled against the appointment of any other Republican.

The opposition to Mr. Harmon is not entirely confined to the Democrats, as a number of Republicans met last night and started a petition, in which they declare that the appointment of Harmon would be injurious to the interests of the Republican party.

Gloucester Fishing Schooner Libelled.

OTTAWA, July 1. — Instructions have been issued to libel the Gloucester (Mass.) fishing schooner Lewis H. Giles, which was seized off Prince Edward Island two weeks ago for poaching. This action has been taken with a view to the confiscation of the vessel, but will not preclude negotiations for a settlement of the case if the owners so desire and the government is willing.

Harrison's Cousin Missing.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Cicero Harrison, aged 78, a cousin of ex-President Harrison, has mysteriously disappeared. He was last seen on board the Old Dominion line steamship Guayandotte. He was a passenger on the vessel bound for this city from Norfolk. Mr. Harrison had in his possession when he boarded the vessel $100,000 in money and securities.

Boodlers Censured.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Mayor Boody and the Brooklyn board of aldermen were severely censured by the Kings county grand jury yesterday. That body has been investigating the electric railway purchase scandal. It considered evidence against Mayor Boody and the aldermen who voted away valuable franchises. The jury regretted its inability to indict the mayor.

The Trouble at Bangkok.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Advices received yesterday from Bangkok, Siam, by the Presbyterian board of missions in this city contain the prediction of trouble with the French which recent dispatches have confirmed, by the announcement that the French fleet has taken possession of the river Meinam and that its gunboats are ready to bombard the city.

Pittsburg's Labor Troubles.

PITTSBURG, July 1.—It is probable that there will be about 250,000 or 300,000 idle workers in the Pittsburg district today. All the glass houses will close for periods of five to six weeks and several plate glass houses have shut down. In case there is no settlement of the iron scale about 10,000 to 15,000 men in the Pittsburg district will be on a strike

Massachusetts Humane Society Rewarded

OTTAWA, July 1.—The minister of marine has approved the grant of $1000 to the Humane Society of Massachusetts as a reward for the services rendered by the Rockport, Mass., lifeboat belonging to the society in saving the crew of the St. John schooner Osseo on May 17 last.

AN EXTRA SESSION.

Congress Called Upon to Reassemble August 7.

BUSINESS DEMANDED IT.

The Sherman Law Will Undoubtedly Be Repealed.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, June 30, 1893.

Whereas, The distrust and apprehension concerning the financial situation which pervades all business circles have already caused great loss and damage to our people and threaten to cripple our merchants, stop the wheels of manufactures, bring distress and privation to our farmers and withhold from our workingmen the wage of labor; and,

Whereas, The present perilous condition is largely the result of a financial policy which the executive branch of the government finds embodied in unwise laws, which must be executed unless repealed by congress:

Now therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, in performance of a constitutional duty, do by this proclamation declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the convening of both houses of the congress of the United States at the capital in the city of Washington on the seventh day of August next at 12 o'clock noon, to the end that the people may be relieved through legislation from present and impending dangers and distrust.

All those entitled to act as members of the Fifty-third congress are required to take notice of this proclamation and attend at the time and place above stated.

Given under my hand and the seal of the United States at the city of Washington on the thirtieth day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and seventeenth.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

The proclamation was issued at 6 o'clock. The president had for the issuance of this proclamation before his departure for Gray Gables. The determination to call an extra session the first week in August, instead of the first week in September, was only definitely arrived at in yesterday morning's cabinet session.

It is inferred from the fact that the president has done so that he considers that he has obtained the assurance he desired.

Most of the cabinet have followed the president's example and left the city for brief vacations. Those who remain say the president's proclamation speaks for itself and decline to discuss the situation further.

The plain facts appear to be that the disturbances of values arising from the uncertainties of the situation grew so alarmingly that Mr. Cleveland was compelled at last to acknowledge that the "unexpected contingencies necessitating an earlier meeting of congress," which he spoke of in his celebrated interview of June 5, had arrived. The action of the British government in India

Brought Matters to a Crisis.

Previous to that startling event Mr. Cleveland manifested a firm determination to adhere to his plan of calling congress on Sept. 1.

After the suspension of silver coinage in India the president resolutely declined to speak further about his intentions until he should be prepared to act, and each of his cabinet officers maintained a similar silence. It may be stated, however, without violation of confidence, that from the day when the announcement of the action of India was made the president took steps to keep himself forewarned through the press dispatches of the slightest approach of panic in the money market, prepared at any moment to take the course which he has now adopted, if it seemed to him that his doing so would in any way tend to allay alarm and restore public confidence.

Yesterday when he found telegrams on his table not only from the eastern and middle states, but also from the south and even from some of the urging that congress be called together at the earliest day possible to end the uncertainty, he determined to delay no longer. But even in taking this action the president took steps as far as he could to prevent it being known before the stock exchange closed, so as to avoid any appearance of exercising any undue influence on the stock market.

Cleveland on the Way to Gray Gables.

NEW YORK, July 1.—President Cleveland, accompanied by Secretary Lamont and Miss Lamont, arrived here last night. The party was met at the station in Jersey City by Dr. Bryant, surgeon general of the United States. "I have nothing at all to say now," the president said. "I have issued a proclamation calling congress together on Aug. 7. In that I have given my reasons for doing so, and that is all there is to it."

While crossing the river on the ferryboat Colonel Lamont said to the reporters:

"I am in favor of the repeal of the Sherman law and don't favor free coinage as a substitute, and the president holds the same opinion on that matter as myself. There have not been any personal appeals to him for an early session, or opposition to such from silver men, to speak of."

"Mr. Cleveland," continued Secretary Lamont, "is going directly on board Mr. Benedict's yacht Oneida, which is waiting on the East river off Twenty-sixth street. Mr. Benedict is on board, and they will cruise slowly along the sound, reaching Buzzards bay tomorrow evening or Monday morning. He will remain there about three weeks. Dr. Bryant will accompany him."

South Carolina In the Rum Business.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 1.—The state of Carolina went into the rum business at midnight last night. Every private bar in the state closed at that hour. After today every bottle of whisky or glass of beer bought will be sold by the state for its own profit. The scheme is Mr. Tillman's and is for profit. He say it will reduce taxation one-half and net the state $500,000 the first year.

PROVIDENCE, July 1.—When the custodian of the estate of Mrs. Barnaby made a demand for jewelry and diamonds valued at $15,000, he received a valueless mess of paste and inferior metal. It is reported that fresh legal proceedings will be taken as an outcome of the result.

HOP OF QUINCY YACHT CLUB.

Seashore Breezes at Manet Beach—A Popularity Contest Started.

The outcome of the resolution adopted by the City Council to stop the flying horses of J. D. Tabers at Houghs Neck from running on Sundays, is anxiously awaited not only by those directly interested but by the public in general. Chief of Police Langley visited the beach yesterday and officially notified Mr. Taber that he must not run his horses Sunday, Mr. Taber will submit tomorrow and close that part of his business, but he says that after Sunday if he is not allowed to run them on Sundays that he will close all of his business except his hotel and will close up every other place on the beach and will prosecute every person who sells anything except that allowed by a victuallers license.

The Yacht Club Hop.

The Quincy Yacht Club could not have selected a more beautiful night for their first hop. It was delightful for dancing and a cool pleasant evening on the veranda. The moon, made many of the surrounding objects visible and threw a path of moonbeams from the North Weymouth shore to the club house. The party which gathered at the hop made the scene in the house as attractive as that out-of-doors.

Nearly all of the active members of the club and their lady friends were present. During the intermissions, walks were taken along the shore and down on the float. All present hope that "Fair Luna" will always be as condescending on the nights of coming hops.

A Popularity Contest.

In the MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER today is inaugurated a grand popularity contest by the Manet Land Associates. For particulars see their advertisement. It is open to all residents of the beach and it only takes a few days to become a resident. Agents of the land company and the LEDGER are not eligible. Papers will be sold at "one price," discounts being made only for 100 or 1000 orders. During the contest, papers may be obtained at Houghs Neck,—at the Post Office, the Casino, Manet Lunch room, H. W. French, and by newsboys. At Quincy at the LEDGER office and other agents. Vote early.

Sea Breezes.

The coast survey have again been along the shores of Quincy bay. They have erected flag-poles along the shore on which blue and white flags are flying.

Mr. Al Taber and family are again enjoying themselves in their large tent on Bell street.

Tents are springing up on many of the unoccupied lots and by Monday the nomadic population will be settled for the summer.

The Manet Beach Water Commissioners, Mr. Dexter Faxon, chairman, are digging another well on Parkhurst street.

Two new houses are going up on Great Hill and one is being built over on the plains.

The blow has fallen at last. Chief of Police Langley has notified Mr. Taber that his much abused horses must not be driven Sunday. There is such a contented look in the poor beasts' eyes that the City Council should be thoroughly repaid for their previous endeavors in the behalf of these animals.

A DERAILMENT.

An Accommodation Train Leaves the Tracks Just This Side of Atlantic.

There was quite a little excitement at Atlantic Friday afternoon caused by the 4.04 inward train from Quincy running off the main line into the embankment just this side of the Atlantic depot. The switches and signals were set for the Granite branch but the engineer of the inward train apparently failed to notice the signal, and ran his train upon a short spur track placed there for the purpose of preventing one train from crashing into another. As the train was to stop at the station, it did not have much headway and only the engine lelt the track and no one was injured. The inward tracks were however blocked and all inward trains delayed for two hours, as it was 6 o'clock before the wrecker, that was sent out from Boston, succeeded in getting the derailed engine on the rails again. All of the outward trains were also more or less delayed, and many Quincy people had a late supper. The Quincy electrics came in handy and were largely patronized.

Randolph's Centennial.

The town of Randolph has perfected arrangements for the due celebration of the 100th anniversary of its incorporation on Wednesday, July 19th. The committee of arrangements numbers twenty-four and comprises the most influential and public spirited of the citizens of the town. John V. Beal, Esq, is to deliver the historical address which will, undoubtedly, not disappoint expectations, nor belittle the auspicious occasion.

There will be a salute of guns and ringing of bells at sunrise, assembly of school children at 10 A. M., a salute of guns and ringing of bells at 5 P. M., and a promenade concert and ball in Stetson hall in the evening, The public dinner at which the historical address will be given and other speeches, takes place in the afternoon. Our town officials have received invitations to be present. We hope the weather will be favorable. A grand time may be fully expected.

New Railroad Tickets.

There was quite a change in the railroad tickets of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad this morning, as the agents commenced selling the new issue today. All the single tickets now are of one color, a blue, and the station agents will be puzzled for some time, as, unless care is taken, a man who buys a ticket for Boston may have one that reads to Newport passed to him. The one hundred-ride tickets, instead of being yellow, are now a salmon color.

James Little, of Quincy avenue, was the first man to purchase one of the new single tickets to Boston, Miss Lena Murphy the first to Wollaston, Joseph T. French the first ten-trip ticket, and a young man from Granite street, the first one hundred-ride ticket.

WEYMOUTH.

Col. B. S. Lovell entertains the Lovell Diamond Cycle club of East Weymouth and the Somerville Cycle club with a shore dinner at Fort Point, Sunday.

The graduates of the South High school last evening were: Rena F. Blanchard, Bertha F. Cushing, Rachel L. Gawes, Mary E. Healey, Mary A. Holbrook, Helen M. Loud, George R. Sellers, Mary W. Thayer, Sarah M. Ellis, Bridget A. Flynn, Mary J. Quinn, Theron B. Shaw, Annie M. Sullivan, Annie G. Taylor.

—A loan of $3,649,500 is proposed by the Boston aldermen for public improvements. It includes over a million for the paving department.

CONVENTION OF OLD MEN.

Charles Breck of Milton Would Rival All Nations and May Attend.

Macedonian lodge of Masons was constituted at Milton on Wednesday, and a proposition made on that evening may bring it immediately into world-wide renown. Past Master Adams, better known as "Oliver Optic," said in his remarks that a convention of old men of all nations was soon to be held in France, and no man under 95 years of age was to be permitted to attend. He wanted much to take Mr. Charles Breck of Milton to that convention, as he hoped to be there in that country before the middle of July.

He claimed that he could present a man, in the person of Mr. Breck, who would rival all nations, inasmuch as he was a good man, possessing not only all the riches in the fullness of a perfect life of almost 96 years, but in the fact that he had been a good, true and perfect Mason of over 67 years' experience, an experience unequaled by any other man in the country and perhaps in the world.

Mr. Breck is the one survivor of the "Three Macedonians," so well known to Masonic history in the United States, who rendered such wonderful and telling aid to Union Lodge of Dorchester, Mass., and Masonry of the world during that great struggle of fifty years ago for Masonic liberty and freedom.

Charles Breck and his brothers, Robert M. Todd and Thomas T. Wadsworth, were born and lived in Milton beyond the Neponset river, and they all of them lived to fill the highest positions in Union Lodge. Bro. Breck is also a Past Master of Rural Lodge of Quincy.

It is understood now that the Masonic fraternity of Massachusetts will make an effort to send Past Master Breck to France to attend the convention mentioned above, under the care of Mr. W. T. Adams.

BRAINTREE.

Charles C. Fogg of Whitman, formerly, and with the exception of a few years, a resident of Braintree, and when there one of the best known men among us, died in the first mentioned town Thursday June 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Watson arrived home Wednesday from a month's visit to the World's Fair.

Thursday evening Dr. S. C. Bridgham, town physician, reported a case of scarlet fever, on Middle street, to the Board of Health.

Rev. A. H. Ross, the new pastor of the South Congregational church, begins his pastorate tomorrow morning. We extend to Mr. Ross a hearty welcome among us.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving W. Horne, leave next week for Maine where they will spend a part of the school vacation. Mr. Horne is very popular with the children and his first year as superintendent of the schools of Braintree has been a most prosperous one.

Sunday morning George H. Wales, George W. Jennings, Frank E. Woodworth and Charles Hayward started on their bicycles for Providence, Rhode Island, a distance of fifty miles which they accomplished in four hours and a half. We call this pretty good travelling and more than a Sabbath day's journey.

E. F. Watkins left this morning for Laconia, N. H., to spend the Fourth with his family sojourning there.

The Braintree Veteran Firemen's Association voted at last meeting to attend the Firemen's muster at Worcester, Aug. 17th.

The Columbia Rubber Company has closed for an indefinite period, which will probably cause an overflow of hay-makers on the market.

Tuesday night Puritan Lodge, I. O. O. F. worked the third degree on three candidates, and afterward elected C. C. Brown, N. G. and Warren R. Page V. N. G.

Yesterday the Chief Engineer of the Old Colony railroad was on the grounds in consultation, with the Selectmen relative to the putting up of gates at the four crossings, on the South Shore line, in East Braintree.

—There is an aged negro in middle Tennessee who rejoices in the name of Nigger Falls, though he was really christened after the great cataract. Glory Hallelujah Jones is the imposing name of a Mississippi darky.

It is calculated that in the entire world 67 people die every minute.

YALE'S CREW WINS.

Harvard Beaten Over Three Lengths In a Plucky Race

IN REMARKABLY SLOW TIME

Record to Date of Races Between the Two Crews.

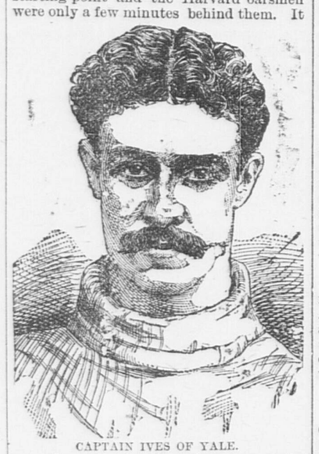

NEW LONDON, Conn., July 1.—The great race of the season took place yesterday under fairly good conditions, and Yale again showed her superior ability, winning by three lengths after a race which was exceedingly pretty and thoroughly interesting from start to finish. The Harvard boys left town defeated, but it was by no means a procession down the Thames in which they took part.

New London had seemed full of visitors when the sun rose yesterday. What was the condition when the excursion trains came in from Boston and New Haven, each Loaded With Passengers?

Everybody started for the river early, and the excursion steamers and launches were quickly filled with passengers who waved their red and blue flannels, impatiently waiting for the start.

At 10.50 the Yale crew had reached the starting point and the Harvard oarsmen were only a few minutes behind them. It seemed an age while the crews were waiting for the signal to start, but finally it came at 11.04 and the boats were off pulling in best of style.

Yale had the best at the start, but it was only for a few seconds. For the Harvard men did beautifully, and by the time the first half mile flag was reached, crimson was ahead by just a trifle. Time—Harvard, 2:51; Yale, 2:52.

Then rose "rahs" from the launches and the prospects of a Harvard victory were bright; even stronger were the hopes when the mile flag was reached and Yale was half second more behind. Harvard, 5.57; Yale, 5.58 1-2.

That was the last of Harvard's lead, for Yale came to the front now, and kept it for the balance of the race. Harvard kept pluckily at work, however, and the race lost nothing in interest. Rowers of the blue had and as they went by the mile-and-a-half flag the time was: Yale, 9; Harvard 9.03. By this time blue banners were waving on launches and on the observation train, which though late in reaching the start, was now abreast. A few Harvard flags were in sight, for all had not lost hopes but that its shell might come to the front by a mighty effort. In the next half mile Yale had forced ahead a little more, and the first half of the race was finished. Time—Yale, 12.06; Harvard, 12.10.

Now the enthusiasm of the spectators increased, for the crews now approached the excursion boats, black with spectators, which were anchored along the eastern bank of the river. Carriages drove rapidly along, trying to keep up with the racers.

Two and a half mile time—Yale, 15:22; Harvard, 15:27. In the next half mile Harvard dropped back still more, in spite of the best the men could do, and when the three-mile point was reached the time was—Yale, 18:39; Harvard. 18:50. Then came an increase in speed for Harvard, and amid terrific din from the boats along the banks. Guns were fired in quick succession. Fair spectators become almost frantic in waving their banners and the cheers increased. Two seconds gain had been made by the time the 3 1-2 mile point was reached. Yale, 21:50; Harvard, 21:59.

Now came the finish for what had been one of the prettiest races in New London history and which well repaid every one for his trip in coming.

Yale finished beautifully, crossing the finish point in 25m. 1⅛s; Harvard, 25m. 15s.

The Record to Date.

The following is the record to date of eight-oared races between Harvard and Yale, the first two having been over the Springfield course and the rest at New London:

Struck by an Electric.

BOSTON, July 1.—Dr. George A. Newell of West Somerville, while driving last evening near the Arlington line, was struck by an electric car. In the carriage was Mrs. Newell's mother, Mrs. Nancy May, who was quite badly hurt, and the doctor was slightly injured. The horse was killed.

British Representatives at Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 1.—Hon. Michael H. Herbert, first secretary of the British legation, and his wife, have arrived here for the season and taken the R. T. Wilson cottage. The headquarters of the British legation has practically been transferred from Washington to this city. Sir Julian Pauncefote is also here.

Resignations From Lynn's Health Board.

LYNN, Mass., July 1.—At the meeting of the board of health last evening Lawyer Henry F. Hurlburt and William A. La Croix resigned as members, claiming that the pressure of other business did not allow them to attend to the work the board required of them. These men expressed their reasons for not caring to further serve the city last week, when they said the city government was making the board a regular waste basket.

The Bordens' New Home.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 1.—Misses Lizzie A. and Emma L. Borden have bought the Butterworth mansion. It is a three-story house and is situated in the most fashionable portion of the city, known as "the hill." The price is not known, but is in the neighborhood of $15,000. They will soon remove to their new quarters, and the Second street house will be sold.

Connecticut Prison Wardenship.

HARTFORD, July 1.—General Haven said yesterday that although he was not making a canvass for the position of warden of the state prison, if it were tendered him by the new board he would probably accept it. It is understood that General Chamberlain is a candidate for reappointment and will not move away until the appointment is secured or lost.

Sentenced For Illegally Selling Liquor.

BOSTON, July 1.—Henry P. Vieth, proprietor of Vieth's hotel, Tremont street, was found guilty of illegally selling liquor on May 30 and sentenced to two months in jail and to pay a fine of $100 by Judge Hardy yesterday in the municipal criminal court. He appealed and was held in $500 for the Suffolk grand jury.

Claims Against Moody Merrill's Estate.

BOSTON, July 1.—The total amount of claims proved against Merrill's insolvent estate is more than $200,000. One of the creditors is the Franklin Park Land and Improvement company, which proved a claim for $60,983.50. James Hewins, Edgar S. Hill and Lewis W. Reycroft were chosen assignees.

The People's Party in Vermont.

RUTLAND, Vt., July 1.—Considerable interest is being taken in the organization of a People's party in Vermont. The first meeting of farmers and workingmen for that purpose is called at the Bardwell house July 4. A number of delegates from workingmen's organizations in the state will be present.

Plea of Insanity to Stand.

BOSTON, July 1.—It is said that the friends of Dr. Wardwell, recently killed by A. L. Morse, will not appear against him and that no attempt will be made to show that he was not insane when he shot the doctor. Domestic reasons are given for this change of front.

Bound Over For Alleged Larceny.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 1.—Frank Le Clair, the alleged diamond robber, was bound over in $1500 for the alleged larceny of $700 worth of jewelry and watches from D. E. Brown. Failing to secure bonds, he went to jail, where he will have to stay until September.

Drowned While Bathing.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., July 1.—Fred Kaye was drowned yesterday while bathing in West river, two miles above Brattleboro village. His body was recovered about an hour afterwards. He was here from New York visiting his father and brother.

Essex County People's Party.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., July 1.—An outdoor meeting of the People's party of Essex county will be held at Fort Sewall, July 4, in the afternoon. Henry R. Legate and other speakers will be present.

Strike of Italian Laborers.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 1.—Seventy-five Italians at work on this end of the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill Street railway have struck for an advance of 25 cents a day, and work is at a standstill.

Serious Burning Accident.

SALEM, Mass., July 1.—Mrs. Philip Brown was nearly burnt to death yesterday. A small oil stove was tipped over, setting fire to her dress. Before the flames could be extinguished she was badly burned about the face, neck and arms.

Three Hundred Children Confirmed.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., July 1.—Bishop Brady of Boston visited St. Ann's Catholic church here yesterday and confirmed three hundred children, the largest number at a confirmation in the history of the parish.

Discharged Their Lasters.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 1.—T. S. Ruddock & Son, one of the largest shoe manufacturing concerns in this city, discharged 40 lasters. They will put in lasting machines and run a free factory.

Leather Company Organized.

BOSTON, July 1.—The secretary of state last evening granted a charter to the Middlesex Leather company of Woburn, Mass. The corporation organizes with a capital stock of $40,000.

Central Labor Union Contemplated.

LYNN, Mass., July 1.—The organization of a new Central Labor union in this city is contemplated. It is to include all kinds of crafts, to be composed of a delegate from each union.

Somerby Expelled From the Iron Hall.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 1.—A circular has been received in this city from Detroit announcing the expulsion from the Order of Iron Hall of its late supreme ruler, F. D. Somerby.

Brief Mention.

The Connecticut senate has adjourned sine die.

Sabin A. Parker of Chelsea, Mass., is missing and is alleged to have eloped.

Emmons, the crazy armorer, again escaped from the Northampton (Mass.) asylum.

The bones of a human being were found in the foundation walls of an old tavern in Canterbury, Conn.

Jose Correiro has been indicted by the grand jury for the murder of Bertha Manchester at Fall River, Mass.

The death of Samuel Y. Carleton (Dr. Samuel York of bogus medical diploma fame) occurred at Lewiston, Me.

Placing the Building Responsibility.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—As a result of the accident to the Ford's theater building Secretary Lamont has issued the following order: "From and after this date the chief of engineers will have charge of all buildings, either rented or otherwise, occupied by the war department or any of its bureaus of offices in the District of Columbia, except the state, war and navy department building, so far as relates to the preservation, care and safety of the same."

Armor Test Postponed.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The ordnance bureau of the navy department has postponed until July 8 the test of the 18-inch plate for the turreted warships.

UNDER THE NEW LAW.

How Arrests for Drunkenness Will be Considered After Today.

The new law relating to drunkeness goes into effect July 1—today. The police and the court officials all over the State have discussed it at length. The Brockton Enterprise says, "It is a law which, if rigidly observed, would make a vast deal of work for the police and the probation officer, and would not be entirely advantageous to the prisoner.

For example, it provides that after a man has become sober he shall have the right to make a statement about himself, the number of people dependent upon him, and the times he has been arrested, if ever. Then this statement shall be handed to the probation officer, who shall investigate and report to the court. But suppose, as is generally the case, that the man is arrested in the evening. He gets sober and writes out his statement early next morning, and the probation officer gets it about 7 o'clock. Between that time and 8.15, when the court comes in, the probation officer is supposed to make a thorough investigation of the truth of the man's statements. Suppose there have been ten or a dozen arrests—how impossible the investigation becomes!

The officer must either take the statement of the prisoners and the police and use his own judgment as to what report to make to the court, or else the court, notified that the officer has not had time to do his work, may continue the case another day, compelling the prisoner in the meantime to stay behind the bars or else give bail.

As in the olden time the arresting officers will have to make out formal complaints and then appear in court to press them if required. This adds to the police work.

It is stated that some judges are going to allow prisoners to stay in jail till the court gets a statement from the probation officer, when the arrested men who are pronounced proper subjects for release will be ordered released without being arraigned.

—The Pennsylvania man who says that ager beer is not intoxicating, because he often drinks fifty glasses in a day, may be believed, perhaps, on the theory that children and fools prove many tely the truth.

A FARCICAL GAME.

Boston Finds an Easy Mark In St. Louis' Pitcher, and Win as They Please.

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—Yesterday's game was more like opera bouffe than baseball. Umpire Gaffney's decisions did not please the crowd and the bleachers kept up an incessant chant. The Bostons played with Hawley, batted him at will and ran bases as if there was nothing to fear. They had the game in the second inning.

In the seventh inning a funny thing happened. The Browns were doing all sorts of wild throwing, and the Beaneaters were trotting around the bases. As McCarthy was coming home Gleason threw his arms around his neck, and the two had a playful wrestling match. The ball was returned, and McCarthy was caught at the plate. Gaffney did not see the byplay and called McCarthy out.

THE NATION'S BIRTHDAY.

Columbia, gem of the west,
Peerless thou art, alone doth stand,
A continent by freedom blest,
Bright banners float o'er all thy land.
From mountain peak to peaceful vale,
From ocean depths to bubbling rill,
We ever hear the same sweet tale
Of peace on earth, to man good will.

Of all the nations of the earth,
What one can such a record show
Of purity and sterling worth
Among her men of years ago?
On histories' page forevermore
Their names shall blend harmoniously
As those who opened wide the door,
Freedom for all posterity.

Unfurl our glorious flag once more.
Ring out in clarion tones again,
Amid the glare of cannon's roar,
The nation's yearly grand amen.
This day of days, alone it stands
A priceless gem of lustrous hue,
Secured to us by patriot hands,
A loyal band to right e'er true.

The stars and stripes, long may they wave,
Grand emblem of a land that's free.
Might and oppression found one grave;
Thereon was reared sweet liberty.
And while the golden sunset rays
In radiance flash across the earth
We'd offer up to God all praise
For noble deeds that gave our Fourth.

A BOY'S STORY.

Fourth of July and Fireworks.

BY CHARLES B. LEWIS (M. QUAD).

[Copyright, 1893.]

How I loved that girl—that Melvina Jackson! It was a case of love at first sight. I threw a paper wad at a red-headed boy in school, and the teacher made me sit with Melvina Jackson as a punishment. In after years I saw that she had a turn up nose, a freckled face, a cast in her left eye and a mouth like a milkpan, but at that period I looked upon her as a champion beauty. I didn't lose five minutes' time telling my feelings of adulation and admiration, but the most she would say was that she would ride down hill on my hand sled, borrow my geography in preference to any other and allow me to sharpen her slate pencil and lick the boys who snowballed her after school. Thus we loved and loved, or at least I did. There came a time when I could look back and see where Melvina was cool, calculating and level headed—where her love stopped dead short and business began, but I was blind then.

A year passed by before a rival entered the field. We had our spats. There were occasions when we made up faces at each other across the schoolroom; when she turned from me and let another boy wash her slate; when I was glad that she left off at the foot of the spelling class; when I added up 9 and 8 on the blackboard and made 15, and she giggled and was rejoiced. On the whole, however, we were happy. I licked 14 different boys for her direct benefit that year, and her per cent in geography was the highest of any girl in the school. We were engaged—that is, I had asked Melvina about half a million times if she would have me, and she had always replied that she guessed she would if the hogs didn't get in and root up the garden or some other awful calamity occur.

My rival was a callow youth named Sam Greene. Something warned me of peril the minute I set eyes on him, but an hour later, when I heard that he could write poetry, I realized that it would be a fight to the death. Sam went straight to work to unhorse me. At the forenoon recess he presented Melvina Jackson with a lead pencil and a slate sponge, and she smiled sweetly as she accepted them. I wrote her a note meant to annihilate her, but she read it with her mouth full of apple and didn't scare worth a cent. Long enough before noon I had determined to lick Sam Greene. A licked boy goes right out of the rival business and doesn't bother any more. If Melvina had melted a little and assured me of her fealty, I might have changed my mind, but she didn't melt. She even went so far as to whisper to a girl who would whisper it to me that Sam Greene had dreamy eyes and a nose like Cicero. After that my resolution was unshakable.

My callow rival had to be provoked before he would fight, but when we got at it he proved to be a sterling antagonist. For a long time victory wavered in the balance, and then I won by a scratch. His hair was his tender point, and when I got hold with both hands he gave in. For a week Melvina placed me on a pedestal and almost agreed to elope. Then Sam Greene sent her a piece of poetry entitled "The Maiden's Heart," and I lost my grip again. The only thing to be done was to lick him again, but he had had his hair shingled in the meantime, and the conflict did not terminate to my satisfaction. Some of the boys said I "hollered," and others said I licked, and it was an open question as to who won. He went right home and wrote another piece of poetry entitled "She Died at Sunset," and I should have been a goner but for Providence. I was hanging around Mr. Jackson's house in the evening, hoping to at least see Melvina's shadow on the kitchen window curtain, when I discovered that the smokehouse was on fire. I heroically quenched the flames, burned my left heel and saved seven hams from an inglorious fate. That was more than an offset for "She Died at Sunset," and for weeks I was a happy youth. I must credit Sam with going over and helping Mrs. Jackson to make soft soap and with painting the well curb red, white and blue at his own expense, but Melvina only treated him as a brother.

Age came creeping over me as time passed on, and my sixteenth birthday arrived. It was ushered in by Melvina presenting me with a 15-cent Testament, and it was ushered out by my giving Sam Greene the awfullest licking a hyena of a boy ever received. One of his legs slipped into a posthole during our struggle, and then I had him. This was only a week before the Fourth of July, and there was also to be a circus in town that day. In that fight, as I was rejoiced to hear, Sam lost 9 cents in cash out of one of his pockets, and I fondly hoped he would be financially paralyzed on the glorious Fourth. Alas, for my hopes! His mother permitted him to sell two old flatirons and a dozen eggs, and he was made financially stronger than before. Neither of us dared ask the fair Melvina to accompany us to the celebration. We hadn't the age nor the backing. Our attentions would come in after she reached town in her father's lumber wagon. I had licked Sam Greene again, but he was not discouraged.

When the glorious day arrived, I had a cash capital of 27 cents. In firing the sunrise salute the anvil burst, and one of the pieces struck our hencoop. That would have made me a hero in Melvina's eyes, but that ornery Sam Greene managed to burn a hole in his vest exactly over his heart with a firecracker, and that dished me. We had a fight over it, but it resulted in a draw. Sam offered Melvina the first 'lasses candy, but I came in a good second with real pink lemonade. I think he discovered the circus procession before I did, but I was the first to call attention to a serpent 20 feet long painted on the canvas of a sideshow at the circus. It was which and t'other until I got a plan to ruin Sam. I encouraged him to take Melvina in to behold the wild man of Borneo, while I remained an outsider. He fell into the trap and came out dead broke, while I still had 18 cents capital.

As my dear one and I sat under one of the circus wagons that afternoon eating gingerbread and living for each other alone, while Sam was trying to regain his lost prestige by turning handsprings a few yards away, I remember that I appealed to Melvina to fly with me. She said she was too fat to fly, and I had to struggle with my disappointment. She promised on her solemn honor, however, to die the same night I did in case we both had bilious fever, and I was quite satisfied. When the shades of night began to fall, Sam Greene was a doomed boy. Poetry couldn't save him. He made a raise of 3 cents somehow and bought an orange and offered Melvina all the peeling and half the fruit, but she turned away in disdain.

There were to be fireworks in the evening on a vacant lot not far from the circus tent. The people were not disappointed. I had a front seat with Melvina on the grass, with the callow and hollow hearted Sam Greene as near as he could get to us. The fireworks were loosely piled under the stand. The first rocket had been fired when Sam dug his toe into my back. I resented the assault, and a scrap was the consequence. It wasn't over half a minute when we rolled among the fireworks, and something broke loose. Ten seconds later candles, rockets, bombs, pinwheels, serpents and all sorts of zigzag things were scooting about in the crowd. Melvina's father had just got hold of Sam and I and bumped our heads together with a "Thar, by gosh!" when a rocket struck him on the lower vest button, and he laid down.

In the wild break the crowd walked all over each other, and half a dozen farmers' teams ran away. The circus performance had just commenced, but a dozen rockets banged the old tent, set it on fire in as many places, and everybody had to turn to and fight the flames. Next day it was figured that 40 people had been hurt and damage done to the amount of $2,000. Sam Greene lost an eye and had an ear almost torn off, while I had my nose broken and all my front teeth knocked out, and on top of that came an old fashioned home licking which kept us in bed for a week.

Sam and I got outdoors the same day. Animal magnetism drew us toward each other. From force of habit we got ready for a conflict, but no conflict occurred.

"You kin hev her all to yourself," said Sam as we faced each other.

"So kin you!"

"I don't want her!"

"Neither do I!"

"Are you mad?"

"No."

"Then I hain't."

Neither of us ever looked at Melvina Jackson again. The candle of love had burned down to the socket and died out with a fizz—bang!

HAVE YOU TRIED DRUGS AND FAILED

TO FIND A CURE FOR

RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA, KIDNEY, LIVER and BLADDER COMPLAINTS, DYSPEPSIA, LAME-BACK, &c.

DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELT with Electro Magnetic Suspensory will cure without medicine all of the above troubles. Those who suffer from Nervous Debility, Losses, Drains, Lost Manhood, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Poor Memory, all Female Complaints, and general ill health, the effects of abuses, excesses, worry or exposure, will find relief and prompt cure in our marvelous invention, which requires but a trial to convince the most skeptical. Ignorance of effects you may have on ury drained your system of nerve force and vitality—which is electricity—and thus caused your weakness or lack of force. If you replace into your system the elements thus drained, which are required for vigorous strength, you will remove the cause and health, strength and vigor will follow at once. This is our plan and treatment, and we guarantee a cure or refund money. Our 200 page book "THREE CLASSES OF MEN," should be read by every young, middle-aged and old man, sent sealed, free. Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt is no experiment, as we have restored thousands to robust health and vigor, after all other treatments failed, as can be shown by hundreds of cases throughout this and other States, who would gladly testify, and from many of whom we have strong letters bearing testimony to their recovery after using our Belt.

WE HAVE CURED THESE—WE CAN CURE YOU!

NERVOUS DEBILITY AND WEAKNESS.

NEW YORK CITY, October 24th, 1892.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—About three years ago I purchased one of your electric belts for the cure of nervous debility, which I had in its worst form and which was undermining my health. For years I had suffered from this terrible debilitating drain on my vital forces and I did not know what it was to have a good night's sleep, but in one month's time after using the belt I felt a much stronger man both mentally and physically, and in a short time was entirely well.

Yours truly, H. SEELIG, 287 Bowery.

RHEUMATISM AND LOST VIGOR.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., October 25th, 1892.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—Four years ago I suffered such pain from rheumatism that at times it was impossible for me to get around, and I always carried a cane for support. I used your belt and felt a relief in one hour. I gained in weight from that day and it was only a short time until the pains left me and to-day I am a well man. I always keep my belt near by for fear there might be a return, but as it has now been four years since you cured me, can safely say it is permanent. A. E. VOSS, Musical Director, 359 St. Mark's Place.

LOST VIGOR.

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 20, 1892.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—I can report to you that the belt has entirely cured me of rheumatism from which I suffered for fourteen years almost continually. I am a letter carrier, and the long daily tramps necessary in my rounds, up to the time of getting the belt, were painfully gone through with, but thanks to your wonderful invention, I can now walk as well as I ever did, and will recommend your treatment to all afflicted. The current has also brought back my vigor in other ways as you said it would. Yours very truly,

TRANSFER RECORDS

Showing Moody Merrill's Doings In New Hampshire.

HE "FEATHERED HIS NEST"

Before Taking His Departure From the Hub.

WOODSVILLE, N. H., July 3.—When Winthrop Merrill, son of the much-missed Moody Merrill of Boston, came here about a week ago to inspect the records in the Grafton county registry of deeds he certainly looked upon the pages of some interesting data, some of which was news to him, and some of which was familiar.

He saw recorded on May 29, this year, a deed executed but three days previous, or on May 26, in which his now absent parent parted with four tracts of land in Campton, N. H., in consideration of $500 paid to him in hand by Arthur T. Dyer of Boston.

The sale, if there was such, was evidently made on the day on which Moody Merrill left Boston, and the papers were before Winthrop Merrill, notary public.

The son of the missing man also saw the record of a deed in which Moody Merrill conveyed to Miss Cathie Smith, on Jan. 11, 1893, four lots of land, which were conveyed to the grantor by A. A. Cook on Aug. 10, 1892. This transfer of property was made by Mr. Merrill to Miss Smith in consideration of $1 and "other valuable considerations" as the legal term makes it.

If Winthrop Merrill went back still farther, he saw the record of the assignment of a mortgage of $5000 for $365 in 1883, which gave to Edgar Merrill, brother of the missing man, the farm which, as many have said of late was

The Property of Moody Merrill.

It appears by the records that this same farm came into possession of the same Moody Merrill in 1865. This latter fact seems to prove the much asserted claim that Edgar Merrill has made all along that he, and not Moody Merrill, owned the farm on which he was living.

After Winthrop Merrill had surveyed the records to his heart's content he went north from Woodsville, some say, to Groveland. From the latter place he could easily reach Sherbrooke, which is midway between Montreal and Quebec, and the belief here is that he saw his father on the trip.

What his purpose was in endeavoring to ascertain the holdings of his father in Grafton county seems to be an enigma.

A MAD DOG'S WORK.

Seven Cows Die of Hydrophobia—Human Lives In Danger.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 3.—Great excitement prevails among the farmers in Easton. About two weeks ago a mad dog passed through the village, and no less than a dozen cows were bitten, while a man named Powell and a boy named Case were attacked before the dog left that vicinity. Within a day or two seven of the cows have died of hydrophobia, and in each instance it has appeared in the most violent form. The animals became mad and ran about the fields, dashing against fences and buildings until they died in great agony.

Powell, who was bitten, is living in great fear and is nearly crazy, but as yet no hydrophobic symptoms have appeared either in his case or in that of the boy who was bitten. Both will be taken to the Pasteur institute, New York, for treatment.

A BASEBALL ARGUMENT

Ends In a Young Man Receiving a Serious Knife Wound.

BOSTON, July 3.—Everett D. Calef, 22 years old, an electrician, had a pocket-knife plunged into his abdomen early yesterday morning. James Connors, alias Joseph Watts, 18 years old, was arrested for having committed the assault. The affray occurred at the corner of Beach street and Harrison avenue. Both parties were accompanied by their friends and both sides got into a wrangle over the Harvard-Yale baseball game. Connors, aggravated by the argument, took from his pocket a large pocketknife and it is said struck at Calef, the blade penetrating the vest and underclothing and entering the abdomen. The instrument could not be removed, and Calef had to bear it in his side until the arrival of Dr. Hubbard, who withdrew it.

RHODY'S POLITICAL ROW.

Supreme Court Hears Argument From a Democratic Standpoint.

PROVIDENCE, July 3.—The greatest constitutional fight before the supreme court this state has ever known began in earnest Saturday. Arthur L. Brown argued for the Democrats that the constitution of the state imposes upon the senate and house of representatives, and upon the governor as presiding officer, the duty of meeting in grand committee at Newport during the May session of the general assembly for the election of general officers in case of a failure to elect by the people. He claimed that the senate had violated the constitution in not agreeing with the house to meet for the purpose of electing general officers.

The court reserves its decision, but will undoubtedly hand down an opinion at an early day.

Will Be a Rouser.

SALEM, Mass., July 3.—The historical Gallows hill, where the Salem witches were punished by death, will be the center of a great illumination tonight. Patriotic young men have been gathering material for a great bonfire. The pile is 60 feet high, 80 feet around the base and there are 1500 barrels on 17 tiers. The flames will be seen for miles around. The Eighth regiment band will play patriotic music, and there will be fireworks.

Drowned In the Charles.

BOSTON, July 3.—George Miller (colored) 45 years of age, a car cleaner, was upon the top of a car that was passing across the Charles river drawbridge on the Lowell division, and was knocked off into the water by coming in contact with a suspended beam. Before assistance could reach him he sank from view.

Embezzler Shaw Sentenced.

PORTLAND, Me., July 3.—William R. Shaw, ex-cashier of the Lincoln National bank, was given 10 years in the state prison for embezzlement.

Boy's Body Recovered.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3.—The body of Nicholas Wallace, the boy who was drowned in the Charles river Wednesday, was found on the marsh above the Boylston street bridge yesterday. The current had carried the body quite a distance from where the accident occurred. Wallace was 14 years old.

Spyglass For Detective Work.

SALEM, Mass., July 3.—The police arrested five men yesterday afternoon for gambling. An officer on duty across the harbor espied eight young men playing cards on the water front by the aid of a spyglass. A squad of officers descended upon the card players, but three of them got away.

Morse Held Without Bail.

BOSTON, July 3.—Amos L. Morse was arraigned in the West Roxbury district court for the murder of Dr. W. T. S. Wardwell on Florence street, Roslindale. He looked pale and careworn. The murdered man's wife gave her testimony and was cross-examined. Judge Howard held Morse without bail.

Killed Himself In a Car.

DANBURY, Conn., July 3.—The body of a man was found in a passenger coach in the depot of the New York and New Haven railroad last night. The man had committed suicide. From papers found on his body it appeared that his name is Grubb and that he lived in Bridgeport.

Shoe Thieves at Work.

LYNN, Mass., July 3.—The shoe factory of Moran & Co. was broken into and 40 pairs of shoes were stolen. Several other manufacturers are finding out that they are being continually robbed of shoes, finished and unfinished. It is undoubtedly the work of a thoroughly organized gang.

Fell From a Boat.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 3.—Charles W. Bulah (colored), 64 years old, was drowned in a pond at Holden. Bulah had been fishing from a boat. He was subject to fainting fits, and probably fell out of the boat.

Will Die from Her Injuries.

BOSTON, July 3.—Hulda Aslberg was fatally burned by the breaking of a kerosene lamp at her home, 143 Boylston avenue, Jamaica Plain, last night. Miss Aslberg is 32 years of age.

Brief Mention.

Samuel W. Mason, an old Boston schoolmaster, passed away at his home in Chelsea, Mass.

George H. True, one of the best known citizens of Manchester, N. H., died of heart trouble, aged 66 years.

Reynolds, one of the prisoners escaped from Machia (Me.) jail, has been retaken. Christie is still at large.

Peter F. Henry, aged 42, was killed by falling from the first story of the Forest House, Worcester, Mass., while in a fit.

The Baptist church society of North Adams, Mass., received word from Rev. F. D. Penney of Auburn, N. Y., accepting the call given him.

The alumni of Monmouth academy, Winthrop, Me., propose to celebrate its 90th anniversary, which occurs this summer, in an appropriate manner.

Norwalk (Conn.) elm trees, which line nearly every important street in town, are infested with worms, and hundreds of these shade trees are in danger of being killed.

Louis N. Lindburg, 5 years of age, while crossing the Providence division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, near Worcester, Mass., was struck by a train and killed outright.

The Dartmouth and Westport (Mass.) Railway company celebrated the completion of its electric line to Smith Mills by going over the route with officials. At Smith Mills a collation was served.

At Manchester, N. H., William Young, a telephone lineman, accidentally took hold of a live electric wire. The shock caused him to fall insensible to the ground, 30 feet. His hand was shockingly burned.

Frank Harrington of Chelsea, Mass., was arrested and held in the Bangor (Me.) municipal court in the sum of $2000 for assaulting Frederick G. Smythe, a billiard room proprietor, with intent to kill and rob.

While the Whitehead life saving boat was trying to assist the steamer Hurricane, ashore at Whitehead, Me., Walter Dennison, aged 14, was caught between the boat and steamer's side and instantly killed.

Hon. Washington Tufts of Brookfield, Mass., aged 72 years, died in that town after a long illness. Mr. Tufts was a Democratic state senator about 15 years ago. He had held prominent town offices in Brookfield.

New Haven police are on the lookout for a fellow who entered J. J. Murphy's saloon and informed him that a man was waiting to see him around the corner. Murphy left the place a moment, and the stranger wrenched open the cash drawer, containing over $100. This he disappeared with.

Doing Well.

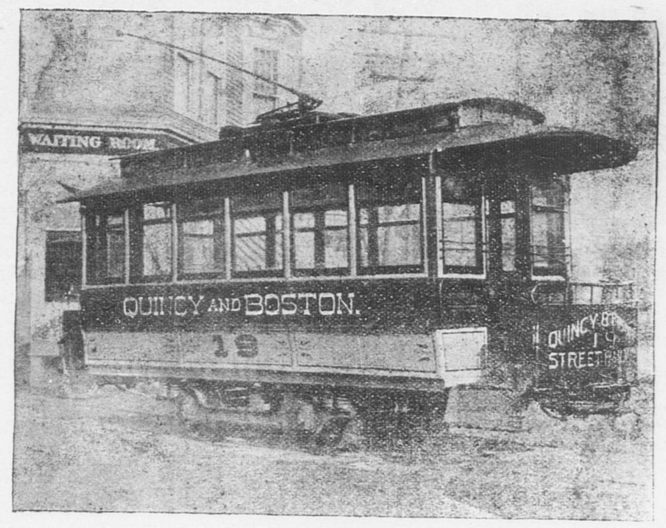

NEW YORK, July 3.—Ex-Governor George Peabody Wetmore of Rhode Island, who has undergone a painful surgical operation, is resting quietly. His medical attendants said that he had rallied well from the shock, and that his condition was most encouraging.

Bad Man Sent to Prison.

OMAHA, July 3.—In the federal district court Charles McClure, the leader of the gang that attempted to hold up the Missouri Pacific express at Westside, was sentenced to 15 years in the Sioux Falls penitentiary.

A Costly Blaze.

NEW YORK, July 3.—A fire in the building at Park pl. and Church street caused a loss of $100,000.

ON GETTYSBURG FIELD.

Monument In Honor of New York Heroes Formally Dedicated.

GETTYSBURG, Penn., July 3.—New York state's handsome monument to the heroes who fell in the battle of Gettysburg was dedicated yesterday with impressive ceremonies. Seven thousand New York veterans, the surviving generals of the battle, and thousands of veterans and visitors from other states were present. The first feature of the day was the reception to Major-General George S. Green by his brigade on Culp's hill. Within view of a score of monuments erected to mark the places where comrades fell, the survivors and their guests gathered and saluted their commander, who is in his 93d year and is the oldest living participant in the battle of Gettysburg.

General Robert Avery presided. On the platform were Governor Flower, N. York and staff, Major General D. E. Sickles, Major General H. W. Slocum, Colonel Slegman, who was wounded no 50 yards away, and the representatives of various New York regiments. Rev O. W. Severson offered prayer. The veterans then sang "America," after which General Slocum made an address.

General Green then stood up and was cheered and cheered again. He also spoke. Governor Flower and General Sickles were the succeeding speakers.

After all had joined in singing "Marching Through Georgia," and Rev. Mr. Pray had pronounced benediction, the veterans formed in line and shook hands with Generals Green, Sickles, Slocum and Avery. Many of the veterans walked on with tears on their cheeks after the hearty handclasps of their old commanders.

A grand parade preceded the dedication ceremonies. The space surrounding the monument was completely filled with people, fully 10,000 being present. General Sickles called the assemblage to order. The Kennicat quartet then sang the "Star Spangled Banner" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." Rev. Dr. W. B. Serrick, the colored veteran preacher, then offered prayer. General Sickles then, as president of the board of Gettysburg monument commissioners of New York state, delivered the introductory address.

Bishop Potter then delivered the dedication address. Governor Pattison made a speech of welcome, and then Governor Flower delivered an address. DeWitt C. Sprague of Washington then read a poem for the occasion. The quartet sang "America," and the great concourse joined in.

General Green made a brief speech, and then the guns of battery C thundered a salute, and the crowds dispersed.

One of the incidents of the day was the presentation of a gold badge to C. A. Phelps of the Fifth New York cavalry, who is known as General Grant's scout.

A Case of Suicide.

LAWRENCE, Mass., July 3.—A body was found in the Merrimac river and has been identified as that of John Rogers of this city. It is believed to be a case of suicide, caused by despondency brought on by ill health. Rogers had been missing since Wednesday.

Dr. Hart Declines.

HARTFORD, July 3.—Dr. Samuel Hart, who was elected bishop of Vermont, has declined the honor. Dr. Hart expresses his deep sense of the honor conferred upon him, but says that he feels it his duty to remain at the college.

Infant Killed by a Train.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 3.—At Dalton an express struck and instantly killed John Burke, aged 3 years. The body was thrown about 40 yards and down a bank 18 feet high. The child had wandered on the track.

HOP OF QUINCY YACHT CLUB.

Seashore Breezes at Manet Beach—A Popularity Contest Started.

The outcome of the resolution adopted by the City Council to stop the flying horses of J. D. Tabers at Houghs Neck from running on Sundays, is anxiously awaited not only by those directly interested but by the public in general. Chief of Police Langley visited the beach yesterday and officially notified Mr. Taber that he must not run his horses Sunday, Mr. Taber will submit tomorrow and close that part of his business, but he says that after Sunday if he is not allowed to run them on Sundays that he will close all of his business except his hotel and will close up every other place on the beach and will prosecute every person who sells anything except that allowed by a victuallers license.

The Yacht Club Hop.

The Quincy Yacht Club could not have selected a more beautiful night for their first hop. It was delightful for dancing and a cool pleasant evening on the veranda. The moon, made many of the surrounding objects visible and threw a path of moonbeams from the North Weymouth shore to the club house. The party which gathered at the hop made the scene in the house as attractive as that out-of-doors.

Nearly all of the active members of the club and their lady friends were present. During the intermissions, walks were taken along the shore and down on the float. All present hope that "Fair Luna" will always be as condescending on the nights of coming hops.

A Popularity Contest.

In the MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER today is inaugurated a grand popularity contest by the Manet Land Associates. For particulars see their advertisement. It is open to all residents of the beach and it only takes a few days to become a resident. Agents of the land company and the LEDGER are not eligible. Papers will be sold at "one price," discounts being made only for 100 or 1000 orders. During the contest, papers may be obtained at Houghs Neck,—at the Post Office, the Casino, Manet Lunch room, H. W. French, and by newsboys. At Quincy at the LEDGER office and other agents. Vote early.

Sea Breezes.

The coast survey have again been along the shores of Quincy bay. They have erected flag-poles along the shore on which blue and white flags are flying.

Mr. Al Taber and family are again enjoying themselves in their large tent on Bell street.

Tents are springing up on many of the unoccupied lots and by Monday the nomadic population will be settled for the summer.

The Manet Beach Water Commissioners, Mr. Dexter Faxon, chairman, are digging another well on Parkhurst street.

Two new houses are going up on Great Hill and one is being built over on the plains.

The blow has fallen at last. Chief of Police Langley has notified Mr. Taber that his much abused horses must not be driven Sunday. There is such a contented look in the poor beasts' eyes that the City Council should be thoroughly repaid for their previous endeavors in the behalf of these animals.

A DERAILMENT.

An Accommodation Train Leaves the Tracks Just This Side of Atlantic.

There was quite a little excitement at Atlantic Friday afternoon caused by the 4.04 inward train from Quincy running off the main line into the embankment just this side of the Atlantic depot. The switches and signals were set for the Granite branch but the engineer of the inward train apparently failed to notice the signal, and ran his train upon a short spur track placed there for the purpose of preventing one train from crashing into another. As the train was to stop at the station, it did not have much headway and only the engine left the track and no one was injured. The inward tracks were however blocked and all inward trains delayed for two hours, as it was 6 o'clock before the wrecker, that was sent out from Boston, succeeded in getting the derailed engine on the rails again. All of the outward trains were also more or less delayed, and many Quincy people had a late supper. The Quincy electrics came in handy and were largely patronized.

Randolph's Centennial.

The town of Randolph has perfected arrangements for the due celebration of the 100th anniversary of its incorporation on Wednesday, July 19th. The committee of arrangements numbers twenty-four and comprises the most influential and public spirited of the citizens of the town. John V. Beal, Esq, is to deliver the historical address which will, undoubtedly, not disappoint expectations, nor belittle the auspicious occasion.

There will be a salute of guns and ringing of bells at sunrise, assembly of school children at 10 A. M., a salute of guns and ringing of bells at 5 P. M., and a promenade concert and ball in Stetson hall in the evening, The public dinner at which the historical address will be given and other speeches, takes place in the afternoon. Our town officials have received invitations to be present. We hope the weather will be favorable. A grand time may be fully expected.

New Railroad Tickets.

There was quite a change in the railroad tickets of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad this morning, as the agents commenced selling the new issue today. All the single tickets now are of one color, a blue, and the station agents will be puzzled for some time, as, unless care is taken, a man who buys a ticket for Boston may have one that reads to Newport passed to him. The one hundred-ride tickets, instead of being yellow, are now a salmon color.

James Little, of Quincy avenue, was the first man to purchase one of the new single tickets to Boston, Miss Lena Murphy the first to Wollaston, Joseph T. French the first ten-trip ticket, and a young man from Granite street, the first one hundred-ride ticket.

WEYMOUTH.

Col. B. S. Lovell entertains the Lovell Diamond Cycle club of East Weymouth and the Somerville Cycle club with a shore dinner at Fort Point, Sunday.

The graduates of the South High school last evening were: Rena F. Blanchard, Bertha F. Cushing, Rachel L. Gawes, Mary E. Healey, Mary A. Holbrook, Helen M. Loud, George R. Sellers, Mary W. Thayer, Sarah M. Ellis, Bridget A. Flynn, Mary J. Quinn, Theron B. Shaw, Annie M. Sullivan, Annie G. Taylor.

—A loan of $3,649,500 is proposed by the Boston aldermen for public improvements. It includes over a million for the paving department.

At the recent graduation exercises of the University of London eighty women (one-third of the whole number of graduates) took the B. A. degree.

CONVENTION OF OLD MEN.

Charles Breck of Milton Would Rival All Nations and May Attend.

Macedonian lodge of Masons was constituted at Milton on Wednesday, and a proposition made on that evening may bring it immediately into world-wide renown. Past Master Adams, better known as "Oliver Optic," said in his remarks that a convention of old men of all nations was soon to be held in France, and no man under 95 years of age was to be permitted to attend. He wanted much to take Mr. Charles Breck of Milton to that convention, as he hoped to be there in that country before the middle of July.

He claimed that he could present a man, in the person of Mr. Breck, who would rival all nations, inasmuch as he was a good man, possessing not only all the riches in the fullness of a perfect life of almost 96 years, but in the fact that he had been a good, true and perfect Mason of over 67 years' experience, an experience unequaled by any other man in the country and perhaps in the world.

Mr. Breck is the one survivor of the "Three Macedonians," so well known to Masonic history in the United States, who rendered such wonderful and telling aid to Union Lodge of Dorchester, Mass., and Masonry of the world during that great struggle of fifty years ago for Masonic liberty and freedom.

Charles Breck and his brothers, Robert M. Todd and Thomas T. Wadsworth, were born and lived in Milton beyond the Neponset river, and they all of them lived to fill the highest positions in Union Lodge. Bro. Breck is also a Past Master of Rural Lodge of Quincy.

It is understood now that the Masonic fraternity of Massachusetts will make an effort to send Past Master Breck to France to attend the convention mentioned above, under the care of Mr. W. T. Adams.

BRAINTREE.

Charles C. Fogg of Whitman, formerly, and with the exception of a few years, a resident of Braintree, and when there one of the best known men among us, died in the first mentioned town Thursday June 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Watson arrived home Wednesday from a month's visit to the World's Fair.

Thursday evening Dr. S. C. Bridgham, town physician, reported a case of scarlet fever, on Middle street, to the Board of Health.

Rev. A. H. Ross, the new pastor of the South Congregational church, begins his pastorate tomorrow morning. We extend to Mr. Ross a hearty welcome among us.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving W. Horne, leave next week for Maine where they will spend a part of the school vacation. Mr. Horne is very popular with the children and his first year as superintendent of the schools of Braintree has been a most prosperous one.

Sunday morning George H. Wales, George W. Jennings, Frank E. Woodworth and Charles Hayward started on their bicycles for Providence, Rhode Island, a distance of fifty miles which they accomplished in four hours and a half. We call this pretty good travelling and more than a Sabbath day's journey.

E. F. Watkins left this morning for Laconia, N. H., to spend the Fourth with his family sojourning there.

The Braintree Veteran Firemen's Association voted at last meeting to attend the Firemen's muster at Worcester, Aug. 17th.

The Columbia Rubber Company has closed for an indefinite period, which will probably cause an overflow of hay-makers on the market.

Tuesday night Puritan Lodge, I. O. O. F. worked the third degree on three candidates, and afterward elected C. C. Brown, N. G. and Warren R. Page V. N. G.

Yesterday the Chief Engineer of the Old Colony railroad was on the grounds in consultation, with the Selectmen relative to the putting up of gates at the four crossings, on the South Shore line, in East Braintree.

—There is an aged negro in middle Tennessee who rejoices in the name of Nigger Falls, though he was really christened after the great cataract. Glory Hallelujah Jones is the imposing name of a Mississippi darky.

It is calculated that in the entire world 67 people die every minute.

YALE'S CREW WINS.

Harvard Beaten Over Three Lengths In a Plucky Race

IN REMARKABLY SLOW TIME

Record to Date of Races Between the Two Crews.

NEW LONDON, Conn., July 1.—The great race of the season took place yesterday under fairly good conditions, and Yale again showed her superior ability, winning by three lengths after a race which was exceedingly pretty and thoroughly interesting from start to finish. The Harvard boys left town defeated, but it was by no means a procession down the Thames in which they took part.

New London had seemed full of visitors when the sun rose yesterday. What was the condition when the excursion trains came in from Boston and New Haven, each Loaded With Passengers?

Everybody started for the river early, and the excursion steamers and launches were quickly filled with passengers who waved their red and blue flannels, impatiently waiting for the start.

At 10.50 the Yale crew had reached the starting point and the Harvard oarsmen were only a few minutes behind them. It seemed an age while the crews were waiting for the signal to start, but finally it came at 11.04 and the boats were off pulling in best of style.

Yale had the best at the start, but it was only for a few seconds. For the Harvard men did beautifully, and by the time the first half mile flag was reached, crimson was ahead by just a trifle. Time—Harvard, 2:51; Yale, 2:52.

Then rose "rahs" from the launches and the prospects of a Harvard victory were bright; even stronger were the hopes when the mile flag was reached and Yale was half second more behind. Harvard, 5.57; Yale, 5.58 1-2.

That was the last of Harvard's lead, for Yale came to the front now, and kept it for the balance of the race. Harvard kept pluckily at work, however, and the race lost nothing in interest. Rowers of the blue had and as they went by the mile-and-a-half flag the time was: Yale, 9; Harvard 9.03. By this time blue banners were waving on launches and on the observation train, which though late in reaching the start, was now abreast. A few Harvard flags were in sight, for all had not lost hopes but that its shell might come to the front by a mighty effort. In the next half mile Yale had forced ahead a little more, and the first half of the race was finished. Time—Yale, 12.06; Harvard, 12.10.

Now the enthusiasm of the spectators increased, for the crews now approached the excursion boats, black with spectators, which were anchored along the eastern bank of the river. Carriages drove rapidly along, trying to keep up with the racers.

Two and a half mile time—Yale, 15:22; Harvard, 15:27. In the next half mile Harvard dropped back still more, in spite of the best the men could do, and when the three-mile point was reached the time was—Yale, 18:39; Harvard. 18:50. Then came an increase in speed for Harvard, and amid terrific din from the boats along the banks. Guns were fired in quick succession. Fair spectators become almost frantic in waving their banners and the cheers increased. Two seconds gain had been made by the time the 3 1-2 mile point was reached. Yale, 21:50; Harvard, 21:59.

Now came the finish for what had been one of the prettiest races in New London history and which well repaid every one for his trip in coming.

Yale finished beautifully, crossing the finish point in 25m. 1⅛s; Harvard, 25m. 15s.

The Record to Date.

The following is the record to date of eight-oared races between Harvard and Yale, the first two having been over the Springfield course and the rest at New London:

	Winner.	Time. m. s.	Loser.	Time. m. s.

Struck by an Electric.

BOSTON, July 1.—Dr. George A. Newell of West Somerville, while driving last evening near the Arlington line, was struck by an electric car. In the carriage was Mrs. Newell's mother, Mrs. Nancy May, who was quite badly hurt, and the doctor was slightly injured. The horse was killed.

British Representatives at Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 1.—Hon. Michael H. Herbert, first secretary of the British legation, and his wife, have arrived here for the season and taken the R. T. Wilson cottage. The headquarters of the British legation has practically been transferred from Washington to this city. Sir Julian Pauncefote is also here.

Resignations From Lynn's Health Board.

LYNN, Mass., July 1.—At the meeting of the board of health last evening Lawyer Henry F. Hurlburt and William A. La Croix resigned as members, claiming that the pressure of other business did not allow them to attend to the work the board required of them. These men expressed their reasons for not caring to further serve the city last week, when they said the city government was making the board a regular waste basket.

The Bordens' New Home.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 1.—Misses Lizzie A. and Emma L. Borden have bought the Butterworth mansion. It is a three-story house and is situated in the most fashionable portion of the city, known as "the hill." The price is not known, but is in the neighborhood of $15,000. They will soon remove to their new quarters, and the Second street house will be sold.

Connecticut Prison Wardenship.

HARTFORD, July 1.—General Haven said yesterday that although he was not making a canvass for the position of warden of the state prison, if it were tendered him by the new board he would probably accept it. It is understood that General Chamberlain is a candidate for reappointment and will not move away until the appointment is secured or lost.

Sentenced For Illegally Selling Liquor.

BOSTON, July 1.—Henry P. Vieth, proprietor of Vieth's hotel, Tremont street, was found guilty of illegally selling liquor on May 30 and sentenced to two months in jail and to pay a fine of $100 by Judge Hardy yesterday in the municipal criminal court. He appealed and was held in $500 for the Suffolk grand jury.

Claims Against Moody Merrill's Estate.

BOSTON, July 1.—The total amount of claims proved against Merrill's insolvent estate is more than $200,000. One of the creditors is the Franklin Park Land and Improvement company, which proved a claim for $60,983.50. James Hewins, Edgar S. Hill and Lewis W. Reycroft were chosen assignees.

The People's Party in Vermont.

RUTLAND, Vt., July 1.—Considerable interest is being taken in the organization of a People's party in Vermont. The first meeting of farmers and workingmen for that purpose is called at the Bardwell house July 4. A number of delegates from workingmen's organizations in the state will be present.

Plea of Insanity to Stand.

BOSTON, July 1.—It is said that the friends of Dr. Wardwell, recently killed by A. L. Morse, will not appear against him and that no attempt will be made to show that he was not insane when he shot the doctor. Domestic reasons are given for this change of front.

Bound Over For Alleged Larceny.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 1.—Frank Le Clair, the alleged diamond robber, was bound over in $1500 for the alleged larceny of $700 worth of jewelry and watches from D. E. Brown. Failing to secure bonds, he went to jail, where he will have to stay until September.

Drowned While Bathing.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., July 1.—Fred Kaye was drowned yesterday while bathing in West river, two miles above Brattleboro village. His body was recovered about an hour afterwards. He was here from New York visiting his father and brother.

Essex County People's Party.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., July 1.—An outdoor meeting of the People's party of Essex county will be held at Fort Sewall, July 4, in the afternoon. Henry R. Legate and other speakers will be present.

Strike of Italian Laborers.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 1.—Seventy-five Italians at work on this end of the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill Street railway have struck for an advance of 25 cents a day, and work is at a standstill.

Serious Burning Accident.

SALEM, Mass., July 1.—Mrs. Philip Brown was nearly burnt to death yesterday. A small oil stove was tipped over, setting fire to her dress. Before the flames could be extinguished she was badly burned about the face, neck and arms.

Three Hundred Children Confirmed.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., July 1.—Bishop Brady of Boston visited St. Ann's Catholic church here yesterday and confirmed three hundred children, the largest number at a confirmation in the history of the parish.

Discharged Their Lasters.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 1.—T. S. Ruddock & Son, one of the largest shoe manufacturing concerns in this city, discharged 40 lasters. They will put in lasting machines and run a free factory.

Leather Company Organized.

BOSTON, July 1.—The secretary of state last evening granted a charter to the Middlesex Leather company of Woburn, Mass. The corporation organizes with a capital stock of $40,000.

Central Labor Union Contemplated.

LYNN, Mass., July 1.—The organization of a new Central Labor union in this city is contemplated. It is to include all kinds of crafts, to be composed of a delegate from each union.

Somerby Expelled From the Iron Hall.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 1.—A circular has been received in this city from Detroit announcing the expulsion from the Order of Iron Hall of its late supreme ruler, F. D. Somerby.

Brief Mention.

The Connecticut senate has adjourned sine die.

Sabin A. Parker of Chelsea, Mass., is missing and is alleged to have eloped.

UNDER THE NEW LAW.

How Arrests for Drunkenness Will be Considered After Today.

The new law relating to drunkeness goes into effect July 1—today. The police and the court officials all over the State have discussed it at length. The Brockton Enterprise says, "It is a law which, if rigidly observed, would make a vast deal of work for the police and the probation officer, and would not be entirely advantageous to the prisoner.

For example, it provides that after a man has become sober he shall have the right to make a statement about himself, the number of people dependent upon him, and the times he has been arrested, if ever. Then this statement shall be handed to the probation officer, who shall investigate and report to the court. But suppose, as is generally the case, that the man is arrested in the evening. He gets sober and writes out his statement early next morning, and the probation officer gets it about 7 o'clock. Between that time and 8.15, when the court comes in, the probation officer is supposed to make a thorough investigation of the truth of the man's statements. Suppose there have been ten or a dozen arrests—how impossible the investigation becomes!

The officer must either take the statement of the prisoners and the police and use his own judgment as to what report to make to the court, or else the court, notified that the officer has not had time to do his work, may continue the case another day, compelling the prisoner in the meantime to stay behind the bars or else give bail.

As in the olden time the arresting officers will have to make out formal complaints and then appear in court to press them if required. This adds to the police work.

It is stated that some judges are going to allow prisoners to stay in jail till the court gets a statement from the probation officer, when the arrested men who are pronounced proper subjects for release will be ordered released without being arraigned.

—The Pennsylvania man who says that ager beer is not intoxicating, because he often drinks fifty glasses in a day, may be believed, perhaps, on the theory that children and fools prove daily tell the truth.

A FARCICAL GAME.

Boston Finds an Easy Mark In St. Louis' Pitcher, and Win as They Please.

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—Yesterday's game was more like opera bouffe than baseball. Umpire Gaffney's decisions did not please the crowd and the bleachers kept up an incessant chant. The Bostons played with Hawley, batted him at will and ran bases as if there was nothing to fear. They had the game in the second inning.

In the seventh inning a funny thing happened. The Browns were doing all sorts of wild throwing, and the Beaneaters were trotting around the bases. As McCarthy was coming home Gleason threw his arms around his neck, and the two had a playful wrestling match. The ball was returned, and McCarthy was caught at the plate. Gaffney did not see the byplay and called McCarthy out.

THE NATION'S BIRTHDAY.

Columbia, gem of the west,
Peerless thou art, alone doth stand,
A continent by freedom blest,
Bright banners float o'er all thy land.
From mountain peak to peaceful vale,
From ocean depths to bubbling rill,
We ever hear the same sweet tale
Of peace on earth, to man good will.

Of all the nations of the earth,
What one can such a record show
Of purity and sterling worth
Among her men of years ago?
On histories' page forevermore
Their names shall blend harmoniously
As those who opened wide the door,
Freedom for all posterity.

Unfurl our glorious flag once more.
Ring out in clarion tones again,
Amid the glare of cannon's roar,
The nation's yearly grand amen.
This day of days, alone it stands
A priceless gem of lustrous hue,
Secured to us by patriot hands,
A loyal band to right e'er true.

The stars and stripes, long may they wave,
Grand emblem of a land that's free.
Might and oppression found one grave;
Thereon was reared sweet liberty.
And while the golden sunset rays
In radiance flash across the earth
We'd offer up to God all praise
For noble deeds that gave our Fourth.

A BOY'S STORY.

Fourth of July and Fireworks.

BY CHARLES B. LEWIS (M. QUAD).

[Copyright, 1893.]

How I loved that girl—that Melvina Jackson! It was a case of love at first sight. I threw a paper wad at a red-headed boy in school, and the teacher made me sit with Melvina Jackson as a punishment. In after years I saw that she had a turn up nose, a freckled face, a cast in her left eye and a mouth like a milkpan, but at that period I looked upon her as a champion beauty. I didn't lose five minutes' time telling my feelings of adulation and admiration, but the most she would say was that she would ride down hill on my hand sled, borrow my geography in preference to any other and allow me to sharpen her slate pencil and lick the boys who snowballed her after school. Thus we loved and loved, or at least I did. There came a time when I could look back and see where Melvina was cool, calculating and level headed—where her love stopped dead short and business began, but I was blind then.

A year passed by before a rival entered the field. We had our spats. There were occasions when we made up faces at each other across the schoolroom; when she turned from me and let another boy wash her slate; when I was glad that she left off at the foot of the spelling class; when I added up 9 and 8 on the blackboard and made 15, and she giggled and was rejoiced. On the whole, however, we were happy. I licked 14 different boys for her direct benefit that year, and her per cent in geography was the highest of any girl in the school. We were engaged—that is, I had asked Melvina about half a million times if she would have me, and she had always replied that she guessed she would if the hogs didn't get in and root up the garden or some other awful calamity occur.

My rival was a callow youth named Sam Greene. Something warned me of peril the minute I set eyes on him, but an hour later, when I heard that he could write poetry, I realized that it would be a fight to the death. Sam went straight to work to unhorse me. At the forenoon recess he presented Melvina Jackson with a lead pencil and a slate sponge, and she smiled sweetly as she accepted them. I wrote her a note meant to annihilate her, but she read it with her mouth full of apple and didn't scare worth a cent. Long enough before noon I had determined to lick Sam Greene. A licked boy goes right out of the rival business and doesn't bother any more. If Melvina had melted a little and assured me of her fealty, I might have changed my mind, but she didn't melt. She even went so far as to whisper to a girl who would whisper it to me that Sam Greene had dreamy eyes and a nose like Cicero. After that my resolution was unshakable.

My callow rival had to be provoked before he would fight, but when we got at it he proved to be a sterling antagonist. For a long time victory wavered in the balance, and then I won by a scratch. His hair was his tender point, and when I got hold with both hands he gave in. For a week Melvina placed me on a pedestal and almost agreed to elope. Then Sam Greene sent her a piece of poetry entitled "The Maiden's Heart," and I lost my grip again. The only thing to be done was to lick him again, but he had had his hair shingled in the meantime, and the conflict did not terminate to my satisfaction. Some of the boys said I "hollered," and others said I licked, and it was an open question as to who won. He went right home and wrote another piece of poetry entitled "She Died at Sunset," and I should have been a goner but for Providence. I was hanging around Mr. Jackson's house in the evening, hoping to at least see Melvina's shadow on the kitchen window curtain, when I discovered that the smokehouse was on fire. I heroically quenched the flames, burned my left heel and saved seven hams from an inglorious fate. That was more than an offset for "She Died at Sunset," and for weeks I was a happy youth. I must credit Sam with going over and helping Mrs. Jackson to make soft soap and with painting the well curb red, white and blue at his own expense, but Melvina only treated him as a brother.

Age came creeping over me as time passed on, and my sixteenth birthday arrived. It was ushered in by Melvina presenting me with a 15-cent Testament, and it was ushered out by my giving Sam Greene the awfullest licking a hyena of a boy ever received. One of his legs slipped into a posthole during our struggle, and then I had him. This was only a week before the Fourth of July, and there was also to be a circus in town that day. In that fight, as I was rejoiced to hear, Sam lost 9 cents in cash out of one of his pockets, and I fondly hoped he would be financially paralyzed on the glorious Fourth. Alas, for my hopes! His mother permitted him to sell two old flatirons and a dozen eggs, and he was made financially stronger than before. Neither of us dared ask the fair Melvina to accompany us to the celebration. We hadn't the age nor the backing. Our attentions would come in after she reached town in her father's lumber wagon. I had licked Sam Greene again, but he was not discouraged.

When the glorious day arrived, I had a cash capital of 27 cents. In firing the sunrise salute the anvil burst, and one of the pieces struck our hencoop. That would have made me a hero in Melvina's eyes, but that ornery Sam Greene managed to burn a hole in his vest exactly over his heart with a firecracker, and that dished me. We had a fight over it, but it resulted in a draw. Sam offered Melvina the first 'lasses candy, but I came in a good second with real pink lemonade. I think he discovered the circus procession before I did, but I was the first to call attention to a serpent 20 feet long painted on the canvas of a sideshow at the circus. It was which and t'other until I got a plan to ruin Sam. I encouraged him to take Melvina in to behold the wild man of Borneo, while I remained an outsider. He fell into the trap and came out dead broke, while I still had 18 cents capital.

As my dear one and I sat under one of the circus wagons that afternoon eating gingerbread and living for each other alone, while Sam was trying to regain his lost prestige by turning handsprings a few yards away, I remember that I appealed to Melvina to fly with me. She said she was too fat to fly, and I had to struggle with my disappointment. She promised on her solemn honor, however, to die the same night I did in case we both had bilious fever, and I was quite satisfied. When the shades of night began to fall, Sam Greene was a doomed boy. Poetry couldn't save him. He made a raise of 3 cents somehow and bought an orange and offered Melvina all the peeling and half the fruit, but she turned away in disdain.

There were to be fireworks in the evening on a vacant lot not far from the circus tent. The people were not disappointed. I had a front seat with Melvina on the grass, with the callow and hollow hearted Sam Greene as near as he could get to us. The fireworks were loosely piled under the stand. The first rocket had been fired when Sam dug his toe into my back. I resented the assault, and a scrap was the consequence. It wasn't over half a minute when we rolled among the fireworks, and something broke loose. Ten seconds later candles, rockets, bombs, pinwheels, serpents and all sorts of zigzag things were scooting about in the crowd. Melvina's father had just got hold of Sam and I and bumped our heads together with a "Thar, by gosh!" when a rocket struck him on the lower vest button, and he laid down.

In the wild break the crowd walked all over each other, and half a dozen farmers' teams ran away. The circus performance had just commenced, but a dozen rockets banged the old tent, set it on fire in as many places, and everybody had to turn to and fight the flames. Next day it was figured that 40 people had been hurt and damage done to the amount of $2,000. Sam Greene lost an eye and had an ear almost torn off, while I had my nose broken and all my front teeth knocked out, and on top of that came an old fashioned home licking which kept us in bed for a week.

Sam and I got outdoors the same day. Animal magnetism drew us toward each other. From force of habit we got ready for a conflict, but no conflict occurred.

"You kin hev her all to yourself," said Sam as we faced each other.

"So kin you!"

"I don't want her!"

"Neither do I!"

"Are you mad?"

"No."

"Then I hain't."

Neither of us ever looked at Melvina Jackson again. The candle of love had burned down to the socket and died out with a fizz—bang!

HAVE YOU TRIED DRUGS AND FAILED

TO FIND A CURE FOR

RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA, KIDNEY, LIVER and BLADDER COMPLAINTS, DYSPEPSIA, LAME-BACK, &c.

DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELT with Electro Magnetic Suspensory will cure without medicine all of the above troubles. Those who suffer from Nervous Debility, Losses, Drains, Lost Manhood, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Poor Memory, all Female Complaints, and general ill health, the effects of abuses, excesses, worry or overwork, will find relief and prompt cure in our marvelous invention, which requires but a trial to convince the most skeptical. In ignorance of effects you may have on the day drained your system of nerve force and vitality—which is electricity—and thus caused your weakness or lack of force. If you replace into your system the elements thus drained, which are required for vigorous strength, you will remove the cause and health, strength and vigor will follow at once. This is our plan and treatment, and we guarantee a cure or refund money.

Our 200 page book "THREE CLASSES OF MEN," should be read by every young, middle-aged and old man, sent sealed, free. Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt is no experiment, as we have restored thousands to robust health and vigor after all other treatments failed, as can be shown by hundreds of cases throughout this and other States, who would gladly testify, and from many of whom we have strong letters bearing testimony to their recovery after using our Belt.

WE HAVE CURED THESE—WE CAN CURE YOU!

NERVOUS DEBILITY AND WEAKNESS.

NEW YORK CITY October 24th, 1891.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—About three years ago I purchased one of your electric belts for the cure of nervous debility, which I had in its worst form and which was undermining my health. For years I had suffered from this terrible debilitating drain on my vital forces and I did not know what it was to have a good night's sleep, but in one month's time after using the belt I felt a much stronger man both mentally and physically, and in a short time was entirely well.

Yours truly, H. SEELIG, 257 Bowery.

RHEUMATISM AND LOST VIGOR.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., October 25th, 1892.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—Four years ago I suffered such pain from rheumatism that at times it was impossible for me to get around, and I always carried a cane for support. I used your belt and felt a relief in one hour. I gained in weight from that day and it was only a short time until the pains left me and to-day I am a well man. I always keep my belt near by for fear there might be a return, but as it has now been four years since you cured me, can safely say it is permanent. A. E. VOSS, Musical Director, 369 St. Mark's Place.

RHEUMATISM—LOST VIGOR.

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 29, 1892.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—I can report to you that the belt has entirely cured me of rheumatism from which I suffered for fourteen years almost continually. I am a letter carrier, and the long daily tramps necessary in my rounds, up to the time of getting the belt, were painfully gone through with, but thanks to your wonderful invention, I can now walk as well as I ever did, and will recommend your treatment to all afflicted ways as you said it would.

Yours very truly, JAMES MEAD, 24 Perry St.

TRANSFER RECORDS

Showing Moody Merrill's Doings In New Hampshire.

HE "FEATHERED HIS NEST"

Before Taking His Departure From the Hub.

WOODSVILLE, N. H., July 3.—When Winthrop Merrill, son of the much-missed Moody Merrill of Boston, came here about a week ago to inspect the records in the Grafton county registry of deeds he certainly looked upon the pages of some interesting data, some of which was news to him, and some of which was familiar.

He saw recorded on May 29, this year, a deed executed but three days previous, or on May 26, in which his now absent parent parted with four tracts of land in Campton, N. H., in consideration of $500 paid to him in hand by Arthur T. Dyer of Boston.

The sale, if there was such, was evidently made on the day on which Moody Merrill left Boston, and the papers were before Winthrop Merrill, notary public.

The son of the missing man also saw the record of a deed in which Moody Merrill conveyed to Miss Cathie Smith, on Jan. 11, 1893, four lots of land, which were conveyed to the grantor by A. A. Cook on Aug. 10, 1892. This transfer of property was made by Mr. Merrill to Miss Smith in consideration of $1 and "other valuable considerations" as the legal term makes it.

If Winthrop Merrill went back still farther, he saw the record of the assignment of a mortgage of $5000 for $365 in 1883, which gave to Edgar Merrill, brother of the missing man, the farm which so many have said of late was

The Property of Moody Merrill.

It appears by the records that this same farm came into possession of the same Moody Merrill in 1865. This latter fact seems to prove the much asserted claim that Edgar Merrill has made all along that he, and not Moody Merrill, owned the farm on which he was living.

After Winthrop Merrill had surveyed the records to his heart's content he went north from Woodsville, some say, to Groveland. From the latter place he could easily reach Sherbrooke, which is midway between Montreal and Quebec, and the belief here is that he saw his father on the trip.

What his purpose was in endeavoring to ascertain the holdings of his father in Grafton county seems to be an enigma.

A MAD DOG'S WORK.

Seven Cows Die of Hydrophobia—Human Lives In Danger.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 3.—Great excitement prevails among the farmers in Easton. About two weeks ago a mad dog passed through the village, and no less than a dozen cows were bitten, while a man named Powell and a boy named Case were attacked before the dog left that vicinity. Within a day or two seven of the cows have died of hydrophobia, and in each instance it has appeared in the most violent form. The animals became mad and ran about the fields, dashing against fences and buildings until they died in great agony.

Powell, who was bitten, is living in great fear and is nearly crazy, but as yet no hydrophobic symptoms have appeared either in his case or in that of the boy who was bitten. Both will be taken to the Pasteur institute, New York, for treatment.

A BASEBALL ARGUMENT

Ends In a Young Man Receiving a Serious Knife Wound.

BOSTON, July 3.—Everett D. Calef, 22 years old, an electrician, had a pocket-knife plunged into his abdomen early yesterday morning. James Connors, alias Joseph Watts, 18 years old, was arrested for having committed the assault. The affray occurred at the corner of Beach street and Harrison avenue. Both parties were accompanied by their friends and both sides got into a wrangle over the Harvard-Yale baseball game. Connors, aggravated by the argument, took from his pocket a large pocketknife and it is said struck at Calef, the blade penetrating the vest and underclothing and entering the abdomen. The instrument could not be removed, and Calef had to bear it in his side until the arrival of Dr. Hubbard, who withdrew it.

RHODY'S POLITICAL ROW.

Supreme Court Hears Argument From a Democratic Standpoint.

PROVIDENCE, July 3.—The greatest constitutional fight before the supreme court this state has ever known began in earnest Saturday. Arthur L. Brown argued for the Democrats that the constitution of the state imposes upon the senate and house of representatives, and upon the governor as presiding officer, the duty of meeting in grand committee at Newport during the May session of the general assembly for the election of general officers in case of a failure to elect by the people. He claimed that the senate had violated the constitution in not agreeing with the house to meet for the purpose of electing general officers.

The court reserves its decision, but will undoubtedly hand down an opinion at an early day.

Will Be a Rouser.

SALEM, Mass., July 3.—The historical Gallows hill, where the Salem witches were punished by death, will be the center of a great illumination tonight. Patriotic young men have been gathering material for a great bonfire. The pile is 60 feet high, 80 feet around the base and there are 1500 barrels on 17 tiers. The flames will be seen for miles around. The Eighth regiment band will play patriotic music, and there will be fireworks.

Drowned In the Charles.

BOSTON, July 3.—George Miller (colored) 45 years of age, a car cleaner, was upon the top of a car that was passing across the Charles river drawbridge on the Lowell division, and was knocked off into the water by coming in contact with a suspended beam. Before assistance could reach him he sank from view.

Embezzler Shaw Sentenced.

PORTLAND, Me., July 3.—William R. Shaw, ex-cashier of the Lincoln National bank, was given 10 years in the state prison for embezzlement.

Boy's Body Recovered.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3.—The body of Nicholas Wallace, the boy who was drowned in the Charles river Wednesday, was found on the marsh above the Boylston street bridge yesterday. The current had carried the body quite a distance from where the accident occurred. Wallace was 14 years old.

Spyglass For Detective Work.

SALEM, Mass., July 3.—The police arrested five men yesterday afternoon for gambling. An officer on duty across the harbor espied eight young men playing cards on the water front by the aid of a spyglass. A squad of officers descended upon the card players, but three of them got away.

Morse Held Without Bail.

BOSTON, July 3.—Amos L. Morse was arraigned in the West Roxbury district court for the murder of Dr. W. T. S. Wardwell on Florence street, Roslindale. He looked pale and careworn. The murdered man's wife gave her testimony and was cross-examined. Judge Howard held Morse without bail.

Killed Himself In a Car.

DANBURY, Conn., July 3.—The body of a man was found in a passenger coach in the depot of the New York and New Haven railroad last night. The man had committed suicide. From papers found on his body it appeared that his name is Grubb and that he lived in Bridgeport.

Shoe Thieves at Work.

LYNN, Mass., July 3.—The shoe factory of Moran & Co. was broken into and 40 pairs of shoes were stolen. Several other manufacturers are finding out that they are being continually robbed of shoes, finished and unfinished. It is undoubtedly the work of a thoroughly organized gang.

Fell From a Boat.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 3.—Charles W. Bulah (colored), 64 years old, was drowned in a pond at Holden. Bulah had been fishing from a boat. He was subject to fainting fits, and probably fell out of the boat.

Will Die from Her Injuries.

BOSTON, July 3.—Hulda Aslberg was fatally burned by the breaking of a kerosene lamp at her home, 143 Boylston avenue, Jamaica Plain, last night. Miss Aslberg is 32 years of age.

Brief Mention.

Samuel W. Mason, an old Boston schoolmaster, passed away at his home in Chelsea, Mass.

George H. True, one of the best known citizens of Manchester, N. H., died of heart trouble, aged 66 years.

Reynolds, one of the prisoners escaped from Machia (Me.) jail, has been retaken. Christie is still at large.

Peter F. Henry, aged 42, was killed by falling from the first story of the Forest House, Worcester, Mass., while in a fit.

The Baptist church society of North Adams, Mass., received word from Rev. F. D. Penney of Auburn, N. Y., accepting the call given him.

The alumni of Monmouth academy, Winthrop, Me., propose to celebrate its 90th anniversary, which occurs this summer, in an appropriate manner.

Norwalk (Conn.) elm trees, which line nearly every important street in town, are infested with worms, and hundreds of these shade trees are in danger of being killed.

Louis N. Lindburg, 5 years of age, while crossing the Providence division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, near Worcester, Mass., was struck by a train and killed outright.

The Dartmouth and Westport (Mass.) Railway company celebrated the completion of its electric line to Smith Mills by going over the route with officials. At Smith Mills a collation was served.

At Manchester, N. H., William Young, a telephone lineman, accidentally took hold of a live electric wire. The shock caused him to fall insensible to the ground, 30 feet. His hand was shockingly burned.

Frank Harrington of Chelsea, Mass., was arrested and held in the Bangor (Me.) municipal court in the sum of $2000 for assaulting Frederick G. Smythe, a billiard room proprietor, with intent to kill and rob.

While the Whitehead life saving boat was trying to assist the steamer Hurricane, ashore at Whitehead, Me., Walter Dennison, aged 14, was caught between the boat and steamer's side and instantly killed.

Hon. Washington Tufts of Brookfield, Mass., aged 72 years, died in that town after a long illness. Mr. Tufts was a Democratic state senator about 15 years ago. He had held prominent town offices in Brookfield.

New Haven police are on the lookout for a fellow who entered J. J. Murphy's saloon and informed him that a man was waiting to see him around the corner. Murphy left the place a moment, and the stranger wrenched open the cash drawer, containing over $100. This he disappeared with.

Doing Well.

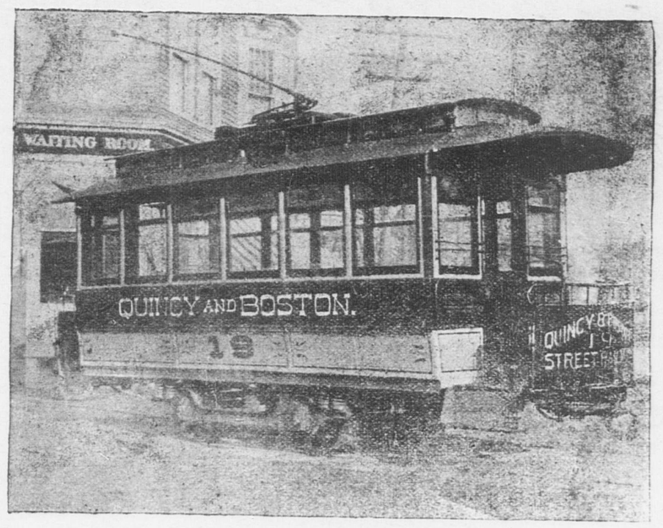

NEW YORK, July 3.—Ex-Governor George Peabody Wetmore of Rhode Island, who has undergone a painful surgical operation, is resting quietly. His medical attendants said that he had rallied well from the shock, and that his condition was most encouraging.

Bad Man Sent to Prison.

OMAHA, July 3.—In the federal district court Charles McClure, the leader of the gang that attempted to hold up the Missouri Pacific express at Westside, was sentenced to 15 years in the Sioux Falls penitentiary.

A Costly Blaze.

NEW YORK, July 3.—A fire in the building at Park pl. and Church street caused a loss of $100,000.

ON GETTYSBURG FIELD.

Monument In Honor of New York Heroes Formally Dedicated.

GETTYSBURG, Penn., July 3.—New York state's handsome monument to the heroes who fell in the battle of Gettysburg was dedicated yesterday with impressive ceremonies. Seven thousand New York veterans, the surviving generals of the battle, and thousands of veterans and visitors from other states were present. The first feature of the day was the reception to Major-General George S. Green by his brigade on Culp's hill. Within view of a score of monuments erected to mark the places where comrades fell, the survivors and their guests gathered and saluted their commander, who is in his 93d year and is the oldest living participant in the battle of Gettysburg.

General Robert Avery presided. On the platform were Governor Flower, N. York and staff, Major General Daniel E. Sickles, Major General H. W. Slocum, Colonel Slegman, who was wounded no 50 yards away, and the representatives o various New York regiments. Rev O. W. Severson offered prayer. The veterans then sang "America," after which General Slocum made an address.

General Green then stood up and was cheered and cheered again. He also spoke.

Governor Flower and General Sickles were the succeeding speakers.

After all had joined in singing "Marching Through Georgia," and Rev. Mr. Pray had pronounced benediction, the veterans formed in line and shook hands with Generals Green, Sickles, Slocum and Avery. Many of the veterans walked on with tears on their cheeks after the hearty handclasps of their old commanders.

A grand parade preceded the dedication ceremonies. The space surrounding the monument was completely filled with people, fully 10,000 being present. General Sickles called the assemblage to order. The Kennicat quartet then sang the "Star Spangled Banner" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." Rev. Dr. W. B. Serrick, the colored veteran preacher, then offered prayer. General Sickles then, as president of the board of Gettysburg monument commissioners of New York state, delivered the introductory address.

Bishop Potter then delivered the dedication address. Governor Pattison made a speech of welcome, and then Governor Flower delivered an address. DeWitt C. Sprague of Washington then read a poem for the occasion. The quartet sang "America," and the great concourse joined in.

General Green made a brief speech, and then the guns of battery C thundered a salute, and the crowds dispersed.

One of the incidents of the day was the presentation of a gold badge to C. A. Phelps of the Fifth New York cavalry, who is known as General Grant's scout.

A Case of Suicide.

LAWRENCE, Mass., July 3.—A body was found in the Merrimac river and has been identified as that of John Rogers of this city. It is believed to be a case of suicide, caused by despondency brought on by ill health. Rogers had been missing since Wednesday.

Dr. Hart Declines.

HARTFORD, July 3.—Dr. Samuel Hart, who was elected bishop of Vermont, has declined the honor. Dr. Hart expresses his deep sense of the honor conferred upon him, but says that he feels it his duty to remain at the college.

Infant Killed by a Train.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 3.—At Dalton an express struck and instantly killed John Burke, aged 3 years. The body was thrown about 40 yards and down a bank 18 feet high. The child had wandered on the track.

One hundred and thirty-two bicycles passed by Merry Mount Park between five and six o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Miss Eveline Weeks, Miss Mabel Baxter and Mr. William Parry, leave Tuesday for Montreal to attend the convention of the Y. P. S. C. E.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pollock of Brooklyn and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pollock of New York are guests of Mrs. Pollock of Bigelow street.

The work of celebrating the glorious Fourth began at West Quincy Saturday night when some one blew in the door of a variety store with a large cannon cracker.

Mrs. Angie Healey and Master Harry Healey of Boston, are in town. The former as the guest of Miss Anna Goodrich and the latter as the guest of his cousin Master Elmer Ricker.

Several dealers in cigars are now selling the Q. & B., said to be the best 5 cent cigar made. J. A. Stetson Pierce is the wholesale agent. Car 19 of the street railway appears on the label of every box.

Mr. Joseph Adams who was injured in Braintree June 25, while in company of Mr. Daniel Baxter, by the horse running away, is seriously sick, pneumonia having set in. His attending physician held a consultation yesterday.

In our report on Friday of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Emery L. Crane, a credit was given to Mr. Thomas A. Whicher of a present—a case of silver spoons,—it should have read from Frank W. Whicher, formerly of the firm of Whicher & Emery. A native of Quincy who is well known to many of our readers.

Caused by Fireworks.

The alarm from box 48 at 11.12 this morning was caused by a small fire on the roof of a building at "the Rail," owned by the Granite Railway Company and occupied by John Keenan. The fire was caused by a fire-cracker thrown upon the dry shingles, and was extinguished with the loss of a few shingles. This was the first alarm since the apparatus moved into the new station, and everybody along the route to the box was out watching for the apparatus.

At the time of the alarm one wheel was off the steamer as the men were greasing it, and yet with all that the run was made to the fire in twelve minutes.

Mulliken—Mulliken.

A pleasant home wedding took place June 27 at the residence of Mr. E. S. Mulliken, Wollaston, the contracting parties being Miss Katherine W. Mulliken and Dr. Samuel P. Mulliken of Clark University, Worcester. Miss Sallie Mulliken of Newburyport was bridesmaid, Mr. George Mulliken of Roxbury best man; Helen Munyan, maid of honor, and Eddie Warren, page.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Fish of Dedham.

The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents.

They will spend the summer in Germany, and on their return will reside in Worcester.

SUNDAY AT BEACH.

Business Generally Suspended Part of the Day.

THE CONTEST TAKES A START.

A Pretty Scene in the Bay—The Hull Race and Other Items of Interest.

The large number who visited Manet Beach Sunday thoroughly enjoyed one of the pleasantest of days.

About noon the cars began to fill up and it was soon necessary to add the tow car in order to accommodate the passengers.

The bay presented a busy and pretty picture. Boats of all sizes, from the little sprit sail to the large party sloop, bowled along by the club house.

The Neck boats were moving early and several scrub races were sailed. The young and lusty crew of the Beatrice made things lively for the Harbinger and other Hull boats. Every sort of a row boat was in use and the summer girl in all her newly acquired gaudiness could be seen lolling in the stern sheets, while the swain pulled the breath and perspiration out of himself at the oars.

Some of our officers of the law and one or two conductors of the O. C. R. R. went on a fishing trip yesterday, and although we saw none of the denizen of the deep, each seemed perfectly happy.

Taber's buildings when closed Sunday were decorated with crape.

The Quincy boats made a good showing at Hull Saturday. The Hallidee was not in the same class as the Beatrice. The wind was variable and caused the course to be sailed with very little windward work. As on the wind is the Beatrice's strongest point it shows that Small's boat is not in it. The result of the race appears in another column.

The usual number of bicycles were seen at the beach Sunday. Many clubs and single riders called on hotel keepers for dinners.

Club race of the Quincy Yacht club next Saturday.

Open regatta of City of Boston at City Point tomorrow.

The Craddock bicycle club announce a run to Houghs Neck July 30.

Business Men Scared.

The proprietors of the various stands at Houghs Neck received a scare Sunday morning that resulted in closing up their places of business. It seems that when special officer Bissett left police headquarters for the beach Sunday morning he was told by Chief Langley to get the names of those who carried on business at the beach. The officer failed however to rightly comprehend the order and when he arrived at the beach he informed some of the proprietors that his orders were to take the names and sales at the stands at the beach. This surprising bit of information flew like wild fire along the shore and in a few moments everything was closed up as tight as they are in winter time.

One of the proprietors started immediately for Quincy and soon ascertained the truth of the matter and shortly after his return everything was running again as of yore, with the exception of the flying horses which were having a rest after their six days' work.

Popularity Contest.

Already a few coupons in the popularity contest have found their way to the "Contest Editor," and it will doubtless become one of the attractions of Houghs Neck this summer:

John Cavanagh, Braintree	25
J. D. Taber, Houghs Neck	10
Miss Mabel D. Dunbar, Brockton	10
William S. Williams, Quincy	10
Miss Edith Rose, Stoughton	5
Dexter Faxon, Quincy	5

Young Men's Christian Association.

Rooms open all day the Fourth. Everyone invited to visit them.

The Sunday afternoon meetings, held in the parlor, are proving very interesting this summer. The singing attracts many in the square. Yesterday's service, which was addressed by Mr. George E. Day of Boston, was remarkable for the large number of testimonies given by the young men present three fourths of those present taking part.

Another moonlight excursion down Boston Harbor, on the steamer Longfellow July 24th. The last proved so successful that arrangements have been made for another. The number has been limited to two hundred.

Basket ball at Merrymount Park the Fourth at 9 o'clock.

Wants a Mascot.

The Wollaston Trap Club wants a mascot. To show how much they are in need of one the score of June 24th, is also given beside that of last Saturday. The next shoot will be held on the morning of July 4th, at 9 o'clock, and the club extends a cordial invitation to its Quincy friends to come down.

TODAY'S COURT.

Nearly every seat in the District Court room was filled with spectators this morning, many doubtless coming to see how the new drunk law would act.

John McKay of Quincy, a man old enough to know better, had the honor, if such it can be called, to be the first drunk to be brought before the bar of justice under the new law.

John said he was guilty and desired to make an application for release. He was placed on probation until July 31.

Jeremiah Leary of Quincy, likewise pleaded guilty to drunkenness and desired his release. He was placed on probation until July 31.

John Hannon of Quincy was arraigned for assault on his wife Nancy. His case was continued to July 17 for sentence.

John W. Mulcahy hailed from Cohasset. He was drunk Sunday and owned up to his folly like a man. He was placed on probation until July 29.

Daniel W. Turner hailed from South Braintree. He also celebrated the Lord's day by getting intoxicated but wanted to be released so that he could celebrate the Nation's Independence in a befitting manner. His honor granted the request upon the payment of $8.

James F. Gannon of Randolph was arraigned for assault on Mary Morgan and fined $12.

James F. Holbrook of Braintree, for falsely assuming to be an officer, was fined $20. Appealed.

ASYLUM COMMISSIONERS.

Their Removal of Chief Architect Tobey Criticised—Legality Questioned.

The building commissioners of the Medfield insane asylum, of which H. M. Federhen of this city is chairman, is again the subject of criticism. A few days ago they removed the chief architect and have reinstated Mr. Wentworth.

The question is, have the commissioners power to remove the architect, whose name is in the plans for the buildings, and to whom, it is stated, the contractors are bound by the terms of their contract to look for instructions in the carrying out of their work?

The commissioners claim that there is a clause in the contract with the architect which gives them the power to remove him at any time by stating their reasons; but on the other hand the governor has signed the contract, which proclaims that the architect of the buildings is Mr. Tobey, and it is a question whether the commissioners have the power to override the action of the governor.

Herbert M. Federhen, chairman of the commissioners, who have charge of the construction of the buildings, said to a Globe reporter:

"Yes, it is true that we have removed Mr. Tobey, and notified him to that effect some time since. I do not care to give the reasons for our action, as I do not wish to appear as being in antagonism to Mr. Tobey, but if he chooses to make them public he is, of course, at liberty to do so.

"We had not decided to remove Mr. Tobey when we appeared before the legislature in support of a further appropriation of $200,000. There is no foundation for the statement that any of the commissioners told the committee of the legislature that we did not intend to change the architect. That I am certain of. We feel sure that the further sum which the legislature has voted will be sufficient to complete the buildings as they ought to be completed."

The Globe says: A number of statements are afloat regarding the letting of contracts by the commissioners, and the cheeseparing policy which it is claimed they are pursuing in regard to the erection of the buildings.

It is asserted by many persons conversant with the details that the additional appropriation of $290,000 recently made by the legislature for the completion of the buildings will not be at all sufficient for that purpose and that a like sum, or very near it, will have to be applied for before the buildings are completed.

Another allegation is that the bids were always opened in secret by the commissioners, and that the public had no means of knowing what the amounts of the respective bids were.

The commissioners say that this has been their custom from the time the construction of the buildings was first commenced, although Mr. Federhen said he was not aware if the custom was followed in regard to other public works."

Braintrees, 13; Roxbury, A. A., 11.

The score in the game at Braintree Saturday run up pretty high, and the home club won by good luck. Rudderham and Malloy led their respective club at the bat, and French did some fine fielding for the Braintrees. The score:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Braintree	0	1	4	0	0	1	2	4	2	—13
Roxbury A. A.	1	0	1	2	0	0	5	0	2	—11

In the Out Field.

The Braintrees desire a game away from home tomorrow. Address A. F. Hollis, South Braintree.

CUNNINGHAM—In Atlantic, July 1, Mary J., daughter of Jane and the late John Cunningham, aged 14 years, 11 months and 21 days.

MOYLE—In Quincy, July 2, Edith J., daughter of Mr. James and Mrs. Katie Moyle, aged 14 days.

SALLEY—In Atlantic, July 2, Mr. Elisha F. Salley, aged 48 years.

EVENTS TOMORROW.

A Quiet Fourth in Quincy, but Nevertheless Some Attractions.

There will be no Fourth of July celebration in the city or in any of its villages this year, and the attractions are few and far between, so it will not be surprising if many go to the beaches or out of town for the holiday.

9 A. M.—Trap shoot of Wollaston club.

9 A. M.—Basket ball at Merry Mount Park.

10 A. M.—Boys' bicycle race.

11 A. M.—Stonecutters' bicycle race.

2.45 P. M.—Running race.

3.00 P. M.—Championship bicycle race.

The Merry Mount tennis club will hold a tournament in mixed doubles during the day, and will have an illumination in the evening.

A tent festival will be held at West Quincy. There will be a musical and variety at 2 P. M., a panorama of the Civil war at 8 P. M., and a lawn party with dancing from 9.30 P. M., to 2 A. M.

Bicycle Races.

Willard's bicycle races will be run on the Fourth at 10 A. M. and 2.45 P. M. The course is from his drug store on School street via of Franklin street, Independence avenue, and Washington street, to the pump at South Braintree and return. Prizes are offered in each class.

The entries, boys 15 to 19 years, Fred Wright, James White, John Mitchell, Fred Flowers, Arthur T. Perry and John Odom.

Championship race, Arthur Parsons, J. Callahan, James Dunn, Fred Wright, R. McKean, John Biencha, John Mitchell and Otis A. Edgarton.

Mr. Willard wishes to announce that if any of those who have entered the boys' race are found to be over 19 years of age they will be excluded.

The prizes will be awarded at the close of the afternoon races.

WEYMOUTH.

The labor difficulty at M. C. Dizer & Co. manufactory at East Weymouth has been settled and the men will return to work Thursday.

I. D. Pettis of Boston died suddenly of heart disease Sunday, while visiting the family of Elmer Vinton at East Braintree. He was formerly a resident of Weymouth and was at one time a police officer. He was 55 years of age and leaves a widow and one daughter.

Rev. Oliver Huckel pastor of the Union Congregational church resigned Sunday. He intends to devote two years to studying abroad.

Col. B. S. Lovell, treasurer of the John P. Lovell Arms Co., entertained the Lovell Diamond club of East Weymouth and the Somerville club with a shore dinner Sunday at Anderson's, Fort Point. The Somerville club of 55 members were met at Quincy by the East Weymouth club which escorted them to Fort Point. The firm of the John P. Lovell Arms Co. was represented by Col. Lovell and Mr. Henry L. Lovell. It was an enjoyable occasion.

An Easy Victory.

The North Weymouths scored an easy victory over the Marions on the home grounds on Saturday. It was so one-sided as to be very uninteresting. None of the 24 runs scoured were earned, although the home team batted heavily. A running catch of Bates and the battery work of Dolan and Carney were also worthy of mention. The score:

Innings,	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
No. Weymouth,	0	2	4	4	2	4	4	1	*	—21
Marion,	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	1	—3

Two-base hits, Faircloth, Carney, Duffy. Stolen bases, Bates 4, Dunn 2, Duffy, Carney, White. Passed balls, Mawn 2, Carney. Wild pitches, Dolan 2, Lynch 3. First base on balls, Marion 4, North Weymouth 2. Struck out, by Dolan 9, by Lynch 1. Time 1h. 45m. Umpire, Connors.

NOT EXACTLY A BULL in the china closet, but such a shattering of prices looks as if one had been there, for instance, a delightful Mexican hammock for 69 cents; others at almost any price. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

Aurisa and Primrose Each First in Hull Races—Beatrice Also a Leader.

There were a large number of entries in the second race of the Hull yacht club on Saturday, and it was a great day for the Quincy boats, the Beatrice, Aurisa and Primrose being the leaders of their classes.

The order in the third class was: Beatrice, White Fawn, Hiladee, Moondyne and Gipsy.

The Exile had it her own way in the fourth, her rival, the Vannessa, withdrawing.

The little Aurisa, the smallest of her class, led her rivals over the course, they finishing in this order: Magpie, Hagedorn and Opechee.

The corrected time in the sixth class puts the Primrose over 10 minutes ahead of the Don. The Dandelion withdrew to assist the Mab which capsized.

In the special class the order was Vandal, Joker, Barclay and Santa Maria.

AN OLD TIME FOURTH

IT IS NOT SUCH A CELEBRATION AS IT USED TO BE.

Anvils at Sunrise and Crowds All Day—Old Settlers and Big Families—Fireworks In the Evening—The Rural Sports—Misdirected Fusilade.

TIME was when the Fourth of July was the one bright particular day in the calendar. It came after corn was planted and safely seen through the doubtful stages, after hay harvest and often after wheat was in the shock. It came after the sheep had been washed and after the busy shearing time, and there really was no reason why the family shouldn't enjoy itself. Add to this the coming of that event on a Saturday, and you have every reason for a big celebration in every county town in the country.

In the days of militia and muster and training and all that it was sure of a grand recognition. But latterly patriotism has been permitted to escape through a vent called Memorial day, and there isn't enough left over with which to "lick the British." Juvenile America, that used to learn heroics and exercise them, now has a day of its own, and children's day is their especial preserver, even the bad boy joining in the festivities, not a whit sanctified by its connection with a Sunday school. Then there are the countless excursions and picnics and the journeys, none of which was attempted by the fathers. And of course there isn't ginger enough to effervesce the entire year.

All that made the success of the celebration at Woodville the more remarkable. A new lawyer had come to town along in March, and the first thing he did was to move for a good Fourth of July celebration. It was strange, having the management of the affair in his own hands, if he didn't deliver the main oration, and it was stranger still if after giving them that taste of his metal he did not win a fair share of their cases in court. He conceived the happy idea of offering a money premium for the largest delegation from any one township. And this has become so much an age of money getting that it did what patriotism could not and fairly filled Woodville with countrymen by 10 o'clock in the morning. Each of the townships brought a band of its own. By band the rural reader always understands a company of musicians. And the collection displayed at Woodville was a marvel.

A WILD EXPLOSION.

In order to avoid all professional jealousies—musicians are proverbial quarrelers—Lawyer Waite gave each township a place in the order of its arriving in town, and each delegation, headed by its own band, paraded the principal streets and marched out gayly to the fair ground. But, after all, the band from Whitesville was entitled to a foremost place not only because it came first to town, but because Eb Plaisance, who had it in charge, was plaintiff in a larger number of lawsuits than any other man, and Counselor Waite wanted him.

But these were only a few of the many things that went to make Woodville great. The oldest settler in the county was here—a totally disreputable but deliciously comical old fellow, who had drank to repletion from every jug on the grounds, and who insisted on interrupting every conversation with tales of the Indians he had slain and the deer he had outrun on the dry grounds where the best buildings of Woodville now lifted their galvanized iron cornices.

The first woman settler was also present. She came down in a chair set in the common wagon box and was a person of interest for the first time in years. She had been snubbed and browbeaten so many times by her son-in-law that she took unstinted revenge now in receiving the attentions of the populace and in telling how she used to "swing an ax as good as any man" in those old days before the wilderness had learned to blossom.

The man with the biggest family was there—a weary, wiry, aguish looking chap with a progeny simply appalling and a wife who slipped off her shoes and sat in stockinged comfort most of the day. Nine of the children wore garments made from the same piece or "domestic." In the case of the girls it took the shape of gowns—called dresses in Woodville. On the boys the same figure and fabric appeared as shirts, though for the youngest not enough time had been allowed, and his collar was pinned on, to his great annoyance and occasional agony. The rest of the children were either small enough to wear the castoff clothes of their elders or large enough to wear purchases of their own. Of course the man with the biggest family had a money premium, and of course he monopolized it, as if the bearing and rearing were all results of his own fair handiwork.

Squire Stradley had consented to read the declaration, and he did so with a strength and judgment which showed that he at least was as good a patriot as the first man who ever "held these truths to be self evident." Then came a prayer by the most daring minister in the place—a man who lived in hope of some time being hauled up before the conference on a charge of heresy. When he concluded, the glee club sang "America," with the tenor perpetually wandering about in the vocal clouds that circled above the bass and air and wondering what had become of the chord.

"Now we will all sing that last verse together," said Lawyer Waite, rising impressively, "and the bands will accompany us. I will recite it:

Our fathers' God, to thee,
Author of liberty,
To thee we sing—er—er—

And there he stopped, for he couldn't remember the succeeding words to save his life.

"Long may our land be bright," prompted the tenor, with his book before him and his finger on the line. And after that the master of ceremonies went swimmingly through to the end. He suffered tortures for his lapse of memory, but no one minded the break. Everything was forgotten in the song that followed.

A MILD INTOXICANT.

Then came the oration. The master of ceremonies was the orator and introduced himself. He attacked the original foe of America's eagle and vanquished in turn each enemy, moral or material, that ever had threatened. Then he announced that dinner was ready, and the shifting throng surrounded the two long tables or lost itself in little groups about the grove and ate from baskets that had been days in filling, but which stood depleted after an hour's feast.

Other sports followed, and when the interest flagged the sun was down, and every one took a good position for viewing the fireworks. This had been the grand effort of the committee, and nearly $100 had been raised—through the hardest coaxing—for the purchase of rockets and candles and pinwheels that would show all the colors of the rainbow. It was unfortunate that the committee didn't know as much about firing as it did about buying, for one of the first things done was the dropping of a lighted torch in a heap of explosives, and a volcano resulted. It was the wildest scene ever known in Woodville. Sam Gill was burned in the face, and Charley Fullen had the skirt of his coat scorched a cinnamon brown before they could escape the misdirected fusillade. Then the air was red and blue and smoky from the cracking, snapping, roaring box of fireworks—and that was the end of the day's festivities.

While it was admitted the law frowned upon the sale of liquor on the Fourth, it had been noticed ever since noon that some one had a limitless supply of mild intoxicant, and by the time the day was done the men were as wild and inebriated as were their sires on training day. But it was Fourth of July, and no one charged it up against them. The wagons were filled with farmers and their families; the buggies which a later generation had chosen, instead of the springless, comfortless chariots for lumber, crowded the narrow streets and hurried out into the country roads. There were songs and jokes and a world of fun, and then the all pervading night swallowed and silenced all heritage of day.

A Mournful Day.

Algy—What are you dwessed in black for, old man?

Wegy—You evidently forget, Algy, that this is the Fourth of July.

TILLMAN'S EXPERIMENT

Does Not Thus Far Show Any Indication of Success.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 3.—The operation of the new liquor law, which makes the state the dispensor of drinking fluids, was begun in the midst of some trepidation on the part of the governor, his feeling in this respect being due to certain threats which came to him relative to his own safety. In view of these circumstances Governor Tillman had the executive mansion guarded Friday night by a number of guards from the penitentiary. There were no new developments, and the rumors could not be traced to any authentic source.

As a result of the law there has been a sudden movement in the jug business, these articles being seen at many railroad stations, bearing all sorts of labels. A number of saloons still keep their liquor on hand, and almost all the druggists are charged with violating the law. The gross receipts of the state barrooms throughout the state are said to be ridiculously small, and very few dispensaries have been opened.

Corbett and Mitchell.

CHICAGO, July 3.—"The undersigned, James J. Corbett, agrees to accept a purse of $45,000 from the Columbian Athletic club of Chicago for a contest to a finish between Charles Mitchell and himself." Corbett then goes on to say that he believed himself bound to the Coney Island club, but the fact that Charley Mitchell had not signed with that club makes him think that he is released from all obligation. Mitchell cabled that the purse suited him, and he posted $2500 in London, and signed temporary articles pending the arrival of the club's genuine articles.

Kept Their Mouths Shut.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Fielden, Schwab and Neebe made their first appearance at a public meeting since their release from Joliet at Zeph's hall. The occasion was the celebration of a German festival by Brewers' union No. 18. Neebe was one of the organizers of the union, and he and the other two were the guests of the evening. The three men took no part in the proceedings.

Sandow Horsewhipped.

NEW YORK, July 3.—"Lurline," the water queer, horsewhipped Sandow, the strong man, Saturday night, and was arraigned in court yesterday and held in $300 bail for examination on a charge of assault. Sandow said he had a number of blackmailing letters from "Lurline," but could not produce them then as they were locked up in his trunks that had gone on to Boston.

Spurgeon Invited to America.

BROOKLYN, July 3.—In the Hanson Place Baptist church a royal welcome was extended yesterday to Rev. Thomas Spurgeon. Mr. Spurgeon has been preaching in New Zealand for 16 years and is now on his way home to London to take his father's pulpit in the London Tabernacle, where he will preach for the next year.

Referee Lynch's Decision.

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—George Dixon, the champion featherweight, met Walter Edgerton, the "Kentucky Rosebud," in a four-round fight. The "Rosebud" not only stayed the first four rounds, but had slightly the best of the last round. Referee Lynch, however, gave the decision to Dixon.

A Horrible Discovery.

WHITE HAVEN, Pa., July 3.—A young woman of Morrison died nine months after being wedded. Her husband believed that she had been buried alive. He eventually lost his mind. To satisfy him his friends reopened the grave, and to their horror discovered that his supposed hallucination was a terrible reality. The body was turned face downward. The glass in the lid was broken. The robes were torn to shreds, hair dishevelled, and flesh torn, showing where the woman had torn herself in the frenzy upon discovering her awful position.

Declines a Doubtful Honor.

RICHMOND, July 3.—General Dabney H. Maury was indirectly offered a position with the Louisiana State Lottery company at a salary of $30,000, but he has declined it, saying: "I prefer to go down to the grave as I am and not place my children in a position that might require of them an explanation."

MARKHAM'S VERSION

Of the Great Naval Disaster In the Mediterranean.

MIGHT HAVE SAVED LIVES

But Was Forbidden By Tryon to Lower Boats.

LONDON, July 3.—A midshipman from the Victoria arrived at Calais yesterday, with Rear Admiral Markham's dispatches concerning the collision off Tripoli. He was brought by special steamer to Dover and was conveyed thence by special train to London. He drove directly to the admiralty office, where the admiralty board, notified in advance of his coming, received and read the dispatches at once. The board decided to publish the dispatches in full forthwith. The first dispatch was dated from the warship Camperdown, on June 22. It says:

"It is with the most profound regret that I have to report the total loss of her majesty's ship Victoria, involving the loss of the commander-in-chief, Vice Admiral Sir George Tryon, 22 officers and 336 men, under the following circumstances: The squadron, consisting of her majesty's ships Victoria, Camperdown, Nile, Dreadnaught, Inflexible, Collingwood, Phaeton, Edinburgh, Sanspareil, Edgar, Amphrion, Fearless and Barham, left Beyrout about 10 o'clock this forenoon for Tripoli. Shortly after, the squadron formed single column line abreast and proceeded at the rate of eight knots per hour.

"When five miles from the anchorage off Tripoli the signal was made at 2:20 in the afternoon to form columns of divisions in line ahead, disposed beam to port—the columns to be

Six Cable-Lengths Apart.

We proceeded in this formation until 3:28, when the signal was given from the Victoria to the first division to turn 16 points to port and to the second division to turn 16 points to starboard.

"As the columns were only six cable-lengths apart it was not thought in my opinion within the maneuvring distance to execute such an evolution. I directed the flag lieutenants to keep the signal, which we were repeating at dip as an indication that the signal from the Victoria was not understood. I then directed them to signal with the semaphore, 'Do I understand it a wish for the columns to turn as indicated by the signal now flying?' But before my order could be carried out the commander-in-chief semaphored to me

To Know What I Was Waiting For.

"It then struck me that he wished me to turn 16 points, as indicated by the signal, and it was his intention to circle round beyond division, leaving them on the port hand. Having the fullest confidence in the great ability of the commander to maneuver the squadron without even risk of collision, I ordered the signal hoisted as an indication that I understood.

"When the signal was hauled down the helm of the Camperdown was put hard aport. As the two ships turned toward each other, and, seeing the helm of the Victoria was still half-starboard, I directed the captain of the Camperdown to go full speed astern with the starboard screw, in order to decrease our circle of turning. Seeing that a collision was inevitable, I then ordered him to go full speed astern with both engines, but before the speed could be materially communicated the stem of the Camperdown struck the Victoria on the starboard bow, about 20 feet before the turret, and crushed into the ship almost to the center line.

"Seeing the critical condition of the Victoria, which seemed to be settling down towards the head, boats were immediately prepared for the rescue, when the open pennant was hoisted by the Victoria and the signal was made

Not to Send Boats.

A few minutes later she keeled over to starboard and, turning bottom upward, disappeared."

Hon. Maurice A. Bourke, the captain of the Victoria, sends to the admiralty a letter dated H. M. S. Nile, June 25. After a technical preface detailing the vessel's course, the writer continues:

"Shortly after 2 p. m., the commander said he should form the fleet into two divisions disposed to port, columns six cables apart, and when sufficiently past the line of bearing he would invert lines by turning columns inward 16 points, bringing the columns of divisions in the abreast to port. The staff commander suggested eight cables would be a better distance to form up in two divisions than six. The admiral said: 'Yes, it should be eight cables.'

"The chief commander went on deck and about 2:15 his signal was made for the fleet to form column of division in line ahead, columns disposed abeam to port, columns six cables apart. The staff commander then went to the admiral to say that six cables were flying and he had said eight cables. It was in the admiral's cabin. The admiral said it was

To Remain at Six Cables.

"When the signal was ordered to be hoisted for the first division to alter the course 16 points to starboard I directed Lanyon, a midshipman, to observe closely the distance of the Camperdown. He reported to the commander that it should be too close, and asked permission to reverse the port screw. This was done, and just before the collision both engines were going at full speed astern.

"The ship had turned 12 or 13 points when the Camperdown struck the Victoria on the starboard bow about 10 feet abaft the anchor."

Swindled Out of Nearly $50,000.

CHEYENNE, Wis., July 3.—The Mutual Life Insurance company of New York has been defrauded of $44,078 by A. M. Whitney, acting as the special agent in 1891, who purchased 546 acres of land as an investment for the company, representing that he paid $90,930 for the property. E. B. Newton, the special agent of the company, has just ascertained that Whitney actually paid but $46,822 for the land.

In a Bad Fix.

DALLAS, July 3.—T. J. Wood, late cashier of the Ninth National bank of Dallas, was arrested on indictments charging him with embezzling $229,000 from the bank. He is also charged with embezzling $20,000 of the funds of the First National bank of Rockwell.

Captain Andersen Nearly Drowned.

CLYDE, N. Y., July 3.—Captan Andersen of the Viking went in bathing near here and got under a boat, and but for the assistance of the students he would have drowned.

Watch Out.

IF in grocery stores, in cooking schools, or by peddlers in your kitchen, any baking powder is recommended or urged upon you in place of the Royal, it is because such recommendation is paid for. It is unsafe to substitute any baking powder in place of the old standby, the thoroughly tried Royal. The official reports show that all others are cheaper made powders of inferior strength, and contain either lime, alum or sulphuric acid.

BOSTON IN THE LEAD.

Harvard College Boys Are Champions of the College Diamond.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The polo grounds have been the scene of many brilliant audiences, and enthusiasm has frequently reached high water mark there, but on Saturday all past displays in the matter of gay colorings and frantic hilariousness were eclipsed. "Rah! rah! rahs!" were fired off from every section of the grand stand when Mason came to the plate as the first batsman. At first he knocked a foul and then a clean home run.

Again were these scenes repeated when the winning run of the game was made. They fell upon each others' shoulders, kicked their legs like so many demons, waved their flags until their arms gave out and the power of speech was exhausted.

When the ninth inning for Yale opened and the Yales began to fall upon Highlands with terrific force, a cold chill swept down the backs of the crimson shouters.

But the disagreeable sensation was only of short duration, as the 1 st Yale man fell with the score standing 6 to 4 in Harvard's favor, thus giving the championship on the diamond to President Eliot's boys.

Diamond Tips.

Lange of the Chicagos has strained his back, and will lay off for a few days.

Mark Baldwin is not now the idol in New York that he was only a short time ago.

Arthur Clarkson was fined $100 and Hawley $25 for being "sassy" to Von de Ahe.

Gus Schmelz is proposed for president of the Southern league at the coming reorganization.

There is a scheme on foot to reduce the membership of the Southern league from 12 clubs to eight.

Von der Ahe has given Captain Joe Quinn a tip to infuse more ginger into the work of his team.

Shortstop Holland has been released by the Montgomery (Ala.) club, and signed by the Nashville club.

The Charleston club has signed Outfielder G. W. Henry to take the place Long, who was released to the Baltimore club.

No club has put in a claim for E l Crane. He is practising daily at the Polo grounds, with his ear close to the soil listening for the call that never comes.

The three men who are regarded as the greatest baseball leaders on the bal field—Anson, Comiskey and Ward—are at the head of the teams away down in the race.

Manager Burnham of the Providence club has secured Deady, one of the strongest players of the Portland club, and he says that he will sign two good pitchers within a few days.

During the Chicago-Brooklyn game of June 26 Dahlen objected to a called strike in the first inning and Seward fined him $10. A few minutes later Dahlen dashed a handful of dust into the umpire's eyes. Seward said nothing.

Carroll, Duffy, Merritt, Stein, Daly, Pfeffer, Canavan, Farrell, Van Haltren, Clarkson, Kelly and Tebeau—a pretty good ball team could be selected from these names. They are men whom Anson has released in the past.

Colcolough, the young pitcher of the Charleston club, is the first pitcher under the new rules to dispose of an opposing team without a safe hit in a full game. He accomphished the feat against the hard-hitting Montgomerys.

A CHEERFUL PROSPECT.

Grain Crops, Wheat Excepted, Are Generally In Prime Condition.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The World publishes this morning a detailed account of the condition of the crops in the western and northwestern states, the Pacific slope, and Manitoba. The report shows: First, that the wheat crop will be much below the average. Second, that the corn crop will be enormous, and if the weather conditions continue good, will probably be the largest ever raised. Third, that the acreage of oats, barley, rye and similar grains has increased, and that the crop will be large. Fourth, that the hay crop is everywhere above the average. Fifth, that the general condition of the agricultural section is excellent.

Soup creek, in McDowell county, W. Va., is a remarkable stream. The creek passes a hamlet called Vivian, and about a mile below returns, runs around a tract of land about half a mile wide, and then passes under itself. This freak is caused by the lay of the land, which sinks spirally.

The hospital building committee of Brockton have recommended that the city build a brick hospital, to cost $24,000.

The highest waves ever met with in the ocean are said to be those off the cape of Good Hope. Under the influence of a north-westerly gale they have been known to exceed 40 ft in hight.

There has not been a total eclipse of the sun at London since the year 1140, except that of 1715, and Prof. Holden says there will not be another until after the opening of the 21st century.

Read Between the Lines

Most people know only comparatively few things thoroughly—all else is more or less uncertain. Take your own case. What do you know about carpets, for example? Are you competent to detect poor materials, or imperfect weaving, or unreliable colorings, or old-style patterns? No. Then, will it not be wisdom on your part to make your purchases of carpets where all these points are taken care of in your interest—where you are protected not only from direct misrepresentation but from the results of your own inexperience? Two things we promise: To tell you the whole truth about whatever you buy; to make good any hidden defect which may appear subsequent to purchase. Prices, too, are studiously kept at the moderate point. When next you buy carpets or upholstery, consider these things.

and you will discover some highly interesting statements relative to CARPETS and RIALS, or imperfect weaving, or unreliable colorings, or old-style patterns? No. Then, will it not be wisdom UPHOLSTERY.

SHOT IN THE NECK.

Alonzo C. Porter Seriously Wounds Will Clogston.

HE DID IT BY MISTAKE.

Porter Thought He Was to Be Assailed by Whitecaps.

TUNBRIDGE, Vt., July 5.—Will Clogston was shot by Alonzo C. Porter early yesterday morning, Porter using a shotgun.

A large shot struck Clogston near the windpipe, went two inches into his neck and lodged against the carotid artery. The shot has been removed, and Clogston is living. Porter has been arrested and will probably be held until it is known whether Clogston will live or not.

Clogston, when shot, was with a party of young men in the pasture beside the Tunbridge road, opposite and about 20 rods distant from Porter's residence.

He was watching the rest of the party, who were engaged in

Ushering in the Fourth

by blowing horns and firing an old anvil, that was used as a substitute for a cannon.

They had but just commenced firing when Porter came out of his house and opened fire.

The second charge he fired struck young Clogston, a part of the shot went through his clothing and one entered his neck.

The owner of the pasture says he gave the boys permission to go into it and have as big a celebration as they could.

The boys say they had no intention of harming Porter or of going upon his premises, but that there might have been some thought of waking him up.

Porter has had some trouble with t[illegible] young people because of the story of h[illegible] taking $30 from a young man who at tempted to kiss his daughter one day la[illegible] week.

Monday he came here and got a large amount of chaffing from the young people.

Monday night he received a letter in which he was

and with having his house torn down if he did not return the $30. This letter was signed "Whitecaps."

Since the shooting Porter has said he supposed the young men in the pasture came to carry out the threat contained in the letter and that he fired his gun into the air thinking he would scare them away.

Clogston is a general favorite, and if he should die Porter would receive rough treatment from the people, it is thought.

Journalists Going Pleasuring.

PROVIDENCE, July 5.—The journalists from all over Rhode Island are going on an outing for one week to Block island, beginning next Monday. The party will number about 200. President Irving Watson has arranged an excellent program. Ex-Governor Ladd will address the members on Thursday evening, while Kate Field of Washington will speak on Friday night. Hon. B. B. Herbert, president of the National Editorial association, and Prof. Buckley of Mystic, Conn., will be the orators on Friday.

Electric Road Opened to the Public.

ROCKLAND, Me., July 5.—The Thomaston extension of the Rockland, Thomaston and Camden Electric Street railway has been opened to the public. The new branch is laid up Park street and over the new Thomaston road to Mill River bridge, where work is temporarily suspended. The track is remarkably straight its entire length of three miles, with a natural grade. The suspension at Mill river, which is just at the entrance of Thomaston, is owing to some hitch regarding the weight of rails and the like.

Crushed to Death by a Railroad Train.

BOSTON, July 5.—A fatal accident occurred at the noon hour yesterday at the Boston and Maine railroad station. At that time an unknown man, supposed, however, to be J. Quinn, was caught between the platform of the new station and a train of cars and was so badly crushed that he died soon after. The man was about 55 years of age, had dark hair tinged with gray, and was dressed in a dark mixed suit of clothes and long-legged boots.

Accidental Shooting.

BOSTON, July 5.—William King, colored, is at the city hospital suffering from a bullet wound in his left leg. He says that he was passing up Columbus avenue last evening and while near Berkeley street a man in a room on the third floor of one of the houses pointed a revolver at him and fired. Officers arrested Dennis Angel, aged 14 years, who admits having fired a revolver several times in that vicinity.

The Deadlock Broken.

BIDDEFORD, Me., July 5.—The police commission have removed six members of the special force and appointed six officers, most of whom will go on regular duty. At a meeting of the Saco city council the appropriation bill, over which there has been a deadlock, was passed, the councilmen concurring with the aldermen in the passage of the original order.

Kelly Won on a Foul.

STAMFORD, Conn., July 5.—Billy Forsyth, the well-known fighter of Danbury, and Sammy Kelly, the clever lightweight of New York, met in a finish fight yesterday. It took 28 rounds to decide the battle, which was won by Kelly on a foul.

Died From Her Injuries.

BOSTON, July 5.—Hulda Asberg, who was so badly burned by the breaking of a kerosene lamp at her home, 143 Boylston avenue, Jamaica Plain, Sunday night, died at the city hospital from the effects of her injuries.

YESTERDAY'S BASEBALL.

Boston Takes Two Games From Chicago—Other Games—League Standings.

CHICAGO, July 5.—The Bostons won in a walkover yesterday morning, taking the game in the fourth inning. In the second Stivetts hit to Dahlen and at first base collided with Anson. He was hurled 10 feet from the sack, falling face downward. He was unconscious for five minutes. He was hurt about the head and internally. Staley finished the game. McGinnis went in for the Colts after the second.

CHICAGO, July 5.—Anson's leg was hurt in his collision with Stivetts in the morning game, and for the first time this season he laid off, Decker covering first and Lange second. Decker made a good impression, but marred his record by an unnecessary wild throw. Boston put in Nichols and Chicago Hutchison. It was, as in the morning, a walkover for the champions. Tucker in the first was ordered out of the coacher's box for chaffing Hutchison and fined $10 besides.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.

A Long List of Patriotic Patients Treated at the Emergency Hospital.

BOSTON, July 5.—Dr. Galvin's emergency hospital celebrated the Fourth and at the same time the second anniversary of its institution yesterday by treating 81 cases. Of course by far the greater number of accidents [illegible] from the careless handling of fire [illegible] was [illegible] a avenue [illegible] end of a cannon cracker. His hands and face were burned and lacerated.

John Ryan of 5 Columbia place suffered from a similar accident.

Wane Vancamp, a cigarmaker, who lives on Pleasant street, was a victim of the Roman candle joke. He lost a thumb and two fingers.

A. A. Duchenim was treated for serious powder burns.

The innocent toy pistol was the cause of a lacerated wound on the palm of M. J. Connolly's hand.

Edward F. Damon, who works for the Standard Brewing company, did not drop a cannon cracker quick enough. His thumb and forefinger are missing.

Dennis Bowen, Clarence A. Robinson of the American Express and Mamie Dennie of 296 Athens street suffered from powder burns on the face, hands and eyes.

J. J. Fleming of the Shoe and Leather Exchange building was shot in the palm with a blank cartridge.

William S. Henkenup of the Boston Cordage company was accidentally shot in the palm while examining a pistol. The bullet was removed.

J. Quinn of the Armstrong Transfer company suffered from the laceration of his thumb and the burning of his face and hands.

Cornelius O'Neal suffered a lacerated wound involving the radial artery, and D. E. Stewart of Charlestown is fortunate if he does not lose the great toe, which was nearly blown off.

An exploding cannon cracker hit John Garofola in the eye, and he may lose the sight thereof.

James Fielding's left hand is now done up in cotton. It was the blank cartridge story.

Others who were injured were Johnny Flynn, Clifford Rounseferr of 341 Harrison avenue, William P. Robinson, David F. Weymouth, William Haslon Hand, John Clancy of 26 West Dedham court and others.

Michael J. Murphy of Parker place, Roxbury, while on the street at Roxbury crossing, was struck on the back of the neck by a 22-calibre bullet which had gone astray.

A couple of wounds on Joseph Roach's head were sewed up and John Swan underwent a similar operation.

A fall from an electric car was the cause of the bad cuts on C. F. Brown's face.

The black-jack was the agent which fractured Norman E. Bullock's skull.

In some manner J. J. Dyer's left temporal artery was cut. It was a bad wound, but Dr. Galvin and his associates dressed it, and the victim's life was saved.

Martha J. Mace, 39 years old and living at 76 Myrtle street, was shot in the arm while working about the house. Where the shot came from is a mystery which is baffling the police. The injured woman lived on the sixth floor of the building, and it would be impossible for one to shoot into the room from the street.

TILLMAN'S EXPERIMENT

Does Not Thus Far Show Any Indication of Success.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 3.—The operation of the new liquor law, which makes the state the dispensor of drinking fluids, was begun in the midst of some trepidation on the part of the governor, his feeling in this respect being due to certain threats which came to him relative to his own safety. In view of these circumstances Governor Tillman had the executive mansion guarded Friday night by a number of guards from the penitentiary. There were no new developments, and the rumors could not be traced to any authentic source.

As a result of the law there has been a sudden movement in the jug business, these articles being seen at many railroad stations, bearing all sorts of labels. A number of saloons still keep their liquor on hand, and almost all the druggists are charged with violating the law. The gross receipts of the state barrooms throughout the state are said to be ridiculously small, and very few dispensaries have been opened.

Corbett and Mitchell.

CHICAGO, July 3.—"The undersigned, James J. Corbett, agrees to accept a purse of $45,000 from the Columbian Athletic club of Chicago for a contest to a finish between Charles Mitchell and himself." Corbett then goes on to say that he believed himself bound to the Coney Island club, but the fact that Charley Mitchell had not signed with that club makes him think that he is released from all obligation. Mitchell cabled that the purse suited him, and he posted $2500 in London, and signed temporary articles pending the arrival of the club's genuine articles.

Kept Their Mouths Shut.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Fielden, Schwab and Neebe made their first appearance at a public meeting since their release from Joliet at Zeph's hall. The occasion was the celebration of a German festival by Brewers' union No. 18. Neebe was one of the organizers of the union, and he and the other two were the guests of the evening. The three men took no part in the proceedings.

NEW YORK, July 3.—"Lurline," the water queen, horsewhipped Sandow, the strong man, Saturday night, and was arraigned in court yesterday and held in $300 bail for examination on a charge of assault. Sandow said he had a number of blackmailing letters from "Lurline," but could not produce them then as they were locked up in his trunks that had gone on to Boston.

Mr. Spurgeon has been preaching in New Zealand for 16 years and is now on his way home to London to take his father's pulpit in the London Tabernacle, where he will preach for the next year.

Referee Lynch's Decision.

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—George Dixon, the champion featherweight, met Walter Edgerton, the "Kentucky Rosebud," in a four-round fight. The "Rosebud" not only stayed the first four rounds, but had slightly the best of the last round. Referee Lynch, however, gave the decision to Dixon.

A Horrible Discovery.

WHITE HAVEN, Pa., July 3.—A young woman of Morrison died nine months after being wedded. Her husband believed that she had been buried alive. He eventually lost his mind. To satisfy him his friends reopened the grave, and to their horror discovered that his supposed hallucination was a terrible reality. The body was turned face downward. The glass in the lid was broken. The robes were torn to shreds, hair dishevelled, and flesh torn, showing where the woman had torn herself in the frenzy upon discovering her awful position.

Declines a Doubtful Honor.

RICHMOND, July 3.—General Dabney H. Maury was indirectly offered a position with the Louisiana State Lottery company at a salary of $30,000, but he has declined it, saying: "I prefer to go down to the grave as I am and not place my children in a position that might require of them an explanation."

MARKHAM'S VERSION

Of the Great Naval Disaster In the Mediterranean.

MIGHT HAVE SAVED LIVES

But Was Forbidden By Tryon to Lower Boats.

LONDON, July 3.—A midshipman from the Victoria arrived at Calais yesterday, with Rear Admiral Markham's dispatches concerning the collision off Tripoli. He was brought by special steamer to Dover and was conveyed thence by special train to London. He drove directly to the admiralty office, where the admiralty board, notified in advance of his coming, received and read the dispatches at once. The board decided to publish the dispatches in full forthwith. The first dispatch was dated from the warship Camperdown, on June 22. It says:

"It is with the most profound regret that I have to report the total loss of her majesty's ship Victoria, involving the loss of the commander-in-chief, Vice Admiral Sir George Tryon, 22 officers and 336 men, under the following circumstances: The squadron, consisting of her majesty's ships Victoria, Camperdown, Nile, Dreadnaught, Inflexible, Collingwood, Phaeton, Edinburgh, Sanspareil, Edgar, Amphrion, Fearless and Barham, left Beyrout about 10 o'clock this forenoon for Tripoli. Shortly after, the squadron formed single column line abreast and proceeded at the rate of eight knots per hour.

"When five miles from the anchorage off Tripoli the signal was made at 2:20 in the afternoon to form columns of divisions in line ahead, disposed beam to port—the columns to be

Six Cable-Lengths Apart.

We proceeded in this formation until 3:28, when the signal was given from the Victoria to the first division to turn 16 points to port and to the second division to turn 16 points to starboard.

"As the columns were only six cable-lengths apart it was not thought in my opinion within the maneuvring distance to execute such an evolution. I directed the flag lieutenants to keep the signal, which we were repeating at dip as an indication that the signal from the Victoria was not understood. I then directed them to signal with the semaphore, 'Do I understand it a wish for the columns to turn as indicated by the signal now flying?' But before my order could be carried out the commander-in-chief semaphored to me

To Know What I Was Waiting For.

"It then struck me that he wished me to turn 16 points, as indicated by the signal, and it was his intention to circle round beyond division, leaving them on the port hand. Having the fullest confidence in the great ability of the commander to maneuver the squadron without even risk of collision, I ordered the signal hoisted as an indication that I understood.

"When the signal was hauled down the helm of the Camperdown was put hard aport. As the two ships turned toward each other, and, seeing the helm of the Victoria was still half-starboard, I directed the captain of the Camperdown to go full speed astern with the starboard screw, in order to decrease our circle of turning. Seeing that a collision was inevitable, I then ordered him to go full speed astern with both engines, but before the speed could be materially communicated the stem of the Camperdown struck the Victoria on the starboard bow, about 20 feet before the turret, and crushed into the ship almost to the center line.

"Seeing the critical condition of the Victoria, which seemed to be settling down towards the head, boats were immediately prepared for the rescue, when the open pennant was hoisted by the Victoria and the signal was made

Not to Send Boats.

A few minutes later she keeled over to starboard and, turning bottom upward, disappeared."

Hon. Maurice A. Bourke, the captain of the Victoria, sends to the admiralty a letter dated H. M. S. Nile, June 25. After a technical preface detailing the vessel's course, the writer continues:

"Shortly after 2 p. m., the commander said he should form the fleet into two divisions disposed to port, columns six cables apart, and when sufficiently past the line of bearing he would invert lines by turning columns inward 16 points, bringing the columns of divisions in the abreast to port. The staff commander suggested eight cables would be a better distance to form up in two divisions than six. The admiral said: 'Yes, it should be eight cables.'

"The chief commander went on deck and about 2:15 his signal was made for the fleet to form column of division in line ahead, columns disposed abeam to port, columns six cables apart. The staff commander then went to the admiral to say that six cables were flying and he had said eight cables. It was in the admiral's cabin. The admiral said it was

To Remain at Six Cables.

"When the signal was ordered to be hoisted for the first division to alter the course 16 points to starboard I directed Lanyon, a midshipman, to observe closely the distance of the Camperdown. He reported to the commander that it should be too close, and asked permission to reverse the port screw. This was done, and just before the collision both engines were going at full speed astern.

"The ship had turned 12 or 13 points when the Camperdown struck the Victoria on the starboard bow about 10 feet abaft the anchor."

Swindled Out of Nearly $50,000.

CHEYENNE, Wis., July 3.—The Mutual Life Insurance company of New York has been defrauded of $44,078 by A. M. Whitney, acting as the special agent in 1891, who purchased 546 acres of land as an investment for the company, representing that he paid $90,000 for the property. E. B. Newton, the special agent of the company, has just ascertained that Whitney actually paid but $46,822 for the land.

In a Bad Fix.

DALLAS, July 3.—T. J. Wood, late cashier of the Ninth National bank of Dallas, was arrested on indictments charging him with embezzling $229,000 from the bank. He is also charged with embezzling $20,000 of the funds of the First National bank of Rockwell.

Captain Andersen Nearly Drowned.

CLYDE, N. Y., July 3.—Captan Andersen of the Viking went in bathing near here and got under a boat, and but for the assistance of the students he would have drowned.

Watch Out.

IF in grocery stores, in cooking schools, or by peddlers in your kitchen, any baking powder is recommended or urged upon you in place of the Royal, it is because such recommendation is paid for. It is unsafe to substitute any baking powder in place of the old standby, the thoroughly tried Royal. The official reports show that all others are cheaper made powders of inferior strength, and contain either lime, alum or sulphuric acid.

BOSTON IN THE LEAD.

Harvard College Boys Are Champions of the College Diamond.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The polo grounds have been the scene of many brilliant audiences, and enthusiasm has frequently reached high water mark there, but on Saturday all past displays in the matter of gay colorings and frantic hilariousness were eclipsed. "Rah! rah! rahs!" were fired off from every section of the grand stand when Mason came to the plate as the first batsman. At first he knocked a foul and then a clean home run.

Again were these scenes repeated when the winning run of the game was made. They fell upon each others' shoulders, kicked their legs like so many demons, waved their flags until their arms gave out and the power of speech was exhausted.

When the ninth inning for Yale opened and the Yales began to fall upon Highlands with terrific force, a cold chill swept down the backs of the crimson shouters.

But the disagreeable sensation was only of short duration, as the 1st Yale man fell with the score standing 6 to 4 in Harvard's favor, thus giving the championship on the diamond to President Eliot's boys.

Diamond Tips.

Lange of the Chicagos has strained his back, and will lay off for a few days.

Mark Baldwin is not now the idol in New York that he was only a short time ago.

Arthur Clarkson was fined $100 and Hawley $25 for being "sassy" to Von de Ahe.

Gus Schmelz is proposed for president of the Southern league at the coming reorganization.

There is a scheme on foot to reduce the membership of the Southern league from 12 clubs to eight.

Von der Ahe has given Captain Joe Quinn a tip to infuse more ginger into the work of his team.

Shortstop Holland has been released by the Montgomery (Ala.) club, and signed by the Nashville club.

The Charleston club has signed Outfielder G. W. Henry to take the place of Long, who was released to the Baltimore club.

No club has put in a claim for E. I. Crane. He is practising daily at the Polo grounds, with his ear close to the soil listening for the call that never comes.

The three men who are regarded as the greatest baseball leaders on the ball field—Anson, Comiskey and Ward—are at the head of the teams away down in the race.

Manager Burnham of the Providence club has secured Deady, one of the strongest players of the Portland club, and he says that he will sign two good pitchers within a few days.

During the Chicago-Brooklyn game of June 26 Dahlen objected to a called strike in the first inning and Seward fined him $10. A few minutes later Dahlen dashed a handful of dust into the umpire's eyes. Seward said nothing.

Carroll, Duffy, Merritt, Stein, Daly, Pfeffer, Canavan, Farrell, Van Haltren, Clarkson, Kelly and Tebeau—a pretty good ball team could be selected from these names. They are men whom Anson has released in the past.

Colcolough, the young pitcher of the Charleston club, is the first pitcher under the new rules to dispose of an opposing team without a safe hit in a full game. He accomplished the feat against the hard-hitting Montgomerys.

A CHEERFUL PROSPECT.

Grain Crops, Wheat Excepted, Are Generally In Prime Condition.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The World publishes this morning a detailed account of the condition of the crops in the western and northwestern states, the Pacific slope, and Manitoba. The report shows: First, that the wheat crop will be much below the average. Second, that the corn crop will be enormous, and if the weather conditions continue good, will probably be the largest ever raised. Third, that the acreage of oats, barley, rye and similar grains has increased, and that the crop will be large. Fourth, that the hay crop is everywhere above the average. Fifth, that the general condition of the agricultural section is excellent.

Soup creek, in McDowell county, W. Va., is a remarkable stream. The creek passes a hamlet called Vivian, and about a mile below returns, runs around a tract of land about half a mile wide, and then passes under itself. This freak is caused by the lay of the land, which sinks spirally.

The hospital building committee of Brockton have recommended that the city build a brick hospital, to cost $24,000.

The highest waves ever met with in the ocean are said to be those off the cape of Good Hope. Under the influence of a north-westerly gale they have been known to exceed 40 ft in hight.

There has not been a total eclipse of the sun at London since the year 1140, except that of 1715, and Prof. Holden says there will not be another until after the opening of the 21st century.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER.

VOL. 4. NO. 154. QUINCY, MASS., WEDNESDAY, JULY 5, 1893. PRICE 2 CENTS

Read Between the Lines

Most people know only comparatively few things thoroughly—all else is more or less uncertain. Take your own case. What do you know about carpets, for example? Are you competent to detect poor materials, or imperfect weaving, or unreliable colorings, or old-style patterns? No. Then, will it not be wisdom on your part to make your purchases of carpets where all these points are taken care of in your interest—where you are protected not only from direct misrepresentation but from the results of your own inexperience? Two things we promise: To tell you the whole truth about whatever you buy; to make good any hidden defect which may appear subsequent to purchase. Prices, too, are studiously kept at the moderate point. When next you buy carpets or upholstery, consider these things.

and you will discover some highly interesting statements relative to CARPETS and RUGS, or UPHOLSTERY.

They are not addressed to somebody else—some dweller in another town or city—but straight and square to You.

Read them!

SHOT IN THE NECK.

Alonzo C. Porter Seriously Wounds Will Clogston.

HE DID IT BY MISTAKE.

Porter Thought He Was to Be Assailed by Whitecaps.

TUNBRIDGE, Vt., July 5.—Will Clogston was shot by ALONZO C. Porter early yesterday morning, Porter using a shotgun.

A large shot struck Clogston near the windpipe, went two inches into his neck and lodged against the carotid artery. The shot has been removed, and Clogston is living. Porter has been arrested and will probably be held until it is known whether Clogston will live or not.

Clogston, when shot, was with a party of young men in the pasture beside the Tunbridge road, opposite and about 20 rods distant from Porter's residence.

He was watching the rest of the party, who were engaged in

Ushering in the Fourth

by blowing horns and firing an old anvil, that was used as a substitute for a cannon.

They had but just commenced firing when Porter came out of his house and opened fire.

The second charge he fired struck young Clogston, a part of the shot went through his clothing and one entered his neck.

The owner of the pasture says he gave the boys permission to go into it and have as big a celebration as they could.

The boys say they had no intention of harming Porter or of going upon his premises, but that there might have been some thought of waking him up.

Porter has had some trouble with the young people because of the story of his taking $30 from a young man who attempted to kiss his daughter one day last week.

Monday he came here and got a large amount of chaffing from the young people.

Monday night he received a letter in which he was

and with having his house torn down if he did not return the $30. This letter was signed "Whitecaps."

Since the shooting Porter has said he supposed the young men in the pasture came to carry out the threat contained in the letter and that he fired his gun into the air thinking he would scare them away.

Clogston is a general favorite, and if he should die Porter would receive rough treatment from the people, it is thought.

Journalists Going Pleasuring.

PROVIDENCE, July 5.—The journalists from all over Rhode Island are going on an outing for one week to Block Island, beginning next Monday. The party will number about 200. President Irving Watson has arranged an excellent program. Ex-Governor Ladd will address the members on Thursday evening, while Kate Field of Washington will speak on Friday night. Hon. B. B. Herbert, president of the National Editorial association, and Prof. Buckley of Mystic, Conn., will be the orators on Friday.

Electric Road Opened to the Public.

ROCKLAND, Me., July 5.—The Thomaston extension of the Rockland, Thomaston and Camden Electric Street railway has been opened to the public. The new branch is laid up Park street and over the new Thomaston road to Mill River bridge, where work is temporarily suspended. The track is remarkably straight its entire length of three miles, with a natural grade. The suspension at Mill river, which is just at the entrance of Thomaston, is owing to some hitch regarding the weight of rails and the like.

Crushed to Death by a Railroad Train.

BOSTON, July 5.—A fatal accident occurred at the noon hour yesterday at the Boston and Maine railroad station. At that time an unknown man, supposed, however, to be J. Quinn, was caught between the platform of the new station and a train of cars and was so badly crushed that he died soon after. The man was about 55 years of age, had dark hair tinged with gray, and was dressed in a dark mixed suit of clothes and long-legged boots.

Accidental Shooting.

BOSTON, July 5.—William King, colored, is at the city hospital suffering from a bullet wound in his left leg. He says that he was passing up Columbus avenue last evening and while near Berkeley street a man in a room on the third floor of one of the houses pointed a revolver at him and fired. Officers arrested Dennis Angel, aged 14 years, who admits having fired a revolver several times in that vicinity.

The Deadlock Broken.

BIDDEFORD, Me., July 5.—The police commission have removed six members of the special force and appointed six officers, most of whom will go on regular duty. At a meeting of the Saco city council the appropriation bill, over which there has been a deadlock, was passed, the councilmen concurring with the aldermen in the passage of the original order.

Kelly Won on a Foul.

STAMFORD, Conn., July 5.—Billy Forsyth, the well-known fighter of Danbury, and Sammy Kelly, the clever lightweight of New York, met in a finish fight yesterday. It took 28 rounds to decide the battle, which was won by Kelly on a foul.

Died From Her Injuries.

BOSTON, July 5.—Hulda Asberg, who was so badly burned by the breaking of a kerosene lamp at her home, 143 Boylston avenue, Jamaica Plain, Sunday night, died at the city hospital from the effects of her injuries.

YESTERDAY'S BASEBALL.

Boston Takes Two Games From Chicago—Other Games—League Standings.

CHICAGO, July 5.—The Bostons won in a walkover yesterday morning, taking the game in the fourth inning. In the second Stivetts hit to Dahlen and at first base collided with Anson. He was hurled 10 feet from the sack, falling face downward. He was unconscious for five minutes. He was hurt about the head and internally. Staley finished the game. McGinnis went in for the Colts after the second.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.

A Long List of Patriotic Patients Treated at the Emergency Hospital.

BOSTON, July 5.—Dr. Galvin's emergency hospital celebrated the Fourth and at the same time the second anniversary of its institution yesterday by treating 81 cases. Of course by far the greater number of accidents resulted from the careless handling of fire[illegible]

[illegible] was [illegible] a avenue [illegible] butt end of a cannon cracker. His hands and face were burned and lacerated.

John Ryan of 5 Columbia place suffered from a similar accident.

Wane Vancamp, a cigarmaker, who lives on Pleasant street, was a victim of the Roman candle joke. He lost a thumb and two fingers.

A. A. Duchenim was treated for serious powder burns.

The innocent toy pistol was the cause of a lacerated wound on the palm of M. J. Connolly's hand.

Edward F. Damon, who works for the Standard Brewing company, did not drop a cannon cracker quick enough. His thumb and forefinger are missing.

Dennis Bowen, Clarence A. Robinson of the American Express and Mamie Dennie of 296 Athens street suffered from powder burns on the face, hands and eyes.

J. J. Fleming of the Shoe and Leather Exchange building was shot in the palm with a blank cartridge.

William S. Henkenup of the Boston Cordage company was accidentally shot in the palm while examining a pistol. The bullet was removed.

J. Quinn of the Armstrong Transfer company suffered from the laceration of his thumb and the burning of his face and hands.

Cornelius O'Neal suffered a lacerated wound involving the radial artery, and D. E. Stewart of Charlestown is fortunate if he does not lose the great toe, which was nearly blown off.

An exploding cannon cracker hit John Garofola in the eye, and he may lose the sight thereof.

James Fielding's left hand is now done up in cotton. It was the blank cartridge story.

Others who were injured were Johnny Flynn, Clifford Rounseferr of 341 Harrison avenue, William P. Robinson, David F. Weymouth, William Haslon Hand, John Clancy of 26 West Dedham court and others.

Michael J. Murphy of Parker place, Roxbury, while on the street at Roxbury crossing, was struck on the back of the neck by a 22-calibre bullet which had gone astray.

A couple of wounds on Joseph Roach's head were sewed up and John Swan underwent a similar operation.

A fall from an electric car was the cause of the bad cuts on C. F. Brown's face.

The black-jack was the agent which fractured Norman E. Bullock's skull.

In some manner J. J. Dyer's left temporal artery was cut. It was a bad wound, but Dr. Galvin and his associates dressed it, and the victim's life was saved.

Martha J. Mace, 30 years old and living at 76 Myrtle street, was shot in the arm while working about the house. Where the shot came from is a mystery which is baffling the police. The injured woman lived on the sixth floor of the building, and it would be impossible for one to shoot into the room from the street.

Hotel Destroyed by Fire.

PORTLAND, Me., July 5.—Hotel Waldo, on Little Chebeague island, was destroyed by fire yesterday, none of the furniture being saved. All escaped without injury. Loss, $35,000.

QUINCY HAD its compliment of fires on the Fourth, if nothing else. Two alarms July 3, and two July 4.

IT COSTS more to run large towns than small cities if we may judge by the tax rate of Athol. It was $19 last year and will be $20.70 this year.

CITY CHIT CHAT.

Items of Interest from All Parts of Quincy.

The Atlantic band gave an open air concert Tuesday morning at Atlantic.

Mr. Walter F. Nichols of Wollaston has taken the Odell place at Needham for the summer.

The 10 o'clock outward train from Boston Tuesday night had on ten cars and 1300 passengers.

E. B. Pratt, for many years president of the National Mount Wollaston bank, has resigned.

The petition for a new Odd Fellows lodge at Wollaston has been forwarded to Grand Secretary Cole.

Caterer Wales was unable to supply the demand for ice cream on the Fourth, although he made 200 gallons.

Alex E. Nash sold 105 gallons of ice cream the Fourth. This speaks well for the quality of his cream.

Half hourly trips with three cars on each were made on the Manet street railway on the Fourth and an immence crowd carried.

The Wollaston M. E. society gave a lawn party at the church on the evening of the Fourth. The grounds were decorated with Japanese lanterns.

John R. Graham president of the Quincy & Boston street railway left this morning for his ranch in Kentucky. He will be absent about three weeks.

Edward Shunk of Wollaston received a telegram July 3.—"The undersigned, his pain. T. Corbett, agrees to accept a pur right hand from the Columbian Athletic of a 22 calibre target rifle.

George Bowhay, Thomas Bowhay and George Ingram of South Quincy, left early Sunday morning for Stony Creek, Conn. They will make the trip on their bicycles.

Mr. Joseph Adams passed away Tuesday in his 70th year, the shock from the accident at Braintree being too great for one of his years. He leaves a widow and two daughters.

Miss Emma A Whitman of Schuyler Nebraska, who has been studying music at the New England Conservatory of Boston, is visiting friends and relatives in this city.

The tent festival at West Quincy was the centre of attraction for a large number the Fourth. For amusement there was a concert and music by the Atlantic band, a lecture by E. E. Williamson and a lawn party with dancing.

The Rev. Edward A. Robinson, Mrs. Edward Hewitson, Mrs. Edward S. Tenney, Miss Elizabeth Jones, Miss Ada Hinckley, Miss Maude Perry and Miss Maude Thompson of Wollaston, left on Tuesday to attend the twelfth annual convention of the Young Peoples Society of Christian Endeavor at Montreal.

Quincy May Not Run.

The Journal says the Democrats held a conference last week over the nomination for Governor, and it was decided that ex-Congressman George Fred Williams of Dedham should be the candidate.

Commenting further on the situation the Journal says: "Mr. Josiah Quincy, whose paternal ancestor was once Mayor of Boston, wants to be Mayor here just as his ancestor was. Of course Mr. Quincy is a Boston man if he wishes to be, and this year he is assessed from Charles street, and can vote here and be elected Mayor if he gets votes enough, after he gets the nomination. With 15,000 plurality for the Democrats in the city even an unpopular Democrat ought to be able to secure an election. If he were to be elected Mayor and occupy the Mayorality corner in City Hall, he could even look down upon the statue of his ancestor in the City Hall yard and imagine that he was as great as was he."

Fourth of July Raid.

Liquor Officer McGrath, assisted by Chief of Police Langley and Officer Ferguson raided the premises of James Bree at Houghs Neck early Tuesday morning and seized three pints of whiskey.

DIED.

ADAMS—In Quincy, July 4, Mr. Joseph Adams, aged 69 years 3 months. Funeral from late residence, 50 Franklin street, Friday, July 7, at 2.30 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. Burial at Milton private.

THE GLORIOUS 4TH.

Perfect Weather Yesterday for the Nation's Holiday.

ITS OBSERVANCES IN QUINCY.

The "Night Before," Three Fires, Bicycle Races and other Sports.

The Fourth was quiet in this city as far as a public celebration, but it was an ideal holiday, both as to the weather and in attractions. There were sports of all kinds, bicycle races, tennis tournament, trap shooting, yacht races, base ball, picnics, etc., which are reported at length below.

As usual, flags were displayed on City Hall, the school buildings and elsewhere, and the bells were rung at sunrise, noon and sunset, accompanied by the usual din of guns, fire crackers and horns.

NIGHT BEFORE FOURTH.

Firs at West Quincy and Centre Call Out Department—Other Blazes.

The small boy as well as his larger brother anxiously waits for twelve months for the "Night before the Fourth" to arrive that he may give vent to his long pent up feelings by committing acts of deviltry which they call sport. Opinions, however, differ as to what constitutes sport, some are satisfied if they can parade the streets all night exploding fire crackers and blowing horns, while others are not content unless they can overturn someone's building and unhang gates. The streets were full of both these elements Monday night, and by the noise made it is very evident that each person who was out had their wish gratified.

During the evening about the Square the sidewalks were full of people, but all seemed orderly and there was not much call for police protection. So the evening drew on; many sought their beds for rest, but not for sleep, for those who lived anywhere near the main streets were prevented from doing this by the racket.

After midnight the "fun" commenced and there were numerous bonfires. There was also other fires reported elsewhere, but taken as a whole, the amount of deviltry commited was small when compared with years past.

At Wollaston the "night before the 4th" was a rather quiet one, the boys were all out armed with tin horns, cannon crackers, roman] candles and other things which made sleep impossible from midnight to sunrise. It was a good natured crowd and but a very few acts of vandalism have been reported.

The old toboggan slide on Third Hill came in for a share of their attention and at half past one o'clock it was set on fire. For upwards of half an hour, Wollaston was brilliantly illuminated, but, as the old structure was valueless no alarm was turned in. There was also another fire early in the morning at Rufe's Hummock, Wollaston, which gave the residents of that pleasant resort quite a scare. Some vandals had touched off Captain Merrill's old beach house. This building was the first schoolhouse erected at Wollaston. It was built in 1869 and first used as an office by the Wollaston Land Co.

The Owl club kept open house at Al. Williams'.

Foreman Merrill and Driver Nicholson of Hose 2 had everything in readiness for fires. A tapper had been placed in the hose house and Driver Nicholson stabled his horse there.

Officer Hanson was assisted in preserving the peace by officer Seelye.

THE BICYCLE RACES.

The Boys Make Faster Time Than the Champions--Many Interested

A large crowd of admirers of out-of-door sports assembled in the vicinity of Willard's drug store to witness the bicycle races for the numerous prizes offered by Mr. Willard, who seems to have been the only man with public spirit enough to have a celebration.

The first race was for boys between the ages of 15 and 19 years, the course being from Willard's store to South Braintree square and return, the distance being about five miles. The prizes in the boys race were silver cups which were won by Arthur T. Perry of the Quincy Cycle club and F. F. Wright; time, 18 3-4 minutes.

In the stone cutters race the prizes were a box of cigars and a bottle of perfumery and these were taken by John Yule and Robert McKean; time, 21 minutes, 5 seconds.

These concluded the races in the morning.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock there was a 100 yards dash for a pair of racing shoes and a bottle of perfumery, which were won by John McIntyre and William Flynn; time, 12 1-4 seconds.

The race in which the most interest was centered was for the championship of Quincy for which gold and silver medals were offered. It was expected that great time would be made but contrary to expectations not as good time was made as by the boys. The race was won by Arthur Parsons of the Quincy Cycle club and Joseph Callahan; time 20 minutes and 30 seconds.

Probably the happiest crowd was the members of the Quincy Cycle club as their members had carried off the first prizes in the boys and championship races.

TRAP SHOOTING.

SQUANTUM YACHT RACE.

The Ineta, Inez and Estella Win in the Initial Regatta.

The Squantum Yacht club sailed its first regatta on the Fourth off Norfolk Downs. There were three classes, the course of the first being 10 miles, that of the jib and mainsail 7 miles, and that of the third class 5 1-4 miles.

Interest seemed to centre in the Ineta and Gretchen of the first class, but the former was an easy victor. The closest race was in the third class.

Legs for the championship pennant were won by the Ineta, Inez and Estella. The summary:

FIRST CLASS.

Name and owner	Length ft. in.	Actual time. h. m. s.	Corrected time. h. m. s.
Ineta, H. Flood,	26 06	2 37 05	2 06 40

The judges were F. E. Badger, E. A. Snow and J. E Drew.

THREE BOX ALARMS.

An Engine House Destroyed—Also the Adams Academy Outbuildings.

The members of the Quincy Fire Department have had their fill of alarms during the last 48 hours. The first alarm was from Box 48 at 11.48 P.M. Monday night, followed almost immediately by Box 42. This proved to be a fire in the old engine house of John Cashman, situated off Willard street. The building was completely destroyed. The loss will not be great. The cause was undoubtedly incendiary.

The next alarm was from Box 26, which was rung in at 1.48 A. M. Tuesday, morning for a fire in the outbuildings of the Adams academy. Like the previous alarm it was not sounded until the fire had made such headway that it was impossible to save it. The cause of this fire was also incendiary. The loss will be about $100.

Hose 1 was called to the City Hospital upon a telephone alarm to extinguish a brush fire in the vicinity of the Hospital.

The alarm from Box 42 Tuesday morning at 11.12 o'clock was pulled in for a fire in a small unused old barn situated in the quarries some distance from the box.

There were other fires equally as important as the above at Wollaston, but good sense prevailed and no alarm was given.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Miss Sherman and Mr. Leavitt the Winners in the Mixed Doubles.

The Merry Mount Tennis Club gave a tournament for mixed doubles at its courts on Safford street, Wollaston, on the Fourth, which was won by Miss Sherman and Mr. Leavitt.

In the evening the grounds presented a very picturesque sight, illuminated by scores of Japanese lanterns. There was also a brilliant display of fireworks. The members and their guests were served with a light lunch.

The score:

First Round.

Miss Sherman and Mr. Leavitt beat Miss Roberts and Mr. Osborne 9 to 6.

Miss Helen Foster and Mr. John Fenton beat Miss Taylor and Mr. Merrifield 9 to 4.

Mrs. Merrifield and Mr. Price beat Miss Howard and Mr. Battison 9 to 6.

Miss Polson and Mr. McClintock beat Miss Foster and Mr. Kingman 9 to 3.

Second Round.

Miss Sherman and Mr. Leavitt beat Miss Helen Foster and Mr. John Fenton 9 to 6.

Mrs. Merrifield and Mr. Price beat Miss Howe and Mr. Wm. Fenton 9 to 8.

Miss Polson and Mr. McClintock beat Miss Howe and Mr. Wm. Fenton 9 to 7.

Finals.

Miss Sherman and Mr. Leavitt beat Miss Polson and Mr. McClintock 6—3 and 6—4.

A FEW ACCIDENTS.

At Least Two Boys Have to Have Assistance of Doctors.

Georgie, a son of Mr. C. Frank Hardwick, had a narrow escape from receiving a serious injury on the Fourth. He had a powder flask in his left hand and was pouring some of the powder from it when it exploded, lacerating his hand quite badly. Dr. Hallowell was called and dressed the injury, which required several stitches. It was very fortunate that the lad was not more seriously injured.

Only one serious accident was reported at Wollaston and that happened to Master George Batchelder. He had fired his cannon and had recharged it with powder and was just ramming in the wadding with an iron ram-rod when the cannon was prematurely discharged. The ram-rod tore a large piece of flesh out of legs, one hand was badly burned and his face and eyes were filled with powder. He was taken to his home and Dr. Rice was called to dress the wounds.

At Merry Mount Park.

There were two very enjoyable picnics at Merry Mount Park on the Fourth, one of the Swedish Baptist society of West Quincy in the rear of the ball ground, and a union picnic of the St. Paul and Lutheran societies of the Centre on the plain near the water. Each was accompanied by a band. The old country games prevailed, and the hundreds assembled had a grand good time.

Other smaller picnic parties were there, and some of these brought liquor and caused some trouble. but these should not be mixed up with our Swedish citizens, who were orderly.

The Neponsets at Worcester.

The Neponset working boat crew did not win at Worcester, but they gave the Worcester crew a close pull. The Journal says, To the stake the crews kept pegging away together. The Worcesters turned in 4.44, and a short way home had a half length lead on their competitors, but the Neponsets dogged them with a splendid persistency. It was a magnificent contest until the last stroke was pulled through, the Neponsets making their opponents hustle for all they were worth. The Neponsets held the nose of their shell at the Worcester's stern as if it was fastened there and this position never changed, the Worcesters winning by an even length in 9m. 44s.

James Galvin of the Neponset club, who entered the junior singles, did not finish.

Fireworks.

The nearest public display of fireworks was by the city of Boston at Neponset. Several from Atlantic witnessed these. Private display throughout the city were more general than usual and in all directions there were sky-rockets, Roman candles, colored fires, etc.

Monumental Notes.

The Times Democrat of New Orleans, La., say the subscription list for the Beauregard monument is gradually assuming the desired proportion.

A monument is to be erected on the battle field of Antietam to the memory of the Troup Artillery, the members of which mostly enlisted from Clarke County, Georgia.

—An unknown sloop was found on her beam ends near Spectacle Island, Tuesday. It was without a name. As a cashmere shawl and black cloak were found it is thought women were aboard.

THE BOSTON YACHT RACE.

The Beatrice Gets Aground but Nevertheless Wins a Second Prize.

Over 60 boats went over the course of the city of Boston regatta on the Fourth, and there were many pretty races.

First prizes were won by the Violet, Gracie G., Swordfish, Harbinger, Astrea, Magpie, Exile and Trantrum.

Second prizes by the Magpie, Camilla, Wasp, Beatrice, Helen, Ustane, Topsy, Arab, Romance and Alpine.

Third prizes by Lamont, White Fawn, Spurt, Composite, Harriet, Rodie and Tuxsene.

The Moondyne was fourth in her class, the Gipsey and Good Luck fourth and fifth, the Aurisa fifth, Sunbeam eighth, Elsie thirteenth and Don fourteenth.

"One of the prettiest races of the day" says the Boston Advertiser, "was that between the Harbinger and Beatrice. There were five other boats in the class, but they made but small figures. The Beatrice got a good start over line, with spinnaker out, and put after the Harbinger for all she was worth. In the light wind her topsail was doing perfect work, and she overhauled the big caper. Around Point Allerton there was a delay in handling the spinnaker on Daly's boat, so on the beat to windward she was having matters her own way for a time. The wind grew a little too strong for her, but her skipper, intent on punching her around a spit of land, failed to notice anything till he swung her round and was aground. The Harbinger, with wind just right, swept by and won the race after a hard beat of some five miles."

By the corrected time there but 95 seconds difference in the first nine boats of the fourth class centerboards, the Aurisa and Sunbeam being two of the nine.

TODAY'S COURT.

A Busy Morning—Many Drunks Arraigned--A Liquor Case.

John Hannon of Quincy was arraigned for assault on Nancy Hannon. Case continued until July 17.

Gilbert E. Holbrook of Randolph for assault on Lincoln Holbrook, had his case continued until July 12.

Erick Strom of Quincy for assault on Mary Strom, was fined $15.

Sumner H. Pierce of Quincy was arraigned for removing an outbuilding of Jeremiah Nightingale's into the public streets. Case continued until July 7.

James Bree of Quincy was arraigned upon three complaints Two for illegal sale, and one for keeping a common nuisance. All three cases were continued until July 7.

Hendrick Savin, for disturbing the peace at Quincy, was fined $5.

The following parties from Quincy were arraigned for drunkenness and fined $5 each: Thomas Hogan, Owen G. McKinna, Nicholas Hallstrom, Gustaff Willey, Felix Johnson, Herman Johnson, John Swanson, Walter B. Cushing.

John Hannon of Quincy for drunkenness had his case continued until July 17.

Michael Crowley of Weymouth, for drunkenness, was sent to the house of correction for 60 days.

Brief Mention.

A boy was accidentally shot and killed at Worcester, Mass.

Lieutenant Peary's ship Falcon has arrived in Boston harbor.

A cyclone at North Jay, Me., destroyed the barn and stable of Dana Coolidge.

Robert McIntosh was stricken with heart disease while bathing in South Boston, and died.

The 3 year-old daughter of Joseph Merser, residing on Gorham street, Lowell, Mass., was killed by an electric car.

Robert D. Collins, aged 40, was found dead under a tree near his house at Seebrook, N. H. It is supposed that he died in a fit.

George Westwood, about 35 years old, was drowned while bathing at Salisbury beach yesterday. He belongs in Meriden, Conn., and leaves three children.

The victim of Monday night's electric car accident in Springfield, Mass., has been identified as Patrick Ward, a 16-year-old boy who lately came from Ireland.

During the shower yesterday the stable of Thompson Bros. at Auburn, Me., was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Loss about $1500.

Patrick Carey, a notorious young Tolland county criminal, was captured in Snipsic grove, Rockville, Conn., by Sheriff Kibbe and Deputy Sheriff Elton. Carey and a friend resisted the officers in a desperate manner.

The freight steamer Chelsea of the Norwich and New York propellor line went ashore in a dense fog on Bartlett's reef, six miles from New London. For two or three hours she blew signals of distress until Captain Scott, the wrecker, of New London city, responded with the tug Cassel and, after several hours' work, hauled her off. The Chelsea was not damaged to any perceptible extent.

Probably Fatally Injured.

SALEM, Mass., July 5.--Nicholas Murphy, while under the influence of liquor, attempted to climb the staging around the 160-foot chimney of the Lynn & Boston power station on Mason street yesterday. After climbing up 40 feet he lost his hold and fell on a pile of bricks. No bones were broken, but he suffered internal injuries, from which death is expected to result.

Mrs. Cleveland Hears From the President.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 5.—That the people may not become alarmed at the non-arrival of President Cleveland at Gray Gables Mrs. Cleveland yesterday telephoned the newspaper men here that she had received advices from the president that he was well and in good health and may not reach here for two or three days, yet he may arrive at any time.

AT HOUGHS NECK.

It was One of the "Biggest Days" in the History of Manet Beach.

Yesterday was indeed a "Glorious 4th" at the beach. Crowds of people taxed the capacity of the carrying accommodations. Everything which would carry a party was used, and if nothing better could be obtained, "shank's mare" was called into service.

Miss Hattie Birnie and Miss Hannah Miller are spending their vacation at Hotel Linden.

A large picnic party is at the beach today.

The people began to come early, and as the crowd increased the genial smile on the hotel keeper's face broadened.

Much powder was burned by the juvenile population of the beach.

Pierce had a large party from Brockton to serve with one of his famous dinners.

Mr. Taber's places were well patronized yesterday, and the help were glad to turn in this morning.

Mr. C. G. Batson is building a very attractive little cottage on Bell street. He expects to occupy it this week.

Boating Mishap.

The boats of the third class in the Boston regatta had a hard experience. As the boats neared Cow Pasture bouy the wind came in strong puffs making gibing a rather risky matter. The boats were closely bunched and as the Ideal gibed she caught a heavy flaw. She lay almost on her beam ends and quickly filled leaving her crew struggling in the water. The Adolph and Sea Bird were so close that they collided with the sunken boat, but were near enough to rescue the crew of the Ideal. The Sea Bird was badly injured and so much time was lost, that the Adolph withdrew from the race.

The Beatrice took a $20 prize in the regatta.

New Candidates in Contest.

There is a new leader in the contest today, Mr. Taber of flying horse fame coming to the front. There are also many new candidates with a few votes each. The standing:

J. D. Taber, Houghs Neck	30
John Cavanagh, Braintree	25
Miss Edith Rose, Stoughton	15
Miss Mabel D. Dunbar, Brockton	10
William S. Williams, Quincy	10
John F. Tuckett, Jamacia Plains	10
Benj. C. Leonard, Brockton	10
Miss Sarah C. Meehan, Babcock St.	10
Dexter Faxon, Quincy	5
W. H. Ferris, Manet Beach	5
G. W. Peterson, Houghs Neck	5

WEYMOUTH.

The North Weymouths Lose Both of their Games With North Abingtons.

It was a close game which the North Weymouths and North Abingtons put up on the grounds of the former club on the morning of the Fourth. It was won by the latter by timely hits. The score:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
North Abington,	0	2	2	0	0	2	0	0	–6
North Weymouth,	1	0	2	0	0	0	2	0	–5

Two-base hit, Jordan. Three-base hit, Gildea. Stolen bases, Rudderham 4, Dolan, Bates. Struck out, by Dolan 11, by O'Donnell 7. Passed ball, Jordan. Time 2h. Umpires, Maguire and Connor.

The story of the morning game arrive too late for today's paper.

At North Abington in the afternoon the two clubs met again, and the North Weymouths were pounded severely, particularly in the second and last innings.

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
N. Abington,	0	6	1	0	0	1	0	1	6	–15

Handsome New Wagon.

It has now become the fashion of Quincy business men to appear out in new wagons, and during the past few months there have been many handsome ones, but for neatness and adaption to its business none exceeds that turned out Monday by Messrs. Tirrell & Sons for F. H. Crane & Sons, the well known hay and grain dealers, and as driver Murray of the team says, it is the best team for the business ever made.

The wagon is what is known as a caravan wagon and weighs, when empty, 1200 pounds. The running part is painted vermiilion with black stripes, while the body and seat are green with gold and vermilion strips and gold shaded letters.

A heavy horse with a new brass mounted harness draws the team, which is guided by James Murray who is too well known to need any introduction, suffice to say that the good natured smile that always illuminates his countinance has now extended into a broad grin. Watch for him and his new team and decide for yourself.

The Roman houses and palaces were so imperfectly lighted that in many living rooms the inmates were forced to depend on lamps by day as well as by night.

The greatest monument in the world is the Washington monument, at Washington, D. C. Its height is 455.

NOT EXACTLY A BULL in the china closet, but such a shattering of prices looks as if one had been there, for instance, a delightful Mexican hammock for 69 cents; others at almost any price. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

SHOCKING FATALITY.

Gas Explodes in an English Mine With Frightful Results.

THE MISSING NUMBER 145.

The Work of Rescue Stopped by Accumulated Gas.

LONDON, July 5.—Great excitement has been caused in Thornhill, Yorkshire, by an explosion that occurred yesterday in Ingram's colliery. Four bodies have been recovered and brought to the surface.

The pit is badly blocked with fallen rock, dirt and timbers. It is feared that the men who escaped death in the explosion will be suffocated by the choke damp unless speedily rescued.

The day shift went to work as usual early in the morning. The ventilation was reported to be good. All went well until noon, when the workers at the pit's mouth were startled by a and by clouds of dense smoke rolling up the main shaft. They tried to communicate with the workingmen, but found that the interior had been cut off from the shaft. The pit managers organized an exploring party and descended slowly through the smoke. They were driven back repeatedly and eventually gave up their purpose of penetrating to the working before the foul gas should be cleared away.

After taking up the bodies found at the bottom, the rescuers waited for several hours before making another descent. About the middle of the evening they went down again. The gas had leared off near the shaft, and they were able to examine part of the working. The lay in heaps. Many were sent to the surface. Unremitting efforts are being made to reach the few miners who still may be alive. About 110 are supposed to have been killed.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock so much gas accumulated in the mine that it was necessary to stop the work of rescue.

The men and boys missing number 145. The dead body of the under manager, badly burned, was found in the mine near the shaft.

THAT EXTRA SESSION.

Departments May Make Their Estimates Before the Main Question Is Taken Up.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Although the special session of congress which will begin Aug. 7 is called for the specific purpose of dealing with the financial question, it is apparent that the executive apprehends that it may undertake other work, for within a short time the various departments of the government will begin the preparation of the annual estimates. With a complete equipment of committees there is no reason why those charged with the construction of the appropriation bill should not take some steps in their work while the financial committees are dealing with the subjects that have caused the special session. It may be a part of the program that appropriation bills shall be got out of the way before the financial bills are taken up, so that there may be no subjects of importance to divert attention from the other measures. Although the fiscal year has expired, it will not be possible for the heads of the various departments to submit their annual reports to congress at the beginning of the special session.

There will be a message from the president to congress when it convenes, but it is expected that the document will deal almost exclusively with the financial questions that have assumed a phase requiring congressional treatment, and its general scope has been roughly indicated in the president's proclamation.

Racing and Trotting Records Broken.

KIRKWOOD, Del., July 5.—Two world's records were broken on the Maple Valley Trotting association's kite-shaped track at Kirkwood yesterday. Saladin, owned and driven by James Grenn of this city, paced a mile in 2:05 3-4. John Hamlin of Parkeville, L. I., drove his trotter Ayres P. to a pole with Telephone as a running mate, making the mile in 2:03 1-2 and breaking another world's record.

Smith Failed to Knock Him Out.

DENVER, July 5.—Denver Ed Smith attempted to knock out Reddy Gallagher in four rounds at the Broadway Athletic park yesterday in the presence of 2000 people, but the cleverness of Gallagher and his sprinting abilities saved him. Smith could not get at Gallagher, and under the conditions the latter wins the match.

Trolley Cars Collide With Fatal Results.

NEW YORK, July 5.—A trolley car collision Tuesday night at the corner of Sixty-sixth street and Third avenue, just across the Brooklyn city line, caused the death of one man and injured a score of others, some of whom will never leave the hospital to which they were taken.

Baseball at the South.

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 5.—Three thousand people saw the two concluding games of the first series between Birmingham and Augusta. Augusta won both games amid great enthusiasm. This gives Augusta the championship of the southern league for the first series.

Block Burned at Des Moines.

DES MOINES, July 5.—The double-story brick block at 213 Walnut street was burned yesterday. Three were burnt and otherwise injured by the falling of the plateglass front. Loss $55,000.

WILL RESUME WORK.

Pittsburg's Iron Mills to Start Up Their Furnaces Next Week.

PITTSBURG, July 5.—It is now confidently expected that a general resumption of work will take place in all the union iron mills in the Pittsburg district. The next few days will be spent in making needed repairs, so that when the plants resume the machinery will be in first-class condition. In the meantime the 10,000 or 15,000 idle workmen will enjoy a much-needed rest.

At next Saturday's conference the entire scale will be settled.

This morning Painter's big iron plant will resume operations under the new agreement. Jones & Laughlin's will also do likewise. At Painter's more than 400 men will go to work.

Nearly all of the puddlers in the Amalgamated association have by this time been officially notified of the reduction, and while there was some grumbling yet the majority of them feel that the conference committee acted wisely.

The next matter of importance in the wage discussion will be the meeting between the conference committee and the Mahoning and Shenango valley iron manufacturers.

Secretary Kilgallon said definite arrangements for a meeting had not yet been made, but that in all probability a session would be held this week.

John D. Carey, president of the Finishers' union, has issued a statement that Jones & Laughlin's, as well as other manufacturers, will grant a conference to the representatives of that organization.

MAIL THIEF CAPTURED.

He Had Been Robbing the Canadian Mails for Two Years.

CHICAGO, July 5.—For two years the loss of mail upon the Grand Trunk, including the American pouches consigned to Canada and the mail from Montreal and Toronto consigned to all the western states, has been a source of great annoyance to Canada and the United States.

At last the matter became unbearable to the Canadian government, and Postmaster General Bissell was asked to assign Post-office Inspector James E. Stuart to the case. In the guise of a tramp Stuart worked on the case for several days and became convinced that the thefts were being done in the mail car in the daylight.

Finally he saw Charles Ford, superintendent of repairs for the Grand Trunk at Port Huron, Mich., ex-member of the Fort Gratiot council, ex-president of the town council and for years one of the most trusted employes of the Grand Trunk, enter the car, remove the valuable letters from the pouches and reseal the pouches. Ford then withdrew; locked the car and walked towards his private office. He had proceeded but 200 yards when Stuart arrested him.

A crowd gathered and protested, but Stuart took his prisoner to a quiet place and discovered on Ford's person 338 letters.

The thanks of the Canadian government have been extended to the inspector.

FORD'S THEATER DISASTER.

The Government to Be Called Upon to Prove Each Individual Case.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—It is stated that the government must prove by sufficient evidence in each case that the victims of the Ford's theater disaster were killed by the collapse of the building before the grand jury will return indictments against Messrs. Ainsworth, Daut, Covert and Sasse, charged by the coroner's jury with responsibility for the affair, and witnesses must be produced that saw the dead man in the wreck or brought and placed in the patrol or other vehicle.

Another will give evidence showing that the deceased was removed to the morgue, where the third witness will be called upon to testify that he saw the dead body in the dead house, thus forming a chain of evidence commencing in the ruins of the old theater building and ending at the morgue.

A detective has been put to work hunting up the necessary witnesses, and it is said that the evidence will be completed by the end of the present week.

Twenty Men Killed by a Landslide.

MONTREAL, July 5.—An afternoon paper published yesterday a letter from one of the French Canadian tourists who accompanied Abbe Morin to the northwest for the purpose of inquiring into land values. The letter is dated Schrieber, a small town at the head of Lake Superior, and says that, on June 29, 20 Finlanders, working on the line of the Canadian Pacific railway, were killed 20 miles west of Schrieber by a landslide.

The Deadly Electric.

BOSTON, July 5.—A boy only 4 years old attempted to cross the street in front of an electric car, and was crushed to death under its wheels. His name was Samuel Crogan and he lived at 6 Oneida street. The accident occurred at the corner of Washington and Cobb streets at 8:45 o'clock last evening.

A Wonderful Feat.

NIAGARA FALLS, July 5.—Fully 10,000 people saw Clifford Calverly perform on a wire stretched across the Niagara gorge yesterday. He best all time records by running across the wire at full speed in 2m. 35 2-5s., which is one minute faster than the record established last summer by Dickson.

Will Lose One of His Eyes.

BOSTON, July 5.—Silas D. O'Brien, 28 years old, while exploding rockets in the rear of his home at 10 Blanch street, met with an accident which will cause the loss of one eye.

RIOTOUS STUDENTS.

They Attack the Police and Are Dispersed by the Cavalry.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS GUARDED

The Situation Complicated by Labor Demonstrations.

PARIS, July 5.—Riotous demonstrations were made by students yesterday at St. Germain des Pres and in the Rue Jacob, near the Hospital de La Charite. The police were unable to disperse the mob. Eventually a large detachment of cavalry charged and scattered the students. The municipal councillors have decided to send a deputation to the funeral of M. Nuger, the clerk who was killed in the encounter between the police and the students in the Latin quarter on Saturday. They have issued a proclamation, however, urging all persons who attended the funeral to act calmly and pacifically. It is rumored that the funeral will be held very early this morning. The disorder in the streets increases hourly.

The whole district bounded by the Boulevard St Germain, the River and the Rue de Seine is in an uproar. Students, with crowds of toughs, filled the open spaces. Omnibusses and tramcars are stopped by the mobs, the passengers are turned out and the vehicles are upset. On the Boulevard St. Germain, Quai Voltaire and the Rue St. Peres

Traffic Has Been Suspended.

The Rue St. Peres has been barricaded. Pedestrians are stopped and maltreated.

The charity hospital has been surrounded with cuirassiers to keep off the students who threatened to attack the building. The ministry of public works, the marine department and the Ecole des Beaux arts are guarded by military. Skirmishing is reported intermittently from the Rue Jacob, the Voltaire Quai and the Place St. Germain.

The students are trying also to repeat the scenes of Tuesday night in the neighborhood of the Palais de Justice and Prefecture de Police. A mob assembled at the Place St. Michel and tried to rush over the bridge to the Boulevard du Palais, which runs between the two buildings. They were met and Driven Back by a Body of Cavalry.

They retreated fighting down the Boulevard St. Michel. Many students were trampled or cut, and several cavalry were wounded by flying stones. At 10:30 the students had possession of a dozen streets between the Boulevard St. Germain and the Seine. Infantry and cavalry were at hand, however, to restrain them from breaking into the public building.

At 11:30 the whole district between the Rue St. Pere and the College de France, two blocks east of the Boulevard St. Michel, was in full riot. Troops of cavalry and squads of police are stationed in every street. The critical situation is complicated by the demonstrations of the workingmen. Three thousand of them met last evening in the Labor Exchange and decided to remain in the building all night to prevent the authorities from executing their threat to close it. More than 1500 workingmen were marching, eight abreast, through the disturbed district. It was reported that Nuger's body was sent to Lyons last night.

One policeman was killed and three or four policemen and rioters were injured. The Paris correspondent of the London Daily News says that the roughs who are aiding the students are supposed to be in pay of political wirepullers who wish to bring the Dupuy government into discredit.

TURKISH INJUSTICE.

Armenians Convicted of Sedition to Be Interceded For by England.

LONDON, July 5.—In the house of commons yesterday the Earl of Rosebery said in reply to an interpellation that evidence obtained from impartial officials showed beyond doubt that the trial of Armenians in Angora for sedition had been conducted unfavorably. The British government therefore had made strong representations at Constantinople concerning the capital sentences passed on the 19 prisoners. The cases of Professors Kayayan and Thomasaean of the American college in Marsovan had been made the subject of an especially strong protest. Consequently, although the court of cassation had confirmed the sentences, both had been pardoned and sent from the country.

The government would spare no exertion to obtain justice for the other 17.

New York's Cincinnati Elects Officers.

NEW YORK, July 5.—At the meeting of the New York State society of Cincinnati, held at Delmonico's yesterday, officers were chosen to serve the ensuing year as follows: President, Hamilton Fish; vice president, John Cochrane; secretary, John Schuyler; treasurer, Alexander James Clinton; assistant treasurer, William L. Keene; chaplain, M. H. Hutton, D. D.; physician, Thomas M. L. Christie, M. D.; delegates to the general society, John S. Schuyler, Alexander James Clinton, John Clinton, John Barnes Varick, James B. Van Cortlandt and M. H. Hutton, D. D.

Killed by a Toy Cannon.

BROOKLYN, July 5.—Edward Osbrug, aged 19, had the top of his skull blown off by the explosion of a toy cannon shortly before noon yesterday. He had lighted the fuse of the cannon, and, having waited a minute without there being a report, he picked up the cannon to examine it. He was looking in the muzzle when it exploded.

Large Cheese Dealers Assign.

TORONTO, July 5.—J. B. Thompson & Co. of Prescott, who for eight years past have been doing a business on nearly every cheese market between this city and Montreal, have assigned, and a large number of dealers will lose heavily. The firm's assets and liabilities are not made public, but are known to be heavy.

A JEALOUS INDIAN

Murders One of His Own Tribe at a Dance.

HE THEN MAKES HIS ESCAPE

His Immediate Capture a Matter of Uncertainty.

EASTPORT, Me., July 6.—Pleasant Point is an Indian village situated seven miles from this city and peopled by a remnant of the Passamaquoddy tribe. There, early yesterday morning, occurred a stabbing affray, resulting in the death of Joseph Sopiel, a member of the tribe, who had just returned from Bar Harbor. The Indians, men and women were enjoying a costume dance and having a good time among themselves.

Sopiel was there, and being well dressed, good looking and just from Bar Harbor, he was in for a good time. Captain Ross Francis, the murderer, was also in and out of the dancing room, which was in Edmund Francis' house. His wife, 23 years old, was present and, being a good dancer, she was apparently enjoying herself, dancing much of the time with Sopiel. This fact, the members of the tribe say, excited the jealousy of her husband, who proceeded to call Sopiel to account then and there before the whole crowd.

Nearly Thirty Years His Junior,

There were some words and then, so the witnesses say, Francis swung his strong right arm and buried his hunting knife in the breast of Sopiel. The knife entered the right side, glanced across to the left side and pierced the lower end of the heart. The wounded man made an effort to reach the door, but in a moment he fell to the floor.

The stricken Indian was carried to his own home, a short distance away, where, from 20 to 25 minutes from the time the blow was given, he breathed his last, without having uttered a word. Dr. Rogers of Pembroke was called, but his services were not needed, the Indian being Dead Long Before He Arrived.

After the stabbing some of the other Indians sought to hold the murderer until an officer could be sent for, but Francis did not propose to be interfered with, and flourishing his deadly knife and a loaded revolver, he warned all to keep their hands off him. One of the tribe is a sworn constable, appointed by the governor of the state, and, it so happens, is a half brother of Francis, which, some of the Indians say, is the reason why he failed to arrest the murderer then and there. The murderer escaped and is still at large.

Five Indians came to this city yesterday and swore out a warrant before Justice McFaul. With this warrant Deputy Sheriff Martin and two newspaper correspondents started out for Pleasant Point. A thorough search was made, but it was clearly evident that Francis had allowed no grass to grow under his feet, having had nearly 12 hours in which to make good his escape.

He Is an Expert Hunter

and can get along in the woods better than anybody else.

Sheriff Martin has telegraphed to the authorities in the surrounding, towns and also to Grand Manan, where Francis has often been accustomed to hunt and fish, and with every corner of which he is thoroughly acquainted, but he can't hide very long, as he is pretty well known.

He was a man of short stature, thickset and wears a t in mustache. He was always of a pleasant disposition, honest in his dealings, and, unless his temper had been aroused by feelings of intense jealousy, he never would have committed the terrible deed.

The deceased Indian was a widower, 47 years old, and a brother of Simon Sopiel, the famous baseball player.

Francis was in this city during the day of the Fourth and took part in the canoe races, which are always a feature of the celebration here. He started for home in the evening in good spirits, and his rash act must have been done on the spur of the moment, while he was possibly worked up by an ample supply of firewater. One of the farmers who lives near Pleasant Point says he was well acquainted with Sopiel, and knows Francis to be one of the best Indians on the point. Sopiel, he said, didn't deserve to be murdered, and Francis didn't deserve to become a murderer.

WIRES SUFFERED.

Elements Raise a Disturbance In Many New England Towns.

BOSTON, July 6.—Jupiter Pluvius and his old friend Jove paid this city and vicinity a visit last night. After dallying here awhile and thoroughly frightening timid ones, the storm passed seaward.

The disturbance originated in the vicinity of the Dakotas. It came east slowly, and until reaching the lakes was merely a low-area drizzle. At this point, however, it was joined by an electric commotion, and conjointly the storms made trouble.

New York city received a big share of its fury, and Albany wasn't at all slighted. At Springfield it was violent, and Worcester did not escape. New Bedford was included in the more prominent cities that were wind swept and wet down. At all these points, so far as can be learned, the principal disaster was to the telegraph systems.

The storm also visited Pennsylvania and some of the middle states.

DR CHAPUT'S PAST.

What Was Learned by a Detective's Studies In Canada.

LOWELL, Mass., July 6.—Detective Hayes has received from Superintendent Carpenter of the Canadian secret service some information in regard to Dr. H. A. Chaput, recently murdered here. The letter states that Chaput, previous to coming to Lowell, studied four years in Montreal. Previous to that he was idle for a short time and was afterwards connected with a newspaper, being then in the employ of the government.

Still farther back he was in the furniture business and accumulated about $500, which was spent before he came to Lowell. The letter further says that the doctor was not married, was not known as a drinking man and nothing bad was known of him.

Will Have No Receiver.

BOSTON, July 6.—In the United States circuit court the case of John R. Foster and others against the Northern Investment company was settled by agreement, and the bill was dismissed without prejudice and without costs. This was the proceedings in which the plaintiffs asked for a receiver for the company.

Old Glory Insulted.

SALEM, Mass., July 6.—A Frenchman named Napoleon Thibleault raised a French flag beside the American flag over his house here. He ran up the American flag union down and put the flag of his native country above it. The city marshal ordered the Frenchman to take down the flag of France and turn the American flag right side up.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., July 6.—Some malicious person crawled into the Story schoolhouse and ran a British flag up the staff. It was taken down by officers in a few minutes.

A Drunken Man's Suicide.

BOSTON, July 6.—John C. Gundersen, a Norwegian, while drunk, visited the girl whom he was to marry this week, Miss Elmertine Linston. She chided him for appearing before her in that condition. Gundersen followed her to her room at the top of the house, and hanged himself with the cord attached to the skylight outside her room door.

Brief Mention.

The New Haven Opera house was damaged by fire.

Russian war vessels sailed from Boston for New York.

Out of a total of 397 arrests in Boston on Tuesday 244 were for drunkenness.

Michael Buckley and Thomas O'Reilly are on trial at Cambridge, Mass., for killing John Tatten.

Thomas O'Brien, aged 45, a laborer, was struck by a freight train at Rutland, Vt., and instantly killed.

Frederick Lee, recently arrested, has been identified by Boston police as a notorious house thief.

Michael Healey, builder and contractor of Bridgeport, Conn., has been missing for a week past. He failed a short time ago.

Edith C. Keith, aged 10, of South Norwalk, Conn., died from the effects of powder burns sustained Tuesday afternoon.

Morgan Shannon, a section hand on the Boston and Maine railroad, was struck and killed by a train near Atkinson depot, Mass.

Traces of Baylies, the man missing from Edgartown, Mass., were found yesterday, and further search will be made in the locality, which is near Cottage City.

William O. Olmstead, the wealthy Wilton, Conn., agriculturalist, who went to New York two weeks ago, is still missing, and detectives have failed in securing a clue.

The Newport (R. I.) police visited a small cottage containing six small rooms where they found 56 Portuguese sleeping upon the floor. The health authorities will move in the matter.

Isaac Thrasher, a well known taxidermist, was found nearly dead from asphyxiation in his store at Fall River, Mass., but several physicians succeeded in restoring him to consciousness.

Lottie, a 10-year-old daughter of Jeremiah Bernd of Danvers, Conn., sat upon a smouldering piece of firecracker. Her clothing caught fire, and she was so badly burned that she will probably die.

At South Manchester, Conn., Mrs. Gustav Kyrkern held a large cannon cracker in her hand, supposing it to be a firework piece. When it exploded her right hand was shattered to pieces, necessitating amputation.

The extension of the Plymouth and Kingston (Mass.) Street railway to Kingston has been finished to within half a mile of the proposed northern terminus. The cars have begun to make regular trips to Kingston.

ROYALTY'S WEDDING

Duke of York Weds Princess Mary Victoria.

HIGH DIGNITARIES PRESENT

Queen Gives a Luncheon After the Ceremonies

LONDON, July 6.—The marriage of the Duke of York and Princess May Victoria of Teck took place in the chapel royal, St. James palace, at 12:30 today.

The Queen, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh, the Duke of York, Princess May, the Duke and Duchess of Teck and their sons, the Grand Duke of Hesse and other members of the royal family were present.

The wedding ceremonies opened with the procession of the clergy into the chapel. This consisted of the archbishop of Canterbury, the bishop of London, dean of the chapel royal: the bishop of Rochester, clerk of the closet; Rev. Edgar Sheppard, sub-dean of the chapel royal; Rev. Hon. E. Carr-Glynn, vicar of Kensington; Canon Hervey, domestic chaplain of the Prince of Wales, and Canon Dalton of St. George's chapel, honorary chaplain to the Duke of York, and, as it proceeded to the chancel, Handel's march from the "Occasional Overture" was played by the organist.

DUKE OF YORK. MAY OF TECK.

While the royal family and guests were being conducted to their seats a march from "Scipio" was played.

The Queen's Procession

walked from the door in the ambassadors' court to the chapel, and as her majesty passed up the aisle to her chair upon the haut-pas, an "Imperial march," composed by Sir Arthur Sullivan, was played.

The bridegroom's procession followed, and a march in G, composed by H. Smart, was played during its progress.

As Princess May and her supporters passed up the aisle to the altar the organist played the march from Wagner's "Lohengrin." The service commenced with a marriage chorale, "Father of Life," specially composed by Dr. Creser for the occasion and sung by the gentlemen and choristers of the chapel royal.

Sir Joseph Barnby's "O! Perfect Love," a chorale sung at the marriage of the Duke and Duchess of Fife, was given in the middle of the church, which concluded with the hymn "Now Thank We All Our God."

Mendelssohn's wedding march was played while the queen and royal family were leaving the chapel on their return to Buckingham palace.

After the Ceremony

the royal party and their supporters walked back through the state apartments to their carriages at the garden entrance of St. James palace, and returned by way of St. James street, Piccadilly and Constitution hill to Buckingham palace.

The queen, on leaving the chapel, entered her state coach in the ambassadors' court and drove home by the same route, which was also followed by the royal family and guests.

Her majesty entertained the royal bride and bridegroom, the royal family and guests at Buckingham palace, whence, after luncheon, the Duke and Duchess of York proceeded to Liverpool street station en route to Sandringham, via the Mall, Marlboro gate, Pall Mall, the north side of Trafalgar square, the Strand, Temple bar, Fleet street and Ludgate hill to St. Paul's, where the procession was met by the lord mayor and sheriffs, thence to Cheapside, Mansion House, King William street, Grace Church street, to Liverpool street station, through Bishopsgate.

The invitations to the chapel included the cabinet ministers and their wives, the ambassadors and ministers and their wives, and titled persons.

Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of Emperor William, represented his majesty at the wedding.

The Queen Distributes Honors.

LONDON, July 6.—The Duke of York was yesterday made a knight of the Order of the Thistle by Queen Victoria. Dr. Broadbent, the physician who attended the Duke of York during his attack of typhoid fever some time ago, was created a baronet.

Funny Mr. Faxon.

BOSTON, July 6.—Henry H. Faxon of Quincy has sent in a $600 account of legislative expenses to the secretary of state. There are only two items in the account, and one is as follows: "For distributing literature calculated to influence the stupid, impracticable and cowardly legislature to repeal or radically amend the absurd drunk law of 1891, $500."

Mysterious Murder Case.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 6.—The dead body of Andrew Supka, a resident of Nanticoke, was found in a suburb of Nanticoke. The back of his head was crushed in and a number of bruises and cuts were discovered upon his person. He was probably waylaid and murdered.

Murder and Suicide.

OMAHA, July 6.—Andrew Debney, a farmer residing near Clark, shot his wife five times, inflicting fatal wounds, and then jumped into the Loup river and drowned himself.

Read Between the Lines

Most people know only comparatively few things thoroughly—all else is more or less uncertain. Take your own case. What do you know about carpets, for example? Are you competent to detect poor materials, or imperfect weaving, or unreliable colorings, or old-style patterns? No. Then, will it not be wisdom on your part to make your purchases of carpets where all these points are taken care of in your interest—where you are protected not only from direct misrepresentation but from the results of your own inexperience? Two things we promise: To tell you the whole truth about whatever you buy; to make good any hidden defect which may appear subsequent to purchase. Prices, too, are studiously kept at the moderate point. When next you buy carpets or upholstery, consider these things.

and you will discover some highly interesting statements relative to CARPETS and UPHOLSTERY.

Hospital Aid Association.

Twenty-seven members of the Aid Association met June 29, in the Probate Court room. The summer recess of two months now comes but the ladies have arranged the work of soliciting for added membership to the Hospital Aid, and to have a list of all members' names published in the daily paper.

Any person is liable to injuries that may make him need the care that can best be given there, and it is our duty to support our Hospital well.

There had been a call for some large bed spreads that had not been met, but the energetic vice president, Mrs. Lucy Marsh, kindly came to the rescue and personally raised funds to purchase them. She asked for gifts in small sums of five and ten cents but getting some larger sums, she raised twenty-five dollars and fifty-four cents.

We see that the Hospital has friends everywhere, only in the rush of modern, busy life, its needs are not present unless brought to mind.

The Loyal Circle of Kings' Daughters, Wollaston, sent $72.58 but it is to be remembered that the cost of caring for the sick, far exceeds that of well people and of all charities, that of maintaining hospitals in this century is one that is the grandest and that should appeal to all men, women and young people.

Mr. Quincy's Candidacy.

Speaking of his alleged candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor, Josiah Quincy said to a Globe reporter:

"Inasmuch as I am not in the same position as the five estimable gentlemen who are seeking the republican nomination for governor of Massachusetts, it would seem that a statement from me as to whether or not I would accept the democratic nomination would be entirely uncalled for."

Mr. Quincy returned to Washington last night, but will be back soon and will spend the remainder of July at his cottage at West Chop, down on the cape.

While at West Chop Mr. Quincy will run up to Boston one or two days during the week and be at headquarters to transact such business as devolves upon him as chairman of the state committee.

As soon as convenient, as chairman of the committee, Mr. Quincy will call a meeting of the committee, probably the latter part of July, when a new chairman of the executive committee will be chosen.

FIRE AT WOLLASTON.

The Car House of the Street Railway Destroyed.

WAS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

A Heavy Loss for the Q. & B., John A. Duggan and Others.

Wollaston still holds the record for having the largest fires in the city. Last evening it was the great wooden car house of the Quincy & Boston Street Railway that went up in smoke.

At 10.47 there was a sharp flash of lightning followed by a peal of thunder that made doors and windows rattle. This stroke of lightning struck the chimney on the car house and tore its way through the light woodwork, setting the whole building on blaze almost before the inmates,—John McCarthy and four boarders,—had time to grab a few clothes and rush out of doors.

At 10.57 the fire was discovered by the watchman of Mellen Bray & Co.'s factory, and Box 51 was turned in.

Hose 2, Chemical 2, and the central station apparatus were soon on the scene, but the fire had gained such a headway that it was useless to throw water on the seething mass of flames.

The Quincy & Boston Street Railway had one construction car, two snow plows, and a quantity of tools, and John A. Duggan, one box car in the car house, all of which were totally destroyed.

Employes of the street railway had cut all the wires leading into the building before the arrival of the fire department.

Many at the Centre were not aware of the fire until morning, as the whistle had been cut out. It came in loud and clear on the First church bell, but this fails to arouse people.

The Quincy & Boston's loss is $5,450; fully insured. John A. Duggan's loss is $2,000. Mr. McCarthy's loss was about $250; no insurance.

EYESORE GONE.

A Fire This Morning Which Causes West Quincy to Rejoice.

The alarm from Box 46 at 11 52 this morning was for a small fire in the partly burned building on the corner of Copeland and Cross streets, owned by the heirs, of Henry Doble. The fire, which was probably started by boys, was in the basement. Chief Ripley immediately ordered the building torn down.

It was one of those fires which is a blessing rather than a loss, as it removes a partly destroyed building which has been an eyesore and a menace to the neighborhood. It was only last week that the LEDGER called attention to it as a nuisance.

WEYMOUTH.

Mr. F. L. Kelley, principal of the Athens school, has resigned to accept a position at Brockton. He will be a great loss to North Weymouth, as he was an excellent teacher.

The popularity of the electric cars seems to increase rather than diminish.

C. H. Benson has commenced work on the cellar of his new house on the North Weymouth Land Co.'s property.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Aldrich entertained a party of relatives and friends the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Kelley are spending their vacation in Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sidelinger have gone to Maine for two weeks.

The funeral of I. D. H. Pettes was held from the Universalist church, South Weymouth, Wednesday, Rev. L. W. Atwood officiating. A delegation from Post 2. G. A. R, of Boston attended the services. The interment was in the Highland cemetery.

Inventories on the estates of L. W. Bicknell, $1,490, Jane Smith $1,572,44, and F. D. Pratt, $7,000, late of Weymouth, were filed at Dedham Wednesday.

Our Friend Williams.

Editors of the Ledger:

Alphonso Williams of Wollaston, the noted but of late unlucky cracksman, celebrated the Fourth in his usual patriotic manner. Streamers of flags reached over his lawn and a tent was also erected thereon for the benefit of children. His famous diminutive thunderer announced its entrance and exit and also did frequent intermediate service during the day. As has always been his custom his home was open from its coming in to its going out with refreshments in abundance, mild and otherwise, and many there was that tasted thereof. It is a great day with Al. the greatest of the year and everybody knows it who knows him. The record that Al. has lost lately with the Wollaston Trap club has been more than recovered by his revival of the old "Pot" ball game which may be seen almost nightly in the field adjoining his home. The youngsters enjoy it hugely and Al. is as big a youngster as any of them. Many of the older readers of the LEDGER will recall this game of ball with pleasure and displeasure, the latter because of mishaps through a "hit" of the ball, or the rod at the hands of mother because of the unravelling of yarn stockings to replace "lost" balls.

THE WEYMOUTH GAME.

It Ended in a Disagreement and was Given to the North Weymouths.

The score of the game at North Weymouth the Fourth, published yesterday, was furnished by a friend of the North Abingtons, and did an injustice to the home nine who were awarded the game by the umpire. The contest was close and interesting, but was marred by "yellow" umpiring, and, consequently, a good deal of kicking. It was nearly 10.15 when the home team took the field and the ball was started rolling.

The first man up hit to Rudderham who fumbled slightly and he was safe at first. King was given his base on balls. Shaw struck out, O'Donnell sacrificed, advancing both men and a base on balls filled the bases. Slattery tried to kill the ball and, as a result, struck out.

Pitts was given first on balls. Faircloth hit to White and was the result. Rudderham cracked out a single, stole second and third and scored on Carney's hit to left. Crawford struck out.

White flied out to Crawford. Clements was given four bad balls, Gildea struck out and then the fun began. The next man sent up a little fly which fell between Faircloth and Dolan. King knocked a fly to right which Crawford got under but muffed and then threw wild allowing both men to score. Shaw struck out for the second time.

Dolan struck out. Bates got a base on balls and stole second. Duffy hit to White who fumbled and with two men on bases it looked like a run, but Duffy forced Bates off third and Dunn struck out. Poor base running. Score 2 to 1 for Abington.

The third opened with O'Donnell at the bat. Dolan gave him a base on balls. Jordan hit to left for two bases, scoring O'Donnell, Slattery hit to Rudderham and was out at first. A passed ball scored Jordan. White hit to Dolan and was thrown out at first. Clements got another base on balls but Gildea flied out to Crawford.

Pitts flied out to Clements, Faircloth went out O'Donnell to Clements. O'Donnell gave Rudderham his base on balls and "Ruddy" stole second and third again. Carney was given first on balls and a by Crawford scored both. Dolan went out at first, White assisting. Score 4 to 3.

Gildea was an easy out, Rudderham to Faircloth. King struck out. Shaw got in a hit. O'Donnell got first on balls and Jordan hit to Duffy forcing Shaw at third.

Bates struck out although he had a bad shake at the umpire's hands. Duffy was retired at first by White, and Dunn was served in a similar manner by Slattery. Score still 4 to 3.

Fifth inning. Slattery struck out. White ditto. Clements hit to Faircloth and beat the ball to first. Gildea flied out to Duffy.

Pitts struck out. Faircloth was out pitcher to first. Rudderhan hit to Shaw and expired at first.

Abington goes in for the sixth. The first batter was given his base, King hit hard to left for two bases and another run came in. Shaw struck out for the third time. O'Donnell hit to Duffy who threw to Carney to head off King but the throw was low and King was safe. Jordan struck out, Slattery hit along the third base line but got no farther than first as White struck out. Good twirling that.

Carney flied out to White, and Crawford failed to connect. Dolan got in a hit to right field and was safe at third. Bates went out at first, closing the inning. Score 6 to 3 and thing looking rather blue for North Weymouth.

Seventh inning. Clements for the third time was given first on balls. Gildea went out Dolan to Faircloth, and the next man followed suit.

King flied out to centre. Duffy struck out. Dunn and Pitts singled in quick succession. Faircloth sacrificed to White and Capt. Rudderham stepped to the plate amid great applause. He and away it went, scoring Dunn and Pitts, while the crowd went wild with enthusiasm. Carney followed with a hit and "Ruddy" tried to score from second, but was out at the plate. Score 6 to 5.

Shaw was retired at first by Rudderham. O'Donnell singled to left. Jordan was too anxious and struck out. Slattery hit to Duffy who pushed it toward second, forcing O'Donnell.

Crawford flied out to King. Dolan hit to right and by good base running, aided by a poor throw, reached third. With a man on third and only one out, it looked as though the score would be tied. Lester tried hard for a right field hit, but Clements got it after a long run and Duffy walked to the plate amidst great excitement. He hit up a few fouls and then sent one bounding along the third base line. Dolan made a dash for the plate and he and the ball collided, and the visiting captain immediately claimed that Dolan was out. The matter was referred to the umpires, but as there was a disagreement on their part, nothing was settled and a wrangle ensued. As the Abingtons refused to play, after a suitable length of time, Connors gave the game to the home team by a score of 9 to 0.

With the Mercury

CITY CHIT CHAT.

Items of Interest from All Parts of Quincy.

More thunder showers are predicted for tonight.

Fred Drake has gone to New Hampshire for a week.

Archer Hoskin and family have returned from Hallowell, Maine.

The Quincy Cycle club meet this evening at Durgin & Merrill's block.

A number of plans for the new High school have been received at City Hall.

Mr. Farrington McIntire, an old resident of Wollaston, died this morning in his 75th year.

Messrs. Arthur and William Parsons of the Quincy Cycle club rode to Attleboro on their wheels Wednesday.

Owing to a ground on the line, the whistle on the electric light station did not sound the alarm from Box 51.

Brothers should remember that the platform of a electric car is a poor place to settle their little difficulties.

The Herald reports Henry B. Metcalf of Quincy to have been removed from the public warehouse, for neglecting to file a bond.

Caterer Nash says the amount of ice cream made by him July 4 was 205 gallons instead of 105 as stated in Wednesday' LEDGER.

Miss Lizzie J. Shepherd of Quincy Point and Miss Ida J. Cameron of South Quincy started Saturday for a two weeks' visit in Lowell.

The finest display of roses that we have noticed anywhere in Quincy this season, is at the residence of Mr. James H. Stetson on School street.

The second account of G. A. Day as administrator of the estate of Catherine T. Tripp, late of Quincy, was allowed at Dedham Wednesday.

Col. and Mrs. A. B. Packard, Mrs. William N. Eaton and Mrs. M. J. Whittemore left this morning with Raymond's excursion for the World's Fair.

In the report yesterday of the bicycle race at 2 o'clock, on the Fourth, the name of John McIntyre appeared as the winner; it should have been John McIntosh.

Quincy has had her share of fires this week although up to that of Wednesday night the losses have been small. Six bell alarms since Sunday and no false alarms.

The will of J. F. Lee of Weymouth was allowed in the probate court at Dedham Wednesday, and T. B. Davenport of Quincy, appointed executor under $5000 bonds.

There was a running race Wednesday evening, from Willard's store to North Braintree and return, between Henry Collins and E. McLane. The latter was an easy victor.

At the drive-whist contest held by the members of the Granite City Club and their lady friends on Wednesday evening, Mrs. Wilson Tisdale and Mr. Frank S. Patch took the prizes.

The members of the Hook & Ladder Co. were out Wednesday evening practising with the new extension ladder. The ladder was placed against the hose tower and the veteran went to the top as lively as a cat.

When box 46 came in this morning, Engineer Packard was at his pasture off Washington street with his right hand man Charles N. Ford. Charlie made a lightning hitch and started for the fire In his hurry he forgot to hook part of the harness but that made no difference it went just the same.

Wollaston's heavy fire losses are counting up fast. Last night's fire again emphasises the fact that Wollaston should have a steamer with two permanent men. The losses in the other wards are small in comparison with the losses that have been sustained there during the past two or three years. Each year for four or five years the losses have been heavier than in any other section of the city.

The annual basket picnic of the Wollaston Unitarian Society will be held at the summer residence of Frank P. Waterhouse at Rufe's Humock, Wollaston Beach on on Thursday July 13, at one o'clock. A clam chowder will be served at 1 o'clock. There will be the usual swimming matches and tub races. The committee having the picnic in charge consists of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Waterhouse, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Page, Mr. George Weston, and Mrs. J. H. Litchfield, Jr.

—General Agent Hopkins of the Mutual Life Insurance company says the item reporting his company to have been swindled in Cheyenne, Wyo., is entirely erroneous, as the company never owned property in Wyoming.

MARRIED.

MURRAY MASON—In West Quincy, July 5, at bride's residence, 82 West street, by Rev. W. Steele, assisted by Rev. G. F. Hinnear, of Canada, (brother-in-law of bride) Mr. Lemuel Gordon Murray, druggist, to Miss Mary Frances Mason both of Quincy.

WILLIAMS—In Sharon, July 4, Mr. Frank Eli Williams, aged 24 years and 1 month.

MANET BEACH.

A Dip is Now Popular; Minstrel Show Talked; Dance Last Night.

Bathing is now very popular. As soon as the tide covers the flats the campers don their bathing suits and the beach assumes the look of Long Branch. Many of the suits bag at the knees and others gather under the arms but for all that the bathers enjoy themselves very much.

It is rumored that the "White Wings" of Manet beach will give a minstrel show at the Casino hall at no far distant date. If one is given it will be a good one. Much professional talent will be used.

Miss Florence Drake and friends of Brockton are at one of Taber's cottages.

The dance last night was the best so far this season. It seemed a pity that the thunder shower came just as it did. Many of the dancers were a little frightened, and as the wind rose, ran home to close the windows they had forgotten to shut before leaving.

The Linden is now the popular resort of all the Stoughton people who come to the beach. The party according to all accounts are having a gloriously good time. The dance hall is in constant use, and the alleys are running all day long.

The fire at Wollaston last evening was distinctly seen from the beach. The rain gave the fire the appearance of being very large.

Capt. Joe is very busy. The Water Lily is in constant use.

If the electric road advertise to run cars half hourly, why not run according to advertised schedule time.

A New Leader.

Two new candidates have entered at the top of the popularity contest for the $100 seashore lot, and there are others with smaller amounts. Mr. Dunham, the leader, is a popular employe of the Manet street railway, and evidently is going to set a lively pace. The standing today:

Arthur H. Dunham, Houghs Neck	75

Silva Fined $100.

Judge Nelson in the United States District Court in Boston on Wednesday, fined Joseph Silva of Quincy $100 and sentenced him to three months in jail for passing silver half dollars which had been plugged with lead. The coins had been through the Sub-Treasury and stamped by the Department as bad. It is not known how they came into the possession of Silva.

ADAMS AND BUTLER.

Two Quincy Gentlemen Appointed on Commissions by Governor Russell.

Among the appointments of Governor Russell on Saturday was the park commission and the Cape Cod ship canal commission, and a Quincy man appears on each:

Park Commissioners,—Charles Francis Adams of Quincy, William B. de Las Casas of Malden, Philip A. Chase of Lynn, James Jeffrey Roche and A. L. Richards of Watertown.

Cape Cod ship canal commission,—Alpheus A. Hardy of Boston, Sigourney Butler of Quincy and George T. McLoughlin of Sandwich.

Mr. Adams is reappointed. Concerning the other nomination the Globe says:

Sigourney Butler is the son of Peter Butler, formerly of Quincy. He grew up in the atmosphere of democracy. Coming into manhood at a time when there were few inducements other than the opportunities for political preferment to call for a change, it was an easy matter for him to hold fast to the family faith.

His selection by President Cleveland for a highly responsible government office was an illustration of the good judgment which the latter so frequently evinced in his choice of men; for, though wanting past experience, Mr. Butler quickly developed a remarkable administrative capacity.

He is a magnetic man in personal and social intercourse; that is, he possesses qualities which, if they are not adapted to stir the minds of a great concourse of people, are of a kind that admirably fit him to overcome and adjust the innumerable differences that are liable to arise among those who are endeavoring to shape party policy. He was born in the old town of Quincy and is a graduate of Harvard.

July Magazines

The July Nursery is fully as interesting as usual to the little ones. Its little stories are very prettily illustrated. Russell Publishing Co., Boston.

The leading illustrated article in Worthington's Magazine for July is "The Lighthouse System of the United States," by Hon. S. G. W. Benjamin. It is one of the series of American papers which this Magazine is publishing, and which are of interest and importance to every citizen of the United States. Our magnificent coast which includes the Atlantic and Pacific, the Gulf of Mexico and the Great Lakes, requires a most extensive and complete system of protection.

The Overland Monthly for July is its midsummer issue, and the contents have the out-of-door tone appropriate to the season, especially a pretty group of a dozen poems on West Coast flowers and trees, illustrated with dainty vignettes and initials by Mary Williams Davison and Grace Wetherell. The leading paper is a careful historical and descriptive article, by Charles S. Greene, telling of Fort Ross, past and present.

The midsummer Cosmopolitan, the first at the new price of 12 1-2 cents per copy, though unchanged in size, excels any other issue of that magazine in the number of its distinguished contributors, in the interest of its contents and in its overflowing illustrations by famous artists. Literally every known country is being ransacked for material in hope to bring The Cosmopolitan forward as the leading magazine in the world.

THE MAKING OF GLASS.

Interesting and Instructive to All People.

WORLD'S FAIR GLASS FACTORY.

Visitors to the Midway Plaisance Can See How All Manner of Costly and Cheap Glass Is Manufactured by Skillful Workmen—The Work of Making Cut Glassware—Spinning Glass.

WORLD'S FAIR, June 30.—[Special.]—For some of the most interesting features of the fair the enterprise of American manufacturers is to be given credit. On the Midway plaisance, for instance, where there is an assemblage of savage life and strange peoples from all over the world, there is no more interesting exhibit than that made by a firm of glass blowers. They have erected here a complete plant, with steam engines, a great furnace, machinery of all sorts, and perhaps 200 workmen and salesmen. Here they carry on the whole business of glass making, blowing, moulding, coloring, cutting. If one may judge by the popularity of the factory among the visitors to the fair not many of our people have had the pleasure of seeing the glass-making process. Great crowds are constantly passing in and out the doors. It is not a free show, either, though the admission fee is only 10 cents, and this is refunded on the purchase price of any article you may wish to buy within. The proprietors say they charge even this small sum not for the sake of revenue, but to prevent their place being uncomfortably crowded as would be the case if there were no admission fee whatever.

Entering this World's fair glass factory you find yourself near the base of a big glass furnace. Through the little doors which the workmen open now and then you may see the mass of molten glass within, red and glowing. One of the blowers sticks his tube through the open door, worms it around in there for a moment, and withdraws it with a small quantity of molten metal adhering to the end. He lifts this in the air, blows through the tube with his lungs, and inflates the mass of molten stuff to a globule. By rolling it upon a hard, smooth surface he causes the bulb to assume any form he wishes, an electric light globe, a tumbler, a vase, a saucer, a flower-holder. He adorns it with glass of various colors which is wound upon his globe much as a cord is wound on a bobbin in a spinning machine. He fashions the exterior of his bulb in various forms by rolling it along patterns. The whole process is so simply and quickly done, the glowing mass of glass being handled as if it were plaster or clay, that one is amazed.

The cheaper line of work is going on at the same time near by. This is what is known as pressed glass. One man reaches into the furnace with a long tube, extracts a small quantity of metal, plunges it into a mould, another man cutting off the superfluous portion with a pair of scissors, a lever is pulled and the piston of the mould comes down pressing the glass into the shape of a butter dish or cream pitcher. In a trice the bit of molten stuff has been converted into a dish that is almost perfect. A little finishing, a bit of polishing done also by machinery, will make it ready for the market; and when it is done it will be a thing of beauty, bright and glistening, almost as clear and fine as cut glass itself, and yet very cheap. This is but one of an almost infinite variety of methods by which modern manufacturers produce the most beautiful articles at prices within the reach of the multitude.

The bowls, pitchers and glasses which are to be decorated by hand are produced in the same way, though of finer material and more careful workmanship. The beauty of cut glass consists not so much in the quality of the material as in the exquisite nature of the work put upon it. In this World's fair glass factory you may see glass-cutting in all its phases. A dozen or more young men sit before emery wheels working by steam power with streams of water trickling down upon their peripheries, grinding and cutting the surfaces of the glass dishes according to the patterns which have been chalked upon them in the pattern room. To produce a perfect cut glass rose bowl of medium size one young man will work for a week or more, and thus you may see why it is that cut glassware costs so much money. He must grind and grind, cut and cut, hour after hour to produce the almost innumerable prisms which reflect the rays of light like a diamond and make this product of the glass-blower's art like the finest precious stones.

There are single pieces of cut glass in this exhibit which represent a month's hard work by the most skillful of mechanics in the grinding and polishing alone, and perhaps two weeks more of work in superintendence, inspection, finishing and assistance. The result of all this effort is glorious, and costly.

Some of the most beautiful souvenirs of the exposition are made in glass. All sorts of articles have pictures of the principal exposition buildings within them in delicate lines. On some you may have your name engraved while you wait. These engraved souvenirs are very popular, and large numbers of them are sold every day.

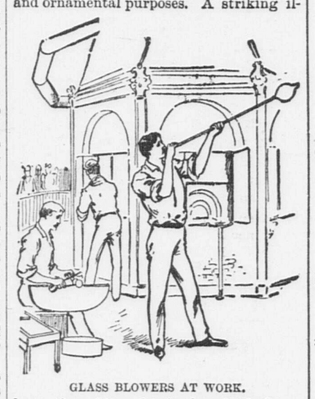

But the most wonderful thing in the show is the glass fabric. One of the workmen in this concern discovered some time ago that he could spin glass into threads of even size and texture just as wool or cotton is spun. He talked to the proprietor about it, and the result was that the firm decided to make a specialty of spun glass articles in case they could find sale for them. They began in a modest way, but their wares, on account of novelty as well as beauty, have attained such popularity that glass spinning is now an important feature of the business. It would be difficult to imagine anything more dazzling and curious than this process. The molten glass is spun out into a long thread by the rotation of a spindle, and on being cooled is wound around a bobbin precisely as one would wind yarn, though of course the diameter of the spool is pretty large. The makers say the glass spins out in very even thickness, and runs surprisingly "true." From the spinning it goes to the loom. One girl cuts the threads into the proper lengths and inspects them for faults. Another operates the loom. Each glass thread is laid in by hand, and a careful movement of the machine pushes it to its place in the fabric. Then another thread is put in, and so thread by thread the metal textile grows. It is slow work, a nimble fingered girl, with one assistant, being able to make but a quarter of a yard of glass cloth in a day

Naturally glass cloth is expensive. Sixty dollars a yard is the present price, and it is easy to figure out from this basis what the value of a dress pattern would be. The firm is now making a glass gown for the Princess Eulalia, who saw some of the fabric and the method of making it a few weeks ago, during her visit to the fair, and was greatly impressed with it. The value of the princess' glass gown will be something like $1,000.

This fabric, contrary to general expectation, is soft and silken. There is nothing harsh or brittle about it. It is a sheen of jewels. It is the finest of silks plastered over with crystals. Glass fabric has this advantage over most other fabrics, it will not wear out. It does not tarnish in water, and if stained by a foreign substance may be washed with soap and water or with chemicals without in any way injuring its texture or color. I should not imagine it would ever be popular for dress goods. In the first place it is too expensive, and though the manufacturers may be able to cheapen it somewhat as they develop their processes, it is not likely to come within the reach of every-day purses. Moreover, it is too pretentious for any wear but to ballrooms, and there it should be magnificent. Where the glass fabric is of most service is in the making hangings for rooms, curtains, portiers, of and wall decorations. It is not only rich and handsome, but it lasts forever and may always be cleaned. If dust accumulates upon it, take it down and souse it in water. Glass fabric is one of the novelties of the exposition, and the manufacturers make up a great variety of small articles of it to be sold as souvenirs at reasonable prices.

Another interesting and novel exhibit at the fair is a beautiful wagon, the metal portions of which are constructed of aluminum, the first time that this metal has been put to such practical use. The possibilities of aluminum are almost totally unknown as yet, but great interest is felt in the future of this valuable metal. Thirty-five years ago it was merely a chemical curiosity. Today many scientific writers think it is destined ultimately to succeed all other metals for mechanical and ornamental purposes. A striking illustration of its value is given in the beautiful wagon which has been made by a noted Indiana firm of wagon makers. The tires of the wagon are made of steel, burnished and plated to glisten like mirrors. All the remaining metal in the vehicle, consisting of bolts, nuts, screws, rods, clips, braces, chains, nails, etc., are made of solid aluminum, 149 pounds of the metal having been used in finishing the wagon. If iron had been used instead its weight would have been 490 pounds. The wood work on the wagon is equally as beautiful as the metal portion. The pole is of curly ash, and the hubs of yellow birch. The remainder of the wood work of the gear is white second growth Indiana hickory. It is finished with oil and rubbing varnish, to protect the fiber and natural luster of the wood without concealing its natural beauty. The box is made of rosewood inlaid with a border of holly and with thirty-five medals awarded to the makers since 1852. The log required in order to get boards of a size adequate for the box, sides and ends, weighed 1,505 pounds and cost in the raw state $230.80. It was cut in the province of Belmonte, Brazil, and was brought down the Belmonte river many miles in a huge canoe, thence by bark to Bahia, Brazil, and from there to New York by steamer. It required the services of a woodworker three months to prepare the box for the finisher, and thirty successive processes to bring it to its present state of polish. Aluminum is now worth about 90 cents a pound. At one time it sold for $91 a pound. In 1889 it was reduced as low as $1.50, and in 1891 it sold at $1.00. In 1892, competition in America and abroad had forced the price down to 50 cents a pound. The metal is never found in a natural state, but lies united with oxygen in clay, feldspar, corundum, cryolite, and most other minerals. It comes chiefly from Baux, a small village in the south of France. Deposits have also been found in the United States, and it has been estimated that the metal constitutes about one-twelfta of the earth's crust. There are a number of processes for obtaining the metal and it is hoped to yet cheapen its production so that it can come into general use. Its weight is about one-third that of iron, and one-seventh that of gold. When cast it is as soft as silver, but when rolled or hammered it becomes almost as hard as iron. Its tensile strength is twelve tons to the square inch. It does not rust and the mechanical world looks forward to the day when it shall become as cheap as iron and revolutionize at least one branch of mechanic arts.

ROBERT GRAVES.

GLASS BLOWERS AT WORK.

A glorious plan of continental bell ringing has been evolved by the directors of the World's fair. It will be the grandest peal of rejoicing ever heard. At noon, exactly, by central standard time, the new liberty bell will ring out in tones which will be echoed around the earth. At the same time all the boats in the harbor will salute and every bell in the city will be rung. But the ringing will not end there. Arrangements are being made to have every bell in the United States peal forth at exactly 12 o'clock noon, Chicago time. At night by far the grandest and most extensive pyrotechnic display ever seen will be given.

A number of exhibitors have been giving away fans as advertisements, much to the dismay of the man who has the franchise for selling the comfort producers. As protests did no good, the concessionaire has appealed to the exposition authorities asking that they prevent his trade from being ruined.

An exhibit from the holy land has been received at the Transportation building. Among other things it includes a model of the boats used on the Sea of Galilee in the time of Christ.

TEACHES VILE "ART"

The Profession Chosen by a Beautiful Southern Girl.

AN OPIUM SMOKING SCHOOL

Liberally Patronized by Gilded Youth of Ohio's Capital.

COLUMBUS, O., July 6.—Within the last few weeks the scions of the capital's aristocracy have been revelling in the Oriental vice of opium smoking.

The circumstances surrounding the introduction of the strange dissipation here are quite romantic. Its dreamy mysteries are being revealed by an olive-skinned, liquid-eyed southern beauty, whose remarkable personal charms, perhaps, more than her weird vocation, win patrons without number. It is she who acts as tutor to the smoker, filling the pipe with her dainty fingers and holding the mouthpiece to the lips while the entrancing fumes are drawn.

It Was Just Five Weeks Ago

when the fair tempter made her initial appearance in Columbus. She took a room in a top story not more than a mile away from the corner of High and Long streets and soon began to attract attention in the popular thoroughfares. She dressed richly, but in good taste, and, although not averse to street flirtation, there was a modesty in her manner that puzzled many men who lifted their hats and smiled responsively as they passed.

While her general appearance was too blase for that of either a school miss or a mischievous shopgirl, it was evident at a glance that she was no ordinary woman in the shady walks of life. It was not long until dozens of young bloods had made her acquaintance and accompanied her to her room. Upon their arrival there they found that she had enticed them there

For an Unexpected Purpose.

She informed them that she was not a loose woman, but a teacher of the "art of opium smoking." For a fee of $5 she would reveal the fascinating secrets of the vice and care for her visitor while he was wrapt in the delightful dreams the drug produced.

She enjoined the utmost secrecy upon her patrons lest the police interfere with her business, and it has been conducted with the greatest quietude. She soon sprang into great popularity, most of her patrons being members of some of the aristocratic families of the city. It has now become quite the latest thing for a party of young gentlemen to enjoy the pleasure of An Opium Smoke Together.

Fearing that they may be seen going to or coming from her room, many young men meet her by appointment at swell houses, where there is no danger of discovery, and there they "hit the pipe" to their hearts' content.

Despite the fact that several young men have become quite deeply interested in the beautiful southern girl, who initiated them into the peculiar vice, and have endeavored to learn her history, very little is known of her. She says that her name is Marian Dumas, and that she came here from Nashville, having conducted an opium smoking business a short time in that city.

HATRED FOR RUSSIA

Prompts an Unknown Individual to Threaten Assassination.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Soon after the arrival last Sunday of General S. M. Donkhovsky, the recently appointed governor general of Siberia, with a large party bound for the World's fair, the clerk at the Clarendon hotel, where the party is staying in this city, received a letter, signed "A victim of Siberia." The writer says that a certain organization in New York are plotting to kill Donkhovsky; he also says but that for his interference the organization would have made an attempt to destroy the Russian men of-war that were in the harbor. The letter was sent to Superintendent Brynes.

Dishonest Agents.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Evan Levitte and Legare Rabinovitz, representing the Russian Silversmith company of Moscow, who had charge of an exhibit in the Manufactures building at the World's fair, were arrested, charged with selling exhibits on which no duty had been paid. They admitted their offense and were held for the grand jury.

Louisianans Killed.

DONALDSVILLE, La., July 6.—During a thunder storm lightning struck a store on the St. Aureita plantation and instantly killed Arthur Trejean. Two negroes were badly injured. Lightning struck on the Crescent plantation and killed Thomas Jefferson.

Fiendish Work of a Murderer.

PADUCAH, Ky., July 6.—Two young girls named Ray, aged 16 and 12 years, were brutally murdered yesterday. There was evidence of their having been outraged. There is no definite clue to the identity of the brute who committed the crime.

Charges Not Sustained.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The committee that has been investigating charges against Rev. Dr. C. D. Poulter of the Baptist Tabernacle has prepared its report. It is said to exonerate Dr. Poulter and finds all the charges to be utterly without foundation.

No Light on the Wyckoff Murder.

HUDSON, N. Y., July 6.—The inquest in the murder case of Fanny Wyckoff was continued yesterday afternoon. Without eliciting any new developments in the mysterious case the inquest was adjourned until next Saturday afternoon.

The Cholera In France.

LONDON, July 6.—The Lancet says that there have been 704 deaths from cholera in the southern part of France since May, and during the last four weeks 138 deaths from the same disease in Marseilles, 53 in Cette and 51 in Toulon.

Colorado's Latest Bonanza.

FULFORD, Colo., July 6.—There is a large influx of mining men here, attracted by the discovery of a ledge of gold bearing quartz running from 60 to 150 ounces gold to the ton, 12 averaging $900 to the ton.

Over a Precipice.

OREGON CITY, Or., July 6.—A team driven by M. H. Bradley ran away, throwing Bradley, his wife and four children over a precipice. Mrs. Bradley was killed and two children fatally injured.

DISTURBANCE CONTINUES.

Hot-Headed Students Make More Trouble For Police of Paris.

PARIS, July 6.—Rioting was resumed last night. A mob in the boulevard St. Michael assumed a threatening attitude and the police charged upon the crowds driving the rioters down the rue des Ecoles as far as the Place Maubert. There the mob made a determined stand, showering stones and every kind of missile on the police. A hand-to-hand encounter took place and the struggle continued until the police were reinforced by a large force of Republican guards, when the rioters were dispersed.

In the meantime a body of police and republican guards had driven off the turbulent crowds that had assembled in the vicinity of the Labor Exchange. At 11 o'clock there was a sanguinary encounter on the Rue des Ecoles. The republican guards charged upon the rioters, with drawn swords, and the police opened fire with revolvers upon the men. One man was killed on the spot by a cut from a saber.

LONDON, July 6.—The Standard's correspondent at Paris says that three policemen were thrown into the Seine by the mob during the rioting yesterday. It is supposed they have been drowned, as they have not since been seen.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

Chicago's Prosperity Greatly Enhanced by the Big Show.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Chicago is now beginning to realize in a substantial way upon its investment in the Columbian exposition. In the period embraced within the last 120 days of the fair it is estimated that a sum ranging from $120,000,000 to $150,000,000 will be brrought to Chicago and left here. The estimate is based on the assumption that between July 1 and Nov. 1—123 days—the average number of visitors in Chicago above the normal will be 100,000 to 125,000, and that they will spend not less than $10 a day each while sojourning here.

The city is already experiencing the relief that follows the receipts of liberal sums of money from all quarters. All theatres report an immense business, notwithstanding the great show at Jackson park. The business streets are crowded with great moving armies of men, women and children, and the great emporiums of trade are doing the largest business in their history.

DEPOSITORS GOT SCARED.

An Unnecessary Run on Sound Institutions In Pueblo, Colo.

PUEBLO, Colo., July 6.—The American National bank was not opened yesterday. Notices on the door stated that the bank would resume as soon as it secured money on its paper. The suspension was a general surprise, and a large number of depositors will have to wait a couple of weeks for their money. The bank has assets of over $1,250,000, yet could not get hold of sufficient currency on its terms to keep going, and closed in order to give everybody an even chance.

After the suspension of the American National became known a run was started on the First National bank, but it was ready for everybody and the run did not last long. It served, however, to frighten two of the other banks. The Central National closed up at once, and the Western National closed the moment an unusual amount of depositors appeared. These are all sound concerns and assets are ample.

SCENES OF MISERY

Around the Mouth of the Ill-Fated Thornhill Pit.

LONDON, July 6.—Eight men and a boy have been rescued from the Thornhill mine. All hope for the others in the pit has been abandoned. The bodies of the victims are being rapidly brought to the surface. The scenes at the mouth of the pit as the bodies are brought up and recognized by the relatives and friends of the dead are most distressing.

Six men, who had sustained no injury whatever, but who had been imprisoned behind a huge mass of debris, were dug out last evening. When they appeared at the mouth of the pit they were greeted in a most touching manner by their relatives and friends. No reason has been given for the explosion, but the conjecture is that it was caused by carelessness on the part of one of the miners in handling his lamp.

Amateur Journalists Enjoy Themselves

CHICAGO, July 6.—At yesterday's session of the Amateur Press association's national convention the new national officers were installed and degrees were conferred. The annual banquet was held last night at the Leland. Today is being spent by the delegates in visiting the World's fair and points of interest about the city.

The Silver Question Abroad.

ROME, July 6.—Negotiations are proceeding between the governments of Italy, France, Belgium and Switzerland looking to the protection of the nations composing the Latin union, in consequence of the action of the government of India in regard to the silver currency of India.

Boy Murderer Surrenders.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Cornelius Began, aged 15 years, who caused the death of William P. Lorden, aged 16 years, by hitting him in the head with a brick 10 days ago, has surrendered. The lad was committed to await the action of the coroner.

Has Plenty of Backing.

NEW YORK, July 6.—C. P. Huntington says, regarding the London rumors attacking the credit of the companies he is connected with: "I do not care to fight the wind. We have $100,000,000 securities unpledged which could be used to procure funds whenever needed."

Totals	2,336	14,439	16,780

Northern and eastern beef cattle—The supply from the New England states was light, with the demand fair. Trade was rather dull, but values remain unchanged.

Milch cows and springers—Very few cows were noticed on the market, and those were what had been left over from last week.

Veal calves—There was a fair demand, with values steady at from 4 to 6c per pound.

Sheep and lambs—Spring lambs are in heavy demand and in good receipt. Most of the stock was shipped direct to slaughter houses to be dressed and offered on the Boston market. Values of last week were strongly maintained.

Swine—Values are still on the decline and are quoted at from 6 to 6½c a pound, live weight.

PLOTS OF ROYALISTS

Revealed by the Arrests of Dynamiters at Honolulu.

HONOLULU, via San Francisco, July 6.—The government has finally executed what has been for some time in view, namely, the arrest of ascertained agents in the royalist dynamite conspiracy. On the afternoon of Friday, June 23, simultaneous arrests were made of T. B. Walker, Archibald Sinclair and F. G. Crick on the charge of conspiracy to seize the executive building and overturn the government. The offense is not bailable, and the prisoners have been held in confinement, pending examination.

Of the arrested persons Walker is the son-in-law of a leading half-white royalist, Cummings, a mason by trade and a man of active measures. Sinclair is a skilled mason, but of irregular habits. Crick is a chemist out of employment. About 20 prominent whites and half castes are more or less implicated by the evidence in possession of the government. Nine of these persons have been cabinet ministers. More arrests are liable to be made at any time, but none without ample evidence to justify such action.

The use of dynamite was the chief scheme of the conspirators. Their plan seemed to have been bold and extensive, but more on an anarchistic basis than one of regular warfare. Nearly all persons implicated have more or less shady records. No pure Hawaiians appear to have been in the affair. It is believed that no evidence implicates Paul Neumann or Claus Spreckles, although the conspirators had sanguine hopes of pecuniary aid from the latter.

A Father's Devotion.

ROYALTON, O., July 5.—James Kirtland recently completed a house and moved into it with his wife and 3-year-old daughter Barbara. His old structure he decided to remove. The foundation had been undermined, and Kirtland saw his little girl where she would be caught by the falling ruins. He threw her upon the ground, leaned over her and received the full force of the falling bricks upon his head and back. The little girl escaped without serious injury, but the father was instantly killed.

Had No Warning.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 6.—Isaac R. Clark was struck by a train while driving a load of hay over the Main street crossing at Northampton. The gates were up and no signals were given until the team was in front of the express train. Clark's injuries are probably fatal. A boy who was on the load of hay had several ribs broken.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The Royal Marriage the Occasion of Great Rejoicing Among the Britishers.

CHICAGO, July 7.—It was a sultry day at the fair yesterday. Attendance was much larger than the day before, despite the threatening weather of the early hours. There were no special attractions to draw large crowds, except the announcement that there would be fireworks in the evening. All the musical entertainments were well patronized and many were curious to hear the new vocation organ in the woman's building, which was used in concert yesterday.

The marriage of the Duke of York and Princess May was celebrated by the British subjects at Jackson Park yesterday. The Victoria House was thrown open to visiting Englishmen, and during the afternoon Sir Henry Wood, secretary of the royal commission, held a reception at the British headquarters, to which all English and Colonial exhibitors at the exposition were invited. The celebration was concluded by a pyrotechnical display in front of the Victoria House on the lake shore. The reception was from 4 to 6 o'clock, and was as informal as the importance of the event they celebrated would permit Englishmen to make it. Short speeches were made by Sir Henry Wood and others, and music was furnished by the English military band from the military tournament.

BEHRING SEA TRIBUNAL.

Some of Our Representatives on the Way Home—The Arbitrators Remain.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The members of the United States commission at Paris in connection with the arbitration of the Behring sea controversy have begun to return home.

John T. Coughlin, one of the state department clerks, has already reached here, and Major E. W. Halford, United States army disbursing officer, and J. Stanley Brown, one of the seal experts, sailed from Southampton last Saturday. Robert Lansing, associate counsel, is expected to sail for the United States on the 15th inst. The counsel and other attaches will probably remain until the arguments have been concluded and then start home. Hon. J.W. Foster, Justice Harland and Senator Morgan, the arbitrators on behalf of this government, will of course stay until the finding of the board is reached. By the terms of the treaty the arbitrators are given three months after the close of the arguments to agree upon a verdict.

England's Royal Wedding Illuminations.

TERRIBLE CALAMITY

A Cyclone in Iowa Carries Death and Destruction In its Path.

MORE THAN 100 LIVES LOST.

The State of Minnesota Also a Great Sufferer.

DES MOINES, July 7.—It was reported here last night from Jolley, eight miles distant, that a cyclone struck Pomeroy early in the evening, swept away half of the buildings in the town and injured a large number of people.

Information is very meager, as no communication can be had with Pomeroy or other near towns. It is believed that Fonda and Manson also suffered from the storm.

Pomeroy is a town of 1000 inhabitants on the Illinois Central railroad, in Pocahontas county. A railroad message states that a special train, bearing physicians, has been sent from Fort Dodge to Pomeroy. The storm came from the northeast and devastated a wide territory.

The operator at Tara, Ia., telegraphs that 100 are dead at Pomeroy and 200 injured. Not a building is left standing in the town.

Sixteen Killed In Cherokee.

CHEROKEE, Ia., July 7.—A cyclone passed through the south part of Cherokee county last evening. It is reported that 16 persons were killed and many others injured. Houses, barns and fences in the path of the storm were swept away. Crops were ruined, and a large number of farm animals killed.

Fourteen Killed.

ALTA, Ia., July 7.—Meager reports just received indicate that a terrific tornado passed about four miles south of this place between Aurelia and Newell. Much damage was done to property. Fourteen persons are reported killed and a large number injured.

In Minnesota.

LAKEFIELD, Minn., July 7.—A cyclone struck here, doing considerable damage to buildings. The dwelling of Mr. Thompson, five miles west of here, was carried into the lake and wrecked, several members of the family being seriously injured.

The dwelling of Andrew K. Ahara, three miles south, was wrecked, and Mrs. Ahara and one child were fatally injured. Several lives are reported to have been lost in the country near here.

ENGLAND'S PARLIAMENT.

Agricultural Depression to Be Investigated—The Naval Court Martial.

LONDON, July 7.—In the house of commons last evening Mr. Gladstone announced the appointment of a royal commission to inquire into the causes of the present agricultural depression and to report to the house what means should be adopted to improve the condition of affairs in that industry.

In response to questions asked, the government conceded the composition of the Victoria court martial, Sir Kay Shuttleworth, secretary to the admiralty, stating that no officer concerned in the disaster that caused the foundering of the Victoria would be allowed to sit on the court martial.

Dr. MacGregor, Liberal member for Inverness, asked whether the officer next in command of a squadron, seeing that there was imminent danger to life, had any discretion to decline to carry out orders that must result in disaster.

The secretary to the admiralty replied that the question so obviously referred to the position of Rear Admiral Markham that he must decline to express an opinion on the subject.

Veragua In Straitened Circumstances.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The friends and advisers of the Duke of Veragua in this country, having learned that his financial affairs in Spain are in such a condition as to threaten the loss of his entire estate, have decided to raise a considerable fund for the benefit of his family. Hon. Thomas W. Palmer has consented to act as chairman of a committee to secure subscriptions not only in the United States, but in all the other American republics and the West Indies.

Bright Prospects For the South.

BALTIMORE, July 7.—From figures compiled by The Manufacturers' Record it is estimated that not less than $25,000,000 will be disbursed in interest and dividends by southern railways, banks and other corporations during this month. Nearly all of this money will go into circulation in the south, and its effect will be very beneficial to the general business and financial situation. The southern banks make a good showing.

Movements of Currency.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The shipments of currency to Philadelphia, Boston and interior points by the New York banks yesterday aggregated $830,000, of which $600,000 was obtained at the sub-treasury in exchange for large bills. Some of the city banks report a growing scarcity of small bills, large amounts of which have been taken during the past few weeks by saving institutions.

Minnesota Politicians Shocked.

ST. PAUL, July 7.—Nothing has so stirred Minnesota political circles in many a day as the announcement of the arrest of Alonzo J. Whiteman at Monmouth Park on the charge of passing a worthless check. Whiteman was one of the leading Democrats of Minnesota and until recently had a fortune of $500,000.

CHICAGO, July 7.—Abram G. Becker, the banker, was arrested yesterday, charged with receiving deposits when insolvent.

POOR UMPIRING

Robs the Boston Team of a Game—Other Games and League Standings.

PITTSBURG, July 7.—Baseball victories are wanted pretty badly by the local management. So yesterday they told the Bostons, who are here for three games, that they would have the pleasure of submitting to some of McLaughlin's poor decisions, whereat the Bostons raised a loud and unanimous kick. It was no use; McLaughlin umpired the game and the Bostons lost.

THE PLAYGROUND order for a loan of $50,000, which has passed two readings in the City Council without a word pro and con, is likely to encounter some objection at the meeting next Monday evening. Two points are raised and they are entitled to consideration.

One is the condition of the money market which makes it impolitic to negotiate loans which might be delayed. The item of interest is an important one in the passage of this order. If negotiated at four per cent. it would be $2,000 a year but now it might be necessary to pay six per cent., $3000, or perhaps more.

The second point is, that the order is not explicit enough, that lots contemplated for playgrounds are not specified that it is contrary to precedent and is conferring too much authority upon a board of officers. When a school lot was wanted the City Council had not voted the School Committee so much money and told them to purchase a lot where they pleased. Neither did the Council authorize the Chief Engineer to purchase a lot for the central fire station or a hose lot in Ward Two. It has not transacted business that way and there is no reason for a change. We have confidence in the honorable board of Park Commissioners as at present constituted, but business is business, and this properly belongs to the City Council.

The LEDGER is not opposed to playgrounds but an exigency has arisen which requires that the order be delayed at least a few months, when it can be amended and passed.

THE STATE Board of Health has begun its investigation of a water supply for "greater Boston," and as Quincy will be either annexed to Boston or included in the metropolitan district it need not look ahead many decades for an independent water supply. Lake Winnepesaukie water may enter our houses and we can imagine we are at The Weirs or Wolfboro.

ONE WOULD think dog days were here to read the lost and found column in the LEDGER. Two canines were advertised yesterday as found and three as lost. They were celebrating Independence day.

IS BRAINTRE to have a sewerage system before the city of Quincy? The State Board of Health is ready to report on a system for that town.

TRADE DEPRESSION

Attributed to the Present Sherman Silver Law.

ITS REPEAL NOW DEMANDED

By New York's Most Influential Business Men.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Fully 100 members were present when the Chamber of Commerce meeting was called to order yesterday afternoon by Alexander E. Orr. Mr. Orr said they were all business men, and it would be better to at once proceed to the matter in hand.

John Claflin immediately arose in response to the chairman's question, "What is your pleasure?" and said that they did not need to be told that the strain the business men were suffering from was a severe one. He said that he had been told that the strain was greater than that of any panic in former years. He did not believe they were on the they were passing through one.

There had been many causes, he said, which had contributed to the present trouble. Most of them would right themselves in the natural course of business, but there was one chief cause which was not included in that category, and that was the silver purchasing clause of the Sherman law. It had caused distrust abroad and weakened us while it strengthened Europe. He did not see how any sensible man could oppose the repeal of that law and rubbing it off our statute books. Any laws that might take its place should only be enacted after wise and lengthy deliberation.

Mr. Claflin concluded by offering for adoption resolutions, calling for the immediate repeal of the purchase clause of the silver act and for the appointment of a commissioner to study the currency question and report to it at a regular session. Louis Windmuller offered the following amendment: "That a committee of seven members be appointed by the chair to co-operate with other commercial bodies representing similar interests as this chamber in Washington, with power to use all legitimate means at our disposal for the prompt repeal of the Sherman law."

SAMOAN ADVICES.

Warring Factions Uneasy—Von Pilsach's Resignation Accepted.

APIA, via San Francisco, July 7.—The war dogs on these islands have not yet been let loose, though there is constant fear that the two factions will begin open warfare.

King Malietoa has informed the counsels of the three powers that he is confident of being able to effectually subdue the rebellion without much fighting, and a council of war will be held by his party to decide upon an immediate course of action. It seems impossible that actual war can be longer postponed.

Baron Von Pilsach has departed from Samoa, his resignation having been completed by the powers and the king. The councils found the finances of the country in a deplorable condition. Drastic measures will be necessary to save Samoa from hopeless bankruptcy. The result of their labors will be set before the king in a letter he will receive from them two or three days hence.

The health of Robert Louis Stevenson, the novelist, has greatly improved.

DIED LIKE HEROES.

The Victoria's Crew Looked on Death With Unflinching Courage.

LONDON, July 7.—Major Smyth, commander of the marines aboard the warship Victoria at the time of the disaster off Tripoli, has written to the colonel in command of the marines at Gosport concerning the behavior of his men:

"The non-commissioned officers and men behaved splendidly. Words will not express all they did. They fell in by watches on the quarterdeck as steadily as on parade, without the speaking of a word of caution until the end came. It was a sight one can never forget—so grand, so sad. Their behavior may have been equalled; it was never beaten."

Vice Admiral Sir Michael Culme Seymore, who was appointed to succeed Vice Admiral Tryon in command of the Mediterranean fleet, hoisted his flag yesterday on the cruiser Hawk for Malta. He carries with him full instructions from the admiralty concerning the court martial.

Gloomy Outlook For Australia.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—News brought by the steamer Mariposa from Australia is of a discouraging tenor. The closed banks are trying to resume, and business is at a standstill. Strikes are imminent, and tens of thousands of people are out of work. A number of coal mines have shut down. The unemployed swarm along the docks, seeking a chance to stow away on any vessel bound for the United States, and the Oceanic Steamship company's shed at Circular quay had to be turned into a place for the destitute to sleep in.

Of Interest to Tennis Players.

TUXEDO PARK, N. Y., July 7.—The great championship match for the Tuxedo trophy will be played tomorrow afternoon. Clarence Hobart and Edward L. Hall, both of New York, are the contestants. Hobart, by his victory in the finals of the tournament yesterday, earned the right to challenge Hall, who has won the victory for two seasons. It is expected that O. S. Campbell and V. G. Hall will meet Hobart and Hovey in the finals of the doubles, and that a great contest will result.

Choctaw Executions Stayed.

PARIS, Tex., July 7.—Secretary Smith of the interior department wired Colonel Faison, Indian inspector at Tuskahoma, to proceed to Wilburton at once and issue an order to the Choctaw authorities not to executethe five men condemned to be shot tomorrow. Colonel Faison went at once. The Jones faction are chagrined at the turn affairs have taken.

Capt. Charles N. Ford met with an accident Thursday afternoon. He was at work in Engineer Packards pasture building a fence and stood on a limb of an old tree which gave way throwing Charles into the dock mud up to his neck. No serious results will follow his bath.

While engaged in tearing down the old building at the corner of Copeland and Cross streets Thursday, Chief Engineer Ripley fell into an old cesspool severely spraining his leg and arm. Engineer Packard furnished some of his Azxywtus liniment which is wonderful stuff and worked wonders.

City of Quincy Included.

The State Board of Health held its monthly meeting Thursday and transacted a large amount of business. The matter of the greatest public interest considered was the act authorizing and directing the board to investigate, consider and report upon the question of a water supply for the city of Boston and its suburbs within a radius of 10 miles from the State House, and for such other cities and towns as, in its opinion, should be included in connection therewith. The act appropriates $40,000 for the carrying out of its provisions.

The work was assigned to a sub-committee of the board, which has placed the practical operations in the hands of Fred P. Stearns, civil engineer, who, with a corps of assistants, will at once enter upon the subject of investigation, which includes an examination of all sources of supply with regard to quantity, purity and general availability.

Among other matters considered was a proposed system of sewerage for Braintree, and a report was prepared.

Q. Y. C. at World's Fair.

Friends of the members of the Quincy Yacht club will be pleased to know that the organization is about to be represented at the World's fair in a manner that will be appreciated.

Agreeable with the written request of Lieut. Asher C. Baker, U. S. N., Superintendent of the Marine division of the Transportation building, the secretary of the club has forwarded a 36 inch flag to the publishers of "Who Won?" the official yacht record, New York.

This firm which has a handsome yachting exhibit in the Marine division has been entrusted with the assembling and construction of a mammoth composite pennant, made up of yacht flags from every port in the United States—167 in all. The pennant will undoubtedly be the largest flag ever made. The estimated size is 36 by 54 feet.

Ceremonies of a unique character will accompany the unfurling of this great banner in July.

MILTON.

The night before the Fourth some boys or young men cut the East Milton fire alarm circuit and rung in Box 71. They then ran leaving the line open and for half an hour the circuit would have been useless in case of a fire. The police are investigating.

The Baptist Sunday School held its annual picnic last Wednesday at Downers.

Mrs. John Graham and family have gone to Milford, N. H., for the summer.

The East Milton boys kept their end up for noise the night before the Fourth.

Miss Carter of Maine is the guest of Mrs. L. C. Elden of Washington street.

During July and August there will be but one service at the Congregational church which will be in the morning and will be conducted by Mr. Carl Vrooman, a brother of the pastor.

The Congregationalists will probably hold their picnic this month at Downer Landing.

A large party of ladies and gentlemen attended the races at Readville, Tuesday, and a Milton horse carried off the honors.

Will Eaton is at home on a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. E. J. Eaton gave a handsome display of fireworks at his residence on the corner of Eaton and Washington street, July 4.

James Craig, Jr., had a narrow escape from a serious injury, July 3. He had a can of powder in his hand which exploded cutting his hand quite badly and burning him about the face. There was a pound of powder in the can and how he escaped more serious injury is hard to tell.

Principal Tuell of the High school gave a reception to his former graduates last Friday evening at Town Hall. There was an interesting entertainment in which all former classes were represented. Refreshments were served during the evening.

New Magazines.

In the June number of the Literary Northwest, published at St. Paul, there appears the first of a series of Eastern authors. It is a fine sketch of Thomas Wentworth Higginson by Mary J. Reid, who also writes the book reviews. Col. Higginson has become famous as a biographer, historian, essayist, novelist and orator, and people will be pleased to learn more of him. Many other illustrated papers make this magazine take a front rank.

Edward Everett Hale contributes to McClure's Magazine for July "An Afternoon with Oliver Wendell Holmes," which is profusely illustrated. Dorothy Q. and Dorothy Q's house in this city, now occupied by Rev. D. M. Wilson are included. It is an entertaining sketch of a life long friend with conversations and reminiscences and will be read with interest by lovers of both authors.

THE ART PRESERVATIVE

Interesting Exhibition for the World's Fair Visitor

TO BE SEEN IN MACHINERY HALL.

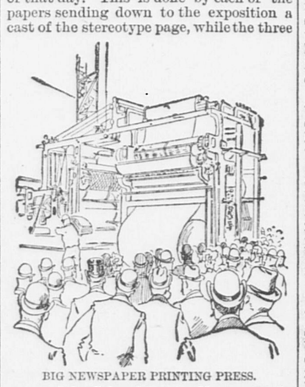

Printing Presses Which Print and Fold 48,000 Four-Page Papers Per Hour—The Daily Columbian, the Composite Paper, Printed at the Fair Grounds—An Old Time Relic—Printing Types.

Machinery is always attractive to the popular eye, but machinery that is in motion, and is performing the function which it was intended to perform, is doubly so. Therefore one need not be surprised to find in what the exposition managers call the palace of Mechanical Arts, but which in common parlance is Machinery hall, vast crowds of visitors from early morn till late at night. The people cannot be blamed for flocking hither. I risk the assertion that nowhere, at any time, did any one ever see a display of machinery equal to that to be found in this vast building, which is one of the most beautiful and impressive structures on the grounds. It is like some modernized and industrial cathedral of Milan, and the work which goes on under its roof is the highest type of the religion of utility. All the great engines and machines are interesting, but particularly so those which are set to work, those which turn out the goods and the wares just as they do in the great machine shops of the nations which sent them here.

If we take a run through the big hall looking for machinery that is at work we shall first of all, very properly, come in contact with the art preservative of all arts, the printing machines. There is something very fascinating about the array of web perfecting presses here. In all there are a dozen of them, I think, representing all leading American makers. When we say the American makers are represented that is as good as saying that the greatest presses of all the world are here; for ingenious as our friends across the sea are in many manufacturing lines, this country has always taken the lead in printing machinery, and probably always will. All the important improvements in this class of machines during the last fifty years—and in that time the art of news paper printing has been revolutionized—had their origin in this country.

One of the most perfect machines in the world is a fast printing press. It is not very large, nor yet so very complicated, considering what it does, but it performs a wonderful lot of work. The head pressman sees that the plates are properly attached to the fast-flying cylinders, that the tapes are in order and everything ready, and then he moves a lever. Behold the result. Almost without noise, without bustle or confusion, without the touch of human hands, 48,000 completed four-page papers roll out in an hour, printed, folded, perfect. It is not necessary for me to describe the process to you. It is enough to say the paper is fed from a roll which contains a sheet about two miles long, and that the stereotyped plates are attached to cylinders which have a very rapid rotary motion.

These presses are used for the actual printing of newspapers. The Daily Columbian is one of the papers printed here, and it is also one of the most curious papers of the world. It is a composite paper, being made up of three pages of matter prepared by the managers of the exposition, and is to that extent an official journal. The remaining five pages are the first pages of the five English morning papers of Chicago of that day. This is done by each of the papers sending down to the exposition a cast of the stereotype page, while the three pages of the Columbian itself are put in type in one of the newspaper offices and sent here in the same way. So that by purchasing a copy of the Daily Columbian visitors get not only the official announcements of the day, but the first pages of all the great daily morning papers of Chicago. An odd looking newspaper it makes, sure enough, and almost any day one may read the same item of news written up in five different ways and with widely differing statements of fact. Some papers contradict one day what they printed the day before, but here is a paper which often contradicts on its sixth page what it says on its seventh, and reaffirms the original statement on its eighth. The afternoon papers of Chicago, five in number, all print editions in Machinery hall, each having its own press here and supplying a large corps of newsboys who at once go out selling copies to the crowds.

The whole display is creditable to American press builders and newspapers, and visitors seem never to tire watching the magic presses turning out their thousands of papers. The press exhibit is by long odds the most thorough ever made. It embraces not only newspaper presses but presses for commercial work, and some of these are new and constructed on principles but recently discovered. One press is used all the time for turning out lithograph pictures of scenes in the exposition, and these colored prints, which are really quite artistic, find ready sale. A striking contrast with one of the fast perfecting presses is afforded by the exhibit of the first press used in New Hampshire, which stands near by. It is an old wooden contrivance, and was built by Thomas Draper in Boston in 1742. That was 150 years ago, and you couldn't expect much of a press built in those days. The old-timer is still able to turn out a fair quality of work, and a pressman stands by its side all day, inking the form on its ancient bed with a hand-roller and striking off impressions of a little circular as fast as he is able. The circular reads as follows:

> Printed on a prefs 151 years old,
> By the > Campbell Printing Prefs & Mfg. Co.
> World's Fair, Chicago, June 23, 1893.
> —o—
> Once I waf young and fpry af any of my name,
> Now I am old and flow, but I get there juft the fame.

As fast as he takes these sheets from the press he hands them out to the curious people who surround the relic of printing in the old days, and there are always about five times as many outstretched hands as there are circulars to put into them.

The people are fascinated by the printing art. To many of them it is something almost uncanny. At any rate, it is mysterious. I should judge from watching the crowds that not one person in ten on an average has ever seen a press at work, and fewer still have ever had printing types in their hands. Here are not only presses of a hundred kinds, but type-making machinery that is very curious. A little machine, no larger than a sewing machine, rattles away at a steady pace, and every rattle throws off a perfect, or nearly perfect, type. It melts the metal, casts it, and turns it over to the finishers. Girls sit at tables before glittering piles of these little jewels which rule the world and, with incredible dexterity arrange them in long lines, the printing ends upward and the nicks outward. These long lines are then taken to the expert finisher, who dresses them down in lathes and every type is examined under a microscope to see if it is perfect enough to be permitted to go to some newspaper office to print the day's intelligence for your reading and mine.

Type setting machines are a product of the past five or eight years. I remember at the Centennial exposition there was but one typesetting machine, and it was on the principle of throwing a matrix into play that should cast each letter separately. I believe that machine was not a commercial success. Now there are several successful typesetting machines. They are operated much as a typewriter is operated, by a key-board. In one each stroke of a key makes an impression in a matrix, and when a line has been finished that line is cast in type-metal and shoved out to take its proper place in the column. In another machine holes are punched in a sheet of paper and these holes make a pattern like the pattern sheet which you see in the looms, and the sheet being run through a casting machine the letters are individually cast and dropped into their proper places.

By the use of these and other successful typesetting machines one man is able to do the work which three or four were required to do under the old plan of picking up letter after letter while standing at the case. In other words, to set the type for this letter is a big day's work for one man under the old plan; under the new he could set three or four such letters, or from six to eight colums of matter. Typesetting machines are rapidly coming into use in this country and Europe, and the International Typographical union, the highest organization of compositors, encourages their use.

Next to the printing machines I think the looms attract more attention than any other process here. There is to the layman something so mysterious, so unfathomable about a loom that he stands before it as if he were in the presence of a necromancer in steel and iron. I have watched these machines by the hour, without asking any questions, determined to study out for myself the principle on which they are constructed. I know no more about it now than I did before, and shall have to acknowledge myself beaten and seek explanation the next time I go into Machinery hall. They weave figures quite as readily as straight goods, and here you may see an Administration building towel woven before your eyes, and then buy it for 75 cents and take it home as a souvenir of the exposition. Better still, you may see a silk loom weave a beautiful handkerchief, bearing within its woop and warf a picture of the building in which you stand, a portrait of Mrs. Cleveland, Mr. Harrison or of Columbus, and they will take this to another loom and embroider your name in it, and thus make you a fitting and worthy souvenir. So fine is this art of weaving figures that in one of the silk pieces here they place both the words and music of the "Star Spangled Banner," and it is almost as perfect as if it were printed from type.

Here you may see all kinds of cloth woven, and carpets and great art squares. You may see, also, the whole process of cotton spinning, from the raw cotton in bales to the cloth or thread. One of the most wonderful machines in the whole display is the apparatus which winds the finished thread upon the spools. It is a little machine, but see what it is capable of doing. It winds exactly 200 yards of thread upon each spool—no more, no less. When it has done this it cuts the little slit which you see in the rim of every spool you buy, draws the thread therein, and then cuts the thread. Now it is ready for more world's to conquer. Dropping these eight spools it feeds itself eight empty spools, puts them in place on the spindles, fills them with thread—exactly 200 yards again—and drops them. Thus it goes on for hours without the touch of human hand.

There are so many other interesting processes here that the visitor becomes almost bewildered by the multiplicity of charms. He may see paper boxes made by machinery, may see eight ribbons woven at once, may see embroidery machines, delicate and beautiful; and may see a tailor's cutter carve out pattern pieces for men's garments from thirty thicknesses of cloth at every stroke. When you come to the exposition be sure to see the printing, the weaving, the spinning and other processes in Machinery hall.

A BRUTAL SHOOTING.

An East Boston Man Meets His Death at Fort Douglass.

A PRIVATE IN THE ARMY.

The Matter to Be Placed In Congressman O'Neil's Hands.

BOSTON, July 7.—Word reached East Boston yesterday of the brutal shooting of Joseph W. Leonard at Salt Lake City, on June 12, by the guard at Fort Douglass, a military port just outside the city. Leonard was very well known on the island, having been brought up there and attending the Emerson school. His father, a widower, resides at 64 Gove street, and when seen by a reporter last evening told the following interesting story about the tragedy.

He first was made aware of his son's death when a telegram was received from the coroner at Salt Lake City, shortly followed by a newspaper containing an account of the shooting.

It seems that Leonard was about Fort Douglass on June 12 with a horse and buggy. He was driving at a reckless pace and was by the officer in charge. Not complying with the command Lieutenant B. B. Buck ordered Sergeant Frederick Linzie and a squad to capture the man.

Leonard did not obey the command to halt, and the sergeant and Private Sheffield took aim and fired. A bullet struck Leonard, penetrating his lungs. He was taken to the hospital, and after two days of suffering expired. Public indignation was aroused over the shooting, as it is claimed that Lieutenant Buck, who gave the order to capture Leonard, was mentally unbalanced and unfit for his position.

No statement could be obtained from Leonard as to his home or relatives, so his comrades gave him a soldier's funeral and interred his body near the fort. After death papers were found which gave the authorities cause to believe that his people lived in Boston, and after several attempts a message reached the death man's father at East Boston. Copies of Salt Lake City papers were received yesterday containing a full account of the Sitting of the Coroner's Jury.

In its verdict it finds that death resulted from a gunshot wound inflicted by the hands of either Sergeant Frederick Linzie, company 7, 16th infantry, or Private Sheffield of the same company and regiment.

Mr. Leonard stated last evening that his son joined the army about 10 years ago at Boston and that he was 30 years of age. He is disposed to investigate the facts of the shooting and will place the case in the hands of Congressman O'Neil.

The Result of His Own Carelessness.

BOSTON, July 7.—By a piece of carelessness on his own part, Motorman John Keniston was yesterday morning dragged beneath the wheels of his car, fearfully mangled, and will probably die. He worked on a Highland avenue car. Yesterday morning it was standing near the Central club, Somerville, when the motorman got down under the car to fix the cable chain. He had neglected to shut off the power, and the car suddenly started. The unfortunate man was dragged some 50 or 60 feet before the conductor could get the car stopped.

Earthquake Shocks In Blackstone Valley.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 7.—A slight shock of earthquake was felt during the storm of Wednesday night throughout the towns in the Blackstone valley, south of this city, including Millbury, Whitingsville and Uxbridge. Earth tremors were also experienced in Oxford and Webster.

Well-Known Thief In Custody.

BOSTON, July 7.—Herbert E. Knights, a much-wanted thief, was caught in an Eliot street pawnshop yesterday trying to dispose of a large quantity of jewelry. When taken to the station there were found in his possession seven watches, 16 rings and two charms. Cambridge, Brookline, Waltham and Manchester (N. H.) officers also have warrants for his arrest.

Tried to Cut Her Throat.

BOSTON, July 7.—Mary A. Rourke, 26 years of age, made a deliberate attempt to end her life yesterday afternoon by cutting her throat with a large table knife at her home, 104 Prince street, North End, and succeeded in making a serious wound four inches long in her throat.

A Boy's Serious Mishap.

BOSTON, July 7.—Eight-year-old William Murphy, whose home is at 455 Dorchester avenue, was playing in an ice shed near his home yesterday afternoon, when he fell to the ground and his head struck the wheel of an ice wagon, causing concussion of the brain.

Sudden Death of a Professor of Hebrew.

LEWISTON, Me., July 7.—Thomas Hill Rich, professor of Hebrew in Cobb's divinity school, died on the horsecar last night. He was formerly a professor in Bangor Theological seminary and was a man of great scholarly attainments.

His Injuries Proved Fatal.

LAWRENCE, Mass., July 7. — William Murich, a native of Germany, aged 58 years, died at the General hospital yesterday as a result of a burning accident caused by the overturning of a lamp on June 14. He leaves a widow.

Boston Postoffice Change.

BOSTON, July 7.—Postmaster Coveney yesterday appointed William B. Coppens a clerk in the parcel distributing department, vice George C. Davis, who was removed last week for removing stamps from mail matter.

Injuries Resulted Fatally.

BOSTON, July 7.—James Ware, whose skull was fractured by a kick from a horse in a stable on Northampton street Wednesday night, died at the city hospital yesterday from the effects of his injuries.

Passing Raised Bills.

BOSTON, July 7.—Edward T. Mallory was before United States Commissioner Fiske yesterday charged with passing a $2 bill raised to a $5, and was held in $500 for further examination Saturday.

Death of a Retired Merchant.

NAHANT, Mass., July 7.—Abbott Lawrence, a retired merchant of Boston, died last night at his residence here after an illness of several months, aged 64 years.

CROP PROSPECTS.

Rain Much Needed In New England—A Generally Backward Season.

BOSTON, July 7.—The need of rain in all sections of New England, especially in eastern Maine and northern Vermont and New Hampshire, is noted in the report of the New England weather service for the past week. In some New Hampshire sections a large share of grass will not be more than half a crop, and farmers are selling off all the stock they can dispose of, because hay will be short next winter. In one locality grain is quite low and at present does not promise very good; the hay harvest is over a week late, and not over 80 per cent of an average crop can be cut. Hay will be 25 to 40 per cent less than last year on many western farms in Maine. Some crops in Massachusetts are behind.

Strawberry picking is at its height in southern parts of New England and peas are being gathered. The fruits are progressing finely, with the exception of cherries, which are falling from the trees in large numbers. Berries and currants are generally abundant. Corn is still backward. Potato bugs are about as numerous as ever; but the rose bugs are beginning to depart. Cut worms are doing considerable damage in many places, and fire and span worms are still working the cranberry bogs on the Cape.

Frank O. Taylor's body was found in the Lynn (Mass.) woods near Dungeon rock.

S. S. Houghton of the firm of Houghton & Dutton, Boston dry goods dealers, died yesterday.

There is a great plethora of toads on the island of Cuttyhunk, Mass., and the outermost land of the Elizabeth group.

Nicholas Murphy, who fell from the chimney at the Salem (Mass.) power station, died at the hospital of his injuries.

Joseph Sears, employed in J. B. Palmer's granite quarry at Biddeford, Me., was fatally injured by a falling derrick. He leaves a family.

While Paul Mauran was eating supper at Pawtucket, R. I., a piece of steak lodged in his larynx. Before assistance could be given he choked to death.

A Russian Finn named "Fred," one of the crew of the three-masted schooner Harold C. Beecher, Captain Greenwin, which arrived at New Haven from Brunswick, Ga., was taken to the pest house, as was suffering with malignant smallpox.

Parties have been organized in Edgartown, Mass., to search for George J. Baylies, who disappeared from his residence in that town 10 days ago. It is thought that Mr. Baylies had committed suicide near the Beetle House in that section of the island.

James H. Guilfoyle of Salem, Mass., is not dead. Six months ago his obituary was published in several papers. Wednesday he returned to Salem, after being away 18 months. He says he has been at work in another city, and could not account for the elaborate obituary notice given him.

CHRISTIANS IN SESSION.

Twelfth Annual Meeting Opened In Montreal—San Francisco the Next Place.

MONTREAL, July 7.—The twelfth annual Christian Endeavor convention got down to business yesterday. At 10 o'clock they were welcomed to the city by representatives of Montreal's religious life. On the platform were representative clergymen of all the leading cities of the continent. For a quarter of an hour the vast multitude sang gospel hymns with dash and spirit, and then Rev. Dr. Clark, the father of the movement, arose and led the audience in repeating the 23d Psalm, after which Rev. F. B. Keene of the Protestant mission, Japan, offered up prayer.

Then the Rev. J. A. Macgillivary welcomed the convention on behalf of the pastors of Montreal. After him came Senator des Jardins, the mayor of Montreal. The choir sang "God Save the Queen," the audience joining in and waving their handkerchiefs and American and British flags. As they finished President Clark shouted "My Country T'is of Thee," and again there was another great outburst of applause. Secretary Budge of the Montreal Y. M. C. A. welcomed the delegates on behalf of the young men of the city. The third address of welcome came from A. A. Ayer of Montreal, chairman of the 1893 committee. San Francisco has secured the Christian Endeavor convention for 1895.

WILL PRESERVE ORDER.

New York's Superintendent of Police Not to Interfere With Anarchists.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Superintendent Byrnes contradicted a report that he intended to prevent a meeting of anarchists in the Windsor theater this evening. He said: "I understand that such a meeting has been intended by certain persons to express satisfaction with the action of Governor Altgeld of Illinois in pardoning the Chicago anarchists. These people have a right under the law to assemble peacefully and express their views.

"Some of the leaders are known to the police as disturbers of law and order, and it may be well for them to be careful. So long as they violate no law the police will protect them. I shall have policemen at the meeting to protect those assembled as well as to see that the peace is not disturbed. The scenes of disorder which have been enacted in Paris for the past week will not be repeated in New York."

CROOKED TRANSACTION.

An Ex-Cashier of a Denver Bank Charged With Stealing.

DENVER, July 7.—Elmer E. Williams, secretary of the state bureau of information, has been arrested, charged with having in his possession $31,000 of the funds of the Chaffee County bank, which recently failed. The bank gave up business under very peculiar circumstances. Immediately after the closing of its doors an investigation was made, and it was found that the bank's liabilities amounted to about $61,000 and its immediately available assets to about $800. William F. Robertson, the cashier of the failed bank, was immediately placed under arrest. Williams, who was formerly cashier of the failed bank, was in Salida just previous to the failure. He is a strong personal friend of Robertson, and the two are charged with having made away with the funds of the institution.

MOBS AND MILITARY

Still Engaged In Fighting In Streets of Paris.

MANY RIOTERS WOUNDED.

Belief That Still More Serious Trouble Is to Follow.

PARIS, July 8.—Last evening opened with the police apprehensive of riots in many parts of the Latin quarters. There traffic was stopped in the principal streets. Every open space had been occupied by mounted police and all the side streets were patrolled.

The street speakers were compelled to move on whenever they tried to call a crowd. Most of the agitators, therefore, retired to the cafes, where they denounced the police and exhorted their hearers to clear the streets of military.

Round the Place de la Republique the signs of trouble were especially numerous. All the cafes in the Boulevard du Temple and the Boulevard Voltaire were filled at 8 o'clock with workingmen and rowdies who were expected shortly to follow the chief agitators into the streets and begin the attack on police and military.

Shortly before 9 o'clock the cafes were empty and the mobs were again in the streets. In the boulevard Voltaire and the Boulevard du Temple the rioters were armed with clubs and a few revolvers. They marched, cheering and singing, toward the Place de la Republique. At the corner of the Rue d'Angouleme the rioters in the Boulevard Voltaire were met by a body of dragoons and lancers. They were ordered back, but pressed ahead. The military charged, but, although many rioters were knocked down and trampled

The Mob Did Not Yield.

The soldiers were received with stones and scattering shots. Several were struck by clubs. The charge was repeated, and the mob began retreating slowly. There was no scattering or sign of panic. The men backed off step by step, those in front wielding their clubs. After six charges the military had forced the mob back to the Boulevard Richard Lenoir, where the fighting was suspended.

Thirty or 40 rioters are known to have been seriously wounded. Many others received slight injuries. Two lancers are said to have been wounded by revolver shots. Throughout the evening the police treated most brutally the Paris reporters who were sent out to describe the riots. Several newspaper men were assaulted and beaten by the police. All of them have been subjected to as many indignities as the police found opportunity to inflict on them.

The fighting between rioters and military at the Place de la Republique and in the nearby streets continued until 1 o'clock this morning. The feeling of the workmen against the students who refuse to participate in the riots is very bitter. M. Carreare, chairman of the students' committee, which sent out the proclamation against the rioters, was attacked on his way home last night by two rowdies and three laborers. They stabbed him, beat him and Left Him For Dead.

Although severely wounded he probably will recover.

The municipal council held a stormy meeting last evening. M. Humbert, president, made a bitter speech against the government's action in closing the labor exchange. The cabinet, he said, was trying to strengthen itself by pandering to the reactionaries. It had not scrupled to trample on the liberties of the people for the sake of gaining a slight advantage. The law of 1884, compelling trades unions to register, was an arbitrary and unjust measure, and the workingmen were right when they resisted its execution.

Much uneasiness has been caused by the announcement that on Tuesday the anarchists will celebrate the anniversary of Ravachol's execution.

A Sensible Engineer.

LITTLE ROCK, July 8.—An attempt was made to hold up the Little Rock express on the Kansas and Arkansas railroad at Hansen, a flag station. The train was flagged. The engineer answered the signal with his whistle and slackened speed, but when he saw the nine masked men heavy armed he pulled the throttle wide open, laid down by the boiler, and the train pulled out at the rate of 60 miles an hour.

Big Haul by Burglars.

PATCHOGUE, L. I., July 8.—The real estate office of M. C. Wiggins was entered, the safe was broken in and robbed of between $8000 and $10,000 in checks, bonds, deeds, stock and cash. Most of the securities had been stored with Wiggins for safe keeping, and it is said that he will have to make all the losses good.

Awful Loss of Life at Sea.

MANILA, July 8.—The Spanish steamer Don Juan, before reported afire and abandoned at sea, has been towed to Manila. One hundred and forty-five Chinese passengers were lost.

ATTACK ON CATHOLICS

Leads a Crowd of Toughs to Stone Endeavorers at Montreal.

MONTREAL, July 8.—There were five prayer meetings in five churches yesterday, conducted on behalf of the visiting Christian Endeavor delegates. Rev. A. J. Rondthaler of Indianapolis also conducted a free parliament on "The Committee Work" and E. A. Hardie of Lindsay spoke on "Committee Work."

Rev. Sumantrae Vishnu Karmarkar of Bombay was the principal speaker in the tent. La Press, a French newspaper, declared that Mr. Karmarkar's speech was a deliberate insult to the French people.

A number of delegates who were crowded out of the tent last night held an open air overflow meeting near by on the Champ de Mars. A crowd of toughs that surrounded the square flung some stones at the speakers, and several Endeavorers were struck about their heads and shoulders with the missiles. The special reserve of police were called from headquarters and the stone-throwers sneaked off. This hostile manifestation is attributed to the speech of Rev. Mr. Karmarkar, when he made an attack on Roman Catholicism. It is estimated that there are about 13,000 Christian Endeavor delegates here.

Salvationists Jailed.

BALLSTON, N. Y., July 8.—Four members of the Salvation Army were committed to the county jail here from Saratoga Springs for trial. They are charged with violating the village ordinance by parading quiet streets with musical instruments without permission.

A Discouraging Outlook.

GERMS OF CHOLERA

Must Be Taken Into the Stomach to Have Effect.

THE DISEASE PREVENTABLE

Interesting Report of a Scientific Investigation.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Dr. Walter Kempster, who for six months past has been traveling abroad as the accredited agent of the United States government for the study of cholera and its preventions, is approaching the completion of his important report. His mission was mainly to study the means of preventing the disease; the investigation of its medical aspect was only a secondary point. Speaking generally of the results of his investigation, Dr. Kempster says:

"The prevention of cholera is not a theory, but an absolute scientific certainty. To find out what the European powers are doing was one of my purposes. Another and most important object was to investigate the commerce by which cholera germs might be imported to this country, to find out so far as possible whence and how they might be brought and what precautions

Would Best Prevent Their Coming.

"Many seaport towns were visited for this purpose. I travelled over a large part of Europe, went into Egypt and Turkey, and visited the Ionian islands. The superior system of the European powers for dealing with the matter is apparent. Appropriations which would be considered here very liberal, are made to the schools and scientists who are best qualified to carry on the work.

"The home of the cholera, as everybody knows, is in India. Every seventh year, when the Mahomedans indulge in their pilgrimage to Mecca, a wave of cholera is started abroad, which reaches over an important part of the world. If Great Britain would restrain the pilgrims from coming across the Suez canal to Mecca there would be of a cholera invasion of Europe. But her interests oppose such a solution of the problem. Her supremacy in India is assured only so long as she humors the religious customs of the natives."

Dr. Kempster holds that it is possible to keep the cholera from a city when the surroundings are tainted, or to keep it from any house in an infected city. But the expense is great, and the trouble exceeds the expense. An illustration of this, he told, was a house in Hamburg, which was barred from the outside world

During the Plague.

All provisions were taken in on a hooked pole, the food cooked at once and the wrappings burned. All inmates of the house escaped safely, although men were dropping down and dying in the streets outside. By proper precautions, every physician in the hospital escaped the disease.

"Cholera must be eaten," remarked the doctor, putting it epigrammatically. "It cannot be absorbed or breathed. The germs must be taken into the stomach. If people realize this and govern themselves accordingly, they can escape, in case the germs should reach this country."

At Least Six Lives Lost.

ST. PAUL, July 6.—The steamer Bethel, used as a lodging house for 200 poor people, was burned to the water's edge here last night. Six lives at least were lost, and several persons are missing.

IT COSTS more to run large towns than small cities if we may judge by the tax rate of Athol. It was $19 last year and will be $20.70 this year.—Ledger.

That depends on whether you have a high or low valuation. In this city the rate is about the same as it was under the old town form of government, but the valuation has been increased nearly 66 per cent.—Advertiser.

Would it be justice to continue the old valuation when the property is daily becoming more valuable? It is on the vacant land held for a rise that the valuation has been largely increased, and now it is not over half of the actual selling price. Few small estates are taxed over 75 per cent. of their value, as auction sales the past year have proven. Something of the value of land was recently shown in the attempt to purchase a High school lot and lot for Central fire station.

The tax rate of Quincy is "about the same," is it! It was $16.70 in the last year of the town government and has not exceeded $16 as a city and reached that figure but once. The average rate of the four city years is but $13.50; while it was $15 37 1-2 for the last four years of the town goverument. If a low valuation is wanted, the improvements must stop and then everybody's property will depreciate. Is there any question which is better—improvements and progress, or retrenchment and depreciation. Weymouth this year reduced its tax rate 20 cents by raising but $105,100 for town expenses, yet its tax rate is $17.20 and property will not sell for any more than ten years ago. The population of Weymouth was larger than Quincy in 1880. Now, thirteen years later, Quincy has twice the population, over 2½ times the valuation, and a much lower tax rate.

A GREAT MANY are interested in the abolishment of the Water street grade crossing, and the hearing to be given by the City Council at eight o'clock next Monday evening should be largely attended. Our prominent citizens should be heard, and thus show that a separation of grades is desirable. Water street is much travelled by heavy teams, which find it an easy down grade from the quarries to tide water at Quincy Point and elsewhere. The teamsters can reasonably demand a street under the railroad. If it was not for School street near by, which crosses by an overhead bridge, this might be accomplished. Whether School street and the railroad could easily exchange places, we don't know, but if it could a great improvement could be made by raising the Granite street bridge. The railroad on a high embankment through the city would be somewhat unsightly, but it is just what is being done on the Providence division in Boston, and the stations are to be replaced with five pretty new ones. It might hasten the new depots for Quincy.

"THE GREENLEAF" is a new sign placed on the old Robertson House this afternoon. As the hotel has been thoroughly remodelled it would not have been a complete job without a new name. Greenleaf is an honored Quincy name and sounds well.

THE SULLIVANS and the Murphys have pushed the Browns into third place in point of number, in the city of Boston but the numerous Smith family are still well in the lead.

Funeral of Joseph Adams.

The funeral of Mr. Joseph Adams, who died Tuesday July 4, was held from his late residence yesterday afternoon and was attended by a large number of his former business friends. The remains were encased in a rosewood casket covered with hemlock bark. On the top of the casket was part of a calf skin, upon which was a slicken handle in which the name plate was set.

The services were simple and consisted of an address by Hon. Charles H. Porter, poems read by Miss Alice White, and singing by a quartette composed of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Packard, Mrs. Henry Tirrell and Mr. C. H. Porter Jr. There was a profusion of flowers. The interment was at Milton.

TODAY'S COURT.

Angus L. Tirrell of Randolph was arraigned for keeping a common nuisance. Case continued until July 10.

Abraham H. Aitschall was fined $7 for peddling without a license at Milton.

Holbrook will build a new school-house to replace the Lincoln building.

With the Mercury

almost sizzling, you think of ice chests and refrigerators. The old reliable "Eddy"—Prices whittled almost to the vanishing point. 20 per cent. discount from the manufacturers' list. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

CITY CHIT CHAT.

Items of Interest from All Parts of Quincy.

Club race of the Quincy Yacht Club this afternoon at 3.30.

The telegraph office at the Quincy depot has been connected by telephone.

The Atlantic band gave an excellent open air concert last evening at Atlantic.

The water hearings will be resumed at the old court house, Boston, next Monday.

Messrs. Geo. A. and Wm. F. Sidelinger have gone to Maine for a week's fishing and gunning.

Miss Polson and Miss Edna Polson of Wollaston are at Camp Wollaston, Lake Winnipesaukee, N. H.

The visitors to the new central fire station are many, and one and all agree that no better station exists.

Mrs. W. E. Simmons and family of Wollaston, are at their summer cottage at South Pond, Plymouth.

Work on the fire alarm circuit to Houghs Neck is being pushed forward and Monday night will probably see it completed.

Miss Helen and Lizzie Brenan and Miss Mabel Collins of South Quincy have gone to Old Orchard beach for a few days.

A live boy can make from fifty cents to a $1 or more per week by selling DAILY LEDGERS two or three hours per day. Boy wanted.

According to the new order of things freight charges must be paid on the N. Y., N. H. & H. R.R., before goods are delivered.

Rev. W. Sherman Thompson delivered the Fourth of July address at West Barnstable, Tuesday, before an immense gathering of people.

The schooner Hattie Lewis from Calais Maine, for Quincy ladened with lumber was towed into Booth Bay Harbor yesterday full of water.

Master George Batchelder of Wollaston, who was so badly hurt on the Fourth by the accidental discharge of a cannon, is slowly recovering.

Word has been received from Miss Mae McPhail from San Francisco that she may soon be expected home, as she is coming overland, having had enough of sailing for the present.

Mr. J. P. Hooton of Auckland, New Zealand, and Rev. Thos. Spurgeon of London, England, son of the late Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, made a call on Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Starbuck, at the Neck on Friday.

The Quincy Cycle Club will take its first run Sunday. The members will leave the old town pump at 8.30 o'clock Sunday morning and go to Brockton, Whitman and Nantasket. The members will appear out in their new uniforms.

A very fine monument has been erected in the North Weymouth cemetery to the memory of the late Alpheus Bates of East Weymouth. The shaft is of polished Quincy granite and is surmounted with a draped urn. This fine piece of work is from the establishment of McGrath Bros, Quincy.—Weymouth Gazette.

BRAINTREE.

Mr. Nathaniel F. Hunt has returned from a three weeks' excursion out west accompanied by his wife. Mr. Hunt enjoyed the trip immensely and is full of praise of everything he saw, including, of course, the World's Fair. He gives such a glowing description of the World's exhibition, that any one who listens to it, cannot fail in wishing they had the "wings of a dove" that they might fly thither and see what is to be seen there. One building covers thirty acres. Why just think of it!

On Wednesday afternoon John Bowditch of Middle street died, after a severe and long protracted illness. The exact nature of the disease proved somewhat difficult to determine by the family physician, Dr. N. Torrey, and others. The trouble was all internally and difficult to reach.

The triangle flower bed at South Braintree railroad station has been put in fine shape. It looks beautiful.

Saturday 477 pieces of baggage were handled at the Braintree station. The bulk of it was in transit over the South Shore.

The four pairs of gates for the four grade crossings in East Braintree, on the South Shore, have arrived and will be put in place forthwith.

Mr. G. Dallis Willis and family of South Braintree are going to Chicago, and upon their return will spend the rest of the season at Bar Harbor.

The Columbian Rubber Company, East Braintree, after having been shut down for two weeks, starts again on Monday with renewed vigor. This is good news!

A great many influential citizens of the town think that the school committee has made a great mistake in the removal of Mr. Charles E. Stetson from the principalship of the High School.

Monday the selectmen appointed the following special police: John H. McAndrew, F. Alton Oliver, Joshua F. Winslow, Charles G. Anderson and H. Willie Simonds.

The resignation of Rev. Mr. Huckel, as pastor of the Union church, creates a vacancy in the School Board which will have to be filled by the joint action of the Board of Selectmen and School Committee. The question is who shall fill it?

The Sunday School connected with the First Parish will have their annual excursion and picnic on Tuesday to the Ponkapog, a beautiful sheet of fresh water, partly in the towns of Canton and Randolph. Barges will start from the Church in the morning. If the weather is favorable a large number will doubtless go.

Saturday night the electric current for use in private dwelling houses, stores, etc., was let on. The fittings by electrician Dow proved the most satisfactory of any put in by any other party. Cheapness is is not the cheapest always, so in this case. The handsome new store of C. H. Hobart in South Braintree look brilliant and pretty. It seems that the "new light" is not popular in East Braintree; very few have made any effort or preparations for it.

Last week the Jenkins Manufacturing company, East Braintree, drew their pond dry for the purpose of putting in a new flume and laying of a new plank bridge. The stench from the pond while empty was strong but it's all right now.

THE IOWA CYCLONE.

Ghastly Scenes at the Once Prosperous Prairie Town of Pomeroy.

POMEROY, Ia., July 8.—Fifty-three dead, 75 fatally injured and 150 with broken limbs, cuts and bruises more or less severe. This is what the tornado accomplished in the matter of casualties. The town of Pomeroy is one of complete wreck. There is scarcely a house left standing. About 15 acres of debris constitute now what was a thriving village. Two hundred and fifty houses were in all destroyed, and the money loss on these and their contents is placed at $200,000.

What is called the postoffice building, but which has recently been used as a billiard room, was turned into a morgue, and hospitals were established in the remaining buildings, the biggest one being the Pomeroy hotel. The scene in the improvised morgue was a ghastly one. Billiard tables were turned into slabs, and on these the mangled remains of the dead were placed. The floor was badly sunken in the middle, and here the blood, as it dripped from the tables, ran in small streams, and with the assistance of the water from the rapidly melting ice, formlog a puddle of gore up to the tops of the attendants' shoes.

John Quincy Adams President.

The annual meeting of the Chicago Junction Railway and Union Stock Yards Company was held in Jersey City, Thursday. The following directors were elected:

Chauncey M. Depew, Frederick H. Winsten, Albert H. Veeder, John Quincy Adams, Edward J. Phelps, William J. Sewell, Frederick H. Prince, Edward J. Martyn, Martin L. Sykes and George Peabody Gardner.

At a subsequent meeting John Quincy Adams of Quincy, Mass., was elected president.

The annual report said that the affairs of the company were in a satisfactory condition.

—The tax rate of Milford is $17 per $1,000, and that of Grafton $15.

Notice of Dissolution.

NOTICE is hereby given that the partnership lately existing between us, the undersigned Ernest Bizzozero, Battista Monti and Charles L. Calderara, carrying on business as wholesale and retail dealers in rough, hammered and cut stone at Quincy, under the style of firm of Bizzozero & Company, was on this eighth day of July, A. D. 1893, dissolved by mutual consent, and the business in future will be carried on by the said Ernest Bizzozero and Battista Monti, under the firm name and style of E. Bizzozero & Co., who will pay and discharge all debts and liabilities, and receive all moneys payable to the said late firm.

THE DAILY LEDGER is for sale at Post Office, Manet Lunch Room, by Henry W. French and by Newsboys. Mr. French is the authorized local agent of the paper. Items of news solicited from everybody.

A very large number of people from Weymouth, Quincy and Brockton, visited the beach yesterday. It was an unexpected pleasure to see so many strange faces.

Another old hull is stranded on Nut Island.

Mrs. A. F. Small and family are at the Sunset cottage on Bird street.

The public telephone located at Taber's Pavillion is in constant use. It seems pleasant to have Houghs Neck in direct communication with the civilized world.

The cars are now making "straight" half hourly trips.

A large party of people from Brockton visited the Brockton cafe yesterday. They came in the barge Twilight and staid all day. They enjoyed themselves to the best of their ability and went home thoroughly satisfied with Manet beach and Mrs. Connors in particular. It was a family reunion.

A large number of people gathered at Mears' hotel to do honor to the 83d anniversary of Mr. Mears' birth. The people collected from all parts of the State. Sailing and other beach amusements were enjoyed. The party spent a delightful day and hope to come next summer.

In the gathering were six of his children, seven grandchildren and one great grandchild. The children gave Mr. Mears a large birth-day cake on which were the years 1810 and 1893. Mr. Mears is one of the pioneers of Houghs Neck and is known far and wide.

The Popularity Contest.

Mr. Dunham has doubled his lead today in the popularity contest for the $100 seashore lot. Others gain and the usual number of new candidates appear. Although 200 MANET BEACH LEDGERS are printed per day, or a total of 1000 up to date, but 92 coupons have been cast. There are now 24 candidates in the field and the standing today is:

Arthur H. Dunham, Houghs Neck	105
John Cavanagh, Braintree	45
Mrs. Hattie Connors, Brockton cafe	40
J. D. Taber, Houghs Neck	30

JUDGE BLATCHFORD DEAD.

Brief Sketch of the Life of the Supreme Court Justice.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 8.—Associate Justice Samuel Blatchford passed quietly and peacefully from earth at 7:20 last evening. He retained consciousness until an hour or two before his death. There was no sudden change in his condition, simply the gradual slipping away which has been taking place for the last week.

Samuel Blatchford was born in New York city March 9, 1820. He was the son of Richard M. Blatchford, a distinguished lawyer. He was graduated from Columbia college in 1837. In 1839 he became private secretary of Governor Seward and held the position until admitted to the bar in 1842. He began the practise of law in New York city, but removed three years later to Auburn, where he became the law partner of Governor Seward.

In 1853 Justice Blatchford began the publication of the decisions of the United States circuit court. Two years later he returned to New York, where he practised law. In 1867 President Johnson made him United States district judge for the southern district of New York, in which position he served with distinguished success. In 1878 President Hayes appointed him circuit judge for the second judicial court, and in 1882 he was promoted to be associate justice of the United States supreme court by President Arthur.

Justice Blatchford was regarded as the highest authority in the United States upon questions arising in admiralty law. Many of the most important decisions in admiralty cases rendered by the United States supreme court in the last 20 years were written by him. Although he passed the age of retirement in 1890, he was so vigorous that he refused to surrender his life work.

CARAVELS AT CHICAGO.

Big Crowd Turns Out to Greet the Spanish Navigators.

CHICAGO, July 8.—The arrival of the Spanish caravels at Jackson park was a source of great interest to the visitors and was the cause of attracting an unusually large attendance at the fair. When the vessels appeared in sight the news flashed along the beach instantly, and, following the exultant cheering, came the din of a multitude of steam whistles.

Captain Concas and his officers on the Santa Maria were brought in steam launches to the landing in the great basin on the north side of the agricultural building. As they passed under the peristyle the South Sea Islanders gave their war songs, at the same time driving their canoes over the water at full speed.

The Vancouver island Indians, in their salmon fishing dugouts, met the Spaniards in their characteristic manner; the Esquimaux ranged alongside the launches in their slim kyacks, and every bell and steam whistle in the grounds clamored. Drawn up in a line on the terrace back of the boat landing was the escort accompanying the Spaniards to the plaza between the Administration building and the terminal station.

Director General Davis received Captain Concas and his men and presented them to the public amid wild cheering. Senator John Sherman then delivered an address of welcome. Captain Concas responded briefly, and Secretary of the Navy Herbert and others made brief addresses.

A SUSPICIOUS LETTER

Which May Eventually Throw Light on the Borden Murders.

ALBANY, July 8.—On Wednesday night Dr. G. H. Lloyd, a dentist of Rome, N. Y., found a letter addressed to Lawrence Carpenter, Albany. It had been forwarded from Albany to Rome, and was postmarked at Fall River, Mass., June 22. The letter inclosed bore the same date. It was in substance as follows:

MY DEAR HUSBAND—Lizzie has been acquitted, and I don't think they can do anything with you now. I want you to come home to spend the Fourth. The papers give a description of the man seen over the fence on the morning of the murder. Can you prove where you were on the morning of the murder? ANNIE.

The name of Lawrence Carpenter does not appear in the Albany directory. It is probable that he was here only for a brief time.

HAGERMAN'S PLEA.

Condition of the Silver Interests May Lead to Serious Complications.

LEADVILLE, Colo., July 8.—J. J. Hagerman, owner of the Mollie Gibson mine at Aspen, has sent the following telegram to Fred D. Tappan, president of the Gallatin National bank, New York:

The refusal of the government to purchase silver at times heretofore considered certain is vastly aggravating the distress in this state. Nearly all of the mines are closed, and thousands of men are thrown out of employment. They cannot be paid because the smelters cannot pay for ore, having no market for silver, and it would be greatly relieved by purchases made as usual. The feeling among all classes of people is intense and angry and likely to lead to great excess. If you have any influence with Secretary Carlisle I beg you to endeavor to get him to order a prompt resumption of purchases.

Sheriff Got the Worst of It.

GARDNER, Mass., July 8.—Deputy Sheriff Turner of this place was taking a man from Hubbardston to the asylum at Worcester, by train, and two miles east of Hubbardston the crazy man jumped from the train while it was under full headway. Turner followed, and broke his right leg at the knee, cut a great gash in the left side of his head and was generally bruised. The crazy man got up and ran into the woods, uninjured, and Turner was removed to his home here. The crazy man has not been caught.

Salvationists Arrested.

BALLSTON, N. Y., July 8.—Captain Joseph Garaped, Ruby Butts, Mattie Gayner and Annie Rugglie, members of the Salvation Army, were committed to jail here from Saratoga Springs upon the order of Police Justice Swart of that village for trial Tuesday. They are charged with violating the village ordinance by parading quiet streets with musical instruments without permission.

Forger Skips Boston.

BOSTON, July 8.—Orson O. Bowen of the firm of Bowen & Morrell, 258 Washington street, has joined the long list of missing Boston men. He skipped, and it is a question whether he has not made away with himself as well. He is known to be a forger.

Ten Lives Probably Lost.

NEW YORK, July 8.—The crew of the yacht Juanita, while cruising in Gravesend bay, ran afoul of a cabin sloop yacht, 30 feet long, floating bottom up. Two fishermen say they saw the boat on July 4, having on board about 10 people.

Failed For $200,000.

NEWARK, N. J., July 8.—Patrick Reilly & Son, leather dealers, have assigned Liabilities, $200,000.

THE BAKER AND UNDERTAKER.

Within a block of houses, our town's pride,
That fronts upon a growing business street
Are stores well fitted up, ornate and neat,
With signs outside desiring buyers to guide.

One store was filled and honored by a baker
With a fine show of cake and bread baked brown,
Next door to him, the fanciest front in town,
Was the fine outfit of an undertaker.

For want of trade and seeking better clover,
They moved their business both to other quarters
For the convenience of sons and daughters,
People who eat or those whose eating is over.

On being questioned why they moved away,
The baker said, "Few persons now lived there."
The undertaker said, with looks of care,
"That not a death had he in many a day."

SARY AND TOBE.

For weeks there had been no serious trouble in my school on Raccoon mountain. The rule against the use of tobacco was no longer resisted. The married people were learning well; so, too, were the "grass widowers and widows." The little ones were more lovable every day. One morning, however, our peace was disturbed by the news of a fight on the way home from school the evening before. A dozen or more were implicated.

By noon I had a very correct account of the affair. That afternoon I requested the guilty ones to remain after school.

Little groups of two, three or four stood around and discussed matters in awestruck whispers. I heard one or two little girls say:

"The teacher tol Henry to stay. Did you know she did?"

"La, no, did she? D'reckin Henry'll git a whoopin? Wouldn' that be awful fer a big boy lack Henry (he was 24 years old) to be whooped? She can't whoop Henry. He's bigger'n she is."

When school was dismissed, half a dozen children in my room kept their seats. As the line came down stairs some four or five dropped out of it and took seats in the rear of my room. I motioned them front and went out to see the rest off.

Some went lingeringly, glancing back through the window to where the culprits sat.

When I came into the room, a funereal gloom seemed to have settled on the little group. I could imagine that it had just settled there, for I was confident that before my entrance sundry winks and smiles had been exchanged.

Sary Camp and Tobe Mullins were the principals; the others were simply accessories.

Sary was a thin, pug nosed girl, who looked old enough to have had years of experience. Tobe was a freckle faced, cross eyed boy, perhaps two years older than Sary.

"We'll hear from Tobe and Sarah first. I am sure Tobe will be gallant enough to allow Sarah to speak first. Besides, if she does, he will have the last word."

"I don' cyur," said Tobe. "But if I git the lais' word hit'll be the first time Sary ever lemme have hit." And one of his cross eyes winked slyly at the other as a titter went through the room.

"Go on, Sarah. Tell all about this trouble you and Tobe had on your way home from school."

"Well, I'll jist tell you heow hit wuz. As a passel uv us wuz gwine home yisterday evenin we stopped jist t'other side uv Mr. Milligin's on that rocky hill to rest. We all set deown, an we wuz all a-settin talkin, an me an Tobe Mullins wuz a little peace off from the balance uv um, an (here Sary blushed) Tobe he tried to kiss me. I don't let no boy kiss me (swelling with conscious virtue), an I jist uped an hit him in the meouth 'ith his dinner bucket. The led fell off'n the bucket, an jist then Henry Taylor he come up an he says, says he, 'Whut's matter, Tobe?' an he kicked Tobe's bucket led deown the bluff.

"Tobe he tuck and slapped Henry 'caze he kicked the bucket led, an then Bob Taylor he run up an kicked Tobe's bucket an knocked it down the bluff. Tobe he picked up a rock an hit Bob, an then the balunce uv the Taylor boys an the Joneses jined in. Jist then Brother Henry he come 'long an he says: 'Whut's the matter hyur? Whut you all on Tobe fer?

"Thar wuzn't much fightin aifter that. I b'lieve the Taylor boys th'owed some more rocks too."

Tobe was evidently very much pleased that Sary's story was so favorable to himself, but when she remarked by way of conclusion: "Hit all started frum Tobe tryin to kiss me. If hit hadn't been fer that, thare'd 'a' been nothin uv hit, an if you whoop anybody Tobe he's the one to whoop." He blurted out:

"Sary Camp cussed."

This remark was variously received. The Taylors and Joneses giggled. Sary uttered not a word, but every feature of her face, even to the tip of her pug nose, and her entire manner said plainly:

"That beats me."

And Sary's 18-year-old brother Harry said, "Well, that's the fust time I've hyurd Sary 'cused uv cussin sence she jined the church."

Sary brightened at this and remarked with animation, "Yes, an I've had my health a heap better sence I jined the church."

Her simple faith moved me. It was so like that of the woman of old who thought but to touch the hem of his garment and be made whole.

"What did Sarah say, Tobe?"

"She said, 'Dad blame you, you li'l black devil.'"

"That hain't cussin," said Sary. "I hyurd paw say that, an I axed him if hit was cussin, and he said hit wuzn', an paw's a church member too."

"My pap hain't no church member, an I axed him if hit wuz cussin, an he said course hit wuz," said Tobe.

"Hit ain't cussin, is hit?" said Sary, appealing to me as the court of last resort.

Not caring to decide so important a matter, I simply said, "It is certainly not an expression that either a lady or a gentleman ought to use."

Tobe was triumphant and Sary crestfallen. Further inquiry brought out little that was new on either side. After admonitions on my part and good promises on the part of the children we set out for home together. Our road was the same for 100 yards perhaps; then the children went up the mountain, and I went down. I stood still in the road and watched them until a turn hid them from view. The last glimpse I had of them they were waving hats and sunbonnets at me.

That evening I sat alone on the mountainside until the shadows darkened round me, and the freshening wind of the twilight brought sweet odors from many a flower. I was building air castles, and, as is the habit of mothers and teachers, they were peopled with other forms and faces than my own.

For more than 10 years I did not see Raccoon mountain, though every year, especially in the spring and summer, my heart was sick for the sight of it, its trees, its flowers, its cliffs, and with but a breath of wild honeysuckle there came the music of the wind among the pines, the tinkling of cowbells and the notes of the schoolbell mingling with childish laughter. The desire grew upon me year by year, and when last summer I stood among well remembered scenes on Raccoon mountain I felt I was home again. It is true the babies I had known were boys and girls; the boys and girls, young men and women; the young men and women, middle aged; the middle aged, old, and the old—gone.

I was thinking of all this when some one called my name. I looked into a homely face, bright with a welcoming smile.

"Why, it's Sarah."

"Oh, you knowed me, didn't you? Aifter 10 yurs you knowed me," and Sary laughed, and we looked into each other's face to see the changes that we knew must be there. Then Sary stepped back and drew a man, whom I had scarcely noticed, to her side. With a smile and something of a blush she said:

"This is"——

"This is Tobe. Of course it is." The cross eyes were the same, though the hair was somewhat darker. As I looked at Sary and Tobe the years fell away from us, and we were back in the little schoolhouse on the mountain once more. The stirring of a tiny bundle in Tobe's arms brought us all back. As I took the little atom of humanity in my arms I knew that I was looking down in the face of the most wonderful baby that ever existed, although its nose was a decided pug and its eyes slightly at cross purposes. Sary and Tobe watched it with pride as it blinked at me wisely and took its fist out of its mouth to coo at me.

Sary and Tobe, with many others, came to the little station to see me off when I left Raccoon mountain. As I stood on the platform of the rear car, and old friends waved their adieus, my eyes were misty. When my vision cleared, I saw Sary and Tobe climbing the mountain together, and Tobe was carrying the baby. Then I remembered the air castles I had built as I sat on the mountain 10 years before. Fair castles they were, but not so fair as the one Sary and Tobe had built for themselves.—Margaret McLaughlin in Cincinnati Post.

Success In Hatching Sturgeon.

An important step in fish culture has recently been made by the United States commission of fisheries. Commissioner Marshall McDonald will be able to demonstrate that the artificial culture of the sturgeon is as practicable as that of the shad or trout. The sturgeon fishery produces a most important export in its caviare. It is one of the most valuable of the coast industries, and its present condition seems to warrant all the efforts of scientific fish culture. In 1888 experiments in the hatching of sturgeon were carried on at Delaware City, Del., by the commission, but they were so little successful that until the present no further efforts were deemed advisable.

The results that have just been attained at the same locality by an assistant of the commission, Dr. Bashford, dean of Columbia college, New York, seem, however, to be most important. In his trial experiment he has employed a floating hatching case of his own design and has succeeded in hatching several thousand young sturgeon. The floating cases were filled with fertilized eggs and moored in a strong, brackish current. The eggs were hatched in 94 hours.—New York Times.

Keeping Still Half a Minute.

There was no sound except the faint and regular tick of a watch. Otherwise silence and gloom pervaded the elegantly furnished drawing room.

In one chair sat a beautiful girl, her lips tightly closed, her eyes staring straight before her and her every muscle tense with a powerful effort of self control. In another sat a young man whose face expressed seriousness but confidence. In his hand he held an open watch, which he observed closely, only raising his eyes now and then to glance at the beautiful girl, who seemed to be in such agony. Five seconds, 10, 15, 20 seconds passed. The position of neither the young man nor beautiful girl had changed. Suddenly her eyes gleamed with a wild light; her bosom heaved; she clasped her hands convulsively.

"I must speak!" burst from her bloodless lips.

"Twenty-four seconds," said the young man as he closed the watch and put it back into his pocket. "You lose the caramels by six seconds exactly."

He had bet on a sure thing, but she wot not.—Truth.

An Energetic American Girl.

Miss Jennie Young, the American girl who built a railroad to the extensive salt deposits she owns in Chihuahua, has received from the Mexican government a valuable concession in the form of a privilege for the establishment of colonies in the states of Chihuahua and Cohahuila. Miss Young has gone to England to make arrangements for bringing over several thousand English families to settle upon the lands she has secured from the government.

WAS HE MURDERED?

John Johnson's Disappearance a Deep Mystery.

WAS COMPARATIVELY RICH.

Discoveries Which Lead to a Suspicion of Foul Play.

BOSTON, July 8.—Can it be that John Johnson, the missing barber, has been murdered?

That is the question that is uppermost in the minds of the relatives and the young lady who was soon to be his bride. As the time goes by and nothing is heard from the missing man, the worst fears as to his safety are entertained, and now, nearly a week since he has been seen, some of his friends have given up hope that he will return alive, believing that he has been the victim of an assassin's hand.

The only motive which can be furnished to support the murder theory is that he generally carried with him a large amount of money, some times as much as $550 or $600. That he was in this habit was commonly known, and time and time again his relatives have cautioned him against being so Careless With His Money.

It is supposed that at the time he disappeared he had $350 or $400 in his pocket, and some of his friends fear that in order to get possession of this money some murderer has committed the crime.

JOHN JOHNSON.

Developments yesterday in this mysterious case only resulted in disclosures which tend to strengthen the theory of foul play. His cousin, Walter E. Barton, visited Johnson's boarding house, at 27 Warren avenue, and, with an officer, made a thorough search of the trunk and effects of the missing man.

In his trunk were found nearly all of Johnson's valuable papers, including a book containing receipts for a large amount of money in a building corporation, in which it was known that he Was a Large Investor.

"If Johnson had skipped out and left his business, do you suppose he would leave papers representing his fortune behind?" said a near friend of the missing man to a reporter last night.

So far as it is known there was no possible reason why Johnson should go away. He had a business which was paying him a handsome income, and to which he had devoted all of his time and attention.

It was a common expression among his friends that John would always be a bachelor. He never cared for the company of the ladies and seemed entirely devoted to his barber shop. It was a big surprise to the Barton family when they learned that he was engaged to a most estimable young lady, residing on Clarendon street at the Back Bay.

From the time the engagement was announced Johnson seemed all taken up and when visiting the Barton household has more than once said he was looking forward to a pleasant home of his own and a loving wife.

There was no reason for Johnson to go away, and, unless he has been drowned while out boating, the theory of murder seems very probable. This mystery has caused a great deal of talk, not only in Boston, but also in Somerville, where he had many friends. The young lady to whom he was engaged has a large circle of aristocratic friends, and, of course, at the Back Bay this is one of the leading topics. The one question now is: Has John Johnson been murdered?

OFF FOR ST. JOHNS.

The Peary Party Honored by a Grand Banquet at Portland.

PORTLAND, Me., July 8.—The Falcon steamed triumphantly into Casco bay yesterday morning, but it was nearly two hours later when she came to anchor at Custom House wharf. By dinner time a steady stream set in towards the boat, which before the day was over numbered 2000 or more.

At the Preble house last night the city government gave a dinner to Lieutenant Peary and the members of his party. Plates were laid for 70.

After the repast Alderman Sprout called the company to order, and Alderman Guptill was introduced to preside in the absence of the mayor. Lieutenant Peary spoke briefly, referring to his schoolboy days in Portland and saying that the object of his expedition is not to reach the north pole, but to ascertain the extent of the land masses which were discovered on his last expedition north of Greenland.

After Lieutenant Peary, Hon. Thomas B. Reed spoke, briefly giving a hearty Godspeed to the explorer. Addresses were made by Judge Webb, Rev. M. S. Hughes and others.

The Falcon sailed for St. Johns today at noon.

Hurt by an Electric Car.

MELROSE, Mass., July 8.—While Joseph P. Roberts, a milkman, was delivering milk on Franklin street, his wagon came into collision with an electric car. The wagon was badly damaged and Mr. Roberts was thrown out and very badly injured about the head and body. There is a slight chance of his recovery.

A Wanderer Returns.

SALEM, Mass., July 8.—Two weeks ago Robert Sylvester disappeared from home, and it was supposed that it had run away to the west. He was 15 years of age and was employed in Almy, Bigelow & Washburn's dry goods store. After his disappearance the firm did not deny that he had taken money from them. Sylvester returned home yesterday afternoon and said he had been in Lawrence all the time.

Two Bad Boys.

WALTHAM, Mass., July 8.—Martin F. Mooney and Fred S. Button, two boys, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the store of J. W. Connors. Mooney was sentenced to the Lyman school for boys for an indefinite period, and the case against young Button was placed on file, he being but 12 years of age.

A Close Call.

DANVERS, Mass., July 8.—Frank Rundlett, while in swimming, was nearly drowned. His chum, Joseph Harman, who went to his rescue, found that he could not handle Rundlett, who was excited, and both boys were going down for the last time, when a rescuing party reached them in a boat.

Resting In Boston's Jail.

BOSTON, July 8.—Alfred Morrisette, who was arrested at Lowell on the charge of forging Canadian bonds to the value of $18,000 and receiving Canadian bonds valued at $9700, was committed to jail here to enable the Canadian police to produce enough evidence to obtain the delivery of Morrisette.

Time For Its Removal.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., July 8.—Wrecking steamer Fisher's Island, while entering this harbor, struck on the old wreck of schooner R. H. Shannon, on the east side of the harbor, where she remained several hours. The wreck has been an obstruction to navigation since 1878.

No Diphtheria Epidemic.

AUGUSTA, Me., July 8.—Regarding the statement that diphtheria was prevalent at the Maine Insane hospital, Superintendent Sanborn said: "There have been but three deaths from diphtheria in the hospital since the first of last February, and but one of these was a patient."

A Double Accident.

NEW HAVEN, July 8.—Frederick S. Snow, a painter, aged 46, fell 55 feet from a building and sustained injuries that will prove fatal. In the descent Snow struck Chloretta Ottman, aged 3, who was playing on the sidewalk beneath, and the child was seriously injured.

Will Pay Dollar For Dollar.

SALEM, Mass, July 8.—William M. Hill says that the Order of the Helping Hand will pay its members 100 cents on the dollar, and the receiver, B. B. Jones of Haverhill, is sending out checks to the 4300 members in the state of the full amount paid in.

Chamberlain Resigns by Request.

HARTFORD, July 8.—The new board of state prison directors voted to request Warden Chamberlain, now under suspension, to tender his resignation, to take effect Aug 1. Warden Chamberlain wrote out his resignation as requested, and it was accepted.

Mower Cut His Leg Off.

WENHAM, Mass., July 8.—The young son of Captain Isaac Knowlton, while mowing hay in the field, had one of his legs amputated by the mowing machine. He bled profusely, and the local doctor called upon Dr. Carlton of Salem for assistance.

Music by Electricity.

BOSTON, July 8.—The first electric organ for use in America has arrived at the custom house from England. It has been built for St. Thomas' church, Taunton. The new organist will press an electric button, and electricity will do the rest.

Found Drowned.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 8.—The body of Joseph E. Nircis, who has been missing from the city since the Fourth of July, was found in the Merrimac. There was a bad wound in the forehead. He was very popular in French Canadian circles.

Charged With Intoxication.

MALDEN, Mass., July 8.—Chief of Police Pitcher suspended Special Officer Shanley and has taken away his badge. The charge against the officer was intoxication on the night of July 3. Mayor Winn will give Shanley a hearing.

Food For Fishes.

LYNN, Mass., July 8.—The city garbage scow has been put into commission and the first load of swill was dumped off the "Graves" yesterday. Hereafter the board of health will remove the refuse in this manner from the city.

Injuries May Prove Fatal.

PROVIDENCE, July 8.—Owen Corrigan is held under bonds to await the result of an assault upon Charles Wirth. The two were involved in a row, when Corrigan inflicted serious, and probably fatal, injuries.

Brief Mention.

Principal French of the Woburn (Mass.) high school failed to receive a re-election.

The burned wreck of steamer Winthrop was sold by auction at Eastport, Me., for $2300 to Peter Doyle & Co.

At a meeting of the Lawrence (Mass.) school board Joseph A. Ewart was elected principal of the Essex grammar school.

Charles W. Thompson, aged 26, a brakeman on a freight train, fell from a car at Madison, Conn., and broke his neck.

James Powers of Tapleyville, Mass., aged 12, was seriously injured in the face by an explosion of powder. He may lose his sight.

Two South Boston policemen are charged with failing to protect firemen assaulted by roughs while trying to put out a fire.

Charles H. Applebee of East Rochester, N. H., is missing. Applebee was strictly temperate, and no trouble ever occurred in the family.

Joseph Dudley of Holyoke, Mass., was arrested for shooting Frank Newcomb on the evening of July 3. Newcomb is in a critical condition.

The Portsmouth schooner Hattie Lewis, from Calais, Me., for Quincy, Mass., lumber laden, was towed to Boothbay harbor full of water.

OUTLOOK IS BRIGHTER.

A Change For the Better In the General Condition of Trade.

NEW YORK, July 8.—R. Dun & Co.'s review of trade today says: The tone in business circles has perceptibly improved. This is partly because banks have been rendered more hopeful of an early financial settlement by the calling of an extra session of congress; partly because of some recovery in prices from the sudden depression which followed the decision to close India mints, and partly because crop prospects have clearly improved in spite of dismal reports from some sections. On the whole there has been a little better distribution of goods to consumers, and perhaps the countermanding of orders given some months ago is not quite as frequent as it was last week.

A Senator In a Libel Case.

JERSEY CITY, July 8.—The grand jury of Hudson county has found an indictment for criminal libel against Corporation Counsel Edwards of this city, and James Luby, editor of the Jersey City News, for calling Senator William D. Daly "a mixed ale lawyer." Mr. Edwards is indicted as the owner of the newspaper.

Strangled Herself.

BOSTON, July 8.—Mrs. Emma Haines, widow of Gideon Haines, ex-warden of the state prison, committed suicide by strangulation at her home in Charlestown last night. Deceased was 54 years old, and ever since the death of her husband, a year ago, she has been despondent, and was constantly attended by her sister.

Under $7000 Bonds.

NEW HAVEN, July 8.—The case against Dr. W. H. Pulford for malpractice was continued to Wednesday next. Bail was fixed at $7000. The state wanted the amount made $10,000, but finally agreed to make it $7000. Miss Nesbitt was buried yesterday. The funeral was very largely attended.

Kentucky Vengeance.

BARDWELL, Ky., July 8.—Seay J. Miller, the negro charged with the outrage and murder of Mary and Ruby Ray, was hanged yesterday afternoon and the body burned, after being horribly mutilated. Fully 7000 people, men, women and children, witnessed the execution.

Grover Is Improving.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 8.—President Cleveland is feeling slightly better. His knee is lame and his left foot swollen. He spent the greater part of yesterday playing checkers with Mrs. Cleveland and enjoying the beautiful weather. He will be able to go out in a day or two.

Couldn't Wait For a Fire.

BARDWELL, Ky., July 8.—The mob hanged C. J. Miller, the negro murderer of the two Ray girls, to a telegraph pole next to the depot here. Most of the mob wanted to burn him, but in their anxiety and haste they swung him up.

British Ship Ashore.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 8.—The British ship John E. Sayre of St. John, N. B., with 2400 tons of raw sugar for Montreal, went ashore near Channel in a dense fog. The ship will prove a total loss.

HAVE YOU TRIED DRUGS AND FAILED

TO FIND A CURE FOR

RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA, KIDNEY, LIVER and BLADDER COMPLAINTS, DYSPEPSIA, LAME-BACK, &c.

DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELT with Electro Magnetic Suspensory will cure without medicine all of the above troubles. Those who suffer from Nervous Debility, Losses, Drains, Lost Manhood, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Poor Memory, all Female Complaints, and general ill health, the effects of abuses, excesses, worry or exposure, will find relief and prompt cure in our marvelous invention, which requires but a trial to convince the most skeptical. Ignorance of effects you may have gradually drained your system of nerve force and vitality—which is electricity—and thus caused your weakness or lack of it. If you replace into your system the elements thus drained, which are required for vigorous strength, you will remove the cause and health, strength and vigor will follow at once. This is our plan and treatment, and we guarantee a cure or refund money. Our 200 page book "THREE CLASSES OF MEN," should be read by every young, middle-aged and old man, sent sealed, free. Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt is no experiment, as we have restored thousands to robust health and vigor, after all other treatments failed, as can be shown by hundreds of cases throughout this and other States, who would gladly testify, and from many of whom we have strong letters bearing testimony to their recovery after using our Belt.

WE HAVE CURED THESE—WE CAN CURE YOU!

NERVOUS DEBILITY AND WEAKNESS.

NEW YORK CITY, October 24th, 1892.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—About three years ago I purchased one of your electric belts for the cure of nervous debility, which I had in its worst form and which was undermining my health. For years I had suffered from this terrible debilitating drain on my vital forces and I did not know what it was to have a good night's sleep, but in one month's time after using the belt I felt a much stronger man both mentally and physically, and in a short time was entirely well.

Yours truly, H. SEELIG, 287 Bowery.

RHEUMATISM AND LOST VIGOR.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., October 25th, 1892.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—Four years ago I suffered such pain from rheumatism that at times it was impossible for me to get around, and I always carried a cane for support. I used your belt and felt a relief in one hour. I gained in weight from that day and it was only a short time until the pains left me and to-day I am a well man. I always keep my belt near by for fear there might be a return, but as it has now been four years since you cured me, can safely say it is permanent. A. E. VOSS, Musical Director, 309 St. Mark's Place.

RHEUMATISM—LOST VIGOR.

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 20, 1892.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—I can report to you that the belt has entirely cured me of rheumatism from which I suffered for fourteen years almost continually. I am a letter carrier, and the long daily tramps necessary in my rounds, up to the time of getting the belt, were painfully gone through with, but thanks to your wonderful invention, I can now walk as well as I ever did, and will recommend it to all afflicted.

The current has also brought back my vigor in other ways as you said it would. Yours very truly, JAMES MEAD, 21 Peary st.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—I am glad to add my testimony to the many you have of the great value of your belt. My health has improved wonderfully, and I have gained twelve pounds of flesh, and now sleep well and have an excellent appetite. Your electric belt with your "Rules of Health" has been a very valuable benefit to me, and I have recommended many to your belt. Yours respectfully, WM. GEO. SARGENT.

NEAL DOW'S REPLY

To the Temperance Address of Archbishop Ireland.

EVILS OF INTEMPERANCE.

The Greatest Enemy of Religion That We Have.

PORTLAND, Me., July 10.—General Neal Dow has made the following reply to Archbishop Ireland's address upon temperance at the recent world's temperance congress at the World's fair:

"At the very threshold of the labor question comes this temperance question. It is fearful to think of it, but in this nation of the United States over $1,000,000,000 annually (the sum is actually more than $1,200,000,000) is spent in the direct traffic of intoxicating liquors, beside its being the cause indirectly of the waste of as much more money. Men are unable to work because of injury inflicted upon their system by drink. Time is absorbed in drinking, and the country's resources are scattered to the wind. It would be much better if the money given for drink were cast into the sea. At least it would then leave behind it no harm.

"But here, in this beginning of the 20th century in civilization, we are taking the riches of the country and using them to purchase tears, mourning and misery. We are using it so that our families will be demolished, so that the very social fabric is endangered. And not only this, but we sit still, we look on—we Christians, who have an interest in the country and in humanity—and we see the armies of the liquor interest forming in serried ranks, defying their fellow men—

Defying the Very Nation.

Is it not a shame and a disgrace that in any civilized, Christian community laws are made and guarded sacredly on the statute books, and yet the liquor interests throughout the country are able to laugh those laws to scorn and to say to other interests: 'Observe those laws as you will. We, the liquor dealers, are above law,' and yet, deny it as some may, this is the case in many places.

"It is a danger to the whole nation. What are we coming to? We may well ask in wonderment. Is it possible that this nation, for the life and preservation of which we have made so many sacrifices, for which we have freely shed our blood on battlefields, is to be ruled and dominated by the abettors of intemperance?

"They besiege our municipal council halls and our state and national legislatures. They make no secrecy about it. They have their organization in every city, in every village, throughout every township in the land. They collect large sums of money for the purpose of extending and fortifying their interests. They control our elections. Is it not time today, in free America, in the country of liberty par excellence, that a candidate for public office and public favor is compelled, if he wishes to succeed, to worship at the shrine of vile whiskey and vile wine? Is it not fearful that whatever may be the laws for closing the saloons on Sunday, they are kept open in spite of those laws, and mock at you, and scoff at you, if you protest they care not for you? They openly proclaim themselves your masters.

"The liquor traffic! Oh, if you would see its fruits, go into the asylums and hospitals; go into the cemeteries and potter's fields; go upon the scaffold if where life is offered up for the preservation of society. In the great exposition there are triumphant arches and gorgeous pillars erected with whisky bottles and beer bottles and wine kegs. The display in incomplete. They show the drink to the eyes of Americans and the world at large, but why show the springtime without the autumn? Why show the seed without the fruit? Let them go with me to the Cook County hospital and see the victims of the liquor traffic, dying in delirium tremens. Let them go to the jails; let them go upon the scaffolds, and, if they would see more, let them go through the many slums of the city and see vice most hideous, fed and fattening on liquor.

"Go through the homes of the land and see the woe and terrible suffering in every hovel—aye, in every mansion in the land, bemoaning some dear friend or some relative, ruined and damned because of intemperance.

"The Greatest Enemy of Religion

today is intemperance; not that it is the sole evil, but it is at the root of so many other sins and evils. There are millions in America who, if the fact of national degradation from intemperance was brought home to them, would arise as Americans did arise when the republic was in danger and say: 'We will bare our breasts to the battle; we will die for the country if necessary, that this infernal domination of drink must cease.'

"Let us all, in the direction which we think best, deal the heaviest blows and not mind so much the directions that others may be following. There is the enemy before us menacing our homes, our souls, society and religions, and I say to the friends of temperance, go at the enemy, one with a gun, another with a Krupp cannon, if you like, but hit him. I want to call attention to the tone and entire drift of the speech of Archbishop Ireland upon the tremendous evils and the horrors of the liquor traffic, a hundredth part of which he did not even allude to, and to the manner in which the same matter was treated by our legislature of 1893.

"With the exception of Mr. Shaw of Aroostook, there was not a voice reported as protesting in any way against the proposition of the judiciary committee to open the state to the free admission of liquors of all kinds for the supply of our grogshops, whose only business is to impoverish, pauperize, degrade and brutify our people and make miserable and wretched thousands of our homes that otherwise would be peaceful, prosperous, thrifty and happy. The whole drift of the grogshops is to change good citizens, sober, industrious men, into beggars, tramps, thieves and burglars. But for Mr. Shaw of the senate the house bill would have passed, making the transportation of liquors practically free. So far as I have seen in any report of the proceedings in house and senate, there was, except from Mr. Shaw and Mr. Woodbury of Deering, no word of sympathy with the temperance movement or of disapproval of the grogshop system, whatever its character."

LITERARY CONGRESS.

Papers to Be Read and Addresses Made by Distinguished People.

CHICAGO, July 10.—The world's literary congress will be opened tomorrow morning at the Art institute and will continue there this week.

Historians and historical students, librarians, philologists, folk lore and a general congress of authors, in which papers by eminent writers from all lands will be read. The congress will be preceded by a reception this evening at which all the distinguished literary men, brought to Chicago by the congress, will be present, and addresses will be made by C. C. Bonney, Mrs. Potter Palmer and others. Tuesday's session will be devoted to a discussion of literary copyright, and the subjects for the following days are as follows: "The Rights and Interests of Authors," "Criticism and Literature," "Literature for Children" and "Aspects of Modern Fiction."

On the last named subject papers will be read by George W. Cable, Miss Alice French, Thomas Nelson Page, Major Joseph Kirkland of Chicago, and others

The congress of librarians will begin Wednesday morning with an address by M. E. Dewey, president of the American Library association. During this congress papers will be read by many of the leading librarians of America and Europe.

The members will have the privilege of hearing Navajo songs and prayers, as recorded by the Edison phonograph in the congress of the folk lore of the North and South American Indians and Africans.

THE DISPENSARY LAW

Of South Carolina Declared Unconstitutional by Judge Hudson.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 10.—The decision of Judge Hudson in the Darlington injunction case, declaring the dispensary law unconstitutional, renders the saloonkeepers jubilant, and now they think that they see daylight ahead.

The main points upon which the judge decided the law unconstitutional are that the state takes a business from the individual and creates a monopoly in it for itself; that prohibitory laws are constitutional, but that the Evans law is not such a law, but, on the contrary, is a law for revenue or profit.

The two principal questions that are agitating the people now with reference to the decision are whether this decision is binding outside of Darlington county, and whether the liquor dealers may resume business. In answering these questions one of the most distinguished lawyers in this state, who has been attorney general of South Carolina, said the decision was binding only in the case heard until it was passed upon by the supreme court.

When Governor Tillman was asked to say something about the decision, he replied:

"I want to see the decision before I undertake to criticise or comment upon it. One thing is certain, we will appeal from the decision by the quickest way possible."

THE WILBERTON RESPITES.

Their Legality Questioned and the Murderers May Yet Be Hanged.

SOUTH MCALLISTER, I. T., July 10.—As the facts concerning the respite granted the Wilberton murderers gradually leak out the more evident it is that the situation is assuming alarming proportions.

The opinion is general among leading Choctaws that in compelling Governor Jones to grant a respite the United States government has usurped the power vested in the constitution and laws of the Choctaw nation. What will be his course when a new date for the execution is to be set cannot be foretold, as there is no law nor precedent to go by.

It is claimed that the respite is limited only to next Friday, when, if there is no other interference, the respited prisoners will be executed with the five other men who have never been respited. A motion for a hearing in behalf of the latter has been filed before Judge Holson, but has not been granted. The militia has not been disbanded, as reported.

Strongly Opposed to Convict Labor.

WASHINGTON, July 10. — Supervising Architect O'Rourke has decided that convict labor shall not be employed on the construction of buildings coming under his jurisdiction. In every advertisement for bids published by him will be found a clause that no proposition will be entertained from a man using convict labor, and that no product of convict labor shall go into the building. This has been his custom since accession to his office.

French Cabinet Affairs.

PARIS, July 10. — A cabinet council was held yesterday. Wide differences of opinion as to the proper way of acting toward the mobs became apparent at once and a general ministerial crisis is imminent. Premier Dupuy yesterday conferred with President Carnot, and last evening another cabinet was called.

STEEL PLANT CLOSED.

Over 1000 Men Thrown Out of Work For Lack of Orders.

ALBANY, July 10.—The Troy Steel and Iron company's big plant at Breaker island, just above this city, has shut down today for an indefinite period. One thousand men were thrown out of work. The company also controls the Albany iron works, the Bessemer steel works, the Rensselaer rail mill and the Merchant mill, all of which were shut down.

Superintendent McCreery says: "We cannot run our plant without orders and without the money from orders. We shall have to suspend operations at all our mills until trade improves sufficiently to permit the company to continue its big business profitably. Our shutting down will probably throw out of employment the men who are at work in the ore beds in Port Henry, N. Y., where we get our supplies. It will, I am afraid, have a bad effect upon the Lackawanna mines at Scranton, Penn., from which we draw our principal coal supply."

Advices from Hawaii.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 10.—The steamer Warriemoo brings news from Hawaii that the provisional government is awaiting advices from Washington to Minister Thurston as to the treaty proposals with the United States and will retain the present system of government until arrangements are made with the United States or some other power. The government is determined to capture the rebellious lepers of Kalalau, but the registering of them is likely to cause difficulty with the natives.

Additional National Bank Circulation.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The demand for additional national bank circulation goes steadily on, as the following table, prepared in the office of the comptroller of the currency, shows: Bonds deposited during May, 1893, $1,317,750; June, 1893, $2,330,500; July, 1893, $1,682,900; total, $5,331,150. Currency issued on bonds in May, 1893, $938,339; June, $2,149,600; July, $1,305,570; total, $4,393,500. Issued to the east, $3,641,780; issued to the west, $666,130; issued to the south, $85,590; total, $4,393,500.

Murderer Bamberger Captured.

FARGO, N. D., July 10.—A bulletin from Church's Ferry says that Bamberger, the murderer of the Kreider family at Cando, was captured at Deloraine, Man., 60 miles from Cando. There are no particulars. Brightbill left Cando yesterday with the remains of the six murdered people and the survivors of the Kreider family for Pennsylvania. Cando business men offered a reward of $500 for the capture of the murderer.

Griffin and Smith to Fight Tonight.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Johnny Griffin, the Braintree lad, and Solly Smith, the Pacific coast champion, will meet tonight in the arena of the Columbian Athletic club for a purse of $6000 and the featherweight championship of the world.

THE BRAINTREE'S DEFEATED.

It was a great batting game at Braintree on Saturday, there being a total of 27 safe hits for both clubs. The Millstreams of Chelsea were credited with 17 of these, and two of them were two-basers, and they won by a score of 16 to 7. Howe led at the bat for the home team while B. Holbrook who headed the batting order did not make a safe hit.

RANDOLPHS' CENTENNIAL.

A Daughter of Old Braintree and Quincy's Sister to Celebrate.

A week from Wednesday the town of Randolph, will celebrate its centennial anniversary. The town with Braintree, Quincy and Holbrook constituted the old town of Braintree, but in 1792 Quincy was set off, and about a year later, March 9, Randolph. A part of Randolph has since been incorporated as Holbrook, and a part annexed to Avon. Thus it will be seen that many towns are interested in the centennial.

Briefly stated the programme includes:

Salute of guns and ringing of bells at sunrise.

Assembling of school children for singing at Stetson hall at 10 A. M.

A procession will be formed which includes the secret organizations of the town, trades, military and firemen, etc., at 10.30 A. M., and to start promptly at 11.30.

Salute of guns and ringing of bells at noon.

Dinner in the tent at the return of the procession, to be followed by a historical address by John V. Beal, reponses from invited guests and music.

Band concerts at 5 P. M.

Salute of guns and ringing of bells at sunset.

Promenade concert and ball in Stetson hall, beginning at 8 P. M.

Hon. J. White Belcher for many years clerk of the Quincy court, is chairman of the general committee and will officiate as president of the day. Mr. John Peach will be chief marshal of the day.

A number of notables have been invited and are expected. The public buildings will all be decorated in holiday attire, and Stetson hall and the business portion of the town will be illuminated for the first time with electricity.

The dinner will be served in a mammoth tent to be erected on the grounds at the estate of the late Dr. Ephriam Wales on South Main street.

The Boston cadet and Randolph brass bands will furnish the instrumental music and the Temple quartet of Boston will render the vocal selections. Special trains will run to and from Boston at convenient hours.

The committee in charge of the various features of the day have earnestly endeavored to arrange a dignified, pleasant and democratic celebration of the 100th birthday of the town, and it is believed that every citizen will work for the success of the occasion.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

The Mother of City Clerk Spear Dies of Heart Disease.

Mrs. Elizabeth T. Spear was seized with heart disease Saturday evening at her residence on Thayer street and expired shortly after. She was the daughter of the late Mr. Elihu and Mrs Elizabeth Thayer, and was the widow of Mr. George W. Spear, and has always resided in Quincy. She leaves ten children, seven sons and three daughters. Of her sons, Mr. Christopher A. Spear is the city clerk of Quincy, Mr. Francis A. Spear, the probation officer of the East Norfolk court, Elihu T. Spear the engineer at the Quincy pumping station and Mr. Herbert W. Spear an officer in the United States revenue service. Her funeral will be held Tuesday, from her late residence at 2.30 o'clock.

TWO MEN MISSING.

One Since Saturday and the Other Nearly a Week.

George T. Laing of Brewers corner is reported as missing. He was last seen Saturday afternoon. On that day he drew $80 and was seen to take a train from South Quincy for Boston. He was about 35 years of age 5 feet 8 inches in height and weighed about 150 pounds. He had light brown hair and light mustache.

Peter Trainor of 14 Water street has been missing since last Tuesday. Upon the afternoon of that day he was seen in front of Smith's polishing shop on Water street, in an intoxicated condition. Since then nothing has been seen or heard from him, and it is thought he might have fallen into Town brook and been drowned. He was 40 years of age, 5 feet 7 1-2 inches in height and weighed about 165 pounds. He had a wife and four small children who are in destitute circumstances.

LATER—Constable Furnald located Trainor this morning on the island down the bay.

MANY YACHT RACES.

Beatrice, Opeeche and Mab Win in the Quincy Regatta.

SAILED IN A SOUTHWEST GALE

Races of the Monatiquot, Dorchester and Savin Hill Clubs.

The race of the Quincy Yacht which was sailed off the Club house Saturday afternoon proved a very satisfactory as well as a very exciting contest. A regular southwest gale was screeching across the river and the boats were scudding around under closely reefed sails. It was a day when old salts grinned and landsman looked frightened. Many of the fair sex had gathered on the veranda of the Club house and many little feminine screams were heard as the racers were nearly knocked flat by the fierce puffs of wind. Most of the boats had sailed a race under the management of the Monatiquot Club and now came over hunting for more glory.

The Beatrice, Moondyne and White Fawn started in the first class and kept the same relative position through the race.

In the second class the Aurisa, Opeechee and Vision went pitching around the course. The Aurisa showed great ability off but very little on the wind, the Opeeche easily distancing her. Among the little ones the Mab sailed after the first time around a rather lonely race. She was by far the stiffest boat of the class.

The summary:

FIRST CLASS.

Name and owner	Length ft. in.	Actual time. h. m. s.	Corrected time. h. m. s.
Beatrice, John Cayanaugh,	— —	1 37 22	— — —
Moondyne, A. J. Shaw	— —	1 38 22	— — —

Sunbeam, H. B. Faxon	— —	1 41 53	— — —
Elsie, Keating & Bailey,	— —	1 43 58	— — —

The Beatrice, Opeeche and Mab won legs for the championship cups and cash prizes. The second prizes go to the Moondyne, Aurisa and Sunbeam.

Messrs. H. L. Rice and P. H. Gavin were the judges.

THE MONATIQUOT RACE.

The Beatrice and the Opeeche were Easy Winners.

Six boats entered the two classes of the Monatiquot Yacht club race on Saturday, which was sailed under reefed canvas. The Gipsy, which was leading the first-class boats, had the misfortune to break her boom. The Beatrice did the course about two minutes quicker than the Moondyne.

The Aurisa was having it all her own way in the other class until the beat home when the Opeeche did excellent work and won easily.

Messrs. F. H. Cowing, T. P. Willey and Dana Smith were the judges, and the summary is:

FIRST CLASS.

Name and owner.	Actual Time. h m. s.	Corr'd Time. h. m. s.
Beatrice, John Cavanagh	1 47 00	1 18 37
Moondyne, A. J. Shaw	1 48 59	1 19 58

Diadem, L. W. Hayward	1 40 29	1 11 34
Aurisa, H. M. Faxon	1 39 45	1 12 29

Other Races,

In the Dorchester race Saturday the Mudgekeewis had no rival in the first class. The Halcyon withdrew in the second class and the Wasp was the only one to finish. The Flora Lee won easily over the Pearl in the third class.

The Adolph, Onoxus, Agnes and Midget were the winners of the Savin Hill race. The Romance and Merkyn capsized.

—There was an immense crowd at Nantasket Sunday.

THE CARPENTER CLUE

Sifted Down by the Police Authorities of Fall River.

INTERVIEW WITH HIS WIFE

Has Not Been Home Since Decoration Day, 1892.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 10.—Joseph W. Carpenter, Jr., about whom much is now being printed in connection with the Borden murder because of a suspicious letter supposed to have been addressed to him in New York, formerly worked for the Borden & Almy firm of furniture dealers, of which Andrew J. Borden was the senior member. It was alleged against Carpenter one time that he falsified the firm's books. Some Sagamore mill stock was transferred to satisfy the claim. But later the mill became involved and the stock proved valueless.

Suit followed, but when both parties were ready for trial, Carpenter threatened something which several of the parties and the proceedings were quashed.

Andrew Borden was most severe with Carpenter, but the latter never had serious trouble with him. Carpenter left the city shortly afterward and became a drummer for inks, pens and stationery. He was traveling the most of the time in New York state, and generally made his headquarters in Albany. He married a daughter of Captain Barney of this city and was here last in May, 1892.

When the Borden tragedies were heralded about the country last August every man who might have had reason for enmity towards Mr. Borden was hunted down. Among the unfortunate suspects was Carpenter. District Attorney Knowlton felt satisfied from his talk with Mrs. Carpenter and her little girl here that her husband had not been in this vicinity since the time of the tragedy nor for some time before it. Nevertheless, at the suggestion of Marshal Hilliard, who was urged on by Mr. Jennings, the now Captain Harrington was sent out to run down Carpenter and to obtain positive information of his whereabouts during the latter days of July and the early days of August, 1892.

Carpenter Proved an Alibi

by hotel clerks and registers. Because of Carpenter's family connections he was very chagrined at being followed by a detective. He has not cared to come this way, although his relations with his wife's family are of the best, so far as the police know. One fact in connection with the Carpenter matter caused Miss Borden's lawyers to be persistent in their search for him.

It was positively stated by one Peter Driscoll that he had shaved Carpenter in the barber shop in the Wilbur House a day or two before the murder was committed. The story was wholly unfounded, the police say. Last night Mrs. Joseph W. Carpenter was found at the home of her father-in-law, where she was visiting her daughter. In answer to questions she said she wrote a letter to her husband some weeks ago, in which she as soon as he could. She said, in substance, that nobody could cause him anymore annoyance here, inasmuch as Miss Lizzie was acquitted and the feeling in the matter had quieted down.

She wrote in this strain because her husband had been confident about coming to Fall River on account of having once been shadowed and had his name mixed up in the affair. She said that her husband had not been here since Decoration day, 1892, and that his whereabouts after that date had been fully established to the satisfaction of the police. She wrote to her husband Saturday and receives letters from him regularly. She requested that Captain Harrington's detailed statement be given the broadest publication. The officer says he cannot talk until he has had a consultation with the marshal.

TODAY'S COURT.

James Bree of Quincy, arraigned for keeping a common nuisance, was fined $60. In default committed.

James Bree of Quincy, arraigned for illegal sale to Officer McGrath July 2, was fined $60. In default committed.

James Bree of Quincy was also arraigned for sale to Officer McGrath July 4. Case continued until July 14.

The liquors seized from Edgar Hayden of Braintree were forfeited.

The liquors seized from Emery J. Lyons of Randolph were forfeited.

Tremont Theatre

The summer season at the Tremont has opened auspiciously and the beautiful house has been well filled at every performance of Czibulka's charming opera "Amorita," which was produced for the first time in Boston on June 26 by the Pauline Hall Opera Company. This organization is headed by the popular artiste Pauline Hall. Mlle. Sozo, a celebrated danseuse appears in beautiful solos, and on Monday last the wonderful Prussian Hercules, Eugene Sandow began a brief engagement, both artists appearing at each entertainment. Sandow is about 5 feet, 8½ inches in height, and weighs about 190 pounds. He is a rare combination of strength and grace. Mr. Sandow will appear this week, immediately following the performance of "Amorita." He will give his exhibitions at 10.15 in the evening, and at 4.15 Saturday afternoon. The performances will terminate at 10.45 and 4.45 o'clock. This week the ever popular dancers, the Daly sisters will begin an engagement, appearing in the second act of "Amorita." They will introduce some new and taking specialties.

THE DAILY LEDGER is for sale at Post Office, Manet Lunch Room, by Henry W. French and by Newsboys. Mr. French is the authorized local agent of the paper. Items of news solicited from everybody.

Sunday was a very busy day at the beach. Between bicycles, boats, horses and ice cream the people seemed to enjoy themselves very well. The beach was lined with bathers and all kind of crafts flitted along shore.

Some provision should be made to water the streets. Everyone is complaining of the sand storms which occur every time there is a breeze.

Mr. C. A. Hutchins' smiling face was missed Sunday. A panic was nearly caused by telling one of the dear girls he had gone for good.

A volunteer fire company is being formed at the beach. Many of the old settlers have already added their names to the list.

Mr. John C. Rackham has purchased from the Manet Land Co., through the agency of Mr. Emil Lagergren, lot No. 5, on Winthrop street.

Mr. Edgar W. James has purchased a part of lot 40 on Parkhurst street from the Manet Land Co.

Mr. Chas. Bleiler, of Roxbury, is occupying his new house on Manet avenue. Col. Wm. Jacob's house next to Mr. Bleiler will be ready for occupancy in a few days.

Mr. John V. Scott is laying out a tennis court opposite his house on Darrow street.

Mr. Wm. H. Jordan, of Boston, is building a small house on Weymouth street, which he will add to next year.

Mr. Dunbar, of Brockton, has purchased of John V. Scott his new house on Weymouth street near Sea street.

Reports of the Quincy, Monatiquot and other yacht races on Saturday will be found in another column.

"Sandwitches" is one of the signs displayed at the beach. Probably it includes "tea."

At full sea Sunday there were by actual count over fifty bathers in the water front of the Linden House.

Will the City Council of Quincy take any further action on the flying horses this evening? is a question which interests Mr. Faber and others. It will undoubtedly be brought up.

Race of the Hookers.

The scrub race Saturday among the "Hookers" was a source of much excitement among the owners of these boats. At about noon the boats collected off Fort Point and sailed over a triangular course, first to Sheep island, then to the Spit and home. The Scylla finished first and was followed by the Dorothy, Myth and Tara. The Nellie M. withdrew on accouut of a calm into which she ran off Grape island.

The start was at 3.35, and they finished as follows: Scylla at 5-18-10, Dorothy at 5-21-16, Myth at 5-24-20, and Tara at 5-30-03. The Nellie M. withdrew. Mr. P. H. Gavin acted as judge.

WEYMOUTH.

A man employed on the dredger at North Weymouth received a severe scalp wound Saturday by coming in contact with a plank. Dr. Drake was called and took several stitches in the wound, after which the man was removed to Boston.

G. Oliver Loud of South Weymouth won one of the special prizes last week in the Journal's vacation contest.

The officers of Wildey lodge, I. O. O. F., will be installed this evening by District Deputy W. W. Hersey of Hingham.

The hand engine Gen. Bates, of Lewiston, Maine, formerly of East Weymouth, won the first prize of $115 at the firemen's muster in Lewiston, July 4. She did not come up to her old record, which is over 200 feet, playing 181 feet, 4 inches.

—Hingham's tax rate this year is $14.50 on $1000.

FOUL PLAY EVIDENT

The Body of James McCarthy Found Floating in a Pond

WITH SIGNS OF VIOLENCE.

The Victim an Estimable and Much Respected Citizen.

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Mass., July 10.—A man's body was found floating in a pond, and a blood-stained club among the bushes on the banks is the basis of another murder mystery.

All signs point to the fact that a dastardly murder was committed some time Saturday by some one unknown and the body cast into the water.

Excitement runs high, and this quiet locality is stirred to its depth over the awful discovery.

The body was found yesterday in Whiting's pond and identified as James McCarthy.

Mr. McCarthy was a much-respected citizen of the town who had retired from active business and was living at 6 Circular street. He was 65 years old and a widower, with one son and two daughters. The son is in the jewelry business.

Mr. McCarthy started for Pawtucket, R. I., Saturday morning to visit some friends. He did not return when expected, and his son became anxious. It was then found that he had not been in Pawtucket, upon inquiry, and the police there were notified.

The Missing Man

was discovered floating face downwards on the waters of the pond. He was dressed in a cardigan jacket and dark trousers. His hat was found on a bush at the edge of the bank.

It was at first thought that he had committed suicide, although his family relations were pleasant, and he was of perfectly sound mind. This idea has now been given up in the light of recent discoveries.

A club, a heavy stick of wood, was found but a short distance away, and was covered with blood. A collar was also found near by, twisted as though it had been wrenched from the man's neck in a struggle. The stud was in it. There was no collar on the shirt of the deceased.

When the body was taken ashore the face was seen to be discolored and covered with blood. One ear was gone, and a large bruise was discovered on the side of the face.

The ear appeared as though it might have been eaten off by turtles, but the swelling pointed suspiciously towards the use of a heavy weapon in a strong man's hands.

The Murder Theory

was then adopted, and the police have been working with some success on a clue.

Whiting's Pond is in the North End, back of Whiting's factory, and not very deep. The body was floating when found, and medical experts declare that it must have entered the water Saturday afternoon about 5 or 6 o'clock. It takes about 12 hours for a body to rise to the surface.

The explanation now is that Mr. McCarthy was waylaid, knocked on the head after a short struggle and thrown into the pond. The motive for the deed is as yet unknown.

The victim was a most amiable man and had no enemies. Robbery is the only solution given, but, as he carried no watch or money at the time, the assassin got nothing.

The whole town, as well as the friends and neighbors of the murdered man, is Greatly Excited Over the Affair.

Although he held no office, Mr. McCarthy was considered a leading man in that section and belonged to several societies. His daughters are nearly prostrated with the shock.

It was rumored that an arrest had been made yesterday, but the police would give out no information.

At the autopsy the medical examiner found the man's death was caused by blows on the head by some person or persons unknown.

At the inquest the head and shoulders were found to be cut and bruised. A little above and back of the right ear was a hole two inches in diameter. The skull was crushed in at this point, and the inquest showed that the right ear had been removed by a blow. The nose was split, and several deep gashes appeared in the shoulder.

GRAND JURY INDICTMENTS.

True Bills Found Against Amos Morse and Mary McGuinness.

BOSTON, July 10.—The grand jury of the superior court reported Saturday, Judge Richardson on the bench.

An indictment was found against Amos L. Morse for the murder of Dr. William T. S. Wardwell on June 24 last, in Roslindale. It is asserted that Morse shot the doctor three times and then attempted to escape. He was captured immediately after the murder, and it was intimated that insanity would be pleaded.

Mary McGuinness, the young woman who is charged with throwing vitriol into the face of William Lally, a fireman, at the West End some months ago, is also held by the grand jury and will go to trial on the charge of "having assaulted with intent to maim and disfigure."

In the case of William E. Mitchell, held for an assault with intent to kill upon his wife some months ago, the grand jury reported no bill by reason of insanity. Mitchell was taken to Taunton.

The President's Condition Improving.

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., July 10.—President Cleveland passed a comfortable day at Gray Gables yesterday. His rheumatism is gradually leaving him and he is now looking forward to a fishing trip about the middle of the week. Colonel Lamont and Dr. Bryant took a drive in the forenoon, leaving the president alone with Mrs. Cleveland. In the afternoon Joe Jefferson drove over from his cottage and made a short call.

Randolph's Centennial Celebration.

RANDOLPH, Mass., July 10.—The arrangements for the celebration of the centennial anniversary of the incorporation of the town, which takes place on July 19, are nearly completed. A large number of the sons and daughters of Randolph from out of town are expected, and the affair promises to be an event which will be long remembered.

Want the Contract Declared Illegal.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 10.—The agitation over the 10 years' contract which the city entered into with the Manchester electric light company, on May 23, for lighting the streets of the city with electricity, has resulted in a petition to the court to abrogate the contract on the ground that so long a contract is against public policy and that a contract of so long duration is beyond the authority of the city to make. The petitioners ask that the contract be declared illegal and that the parties to the same be enjoined from executing any part of the provisions of the same.

Missing Man Heard From.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 10.—John W. Hillman, the Fairhaven merchant who so mysteriously disappeared a week ago, has been heard from. He has been located in Chicago, and it is said that he is in care of a friend. His family here have been communicated with, and, although his friends are quiet on the subject, it is universally believed that Mr. Hillman's mind is somewhat deranged. Mr. Hillman's business affairs are not in a condition but what they could be satisfactorily settled, and, therefore, credence is given to the report that worry has caused tempotary insanity.

Maine Shoe Factory to Be Reopened.

SKOWHEGAN, Me., July 10.—Superintendent Safford has announced that it is an assured fact that the shoe factory here formerly run by Keene Bros. of Lynn, Mass., and closed by them five weeks ago, will be reopened. A stock company has been formed, the principal stockholders being George B. Safford, Hon. Charles T. A. Marston, James R. Frost and J. D. Knight of Skowhegen, and also some Boston parties.

Fatally Injured by Electric Cars.

BOSTON, July 10.—A bad accident occurred yesterday afternoon at the South End. Mrs. Louisa Schmalle, aged 30 years, married and residing with husband on Summer street, in East Boston, fell between two electric cars and sustained fatal injuries. The wheels passed over the right hand, which had to be amputated, her head was badly scratched, internal injuries received and her death is a question of hours.

A Pastor Solely Afflicted.

BENNINGTON, Vt., July 10.—Rev. Thomas Munro, pastor of the Methodist church at Pownal, is in sore trouble. Last week, on his return from a visit to Chicago, he learned that his little son Simpson, 9 years of age, was dead. Thursday, Lily, 13 years old, died. Jennie, the oldest daughter, 19 years of age, is very sick with diphtheria, with little hope of her recovery.

Brief Mention.

The sudden death of Charles Gildea in Boston causes suspicion of foul play.

Stanislas Bzezinski, a Northampton (Mass.) Polander, cut his throat from ear to ear and then tried to murder a child.

The new Portuguese Catholic church, Our Lady of Good Voyage, at Gloucester, Mass., was opened for the first time yesterday. Mass was offered by the pastor, Rev. Francis Viator De Benn, and a sermon was preached by Rev. F. A. De Benn, high chaplain to the King of Portugal.

A serious accident occurred on the Maine Central railroad at Maidstone, yesterday afternoon. A mixed train was run into from behind by a special train, a passenger car being lifted on top of the engine, where it was burned. One lady, belonging in Guildhall, Vt., was injured. The damage to the rolling stock will be several thousand dollars.

CLOSED THEIR SESSION.

The Christian Endeavorers of Massachusetts Receive the Visiting Delegates.

MONTREAL, July 10.—Last evening, after the close of the session in the drill hall, the Massachusetts state officers gave a reception to the visiting delegates at the Windsor hall. The state delegations from Ohio and California were present by special invitation. The California people were welcomed by Rev. N. Boynton of Boston, and the response was made by W. G. Alexander of San Jose. Rev. C. P. Mills of Newburyport welcomed the Ohio delegation, and President W. F. McCauley responded for the representatives of the Buckeye State. An address of welcome was also made by H. L. Gale of Worcester. President George W. Coleman presided. Social intercourse filled up the time until nearly midnight. About 300 were present.

The scene while the roll was being called was one of great impressiveness, as the different states, territories, provinces and foreign countries responded by word of consecration, mass around their banners, and joined in with fervor in the exercise. As last year, nearly every country, state, territory and province in the world was represented. The only drawback to the impressiveness of the scene was the howling mob of hoodlums and roughs which filled Craig street in front of the drill hall and the Champs de Mars opposite.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Four Persons Meet a Watery Grave.—A Boston Lady Among the Number.

CHICAGO, July 10.— furious wind and rain storm swept over the city between 5 and 6 o'clock last evening, and caught many craft on Lake Michigan.

The sailing yacht Chesapeake was capsized near the life saving station, nine people were thrown into the water and four were drowned—Themistocles Flambolis, William B. Cornish, Ethel H. Chase and Harvey Marlow.

Ethel Chase, who was drowned, formerly lived in Boston, where her parents still reside. She was a telegraph operator here. Her body was not recovered.

Typhoid Fever Still Raging In Michigan.

ISHPEMING, Mich., July 10.—Reports of the cessation of the typhoid fever epidemic at Ironwood proved unfounded. The morgue gathers new victims with appalling frequency, and the number of cases of the disease is larger than ever. Contagion seems to disregard all safeguards. The city board of health advises all who can to leave the city, and as the mines are closed down a great exodus is taking place.

Convicts and Guards In a Battle.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 10.—The convicts confined in the prison at Chilpancingo made a desperate break for liberty. The guards started in close pursuit and soon overtook the prisoners. The convicts had in some manner secured arms and made a strong resistance. In the fight one of the guards was severely wounded and three convicts killed. The other convicts were overpowered and will probably be shot.

Can Marry If She Wishes To.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Fred Stinson, manager for Julia Marlowe, the actress, says that there is no clause in Miss Marlowe's contract forbidding her to marry. He says that Miss Marlowe will return from Europe on Aug. 19, and that Robert Taber, her leading man, who sailed with her on the Chester, will look for an engagement in London.

Diamond Tips.

President Hart of the southern league has resigned, owing to ill health.

Pettit has surrendered the captaincy of the Providence team, and Cooney has been appointed in his place.

Dan Casey, the once famous left-hand pitcher, is now a motorman on a Binghamton (N. Y.) street car line.

One would almost think that this was Stovey's first year on the diamond. He is playing with as much ginger as a colt.

The Washington club made an offer to exchange Joyce for Pitcher Sullivan. Comisky sat down on the proposition soldidly.

If the Cincinnatis want to get rid of Chamberlain the Brooklyns will take him. So will several other clubs if they can get him.

Word has been sent to Ward by the officials of the New York club that there is no truth in the report that he is to be deposed from the management of the club.

The fines inflicted on the Boston ball players by Umpire McLaughlin in Pittsburg, if paid, will go a long way toward paying the debt of the National League.

Umpire McLaughlin had some trouble with the Bostons at Washington early in the season, and in view of this fact it is singular that President Young should have assigned him to umpire any Boston game.

The Clevelands' mistake of exchanging an all around player like Davis for a one position man like Ewing is emphasized by the accident to Tebeau. With Davis as a substitute the loss of Tebeau would be hardly felt.

New Yorkers sweat blood when they contemplate the relative positions of their team and that of the Phillies, and then consider that their club contributed Carsey, Keefe, Sharrott and Boyle to the team from Philadelphia.

President Soden of Boston has addressed a letter to President Young protesting against McLaughlin being assigned to umpire any more games this season in which the Bostons participate. He stated that his players had lost all confidence in the man, and there would probably be more or less trouble if they came under his umpiring.

A friend of Manager Hanlon has given him a gold nugget worth $50, with a request that it be presented to the member of the Baltimore team that works the most earnestly and successfully for the team, and Hanlon is to be the judge. Hanlon would have done the wise thing if he had declined the gift. This sort of thing, such as making presents to players under the conditions named, should be frowned upon by all managers. It creates a spirit of jealousy and ill-feeling.

Chrystallized Dream of Peace.

The person who goes to the World's fair with the deep-blue, cynical, blase idea of getting into some kind of a row to relieve the monotony of life, or with the resolve to get chewed by an Arab or pummeled by a cliff-dweller, is the most sadly disappointed individual ever known before night closes in. Nothing ever happens to him. He pursues his flower-strewn way in unmolested peace and quietude amid a discouraging atmosphere of smiles. People whom he purposely runs up against accept with limpid sweetness his curt apologies, Columbian guards answer the most absurd questions with suavity unequalled in this country, exhibitors allow him to pry into their exhibits and do not even reprove him for promiscous handling of them, wild Arabs are afflicted with an immortal wave of politeness, Turks beam in oriental effulgence at him a mile off—he is discouraged, heart-sick, spirit-crushed, for he can't raise a riot to save his soul. "This is the most abominably paradisiacal place I was ever in," said a man in hollow tones of woe as he sat and fired stones at the plaster statuary with no visable effect on the guard. "I want to be miserable and I can't, because there's nothing to be miserable over except that I'm not miserable. I've been let do just as I want to ever since I passed the turnstile. I'm going down to the beer tunnel and get a hard drink and then maybe I'll be persecuted—I'd fade away of ennui if this chrystallized dream of peace kept up," and he sauntered away to the plaisance.

Chili to Chicago In a 22-foot Boat.

An eccentric navigator named Bosman proposes to make a trip from Valparaiso to Chicago in a 22-foot boat and has actually sailed away from Valparaiso on his long voyage. He comes via Panama, whence his craft will be transported to Colon by rail. From Colon he will embark for Chicago by way of the St. Lawrence river, and if he does not come to grief in his perilous undertaking expects to arrive in Chicago about the middle of June. Mr. Bosman appears to forget that the Hudson river and the Erie canal furnish him a much easier as well as shorter route to the great city of the marvelous show, and the dangers of the longer St. Lawrence route should not be deliberately courted.—Panama Star and Herald.

Inauguration Hotel Rates.

"I only lately learned, and that by accident," said a society woman, "how deeply my husband and I were indebted to Washington friends who entertained us at a certain hotel for the inauguration. We had a nice suit of rooms that were not magnificent, and those dear, generous hosts of ours paid for them at the rate of $100 a day."—Philadelphia Press.

Cornell Victorious

MINNEAPOLIS, July 10.—Cornell won the eight-mile race with the University of Pennsylvania Saturday by nearly three lengths in 23m. 40s. Pennsylvania finished 12 seconds later.

Housekeepers Should Remember.

The Government Chemists, after having analyzed all the principal brands of baking powder in the market, in their reports placed the "Royal" at the head of the list for strength, purity and wholesomeness; and thousands of tests all over the country have further demonstrated the fact that its qualities are, in every respect, unrivaled.

Avoid all baking powders sold with a gift or prize, or at a lower price than the Royal, as they invariably contain alum, lime or sulphuric acid, and render the food unwholesome.

According to the best and most-recent calculations, 100,000,000 tons of water pour over Niagara Falls every hour. This represents 16,000,000-horse power. The annual coal production of the world, it is estimated, would not furnish steam power enough to pump it back again.

Fifty-six years ago the block on which the Chicago post office now stands was sold at auction for $505. It is now worth $5,000,000.

When the census of 1880 was taken, coupon bonds of the United States to the amount of $337,000,000 were estimated to be owned abroad. In 1890 the registered bonds owned abroad were estimated by the Treasury Department to have been $18,500,000.

The oldest artesian well in Europe is found at Lillers, France. From its mouth water has flowed uninterruptedly for 746 years.

FIRE TRAP AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

Responsible For the Loss of Several Firemen's Lives.

THOUSANDS OF LOOKERS ON

Utterly Unable to Do Anything Toward Rescue.

Firemen Penned In Over a Fire Which Burns With Volcanic Fury Many Feet From the Ground—Ladders Not Long Enough to Reach Them, and a Rope Burns While Men Are Sliding For Life. Horror-Stricken Multitude Watches the Awful Destruction of Human Life.

CHICAGO, July 11.—The fear that has existed for months in the minds of nearly every citizen in Chicago—a fear that none dare utter to his fellows, but that all felt—found realization in a frightful holocaust at the World's fair.

The disaster was all the more dreadful because of its sudden transformation from an innocent flame into a death dealing catastrophe. Like an animal monster, it centered the victims to the topmost stage of a high pinnacle, and then, encircling the whole shaft in a sheet of flame, held them in a trap until, one by one, they fell a sacrifice on the fiery altar that raged beneath them, while 30,000 people stood helplessly by.

The structure that was burned was, by comparison, one of the smaller buildings of the fair. It was the cold storage warehouse and skating rink, and was not the property of the exposition. It was a concession and exhibit of the Hercules works and ice and refrigerating machine manufacturers. In addition to the skating rink there were three 120-ton ice machines and 30 or 40 barrels of linseed oil. The oil no doubt greatly hastened the conflagration, and that the fire was not communicated to the World's fair buildings was due to the favorable winds.

The Scene of Horror

was witnessed by many thousands of people, and strong men and women fainted as one life after another was lost within full view of the multitude, but beyond the reach of human aid. The fire was not generally observed until about 1:15 p. m., and within 30 minutes the great loss of life occurred. At the first signal the firemen rushed up the huge shaft surrounding the smokestack, and when at the summit began preparations to fight the flames, which had first appeared at this point.

Before the hose could be coupled the whole shaft below was found to be encircled in flames.

Instantly every man realized his danger, but there were few to find an avenue of escape. One man suddenly grasped a rope or hose and, sliding, reached the roof 90 feet below in a bruised and burned condition, but still alive. Suddenly one of the fireman was seen preparing to jump, and Every Eye Was Turned Upward.

He gave a quick leap and turned over and over half a dozen times before he struck the roof 90 feet below. When the body struck the roof it bounded four feet into the air. From this time the bodies rained from the steeple, but in nearly every instance breath and life had fled when the victim was picked up on the roof below. After the first leap one man after another jumped in quick succession as the flames closed in below and the heat became more intense.

The very horror of death riveted every eye to the scene, and the guards were almost powerless to keep the crowd away from danger. The spectacle of death became more terrible as minutes passed, and for the last man on the cupola was reserved the most dreadful fate of all. After all his companions had leaped to apparent death and he was hesitating the whole shaft began to tremble and vibrate. The lone fireman gave a quick, wild leap. He was too late. The whole structure gave way, and he was seen to drop into the labyrinth of flame and finally disappear

Into the Roaring Furnace Below.

As a fire trap the cold storage warehouse could not have been more perfectly constructed. The structure was 250 feet long by 150 feet wide, and was constructed entirely of wood, covered over with staff. The main body of the building was five stories high. In the center of this was the smokestack in the shape of a cupola, to the top of which was almost 200 feet. The base of this cupola was about 30 feet square. About 80 feet from the base of this cupola there was a balcony, culminating in the mouth of the smokestack, where the fire was discovered. The interior of this tower and around the smokestack were the beams and framework on which the staff covering was laid.

It was at the top of the cupola that the fire was first discovered. It is supposed that the framework around the mouth of the chimney caught fire. Fire Marshal Murphy sent in a call for the companies to turn out. With about 40 of his men he climbed the stationary ladders inside the tower to the balcony, and from there ropes were lowered to haul up the hose.

Meantime the fire had eaten its way through the network of timbers inside the structure, and unconscious of their danger the firemen were standing as it were on the shell of a burning volcano. The fire had been burning scarcely 20 minutes and the firemen were pulling and hauling at the ropes when suddenly the flames burst out around the base of the cupola in

A Perfect Hell of Fury.

So sudden and so furious was the outbreak and so terrible was the spectacle that for the moment the crowd stood transfixed with horror.

Strong men wrung their hands in a hysterical manner and scores of women fainted. All alike were powerless to aid the unfortunate men imprisoned on the balcony 150 from the ground. All the ropes save one on the north side of the tower were burned away in an instant. The hose from the chemical engine withstood the heat, however, and springing forward, John Davis caught hold of it and slid down to the main roof of the warehouse, where he fainted away. His face and hands were terribly burned.

Two of his fellow firemen attempted to follow him, but before they were half way the hose gave way, and they dropped into the flames. The multitude below gave utterance to a groan of sickening horror. Another of the men started down the rope on the north side of the tower, and had almost reached the roof when it gave way, and he fell. He was instantly killed.

There now remained from 25 to 30 men on the tower. They were hopelessly beyond the reach of help. The longest ladder fell short of reaching them by a full 30 feet. Death of the most awful kind was fast approaching. At this terrible moment Marshal Murphy appeared in front of the men who were huddled together in the narrow balcony. He appeared to be addressing his brave followers. What he said will probably never be known, for of all the men around him

None Escaped.

One of them crept around the burning balcony to the east and returned a moment later with a rope that had been left there. In the excitement it was hastily fastened to the railing around the balcony and thrown to the roof. One man seized it and started to slide down, but ere he was half way the flames rotted the rope and he was swallowed in the mouth of the awful volcano. Another tried it and met the same fate.

One after another, five men sprang from the balcony to the roof and were killed. The rope was burned off about half way down, and it hung apparently useless against a portion of the wall not yet destroyed.

A Gallant Rescue.

Seeing his men jump the marshal seized the rope and started down. A ladder had been raised but was almost 20 feet from the end of the rope. He dropped and caught on the end of the ladder. Captain Fitzpatrick was on the roof. He sprang forward and was soon at the top of the ladder. The captain started back with his friend but was enveloped in flames. With an energy of despair he clutched his comrade and slid down the ladder to the roof, where he fell prostrated. Both Murphy and Fitzpatrick were unconscious. They were led to the ground and taken to the hospital, and it is doubtful if either will recover.

Twenty-five minutes only had elapsed since the fire was discovered, but the entire tower was burned away, and it fell with an awful crash, carrying with it several firemen who were playing on the flames with the hose from the roof. There was a wild scramble to get off the roof.

As the firemen left the roof, one of them picked up the mangled form of one of the unfortunates who had jumped from the balcony and, carrying it to the edge of the roof, dropped it to the ground, thus saving it from cremation. As yet the body has not been identified, as the face was burned black.

Many of the unfortunate firemen who lost their lives might have been saved had the department been supplied with nets.

Seeing that it was a hopeless task to attempt to save the building, and, as all who escaped alive had left the roof, the firemen now directed their efforts to Keep the Fire From Spreading.

The World's fair stables just south of the warehouse were burning, and the fire had spread to the roofs of several hotels across Stony Island avenue, just outside the grounds. With a good deal of effort the hotels were saved, but the stables were burned to the ground.

In less than two hours from the time the fire started, the big cold-storage warehouse was levelled to the ground, a smoking ruin. It is doubtful if any of the bodies will be recovered, so terrible was the heat.

Were Close to Death.

SOMERVILLE, Mass., July 11.—A wagon, containing four men, was struck by an outward-bound train on the Fitchburg railroad, at the Dane street crossing. The men were on their way to work in Newton Highlands. The wagon was a complete wreck, and the four men were thrown violently to the ground and sustained several bad bruises. It is alleged that there was no flagman at the crossing at the time of the accident, and that the gates were not lowered to warn people of any danger.

A Reckless Lad's Fate.

BOSTON, July 11.—Albert Erickson, 13 years of age tried to climb into one of the wagons of the Boston Ice company on Columbus avenue and in so doing placed his foot between two spokes of the rear wheel. As the wagon was moving at the time, the lad was drawn up over the wheel and was thrown to the ground, the wheel passing over his body. The lad died a short time after the accident.

Visitors From Nicaragua.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 11.—Among the passengers arriving at this port by the Pacific Mail steamer Colon was General Roberto Sacasa of Nicaragua, in company with his wife and two sons. The party embarked at Coronto, the steamer Colon being the first to visit that port since the revolutionary disturbances commenced in that city.

Speculated In Australia.

LONDON, July 11.—The New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency company, limited, has failed, in consequence of the reflex action of the crashes that have lately occurred in the Australian financial world. The capital of the company is £4,500,000. Three-quarters of the losses will fall on people in Great Britain.

She Loved a Prince.

BRUSSELS, July 11.—Mlle. Wanda de Kasseye was a great beauty and lived with her stepfather, Russian Privy Councillor Metchowsky. She became enamored of Prince Victor Napolean and wrote love letters to him, which he ignored. She thereupon shot herself through the heart.

Dutchman to Try His Hand.

AMSTERDAM, July 11. — The Dutch sculler Ooms, who won the diamond sculls at the Henley regatta, is to compete for the championship in the international regatta at Chicago in September.

A FOUR-ROUND FIGHT

Proves Solly Smith's Superiority Over Jack Griffin.

JIM CORBETT'S CONCESSION.

He Will Fight Jackson Before He Tackles Mitchell.

ROBY, Ind., July 11.—Solly Smith, the Pacific coast featherweight champion last night astounded over 5000 people and won the world's championship by knocking Johnny Griffin out in the fourth round. The fight terminated so quickly that the crowd hardly realized the end for some minutes. Smith proved himself to be a wonderful fighter, and if Dixon ever meets him it will be the latter's Waterloo.

Perhaps the most dramatic scene ever seen in a ring took place before time was called. Corbett came into the grounds in a sauntering kind of way and was immediately recognized by the crowd. Inside the building the shout and cheers for Corbett forced him into the ring to make a speech.

The stillness was positively painful as the champion took off his hat

To Address the Crowd.

To those seated near by it was seen at once that he was laboring under some great mental excitement. This was shown to everyone in the building when he began to talk, as he snapped out the words in a very spirited style.

"Gentlemen," he began, "there is a colored man who has been following me over the country lately, saying that I am afraid to fight him. He is not here tonight, but his manager is, and he always talks for him. I have here in my hand a check for $10,000, which I place in President O'Malley's hands to make a match with Jackson at any time."

The cheering and howling that followed could have been heard for miles, and it continued in a feverish way as Parson Davies was seen trying to force his way through the crowd to the ropes. He jumped into the arena, but the crowd would not stop shouting until Corbett waved his hand.

Then again the silence became oppressive, and the Parson, in that smooth way of his, said in a few words that he would make a match if he was allowed to set the date.

This Jim Agreed To, and Davies, quick as a flash, said, "I name this coming November."

Corbett told Davies that he very well knew that he was to fight Mitchell in December.

Then the Parson began to taunt him and sneer at him, saying something about it being all a bluff. This was more than the fiery Pompadour Jim could stand and he replied, with his finger pointed convincingly at Davies: "You shall have your way; I'll fight Jackson in November and Mitchell in December."

In a moment shouts rent the air, so great was the enthusiasm for the champion's concession. Corbett then stated that he would insist on a forfeit at once, and a roll of $1000 was handed to Davies by a friend on the outside.

The entire proceeding was the greatest act ever seen in an athletic club, and really beggars description. Davies certainly looked dumfounded, and it was plain that he had fallen into a neatly laid trap prepared by "Pompadour Jim" and the Columbian management. The match eclipses in interest the Sullivan-Corbett match.

Griffin's Waterloo.

At 10:43 Griffin and Smith appeared in the ring, with their seconds. Time was called at 10:55. Smith moved wildly, but Griffin caught him with his right and left in the face. Both exchanged body blows. Smith had the advantage as the bell rang.

In the second round Smith started out with a wild rush, and Griffin swung, landing on Smith's face, staggering him for the moment, following it up with his right and left in the face. Both were hammering right and left when time was called.

In the third round Griffin led with a left on the face while Smith punched wildly. Griffin landed a good right and left on the face and both punched each other for a moment with vigor. Smith was groggy and apparently tired of the mill when the round ended.

Smith was still groggy when the bell rang for the fourth round. Griffin landed on his face with right and left, followed up with a heavy right on the breast, and rushed his opponent around the ring. Smith staggered, and a heavy thrust in the wind nearly sent him to earth. He turned on his opponent and caught Griffin full in the face below the eye. Griffin went down like a log and was twice counted out before the referee announced that the fight was Smith's.

Then the supporters of the victor cheered themselves hoarse. It was nearly five minutes before Griffin sufficiently recovered from his knockout so as to be able to walk out of the ring, and when he reached the dressing room he fairly collapsed. Blood was flowing freely from an ugly cut on the lip, occasioned by the final blow. Griffin took his luck with bad spirit.

George Dixon declared his willingness to meet the victor of the night, and it was agreed that both men should sign articles for a contest in October.

Big Cut In Wages.

TOLEDO, July 11.—The Milburn Wagon company served notice on its 800 employes of a 25 per cent reduction in wages. A large number of workmen at once laid down their tools and walked out.

Elmira Bank Reopens.

ELMIRA, N. Y., July 11.—The Elmira Savings bank has reopened for business, paying its old depositors a dividend of 25 per cent. As soon as possible another dividend will be declared.

Good Health In Hamburg.

HAMBURG, July 11.—The official reports as to the sanitation of this city show that the health conditions are good though the heat is intense.

Read Between the Lines

Most people know only comparatively few things thoroughly—all else is more or less uncertain. Take your own case. What do you know about carpets, for example? Are you competent to detect poor materials, or imperfect weaving, or unreliable colorings, or old-style patterns? No. Then, will it not be wisdom in your part to make your purchases of carpets where all these points are taken care of in your interest—where you are protected not only from direct misrepresentation but from the results of your own inexperience? Two things we promise: To tell you the whole truth about whatever you buy; to make good any hidden defect which may appear subsequent to purchase. Prices, too, are studiously kept at the moderate point. When next you buy carpets or upholstery, consider these things.

and you will discover some highly interesting statements relative to CARPETS and UPHOLSTERY.

They are not addressed to somebody else—some dweller in another town or city—but straight and square to You.

Chief Ripley has brought the Quincy Fire Department as a whole, up to a very high grade of efficiency, and is deserving of better treatment. If he lacked experience at the time of his appointment, he has certainly served a good apprenticeship and made few mistakes. Five years is a longer apprenticeship than is served in most trades.

The attractions of Downer Landing are well known to many Quincy people. They are well set forth in an advertisement on this page. It is a beautiful drive from Quincy and enjoyed by many.

The Nantasket Breeze of Saturday had illustrated covers. The principal hotels along the beach were artistically grouped, among them was the large and attractive house of Miss Floretta Vining's.

Mr. Horace F. Spear of Adams street was knocked down by a bicycle on Hancock street in front of E. B. Pratts residence, Monday evening, but sustained no serious injury. No signal was given by the rider who is unknown.

Miss Alice Keith Prescott of Spear street returned Saturday from a three week's sojourn at Miss Vining's, Stony Beach, Hull. She is much improved in health, gaining several pounds in weight, and her cheeks are several shades darker.

Capt Leavitt of the Quincy Cycle club has called a club run to Downer Landing Wednesday evening. The club will start from Durgin & Merrill's block at 7.15. For Sunday Capt. Leavitt has called a run to Natick starting from the above place at 9 A. M.

Major Charles N. Ford, the driver of Engineer Packard's team, had a narrow escape from serious injury this morning. He was leading the cow to pasture when a bicycle stole silently upon him. A warning cry caused him to jump one side just as the wheelman dashed by.

A petition is being circulated among the business men of Quincy asking that Miss Emma F. Kimball be appointed postmistress of Station A at West Quincy. Miss Kimball is the daughter of Francis A. Kimball, the late postmaster at this station, and is thoroughly acquainted with the duties of the office. The petition is being signed by business men regardless of party.

Important Sale at Atlantic.

Boston papers report J. L. Nason & Co. to have made a large and important sale of land to Chas. E. S. MacCorry of Boston—some 300,000 feet on Bay Field road, Atlantic. The land commands a beautiful view of the bay, and is the best located of any in Atlantic. This the buyer intends to cut up in lots at once and put on the market for building. The seller is Chas. E. Stratton of Boston.

THE CITY COUNCIL

Passes the Playground Order Championed by C. F. Adams.

THE WATER STREET CROSSING.

Lengthy Report on Investigation of Fire Department Laid on Table.

Monday evening was much to short to transact all the business pending in the City Council. There was a lengthy hearing on the abolishment of the Water street crossing. The playground order of $50,000 was championed by Hon. Charles F. Adams and passed to be ordained with but little opposition, and the Committee on Fire Department made a lengthy report of its investigation, which was discussed some and then laid on the table for four weeks.

Among the citizens present were Congressman Everett, ex-Mayor Porter, Senator Merrill, Hon. William A. Hodges, Hon. W. B. Rice, ex-President Federhen, ex-President Thompson and several ex-Councilmen.

Councilman Robbins was the only absentee.

Hose Wagon Vetoed.

Mayor Fairbanks returned the order of $600 for a new hose wagon for Ward Six without his approval.

The passage of the order was reconsidered and upon motion of Councilman Holbrook the matter was laid on the table.

The Money Market.

The Mayor in a communication informed the Council that it might be necessary owing to the stringency of the money market to pay seven per cent. interest on loans. He asked authority to borrow on temporary loans at that per cent. Laid on table.

Petitions.

Applications for common victualler's licenses were referred to the committee.

Councilman Brown presented the petition of C. M. Bryant and others for sidewalk under the betterment act on the north side of Beale street, between Hancock street and the depot. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Johnson presented the petition of the Quincy & Boston Street Railway for a curved track from Saville street to connect with the Manet Street Railway tracks. To Committee on Streets.

Reports.

Several licenses were granted upon recommendation of the Committee on Licenses.

The Committee on Finance reported a slight amendment to the order for $500 to regrade Cross street, and it was adopted, the order taking its second reading.

One application for State Aid was granted upon recommendation of committe.

The Committee on Public Buildings recommended $1500 for repairs of the Willard and Washington schoolhouses. Read once.

The same committee reported inexpedient to legislate on the petition for a ward room in Ward Three. Accepted.

The same committee also reported inexpedient as to public landing places. Accepted.

Fire Department Investigation.

A majority of the Committee on Fire Department reported at length on their investigation, Councilman Grindell dissenting.

Summing up the investigation of the Wollaston fire of April 15, the report says:

"Your committee find, that, in their opinion, the driver of the horse, Mr. Nickerson, was careless and negligent in not reporting his intended absence from the city on the night in question; that Captain Thomas showed a lack of judgment in not getting the horse from the stable; that Assistant Engineer King was negligent and failed to do his duty in not making some attempt to find out where Hose 2 was and get it to the fire; that the Chief Engineer was negligent and showed a lack of good judgment in not ordering Captain Thomas to bring his apparatus to the fire as soon as he was informed of its absence.

In conclusion, your committee desire to say that Sec. 2 of the ordinances governing the fire department provides that the chief engineer shall be responsible for the discipline, good order, and proper conduct of officers and men of the department, and for the good condition of houses, engines and all apparatus used in the fire department. He has sole power to remove or suspend members, and full control over houses, engines, apparatus, and all property appertaining to the fire department. Where such full and complete control and unlimited authority is given to any one man, it is essential that he should be a man efficient in every respect to guard the property of the city and its citizens, from destruction by fire. He should be a man capable of enforcing good discipline among the men under his control and should set the example to his men by conforming to the ordinances, rules and regulations prescribed for the fire department.

Your committee made a lengthy examination of the qualifications and experience of the present Chief Engineer, and found that his former experience consisted of two years service, when a boy, upon one of the hand engines formerly used in the town of Quincy, and that that term of service expired in 1868. It appears that his next connection with the fire department in any capacity was when he was appointed Chief Engineer of the fire department of Quincy.

It appears to your committee, after a careful examination of the qualifications and capacity of the present Chief Engineer, that the discipline and efficiency of the fire department of Quincy might be materially benefited by the appointment of some man as chief engineer who has had a greater experience in fighting fires, in the control and authority over men, and in the enforcement of good discipline, than the present incumbent."

Grade Crossing Hearing.

The fire department report was interrupted by the hearing to the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. and others on the following:

ORDERED: That a public hearing be given in the Council Chamber on Monday evening, July 10 at 8 o'clock, to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co., lessee of the Old Colony Railroad, and all other parties interested in the question of abolishing the Water street grade crossing, and that notice of said meeting be published in the Quincy PATRIOT, Quincy DAILY LEDGER and Quincy Advertiser.

Councilman Anderson thought the Council recognized the necessity of the abolishment, but wished to hear suggestions as to how.

Councilman Moxon hoped all the light possible would be given, as it was an important movement.

An engineer of the railroad was present to represent the corporation, but thought the views of the petitioners should first be heard. The railroad had done nothing more than to prepare a profile of its road between Quincy and Quincy Adams. He had expected some plan would be presented, on some of the four schemes suggested. To raise the tracks and bridge the street seemed impracticable as it would cause a grade crossing at School street.

Dr. Faxon hoped if grades were to be separated it would be by some comprehensive plan which would take all other crossings into consideration. It should be done so that future generations would not have to undo. He wanted the petitioners to present their ideas.

Ex-Councilman Thompson for the petitioners had an idea that as the railroad had the largest financial interest, it would present some scheme. Superintendent Allen had stated that it was the most dangerous crossing on the road. He promised then to co-operate for its abolishment. How far he intends to co-operate the speaker did not know. The petitioners have no plans to suggest. They recognized the necessity and were prepared to discuss plans that might be suggested. There being no plans, nothing remained but to petition for the appointment of commissioners with full powers.

Dr. Faxon then presented an elaborate scheme. He said the grade of the railroad was as low as it could be. In the separation of the grades at Water street, other crossings and the future needs of the city should be considered. New streets would some day be laid out in extension of Cottage avenue and Canal streets and others south of Water street. The Granite street railroad bridge was too low. The Saville street crossing should be abolished. Newport avenue might be extended south. Franklin street and Marsh street should be extended to Granite street. The railroad should be raised between the Adams street bridge and Birch Isle, and all streets between (including School street) should go under. He predicted that the Quincy station would some day be located between Granite and School streets. Thought the the scheme outlined might cost $400,000. He opposed petitioning with the meagre information at hand.

Councilman Shackley asked if petition was not in line with his scheme.

Dr. Faxon said no, as it would make a grade crossing at School street.

George Cahill asked some questions of Dr. Faxon.

H. M. Federhen as a member of last year's Council committee knew that President Kendrick was in favor of abolishing crossing by raising tracks. Dr. Faxon's scheme was in the right direction. All crossings and new streets should be considered.

The engineer of the Old Colony did not wish to appear in opposition. The road was willing to cooperate, and would be glad to present plans or cooperate in any plan which could be agreed upon. It would be necessary for the city to present some plan if it was going before commissioners. His experience told him that the expense was about the same whether the streets go under or over. It was expedient to prepare plans.

Councilman Anderson presented four schemes: 1—To put Water street under the railroad; 2—To abolish crossing and divert travel to School street by a new street parallel with railroad; 3—To abolish and bridge track at extension of Franklin place. 4—Divert Water street to the south of the Quincy Adams depot and go under railroad.

Ex-Councilman Fallon thought Dr. Faxon had some good ideas, but was looking too far ahead and he did not believe in it wholly. Objected to burrowing under the railroad at every point. It was not the plan adopted in large cities. It would cost considerable to raise the tracks from Quincy to Birch Isle. Favored a bridge over railroad on Water street.

The hearing closed at 9.30 and the matter was recommitted to Committee on Streets.

$50,000 For Playgrounds.

The order appropriating $50,000 on a loan at a rate of interest not exceeding five per cent., for a playground in each ward of the city, was taken up under a suspension of the rules.

Charles F. Adams, the chairman of the Park Commissioners, appeared in its favor. The Park Commissioners had elaborated on the plans at length in the City Book recently issued. The city had very properly forbidden ball playing, etc., in the streets, but they had neglected to provide suitable places. Ten years ago playgrounds might have been bought for $10,000, which will now cost $50,000 and ten years hence might cost $500,000. It was useless to say, improve Merrymount and Faxon parks, as they are not accessible to the children of some of the wards for playgrounds. The Park Commissioners were not prepared to state specifically what land they want. It would not be business like. The city should take advantage of secrecy of action, and do the best possible.

CITY COUNCIL.

This movement was in line with that of the State. The commonwealth had this year placed $1,000,000 at the disposal of the Metropolitan Park Commission, of which he had the honor to be chairman, without any restrictions as to where it should be expended. It was this that the Quincy Park Commissioners asked of the city. There should be playgrounds in every ward of the city with the possible exception of Ward One. The Commissioners propose to get them on the lowest terms if not restricted. The financial ability of the members could be depended upon to hold the issue of the bonds until they could be negotiated on low terms. To proceed as outlined was nothing new. The State had established the precedent if it did not exist before.

H. H. Faxon queried if many owners of large tracts would not be willing to give a few acres for the betterment to the remainder of their property.

Mr. Adams assured Mr. Faxon that the Commissioners would avail themselves of such opportunities.

The order was then passed to be ordained by the following vote:

YEAS—Adams, Anderson, Badger, Baker, Brown, Donahoe, Federhen, Grindell, Holden, Lennon, Moxon, O'Connell, Owen, Rooney, Shackley, Sherman, Smith and Williams—18.

NAYS—Drake, Holbrook and Johnson—3.

The Fire Department Report.

The report of the Fire Department committee was again taken up.

Councilman Grindell, who dissented from the majority, said he had not signed the report because the testimony didn't warrant the censure of the Chief Engineer.

Councilman Federhen went into the investigation at length. He said it had been held in spite of the Mayor and Chief Engineer, which was to be expected, and in spite of the daily press of the city. He began a tirade against the DAILY LEDGER, speaking very disrespectly of one of the editors, and she a lady, when President Bass rapped him to order, informing that it was not the place for such remarks.

Councilman Federhen appealed from the decision of the President, but it was promptly sustained.

Continuing Councilman Federhen said all the information had been obtained in the investigation from firemen, except one ex-fireman, in face of hostile opposition. Captain Thomas, of Wollaston, was a victim of circumstances, when others were equally to blame. The points brought out in the report were enlarged upon, and in conclusion he said the remedy was not in the Council's hand, but it can recommend.

Councilman Grindell said the committee had received testimony from the ex-member of the department that the fire department of Quincy was on as good footing as in any city of its size outside of Boston. But all in favor of the department had been excluded from the report, and all against it included.

Councilman Williams asked what had been left out that was favorable.

Councilman Grindell reiterated his statement as to efficiency.

Councilman Brown asked if all in the report was not true.

Councilman Grindell said yes, as far as it went.

Councilman Moxon moved, as it was getting late, to lay on the table.

The motion was put and declared carried. It was doubted and lost, 8 to 11.

Councilman Moxon thought the charges as much against the Committee on Fire Department as its officers. He objected emphatically to the publicity given and purposely given. To the studied attempt to make it as notorious as possible. Such a report will do more to cause a want of discipline in the department than anything else. Why was it necessary to bring it through all this machinery? What does it mean? How stern was the necessity which prompted the investigation? The statements may be truths but possible distorted. Admitting they are truths would it not have been more straight forward to have corrected them in the proper channel, than in such a report.

A motion to postpone further consideration until the first meeting in August (the 7th) prevailed.

The Council at 10.15 adjourned for one week leaving much unfinished business.

JULYS OF THE PAST.

A WONDERFUL MONTH IN THE HISTORY OF NATIONS.

Not Only the Month of Independence, but of Many Other Important Events. Charles Carroll of Carrollton—The Continental Congress.

July is a wonderful month in the history of all nations, and in many of them the leading anniversary falls in that month. Of course this is not the result of mere accident. It has often been remarked that more startling and important events have occurred in one month of midsummer and one of midwinter than in all the rest of the year, and truly man is so far subject to nature that stirring events seem to crowd, as it were, toward that period when vegetation for the most part completes its growth.

CHARLES CARROLL OF CARROLLTON

It is claimed that more bloody and decisive battles have been fought in June and July than in all the rest of the year.

It is a matter of common knowledge that all or very nearly all the great riots have been in the hottest weather, and the reason is obvious. The greatest riot ever known in London began June 7, 1780, and lasted five days. Thirty-six fires were blazing at once, and in suppressing the outbreak 210 rioters were known to have been killed and 248 wounded. The greatest riot in New York began July 13, 1863, and the total of killed and wounded is roughly estimated at 300. In July, 1877, there was rioting in almost every northern city between the Hudson and the Mississippi, and the total of killed certainly exceeded 300. The loss by fire and otherwise has been estimated all the way from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000. July certainly is the fighting month.

It is just the same in France. The month is there so memorable that "Days of July," "Column of July," etc., are familiar to all readers. The 14th is French Independence day, because on that day in 1789 the Parisians captured and sacked the Bastille. On the same date in 1790 Louis XVI took the oath to support the new and liberal constitution. July 5, 1791, the assembly voted to abolish the last remains of kingly power. July 28, 1794, Robespierre and his adherents were guillotined, and the reign of terror ended. Thereafter the discontented in France made it a point to begin their disturbances on one or the other of these dates, but the government, being forewarned, kept them down till July 27, 1830, when the second revolution began. The war with Germany began in July, 1870, but was fought chiefly in the next month.

It is quite in the course of nature that great military movements should culminate in July, but many events of the month in American history seem to have more than a passing significance. To all patriots it will never cease to be matter of deep thought that the two statesmen most prominent in securing the passage of the Declaration of Independence, after having been presidents of the nation they founded, died on the same day just 50 years after their memorable act. Historians of 1826 tell us that as the news traveled slowly over the land that one of them was dead the date was taken as but an accidental coincidence, but when it was followed in a few days by information of the other's death pious men everywhere saw in it the evidence of a supernal order, as if heaven itself smiled upon their great work and approved it in the most impressive of all methods.

Five years more passed, and ex-President James Monroe died on July 4 in New York city. He served in the field as Adams and Jefferson had served in congress, and it certainly seems something more than a coincidence that the three died on Independence day. Hannibal Hamlin is the only vice president who has died on that date. Not long before his death Jefferson wrote thus to Adams: "I have ever dreaded a doting age, and my health is so good that I dread it still. The rapid decline of my strength the last winter gives me hope that I see land. * * * They say that Starke [the 'Victor of Bennington' had recently died at 93] could walk about his room. I am told that you walk well and firmly. I can only reach my garden, and that with sensible fatigue. I ride, however, daily, but reading is my delight. God bless you and give you health, strength, good spirits and as much life as you think worth having."

The death of Adams and Jefferson left but one—Charles Carroll of Carrollton, Md., who for five years was known as the last survivor of the immortal 56. It was his singular fortune to be alone and noted in many things. He was the only Roman Catholic who signed the Declaration of Independence. He was by far the richest man in all the colonies, as rich probably as any other three men. He was the only man in the continental congress sprung from a very old family of unquestionably "noble blood" on both sides. And he lived to the greatest age (95) and outlived all the other "signers." Still more, he had near relatives almost equally celebrated in the same cause and founded a family which in the truly American sense of that word may be called "noble" in Maryland.

GERMANY'S ARMY BILL.

Strong Probability That It Will Be Passed by a Large Majority.

BERLIN, July 10.—Emperor William received Herr Von Levetzow, president of the reichstag, and the two new vice presidents yesterday. He expressed satisfaction with the position of the army bill, adding that a good majority for it on the decisive vote would greatly impress other nations. The probability that the bill will be passed by a large majority has increased greatly in the last 48 hours. Herr Von Koscielski and Dr. Von Jazdzewski, leaders of the Poles, have pledged to the government the solid vote of their party. A considerable group of clericals have refused to support Dr. Liebers' proposal to send the bill to a committee. The chancellor and his agents are very confident.

Aluminum Works at Niagara Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, July 10.—The Pittsburg Reduction company, the largest producers of pure aluminum in this country, have decided to remove its plant to the falls. A contract for 6500 electrical horse power was signed with the Cataract Construction company of New York, and a site afterward selected here. It is expected that ground will be broken within the next 40 days. This means virtually the establishment here of the greatest aluminum plant in the world.

Socialists Want Universal Suffrage.

VIENNA, July 10.—The Socialists made a public demonstration yesterday in favor of universal suffrage. More than 10,000 of them attended the indoor meeting, and as many more listened to speeches in the city hall square. The announcement is made semi-officially that Count Taaffe, Austrian premier, will propose that workingmen's chambers elect delegates to the reichstadt.

Italy's Bank Scandals to Be Investigated.

ROME, July 10.—The Patria newspaper says that as soon as the senate finishes the business now in hand the closing of the session will be ordered by the government, with a view toward proceeding against all members who are implicated in the bank scandals. The guilty senators will be requested to resign.

Return of Successful Firemen.

NEW YORK, July 10.—The steamship Furnessia from Glasgow has on board 10 men of the Hall Watertower company of Kansas City, also their watertower and horses. They have been giving exhibitions throughout Great Britain and have won several gold medals.

A letter recently deposited in the post-office at Charlotte, Va., was held for postage, addressed to "Hon. Grover Cleveland, Washington, D. C., care of Hoke Smith, Secretary of the Interior." It was posted March 8 minus a stamp.

Seven hundred tons of butter arrived in London in one shipment from Australia two weeks ago. Its total value was about $340,000.

Proposed Monuments.

H. H. Legge Post 25, G. A. R., has purchased a beautiful lot in Prospect Hill cemetery in Uxbridge, and the Worcester Spy says it is not unlikely that a subscription will be made for the purpose of erecting a soldiers' monument.

George W. Childs of Philadelphia is to erect a sarcophagus monument in Greenwood cemetery to the late Professor Richard A. Proctor, the famous astronomer and writer who died in 1888.

A $1000 monument of Quincy granite has just been placed on the Hunerford lot in Manchester, Conn.

MOTIVE FOR MURDER

Appears to Be Lacking In the McCarthy Case.

MYSTERY DEEP AS EVER.

Police Think They Have Found the Fatal Weapon.

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Mass., July 11.—From whatever point it is viewed the McCarthy murder is an impenetrable mystery. The more the case is looked into and the more clues that are followed up, the thicker the cloud of mystery becomes. While the officials would like to think it is something beside a murder, it is impossible to do so with the information at hand.

But at the same time not the least motive for the crime has been discovered. The local police have been hard at work all day, but the result of their work has shown nothing of value.

Officer Freeman has run down rumor after rumor and clue after clue, only to find himself as deep in the mystery as before. The officials are working as systematically as they can, considering that none of them have handled a case of this magnitude before.

While the officials have had several clues that looked to be important at first, they have run them down and found they had no connection with the case whatever.

Soon after the body was found Constable Crossley made a discovery of what may be An Important Clue.

Floating on the water near where the body was taken he found a stick of small timber about three feet long. It was about three inches wide and a half inch thick, with the side at one end coming to an edge.

Near one end was a bent nail, around which were some hairs. If there had been any blood on the stick it had been washed off by the water. This stick was produced at the autopsy and at the conclusion was carried away by the medical examiner. It is evident that the officials attach considerable weight to it.

It is the opinion of the authorities that the wounds could have been made by the use of that piece of wood. It is a quite heavy piece of chestnut with a sharp edge, which is sufficiently sharp to make a cut almost as clean as that with a knife. The side of the head has the appearance of having received a downward blow, such as could have been made by the use of this piece of wood.

Along the top of the scalp, just where the forehead begins, is a long mark or scratch which could have been made by the nail in the edge of the stick, in the downward course when the blow was struck.

When the skin was removed from the face and scalp on the right side there was seen much discoloration, showing that had been dealt upon the old man's head. A wound that is especially puzzling is the one just back of and above the right ear, which consists of a well defined hole as large as a silver dollar.

How this could have been inflicted no one pretends to know. It is quite evident that all the wounds but this could have been made with the stick.

In view of this it has been suggested that a hatchet may have been used; that the other wounds might have been made with the blade and the hole might have been inflicted by a powerful blow from the back part of the head of the hatchet.

On the other hand, it is thought that the cuts around the ear were not clear enough to have been made with a hatchet unless it was a very dull one. Again it has been suggested that two weapons might have been used, but this is thought hardly probable.

A Curious Fact

noticed at the autopsy was that no blood was found on any part of the dead man's clothing, and this notwithstanding that the whole side of his face was a mass of lacerated flesh and the jugular vein had been torn open. This fact is puzzling the officers a great deal.

The officials are of the opinion that the murder was committed some distance from the pond; that it was done in the daylight, the body being secreted until they had an opportunity to take it to the pond. The road to the pond is a deserted one.

A LETTER FROM SHERMAN

In Which He States His Position on the Silver Question.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 11.—Congressman Walker makes public a letter from John Sherman which he received yesterday. Its conclusion is as follows:

What we want now is relief from further compulsory purchases of silver. We would gladly have reduced the amount to be purchased and at a fixed time suspended the purchase, but this was refused by our conferees. Now that the great evil we have feared has, I trust, passed away, we would willingly leave the amount of both gold and silver to be coined or held in the treasury to the law of supply and demand.

I assume that Republican senators and members who, after full conference, agreed to our report will, in the main, vote for the repeal of the compulsory purchase of silver bullion, and hope that our political friends who felt bound by the local interests of their constituents to advocate the clause of free coinage will be convinced by the experiment made that the only position we can occupy in the interests of our constituents at large is the one fixed standard of value, and the use of both metals maintained at par with each other on a ratio as near as possible to their market value.

Such a policy I believe is right. With reserves both of gold and silver in the proportions we can maintain the entire body of our paper money, including coin, at par with each other. For one I will never agree to the revival of state bank paper money, which cannot be made a legal tender, and which on the first sign of alarm will disappear or be lost in the hands of the holder.

RELEASED FROM PRISON.

Two Men Who Were Charged With Having Committed Murder.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 11.—Charles Abrahams and Joseph Benoit of North Adams, who have been in jail a year, charged with murder, were brought before Judge Dewey in the civil term yesterday and released upon their personal recognizance in $500 each. This was done under the arrangement of their counsel, Lawyers Couch and Parkhurst, with District Attorney Gardner and Attorney General Pillsbury.

Abrahams was charged with murdering his wife by saturating her clothing with kerosene oil and then setting fire to it. Benoit was alleged to have been an accessory. Counsel for the defense satisfied the government that they have conclusive evidence of the innocence of both men.

Left Creditors Behind.

BOSTON, July 11.—Charles E. Miller, erstwhile of Dorchester, was employed as foreman in the composing room of C. J. Peters & Co., electrotypers. On June 17 he was discharged. Now Miller is in parts unknown, and numerous people of Boston mourn for the sums they loaned him. Besides this he left behind him a wife heart-broken by his desertion, driven by his action to seek to take her own life, fortunately, however, without success. Rumor connects Miller's name with that of a young woman who worked at the Peters establishment.

Kicked to Death.

NEW HAVEN, July 11.—Scoville L. Atwood, 69 years old, while trying to mount a cart at Savin Rock last evening, slipped in front of the dashboard. The horses were frightened and ran four blocks, dragging Atwood with them. Their hoofs struck him at every jump, and the old man was literally kicked to death.

Charges Not Proved.

BOSTON, July 11.—Captain Creighton of the vessel Susie M. Plummer was brought before United States Commissioner Fiske on a complaint charging him with beating and wounding Johann Olsen, one of the crew. The captain was discharged, no probable cause being shown against him.

President Goes Fishing.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 11.—The president yesterday made his first fishing trip since he arrived at Gray Gables. He was accompanied by Colonel Lamont and Dr. Bryant. They fished several hours, their catch being scup, tautog and bass. The president's condition has improved.

Figures From Maine.

AUGUSTA, Me., July 11.—The state treasurer has completed the apportionment of the school fund and mill tax for 1893. The amount apportioned is $505,668.81; increase over 1892, $17,706.33; number of scholars returned, 207,183; decrease, 3411. Amount per capita, $2.44; last year, $2.31 1-2.

Receipts Show a Decrease.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 11.—Internal revenue collections for the district of New Hampshire, Maine and Vermont, for the month of June, were $51,480.18. The collections for the past six months were $238,266.25, a slight decrease from the corresponding months of last year.

Result of a Jag.

BOSTON, July 11.—Edward Hannon, residing at 6 Grove square, made a desperate attempt to end his life by cutting his throat with a razor yesterday afternoon. He succeeded in making a bad gash in his neck. It is said that Hannon had been drinking heavily of late.

Mayor Sawed It Down.

BOSTON, July 11.—Mayor Matthews returned the loan bill passed by the city council, aggregating $3,649,500, to the board of aldermen, yesterday afternoon, and the bill as he has left it foots up $2,514,109, he having cut out items amounting to $1,125,400.

Boston and Maine Sued For $20,000.

LAWRENCE, Mass., July 11.—A writ of attachment was filed in the registry of deeds for $20,000 against the Boston and Maine railroad by Eben F. Dolbir, who was run over in a Boston freight yard Jan. 23 last. The suit is brought to recover damages.

Did Not Prove Their Claim.

BOSTON, July 11.—Judge Colt dismissed with costs the bill in equity brought by Levy Brothers of New York for an injunction to enjoin Waitt & Bond of this city from using the word "Blackstone" in selling cigars.

Looking For Work.

HARTFORD, July 11.—Samuel Holstein, brother-in-law of Morris Levy, the butcher who mysteriously disappeared July 4, has received a letter from him in New York, stating that he is looking for work.

Parental Objections.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., July 11.—Harry Blake, 19, and Mamie Askew, 16, planned an elopement, and the girl had her trousseau secreted at a friend's house, when the plot was discovered by her parents.

After Three Days of Suffering.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., July 11.—Schooner Orpheus from Grand Banks brought two men belonging to a French fishing vessel who got astray and were picked up after three days without food or water.

Spinners Quit Work.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., July 11.—Twenty-three mule spinners of the Social mill refused to work until Thomas F. Conley, who had trouble with the overseer and was discharged, is reinstated.

Brief Mention.

Nineteen horses were burned to death in a fire at Montvale, Mass.

Two men were hurt by the fall of a derrick at the new Hecht building, Boston.

Public bequests of $33,000 were contained in the will of Abbott Lawrence of Boston.

A test of Joseph S. Foster's flying machine at Salem, Mass., proved unsuccessful.

Tickets for 25,000 free rides on the West End road were given to the Boston aldermen for distribution.

The Martha's Vineyard summer institute opened its 16th annual five weeks session, and has several hundred pupils.

Annie Lynch, 17 years old, tried to commit suicide at Lowell, Mass., by taking three drachms of opium. Her chances of recovery are doubtful.

Augustus Hemenway has invited the public school teachers of Canton, Mass., 26 in number, to a 10-day trip to the World's fair at his expense.

J. D. Hunt, a prominent temperance and political worker of Milford, Mass., is critically ill. He is known in prohibition circles all over New England.

Robert Parsons and Patrick Killarney were boating at Parsons' beach, near Kennebunk, Me., when their boat capsized and Patrick was drowned.

Stanislow Bzezinsk, the Polander who cut his throat at Northampton, Mass. Sunday, died yesterday. He did not speak after being taken to the hospital.

A. S. Willard, a soap manufacturer of Hadley, Mass., was fatally injured in Northampton. He fell from his wagon and the wheels passed over his head.

The seventh superintendent of the Newport (R. I.) street railway, which has been in operation but three years, has resigned because of the interference of the president of the road.

Joseph Ayoob of New York, charged with smuggling goods through the New Haven custom house, was given a preliminary hearing and was held in $4000 bonds for the August term of the United States court.

CLEVELAND'S ERRORS

Had Much to Do With Boston's Capture of the Game.

CLEVELAND, July 11.—Bad work in the box lost the game for Cleveland. Three or four times the local club forged ahead, but Cuppy could not hold his own. Cleveland's errors were all costly and came just at the wrong time.

New Pitcher For Boston.

PITTSBURG, July 11.—Manager Frank Selee got to pondering over the Pittsburg's position, and the fact that the local club was strong in pitching talent dawned on him. He went and saw Buckenberger and asked him to let him talk with Gastright. "Buck" said go ahead, so President Soden was wired about the deal. The answer was satisfactory to Selee, and Gastright will probably finish the season with the Bostons.

The Franco-German Frontier.

HAMBURG, July 11.—France and Germany have arranged that a commission shall mark the territorial boundary more distinctly. More conspicuous boundary posts will be erected, and where the frontier traverses forests a neutral zone, two meters broad, will be marked on each side of the line.

Leaves a Good Record.

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., July 11.—Charles D. Brenneke, a notable character, died here, aged 79 years. He was born in Hild Berg, Germany, July 4, 1814. He built the first beet sugar factory in Europe and the first railroad out of Berlin.

Changes Should Be Made.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Colonel John M. Wilson, in charge of the White House and the adjacent grounds, has made a strong report on the necessity of some change in the arrangements for the domestic life of the chief executive.

Brain Was Clouded.

BOSTON, July 11.—Henry C. Fitch, 56 years old, who kept a large restaurant, has been suffering from mental aberration for several days, and last evening he was found dead in the sub-cellar of his home, with a bullet in his temple.

Cholera Breaks Out Afresh.

ODESSA, July 11.—The cholera has broken out again in the province of Kherson and is spreading in the villages along the Dneiper and Dneister. The authorities by stringent measures hope to prevent the plague from reaching here.

Brazilian Admiral Turns Traitor.

NIPPED IN THE BUD.

Boston's Bank Squad Make a Capture of Swindlers.

HEADQUARTERS AT BOSTON.

Were Getting Ready to Work New England Cities.

BOSTON, July 12.—Two bogus concerns, masquerading under different names, came to grief yesterday by the arrest of two men by police inspectors. The concerns have been known as "White, Newton & Stockbridge, bankers and commercial brokers," with an office at 7 State street, and Charles H. Thompson & Co., commission merchants, with an office at the corner of Chatham street and Merchants' row.

It is alleged that by forgeries they have victimized several banks throughout this state, as well as those in several other states, and that they have really been doing an extensive business. Just how long they have been in the city is not known.

The Names of the Men placed under arrest are James R. Fuller, 38 years of age, claiming a residence at 27 Pinckney street, and Harry C. Arnold, 19 years old, who says his father lives at 416 State street, Chicago, but says that he has been stopping at different places in this city of late.

For quite a long period the inspectors of the bank squad, Gerraughty and Houghton, have been on the lookout for these alleged swindlers, but until yesterday they were unable to catch the men. This they did at the office on Chatham street.

The two inspectors named above, accompanied by Inspector Knox, visited the place and without much difficulty arrested Fuller and Arnold, but the oldest one of the trio it is supposed succeeded in making his escape by jumping out of a window to the street, but a short distance.

The principal office of these men has been at 7 State street, where business has been done under the name of "White, Newton & Stockbridge."

This concern has represented itself as doing a large business and has played most of its pranks with the banks all over the country.

It has been their scheme to send letters from their establishment on Chatham street under the name of "Charles H. Thompson & Co." to the banks, with the representation that an agent from this house might call at the bank to which the letter was addressed and present check for a few hundred dollars. It was stated in the letter that if this was done it would be all right to give him the cash, as "Thompson & Co." said it had a large account with White, Newton & Stockbridge, bankers. To substantiate this claim they inclosed a certificate from the bankers, showing that they were all secure.

The letters and certificates were both printed on letter paper, bearing the heads of the two alleged firms. Enclosed with the letters would be a fac simile of the signature of the agent who would call.

Worked Nicely.

All this was done so nicely that in many cases the swindle is said to have worked nicely, but it appears they struck a snag at Springfield and Fall River yesterday.

Superintendent Eldridge received a communication from the Second National bank of Springfield asking about the concern, and agreeing to withhold payment until word was received by him. The matter was again called to the attention of Messrs. Gerraughty and Houghton, who took the initiative steps.

Shortly afterward a similar communication was received from a bank at Fall River.

The Capture.

The officers visited the place about noon time and all three were sitting in the office when the officers entered and, without ceremony, the oldest of the three jumped out of the window, and escaped. This is supposed to have been Thompson.

The other two were taken to headquarters, and the inspectors also took along all of the circulars, etc., they could find in the two places.

Arnold was supposed to be the agent named "Freeman," and yesterday afternoon admitted that such was the fact when Chief Inspector Coulter had clearly secured a sample of his handwriting and compared it to his writing on a circular that has been sent out.

In Fuller's pocket was found a lot of letters all ready to be sent to different banks. Fuller was an agent who operated south of Boston, and Arnold, alias Freeman, it is said, worked northward.

A list of banks in the various cities was found in their pockets. Among the cities included were Portland and Biddeford, Me., Newburyport, Worcester, Springfield, Fall River, etc.

Sturtevant Blower Works to Start Up.

BOSTON, July 12.—In an interview with Manager E. N. Foss of the Sturtevant blower works, he said that the 25 contract workers had voted to resume work today on the old terms, and it is expected that all of their old men will return with them. This practically breaks up the strike. The day men have asked to be reinstated, but Mr. Foss declined to take them back in a body, but stated that such of them as were wanted would be hired as individuals. The foundrymen did not strike, but went out because compelled to by the shutting down of the other departments, so it is expected that they will return when their services are required.

Bound Over in $6000 Each.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

In the Hands of His Friends as a Candidate for Gubernatorial Honors.

BOSTON, July 12.—It can be stated on unquestionable authority that Attorney General Pillsbury is at the service of the Republican party as a candidate for governor, and under no circumstances will he again be a candidate for attorney general. He will remain in the field to and through its convention, and if he is the choice of the convention he will accept the nomination with the purpose of being elected. There is not and has not been any occasion to doubt that this is and will remain his position. That he has refrained from making any public statement on the subject, or any formal declaration of his candidacy, is due only to the fact that he has not considered it necessary to declare what most people have assumed and recognized.

Fund For Borden Investigation.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 12—There is an unconfirmed report that prominent ladies in Boston and New York are raising a fund with which to prosecute extensive inquiries into the Borden mystery. The matter will be gone into as thoroughly as money and competent detective work will admit, and it is hinted that strange developments might ensue. It is also reported the Misses Borden have purchased the Charles N. Allen property on French street, in the aristocratic portion of the city.

Sons of St. George In Session.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 12.—The two-days' session of the fifth annual convention of the Sons of St. George opened in the Grand Army hall yesterday. Twenty-nine delegates were present. President Davies of Worcester presided. These officers were elected: President, W. H. Weir, Boston; vice president, George Hudson, Waltham; secretary, John C. Hudson, Cambridgeport; treasurer, Lawrence Davenport of Lawrence. The officers were installed at the afternoon session.

Lynn's City Solicitor.

LYNN, Mass., July 12.—John R. Baldwin was elected city solicitor by both branches of the city government in joint convention last evening. In the council, Councilman Young asked for information regarding Mt. Vernon street, which was to be changed to allow of a new Boston and Maine depot in Central square.

On a petition of the Taunton (Mass.) street railway to lay tracks and operate electric cars across Slade's ferry bridge, the county commissioners decided that they had no jurisdiction and granted the petitioners leave to withdraw.

The amount to be raised at Salem, Mass., by taxation this year is $422,965.31. There is also to be raised $30,159 for the state tax and $28,951.65 for the county tax. The tax will be between $17.50 and $18 per $1000. Last year it was $16.

When Willis H. Birge, a farmer of Windsor Locks, Conn., went to feed his flock of 40 sheep, he found that 30 of them had been killed by dogs. Under the state law the town will have to reimburse Mr. Birge if the owners of the dogs cannot be found.

The special committee on enlarging the Framingham (Mass.) high school building have awarded the building contract to John P. Kyte for $11,000. The Smead Warming and Ventilating company secured the contract for heating and ventilating for $2200.

Paul Christian, 40 years of age, an employe of the Thomson-Houston electric works at Lynn, Mass., was instantly killed yesterday afternoon by the bursting of an emery wheel at the foundry, where he was at work. He lived at 40 Federal street, and leaves a family.

HOT WORDS PASSED

In the British House of Commons Between Members

WERE WITHDRAWN LATER.

Irish Members Cheered for Resenting an Insult.

LONDON, July 12.—The house of commons, sitting in committee, continued last evening the discussion of clause 9 of the home rule bill.

The clause concerns the question of Irish representation at Westminster.

Henry Seton-Karn, Conservative, moved that the Irish members of the imperial parliament be chosen by the constituencies which would elect the Irish legislative council. Under this amendment the Irish in the house of commons would number 48, instead of 80, as proposed by the bill.

John Morley, chief secretary for Ireland, replied that this proposal was based on no principle of government, and was the result merely of a desire to curtail Irish representation in the house, and could not be accepted by the government.

Sir Richard Temple, Conservative, said that even 48 Irish members would be too many.

William Brodrick, Conservative, agreed with Sir Richard. The Irish, he said, were both impecunious and garrulous and therein lay two reasons for reducing their representation in the house to a minimum.

Thomas Sexton, anti-Parnellite, interrupted Mr. Brodrick to say that such language was and ought not to be tolerated in the house.

The Unionists shouted "Withdraw," and the Irish cheered.

Lord Randolph Churchill suugested that Mr. Sexton withdraw his words, as Mr. Brodrick's were not intended for him personally.

The chairman told Mr. Sexton that he was out of order and must withdraw his expressions concerning Mr. Brodrick's speech. Mr. Sexton expressed his willingness to obey the chairman in case Mr. Brodrick would first express regret for his language.

Timothy Healy, anti-Parnellite, said he regarded Mr. Sexton's attitude as quite justifiable. To call the Irish race impecunious and garrulous was to insult every Irish member who stood by his countrymen.

The Irish cheered, the Unionists shouted their protests, and for two or three minutes the house was in an uproar. Chairman Mellor appealed to the members to support him and close the incident.

Mr. Gladstone spoke in favor of the chairman's decision, but added that the person striking the first blow ought to make the first overtures for a reconciliation.

Mr. Balfour said that, acting under his advice, Mr. Broderick refused to apologize. The chairman appealed to Mr. Sexton, who had been conferring with several colleagues on the Irish benches. Mr. Sexton did not respond, as was expected, to the appeal. "I am willing to do anything consistent with my duty to please the prime minister," he said, "but considering the gravity of the insult offered to my countrymen, I have decided not to make any apology. I submit myself to the judgment of the committee."

Loud Irish Cheers

greeted this statement. The chairman hesitated and finally ordered Mr. Sexton to withdraw. Mr. Sexton shouted back, hotly: "Such a course is unprecedented. Why am I not named and my conduct submitted to the house."

Irish cheers, Unionists' shouts and cries of "Divide" followed this challenge. The chairman pulled himself together and with more show of spirit than he has made before, repeated his order that Mr. Sexton withdraw. Mr. Sexton again refused to do so. The Irish cried "Don't withdraw." Several of them were on their feet to speak. The Unionists shouted that Mr. Sexton should be compelled to obey. In the turmoil the chairman gave his third order that Mr. Sexton withdraw. Mr. Sexton stuck doggedly to his seat. The chairman then explained the standing order concerning the suspension of members disregarding the authority of the chair. His last words were almost taken from his mouth by Timothy Healy, who exclaimed: "This is a shame. It has never been done before. It is due to Milman."

This reference to Archibald Milman, clerk assistant in the house, and the immediate inference that he had been coaching Mr. Mellor as to his duties, caused a general disturbance. The Unionists shouted derisively: "Who is chairman?" The Irish replied in chorus,

"Milman Is Boss."

Several Liberals called out, "Let the chairman alone." Mr. Mellor sat helpless through the tumult. As the disorder abated he was again baited by Mr. Sexton, who shouted: "Am I to be the victim of a malicious intrusion of the clerk?"

The inquiry was answered only by renewal of the uproar, above which could be distinguished cries of "Put him out."

Mr. Gladstone appealed to Mr. Sexton to obey the chairman. Mr. Sexton replied with evident reluctance that he would leave his defense with the prime minister. Cheers and counter cheers were given when he made this statement. As he retired the Irish jumped to the benches, waved their hats and cheered furiously. Afterwards Mr. Broderick withdrew his statement that the Irish were garrulous and impecunious, and order was restored. Mr. Seton-Karr's amendment was then rejected by a vote of 251 to 219.

Subsequently on a motion to adjourn Timothy Healy appealed to Speaker Peel against Chairman Mellor's treatment of Mr. Sexton. The speaker, however, supported Mr. Mellor's decision.

Providence Business Man Dead.

PROVIDENCE, July 12.—Colonel James H. Stuart, one of the best known business men here, died yesterday at the hospital after a short illness. It is reported that he was engaged to be married to a sister-in-law of State Senator Jacobs of Brooklyn and that the engagement was suddenly broken off by the bride-elect.

Mr. Frank T. Bassick, one of Quincy's well known musical geniuses and popular society young men, is taking a three months' sojourn through the South and East. He will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends, who already realize that the life of their party is missing.

The alarm from Box 37, about 5 P. M Monday, was for a grass fire which was making considerable headway on the side of the railroad in the rear of Franklin place. Ladies with buckets and a sill cock stream had it well in hand when the department arrived.

At the parish meeting of the Washington street Congregational society, held Tuesday evening, it was unanimously voted to invite Rev. W. Sherman Thompson to remain another year. It was also voted to increase his salary and extend his vacation from a fortnight to a month this coming August.

Very Narrow Escape.

Another woman had a narrow escape at the Quincy depot this morning. She attempted to cross just ahead of the inward 9.05 South Shore express, but stumbled on the second rail and fell upon the inner inward bound track. Railroad Officer Connelly was alert as usual and pulled her off the track just in the nick of time.

The engineer stopped his train remarkably quick, reversing the engine so that the wheels slid along the track.

The name of the woman is unknown. But she came from Houghs Neck. She escaped injury and went to Boston on the next train.

Prisoner Runs Away.

An exciting incident took place in the streets of our city this morning. A prisoner named Holbrook escaped from Officer Knights of Randolph and ran down Hancock and Cottage streets and across the fields to Millers stile.

Officer Knights jumped into Mr. Faxon's team, which was near by, and gave chase. He found his man somewhere in "Dublin" and jumped out of the carriage to catch him. The prisoner started to run and the officer, pulling his revolver, started after him.

He gave the fellow the choice of surrendering or being shot and the prisoner chose the former. He was taken to the lockup.

WATER HEARING.

Testimony by City As to Condition of Reservoir.

WATER WAS UNFIT FOR USE.

J. F. Gleason Admitted Patching the Pipe But Declined to Tell Where.

Another hearing before the commissioners appointed by the Supreme Court, to determine what price the city of Quincy shall pay for the property of the Quincy Water Company, opened Tuesday at the old court house, Boston.

John H. Dinegan

of the Quincy Board of Health was the first witness. He testified that he visited the reservoir in company with City Solicitor McAnarney, June 5; saw quantities of dead fish along the borders; the odor was offensive; saw fish come to edge of water and die; the color was bad; they were shiners, hornpout and white perch; could easily get a water pail full of fish; June 6 again went to reservoir in company with J. Q. A. Field, George H. Field, Frederick L. Jones and George W. Clapp; the water was much worse this day than on June 5; took samples and sent them to S. P. Sharples, State Assayer. Witness told where he took samples from. Saw Mr. Hall and men at work picking up the fish.

CROSS EXAMINED—Went June 5, by invitation of Mr. McAnarney; Dr. Donovan was also present the first day; fish were lively when first saw them; in 5 or 10 minutes they had died; was not told what he was likely to see; fish that died were shiners; took samples first day; took water about 2 feet from the surface; got the bottles from Durgin's drug store; they were new bottles; did not wash them; marked the stoppers at reservoir and labeled them upon return; told where and how he took samples; saw fish come in toward the shore and die. Witness was cross examined at length as to how the fish he saw die acted. June 9 went to reservoir again; saw quantity of dead fishes that day; there were dead fish in the water; a great many of them; B. F. Thomas of Board of Health was with him that day; personally took samples of water; handled some of the fish; third sample was taken after he had handled fish; on second day handled fish after taking samples.

REDIRECT—Mr. Hall conducted the tying on the brick so that the bottle would sink all right. Dr. Donovan is now sick. Not able to attend to his professional duties.

George B. Field.

Had testified for Water Co. in regard to real estate; the land at Wollaston did not understand when he testified. The land is not where I thought it was and is not worth so much; land was some 1000 feet from where he thought it was; as now understood land it is worth 5 cents per foot; had served on board of health in Quincy; went to reservoir June 6, upon invitation of the City Solicitor; Mr. Dinegan took samples; told where they were taken; odor of water was strong; saw large quantities of fish; they were in different stages of death; they were filthy; Near the spring the cows had waded through and left their marks.

CROSS EXAMINED. McAnarney had called his attention to land at Wollaston; was posted on value of land in Quincy; in former testimony he had considered it near Hurtle's. June 6 was invited to go to reservoir; was informed as to what he might expect to see; Dinegan took samples in dipper and filled bottles; the fish he saw die were on the southerly side of pond; had been to the reservoir a number of times; was invited June 6 to go up; was never a member of the Water company.

George W. Clapp,

Was a dry goods dealer in Quincy; had no official position; went to reservoir June 6; saw quantity of dead fish; saw Dinegan take samples; water was colored and muddy; fish were dead and dying; saw samples of water taken; saw him take five samples

CROSS EXAMINED. Dinegan asked him to take his team and follow them; did not know where he was going; bottles were in wagon; witness drove and he drove alone; bottles were in a box at his feet; saw fish in the act of dying. Should call them hornpout; impossible to count the fishes; counted 25 within three feet; they were from 2 inches to 4 or 5 inches in length; had not been there since.

Frederick L. Jones

Had carried on business in Quincy for 15 years; went to reservoir on June 6. Saw lots of dead fish and smelt the odor; saw Dinegan take samples; odor was as if it came from something dead; should say there were thousands of fish in all stages of decay.

CROSS EXAMINED—Went up in team belonging to John Hall; knew what he was going for; found out when they came after him; saw the bottles filled; they were round large white bottles.

John H. Dinegan.

Recalled, stated he had no dipper on the 5th; on the 6th he took a dipper; took three samples that were analyzed on the 5th; took samples on the 6th that were not analyzed; made his own selections of samples to be analyzed.

CROSS EXAMINED—Told where he took samples on the 5th.

Frank W. Bennett

A chemist in employ of Prof. S. P. Sharples, had made many examinations; samples were brought to him during the early part of June; told how samples were marked; described the bottles; found them all from poor to bad; the water contained much solid, organic and vegetable matter, free and albumin ammonia; witness told the amount of the above contained in each sample; the quality of water was very poor; some could be used for domestic purposes and some could not as they were a dirty greenish color. Told which samples were unfit for use.

CROSS EXAMINED Of the five samples, three could be used; told of elements by which he decided which could be used; examination he made did not show what part was animal and vegetable matter; the analysis does not disclose how much of each there was. The analysis did not show that fish were killed by the water.

J. F. Gleason.

Was in employe of Water Company since 1884 as foreman; had charge of laying water mains since 1884; had not had any occasion to replace pipes; had exposed pipe every day; no pipe had been replaced; had noticed in some places a little rust that could be wiped off; had noticed a little corrosion; you see the rust on the cast iron joints; had patched the pipe in one or two places but declined to tell where, as he might want to use them some time; declined to tell the nature of the patching; could not tell who helped him; he declined to answer the questions as he gained them by experience and did not care to give them to the public as they were his capital upon which he got his living; was summoned last evening; threw the money on the floor when summoned.

John Q. A. Field.

Told of his visit to the reservoir in June. What he saw in and about the reservoir was practically the same as that testified to by other witnesses.

A. H. Howland

Had examined the books of the Water Company; also the vouchers and books; he had made an entirely new set of books and the result differed somewhat; he had charged interest to the interest account instead of to construction; he had charged more to maintenance than had been charged by the company; much of this had been charged to construction; he had also made other changes in the keeping of the accounts; there were some sums he did not know what it was for; he had increased the profit and loss account from $25,000 as kept by the company to $41,000. The trial balances prepared by Mr. Hall from Sept., 1884, to May 31, 1892, were put in as an exhibit. Other sheets made up from the books of the Water Company, were also put in as exhibits. Witness had been shown a letter from Mrs. McClellan declining to allow her husband's books examined.

Herbert T. Whitman,

Chairman of Water Commissioners, had examined reservoir June 6; found basin full; water had a turbid appearance; were dead fish in large quantities on edge; men were there taking them out into buckets; counted 40 dead fish under the bridge where the water flows over; saw one fish die while he was there; told how he died; there were shiners and horepouts; some dust on top of the water; did not want to taste it.

CROSS EXAMINED. It was about 7.30 in the morning.

Herbert Shedd

Was a civil engineer; resided in Providence; had 40 years experience; made examination of Quincy Water Company last summer. From his examination a fair value of the works in April, 1892, was $344,508; this is on the basis of absolute right to hold the water; gave details how he reached the results; he considered the plant worth $311,518; from this he deducted $50,000 for cleaning the reservoir and then added $82,990, the profit of disposing of the water available; the sum, $311,518, included cost of making changes he deemed necessary; this takes up all 2 inch pipe and one-third of the 4 inch pipe; for pipes laid, including labor he allowed $187,694.50; stand pipe, $7,000; wells, $10,000; engines and boilers, $20,000; pumping station, $10,000; reservoir $70,000; land, $15,000; engineering, $8,000; contingencies, $32,500; making a total of $360,194 50. From this he deducted the cost of replacing 2 inch and 4-inch pipes, and added service pipes and boxes, leaving $311,518; considered it necessary to build new conduit line from reservoir to pumping station. This would cost $24,192. A sheet giving in detail what he thought should be done to give sufficient fire service was put in as an exhibit. This sheet gave each street and the changes in each that the witness thought necessary. At the time the city took possession he thought it necessary to make these changes for good fire service.

At this point the hearing adjourned until 9.30 Wednesday morning.

A man at Mooresville, Mo., had the mainspring of his watch broken by a flash of lightning a few days ago, and was totally uninjured.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Full Text of the Report of the Council Committee.

A majority of the Committee on Fire Department, Councilman Grindell dissenting, submitted the following report to the City Council on Monday evening; it was laid on the table until Aug. 7:

QUINCY, July 10, 1893.

The Committee on Fire Department, who were requested to investigate the action of Hose 2 at the Wollaston fire on April 13, 1893, and also into the efficiency and condition of the department, having called before them a number of witnesses and carefully considered their testimony, report as follows:

1. The Wollaston fire: It appears that there was a fire in Wollaston on the night of April 13, and that an alarm was duly rung in upon the fire alarm system of the city. It appears that Hose 2 did not arrive at the fire until about an hour after the alarm had rung in, although the building on fire was less than one thousand feet distant from the hose house.

It further appears that the driver of the horse was away from the city upon the night in question, and had not notified any member of the fire department of his intention to go away. It appears that the captain of the company stopped at the house about 20 minutes after the alarm rung in, and the driver and horse not coming, proceeded to the fire and reported to the Chief Engineer the fact that his apparatus was not at the fire.

It further appears that Assistant Engineer King of Ward Five was at the fire within a short time after the alarm rung in, and made no effort to find his apparatus or ascertain the reason for its absence.

It appears that nearly an hour after the alarm was rung in Captain Thomas again went to the Chief Engineer and asked him if the company ought not to get their apparatus out, and the Chief replied that "he supposed they had."

It also appeared that the Steamer's supply of coal gave out at this fire, and wood was burned, as has been done on two occasions.

Your committee find, that, in their opinion, the driver of the horse, Mr. Nickerson, was careless and negligent in not reporting his intended absence from the city on the night in question; that Captain Thomas showed a lack of judgment in not getting the horse from the stable; that Assistant Engineer King was negligent and failed to do his duty in not making some attempt to find out where Hose 2 was and get it to the fire; that the Chief Engineer was negligent and showed a lack of good judgment in not ordering Captain Thomas to bring his apparatus to the fire as soon as he was informed of its absence.

The Next Subject.

of the committees inquiry was the fire department, apparatus, etc., in Ward Two.

It appears that the house in this ward is sadly out of repair, and a new one should be built. The apparatus in this ward, as in other wards, is entirely too heavy for one horse to draw with ease, weighing in the vicinity of 3,600 pounds.

It seems that a horse is hired by the city of Mr. Tisdale in this ward, and the horse is kept in Mr. Tisdale's stable, a distance of 700 or 800 feet from the hose house. The horse furnished had been unsatisfactory and not suitable for drawing the carriage, and in several instances had absolutely failed to draw the carriage.

It appears that the Chief Engineer has been notified of this fact time and again, and has neglected to take any steps to have a suitable horse furnished.

In Ward Four

The hose house is also sadly out of repair, and the apparatus is altogether too heavy for the purposes for which it is used. Your committee hopes to have a suitable location for a building in this ward to present to the Council before its next meeting.

In Ward Five,

As in other wards, the apparatus is too heavy for one horse to draw with ease and speed. Formerly a horse was hired of private parties, and kept at a distance from the hose house. Now, however, by recent orders passed by the Council, arrangements have been made to keep the horse at the hose house, an arrangement much more satisfactory and expedient, and should be adopted in other wards.

In Ward Six

The apparatus consists of a chemical which has not been suitable for the purposes for which it is used, for several years. This chemical was badly injured at the Wollaston fire in April, and that fact was brought to the Chief Engineer's attention upon that same night. It appears that he made no attempt to provide for its repair or bring the matter to the attention of the Council until a month later, after the fact of its condition had been brought out at one of the meetings of your committee, at which he was present.

We believe that in recommending the purchase of a hose carriage for Ward Six we have provided better means of protection for that ward than we would have if we had followed the Chief Engineers recommendation, and spent $400 on a piece of apparatus, which, in your committee's opinion, is little better than old junk.

The Apparatus of the Hook and Ladder Company

Consists of a number of ladders, most of which vary from 20 to 40 feet in length. It appears that there is but one ladder really available for protection in case of fire in some large building in the city. In your committees opinion there should be at least one or two more and the men should be drilled in using them.

The committee made but a superficial examination of the steamer house, as the apparatus is about to be removed to its new quarters.

The fire alarm system of Quincy, at present faulty on account of the extraordinary length of its circuit, will doubtless be remedied by the new six circuit repeater when constructed.

A large picnic of members of the First Congregational church, Avon, visited the beach Tuesday, making their headquarters at Mrs. Butler's. Sailing attracted the attention of nearly all, and the Rival and Water Lily were kept busy carrying parties across the bay.

The wind was very variable Tuesday, changing five times in one hour.

A strange phenomenon was witnessed Tuesday. A round, spherical object attracted the attention of the people along shore, and many opinions were advanced. Some said it was only the moon a couple of hours ahead of time; others said it was Bill Nye coming to visit Houghs Neck. As the object approached we recognized a well known boat with Mr. "Bauldy" as skipper.

The Popularity Contest.

Mr. Dunham makes a good gain today strengthening his lead. Mr. Hutchins, one of the new candidates yesterday, jumps into second place. Four or five others make gains. The standing:

WILSON INTERVIEWED.

Believes the Session Will Be Continuous. The Tariff to Be Considered.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Representative J. L. Wilson of West Virginia, who is recognized as one of the inevitable leaders in the next congress, arrived in this city yesterday. Questioned as to the probable outcome of the extra session, he said: "It has always been my belief that the extra session will be continuous and that no recess can be taken. Under any circumstances, however, the tariff question will be considered. As soon as the committee on ways and means is announced the tariff will be taken up by them, and even should there be a recess before the regular session in December, the committee will continue to have sessions for the consideration of the new tariff law which the committee will report to the house."

The rumored intention to place him at the head of the committee on ways and means was mentioned, and he was asked if he would accept the position. Mr. Wilson hesitated a moment and then replied with a smile: "I have never known of any one refusing a good chairmanship if it were offered to him. But I will say that the chairman of that committee during the next congress will not have his honor without his labors."

He further said there would be no opposition to the election of Mr. Crisp as speaker, so far as he knew, and that he believed the majority of the people of West Virginia were in favor of the repeal of the Sherman law.

NEWFOUNDLAND TROUBLE.

The Governor Refuses to Yield to French Admiral's Demand.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., July 12.—This colony is threatened with more serious complications arising out of the French shore question. The French flagship Naiade, Admiral Elamornaix, arrived here on Sunday to participate in the anniversary of the establishment of the French republic and also to arrange the recent difficulty over the French shore. Five weeks ago the French lobster packers imported large quantities of trade implements in the British steamer Harlaw to Boone Bay. They refused to pay duties thereon, claiming that French goods were exempt.

The Newfoudland government seized the goods for the non-payment of duties and sold them at auction. The French admiral Monday had a conference with the governor and the executive council and demanded the return of the goods. The governor refused, and he gave them until 8 o'clock in the afternoon for a final answer. None having been made at that hour, he hoisted anchor and left port, refusing to attend a dinner arranged in his honor that evening.

YELLOW FEVER EPIDEMIC.

The State Department Has Not Yet Been Officially Notified From Brazil.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The state department officials are puzzling over the report brought by the captain of the brig Odorilla, from Santos, Brazil, of the fearful epidemic of yellow fever there for months past. Such reports as have been received from the consular officers this year make no mention of the epidemic. One of these reports was made by Consul Berry on March 3 last, and it contained news of the death of Henry C. Wadsworth, whom the consul describes as secretary of the consulate, but who was really a clerk employed by the consul. Since that date nothing has been heard from Consul Berry, either by the department or by his family. The fact that the Odorilla was obliged to sail without consular certificates is taken as an indication that the consul has died or has fled the place. A successor to his place was named June 28 last in the person of Henry C. Smith, a colored citizen of Alabama, but he has not yet gone to his post.

ATTLEBORO'S MYSTERY.

No New Developments as Yet In the Case—The Victim Buried.

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Mass., July 12.—The investigation into the cause of the death of Patrick McCarthy has narrowed down to tracing McCarthy's movements from the time he left the saloon, which, the saloonkeeper says, was about 8:30 a. m. One man reports having seen him shortly after 1 p. m. going along a short path running from Washington and Broad streets. It is stated further that the officers have located McCarthy as late as 3 p. m., but they decline to talk on this point. A conflicting story is the claim that the hat which was found on the bank near the body was seen lying in the same position quite early in the afternoon.

McCarthy was buried yesterday from St. Mary's church. There was a very large attendance.

Patriotic Government Employes.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 12.—A large number of the government employes have voluntarily ceded the provincial deductions of from 5 to 10 per cent of the amount of their salaries decreed by the government and waived all claims to the bonds offered for the amount of the deductions. This deduction will commence Aug. 1 and terminate Dec. 31. The papers here comment warmly on the patriotic conduct of the employes.

Carroll Satisfied With the Navahoe.

LONDON, July 12.—Royal Phelps Carroll, the owner of the yacht Navahoe, says that he is satisfied in every way with her performance in crossing the ocean. Her seagoing qualities especially, he says, quite fulfill his expectations. He is confident that the Navahoe will be a good match for the best English yachts. He has not decided yet upon the races for which he will enter her.

Commissioner Senner's Decision Sustained.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The appeal from the decision of Immigration Commissioner Senner of New York in the cases of Ambrosia Silvestro and Rosario Cerrito and Luigi Maretti has been rejected by Superintendent Stump, and Dr. Senner is directed to deport the persons named to the country whence they came, Italy.

Porter's Resignation Accepted.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The president has directed Acting Secretary Sims to inform Robert P. Porter that his resignation as superintendent of the census, tendered June 30, is accepted to take effect July 31, and in the meantime he is granted leave of absence from July 15.

Death of a United States Consul.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The state department yesterday received news of the death of United States Consul Josiah E. Stone at Nogales, Mex. Mr. Stone was appointed vice consul in 1872, and was promoted to be consul last February.

Chattanooga's Chief of Police Dead.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 12.—Chief of Police D. F. Mitchell died yesterday morning. He was a victim of Sunday's accident at Chickamauga.

CHICAGO'S HORROR.

The Full Extent of the Disaster Still Unknown.

TWELVE KNOWN TO BE DEAD

Powerful Machinery to Be Put to Work on the Ruins.

CHICAGO, July 12.—The ruins of the cold storage building are as yet unexplored, and it is realized that the full extent of the disaster cannot be ascertained until the mountain of rubbish is sifted and carted away.

At some points the accumulation of debris is 15 or 20 feet high, and it is impossible to know how many charred bodies may rest beneath until these heaps have been examined. The search is necessarily slow and tedious, owing to the vast amount of iron and machinery that encumbers the ruins and the inextricable network of rods and bars formed by the intense heat.

The point near the smokestack where many of the men were seen to jump is covered with a tangled mass of

Steam Pipes and Charred Timbers

20 feet high. It is now definitely known that a number of workmen employed in the building ascended the fatal tower with the firemen. R. A. Drummond, with three or four other workmen, was seen on his way up the tower with fire extinguishers. Before they could have had time to reach the top of the ladders that scaled the interior walls, the whole mass toppled over.

The dead are now known to be 12, while two sufferers are lying in the emergency hospital, gasping away the few hours of life yet allotted them. The numbered dead include those who died in the hospital from their injuries, and the unfortunates whose charred and blackened trunks were taken from the mass of debris.

Efforts will be made today with powerful machinery to lift the network of pipes, allowing the firemen to delve deeper for other remains, which, it is conceded by all, are certainly wedged below. Probably by noon the anxiously awaited truth will have been reached.

The four Columbian Guards who were reported in the list of missing

Have Been Heard From.

They were ordered to report to a different captain, but in some manner the order miscarried, and the guards did not report at the company headquarters to which they had been ordered.

There are reports to the effect that Henry Gedulig, foreman of the painters in the cold storage building, and Carpenter John Campbell are missing, but, as many others who were thought to have been lost have turned up, it is presumed that these men have escaped.

In regard to the reports he made on the unsafe condition of the building, Marshal Murphy says: "I correspond in my official capacity only with Mr. Burnham, director of the works. I have sent him three letters in regard to the condition of the building and have reported to him after each one of the four fires and recommended that something be done at once to prevent a recurrence of the affair."

Director of Works Burnham was before the council in secret session for over an hour yesterday. It is said he was subjected to a thorough cross-examination as to the reports and complaints he had received affecting the safety of the building in case of fire. The council contends that if the cold storage building was unsafe, or had been condemned, it was not notified to that effect.

John B. Skinner, president of the Hercules iron works, which owned the cold storage building, declared that the building was the strongest on the World's fair grounds. The construction department of the fair, he said, supervised the work on the building, and Director Burnham and his men were frequently at the place while it was being built.

The subscriptions to the relief fund now aggregate $4300. Commissioner Hovey of Massachusetts contributed $50.

Physically He Is All Right.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Commodore George Brown, who is to command the Norfolk navy yard, appeared before an examining board of the navy department yesterday to pass an examination for promotion to the grade of rear admiral. He successfully passed the physical examination and will undergo the mental examination shortly.

The Lily to Pay Us a Visit.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Arrangements were completed yesterday by which Mrs. Langtry will make another tour of this country next season under the management of Joseph P. Reynolds, who directed her former tour. She will open her season in October at the Hollis Street theater, Boston.

Hardware Manufacturers Assign.

NEW YORK, July 12.—J. S. Conover & Co. of 28 and 30 West Twenty-third street, manufacturers of grates, fenders, open fire places, wood mantels and tiles, made an assignment without preference to William H. Harris. The liabilities are estimated at $400,000, with assets of $525,000.

Milch cows and springers—The supply was large and the demand slow.

Veal calves—Trade was brisk and a clearance was quickly effected at values showing no material change from those quoted last week.

Sheep and lambs—Among the arrivals were a few bunches of choice spring lambs, which were sold to be slaughtered on commission. Values showed no change from those quoted last week.

Western beef cattle—The stock was consigned to the shippers and exporters.

Swine—Values are quoted at 7¾c pr lb, dressed weight.

BOSTON BEATEN.

Cleveland Pounded Nichols In Great Shape and Won as They Pleased.

CLEVELAND, July 12.—Nichols was batted hard yesterday, and Cleveland won with the utmost ease. Better than that was the return of Captain Tebeau to the team. His leg is still in a condition that prevents running, and Virtue played at third, with Tebeau at first. The latter signalized his advent by batting in six of Cleveland's runs. The fielding by both teams was very good.

Lowell Shut-Down Rumors Unfounded.

BOSTON, July 12.—Concerning the rumored intention of the Lowell mills to shut down for a few weeks, the selling agents, in this city, of several large companies are inclined to believe there is no truth in the report. No such action has been determined on by the Boott mills, and at the monthly meeting of the Appleton company the subject was not even broached. The Appletons employ about 1000 hands, and the weekly output is not far from 400,000 yards of dress goods, shirtings and flannelettes.

Fell from a Window.

BOSTON, July 12.—Ellen Donovan, a little girl of 5 years, was attempting to pull down a window shade at her home, 13 Andrew street, yesterday, when she fell out of the window, two stories, to the pavement. She was taken to the city hospital, where it was found that she had sustained serious injuries to her head. The mother refused to leave the child at the hospital and took her home. Her condition is critical.

Miantonomoh to Be Sent to Boston.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The Miantonomoh, instead of the Vesuvius, it is now given out, will accompany the flagship San Francisco when the latter goes to Boston for the summer cruise of the Massachusetts naval battalion. Both ships are to leave here for Boston July 15.

Merchants Want the Obnoxious Silver Bill Repealed.

PRESENT LAWS SUICIDAL.

Strongly Condemned by Unanimous Resolutions.

BOSTON, July 13.—A special meeting of the chamber of commerce was held yesterday afternoon to consider the silver question as bearing upon business affairs. The attendance was large and President Kemble presided. In calling the meeting to order he explained the object of the meeting. Alden Speare offered the following resolutions:

Whereas, Since the passage on July 14, 1890, of the so-called Sherman act, this country has fairly tried the policy of purchasing silver bullion, and as a result finds its treasury depleted by the withdrawal of gold, and filled with silver which it can neither circulate nor sell, and which is rapidly depreciating in value, the confidence of the nation and of all who deal with it is greatly shaken, and business everywhere checked.

And whereas, while this policy continues, no man feels safe in making contracts, investing capital, undertaking new enterprises, and unless confidence can be restored the gravest disasters, depriving capitalists of their property and laborers of their livelihood, are likely to ensue.

And whereas, it is the merest folly for this country with its enormous natural resources, its unexampled credit, its annual income of thousands of millions, its magnificent crops which other nations must buy to live, its great and thoroughly organized industries, and everything that can make it rich and prosperous, to allow its whole business life to be paralyzed by suicidal laws.

Therefore, Resolved, That the Boston Chamber of Commerce, in public meeting assembled, hereby calls earnestly upon congress, which is soon to convene, for the immediate and unconditional repeal of the silver purchasing clauses of said act.

The resolutions were seconded, and Mr. Speare, in advocating their adoption, said that it was remarkable that in a country so prosperous as this was a year ago there should now be so much in business circles. He proceeded to give a history of silver legislation since the formation of the government to the present time. He mentioned the flood tide of prosperity of only a short time ago. It was strange that we should now find ourselves in such a financial condition. It was owing to no really bad conditions, but to a fear of what might come on account of the silver crisis. Mr. Speare reviewed the silver legislation in this and other countries. He spoke of the effect on gold and gold certificates. "If this course is pursued we shall soon have no gold and silver, which no one wants."

W. W. Kimball, president of the Fourth National bank, followed, and said that this is not a political question, but one that is measured only by the life, health and happiness of 65,000,000 souls. He hoped that the great cities of the country will do what Boston is about to do—appeal to their members of congress to repeal this obnoxious silver law

Without Compromise.

He hoped that the business men of Boston would hold a mass meeting to insist upon the repeal of this legislation. We must demand that every dollar in silver is worth $1 in gold wherever the sun shines. He said:

"I have two propositions to offer. First, that our statute books need revising, and let us take the steps to have them revised. Second, we have in President Cleveland an able and consistent and powerful and honest hard-money man. In all his political career he has based his action on the sound-money principle, and within a few days he has reiterated, in terms that have no uncertain sound, that he still believes in an honest dollar and an honest currency; and I ask you to stand by him, and by speech and pen assist him in the undertaking which he has begun of wiping this obnoxious and disastrous law from the statute books."

Collector Beard followed, reading from a speech he made 12 years ago, in which he condemned the coinage of silver coins purporting to be dollars, but which had no such value. He spoke earnestly in favor of the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act and expressed the confidence he had in President Cleveland's honesty, sagacity, integrity and ability. He insisted that the people of the country, irrespective of party, should and help him in getting legislation which will correct the great mistake made when the Sherman act was passed.

President Whitney of the West End road said that he believed the battle has been already fought and the victory won, because we stand in the presence of a national public sentiment demanding the repeal of the Sherman act from the Atlantic to the Pacific. And this sentiment will secure the wiping out of the law.

The resolutions were then passed by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Cressy moved that "a committee of three, the president to be one, shall be appointed by the chair to co-operate with other commercial bodies representing similar interests in the chamber in Washington, with power to use all legitimate means for the prompt repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act."

The meeting then adjourned.

IT RAINED TOADS.

A Remarkable Sight Witnessed In the Vicinity of Olamon, Me.

BANGOR, Me., July 13.—There have been showers and showers, but never has the downfall from the heavens been of such a startling nature as was reported yesterday. The country in the vicinity of Olamon, and extending many miles east, was visited by a heavy shower, not of refreshing water, but of millions of live and kicking toads. These creatures were hardly more than a half an inch in length, but what they lacked in size they made up in quantity.

Two of Penobscot county's commissioners came upon the curious sight while on a trip from Olamon to Grand Falls. When in township No. 2 they found in the roads an immense number of small moving objects, which proved on investigation to be live toads. They were jumping about in all directions, and for half a mile the road was lined with them. They were all about half an inch in length. People living in that vicinity stated that they had never known of toads in the neighborhood before, unless a stray one had been seen.

Just before the remarkable swarm was seen there had been experienced a terrific hailstorm which fell so thickly that hail could be gathered up in a basket. It is thought by those who are aware of the circumstances that a waterspout must have burst over the breeding place of the toads and swept millions of them and scattered them through the air in this storm. The storm followed the Passadumkeag river and the highway through the township where the commissioners traveled.

To Be Held In Boston, Oct. 7.

BOSTON, July 13.—Mayor Bancroft of Cambridge will preside over the coming Republican state convention. George D. Robinson of Chicopee will be chairman of the committee on resolutions. The full membership of the committee is as follows: Henry C. Lodge of Nahant, T. T. Coolidge of Boston, P. B. Wright of North W. Adams, M. Butler of New Bedford. The convention will be held in Music hall, Boston, on Saturday, Oct. 7, at 10 a. m. These matters were decided upon at a meeting of the state central committee held yesterday afternoon.

Rape Fiend Identified.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 13.—Patrick Riley, 35 years old, a tramp weaver, charged with attempted rape on 12-year-old Mary Watkins, at Dalton, last week, was arraigned in court here yesterday. The case was continued to Friday, bail being placed at $600. Riley is positively identified by the girl, her brother and the man who rescued her. He is said to have a wife and two children in Providence.

The Government Wins.

BOSTON, July 13.—In two cases against the Murdock Parlor Grate Company, brought by the United States, judgment has been entered for the plaintiff. Involved in these suits was the dutiable classification of encaustic tiles. The government contended that duty should be assessed at 55 per cent, and the defendants held that they should be admitted for 20 per cent.

Appointed by the Governor.

CONCORD, N. H., July 13.—At a meeting of the governor and council the following appoints were made: F. H. Lunt of Rockland, commissioner of dentistry for three years; F. S. Streeter of Concord, trustee of the state library; J. C. Linehan of Penacook and E. C. Shirley of Goffstown, trustees of the state industrial school.

Enforced Vacations.

MERIDEN, Conn., July 13.—The business depression is being severely felt among the large factories here. Two of the leading ones, the Meriden Britnania company and the Charles Parker company have extended their annual July shutdown of one week to three and contemplate an even longer period than that.

Another Candidate.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 13.—District Attorney Gaskill of this city is a candidate for the office of attorney general of Massachusetts. He gave out his first official statement yesterday when he said: "I am a candidate, and if the delegates think it a proper thing to do to nominate me, I will accept the honor."

Slight Difference In Ages.

NORWALK, Conn., June 13.—Anna McPherson, the 14-year-old daughter of Murdock McPherson, landlord of the Norwalk hotel, left the hotel ostensibly to go to a dressmaker's. She returned as Mrs. Douglas Ayres. The groom had been stopping at the hotel for the past three weeks. He is 35 years old.

Strike Declared Over.

BOSTON, July 13.—It is stated at the Sturtevant Blower works that all the striking machinists and sheet iron workers have returned to work, and all were reinstated except in cases where positions were already filled by new men who had been hired in, none of whom are to be discharged.

Sign of Hard Times.

MAYNARD, Mass., July 13.—The Assabet Manufacturing company, employing 1000 operatives, has issued notices that its mills will be run only five days a week until further notice. This is brought about by the depression in the woolen trade.

His Bond Increased.

NEW HAVEN, July 13.—The examination of Dr. W. H. Pulford in the Helen Nesbitt case at Ansonia was very brief. The defendant was bound over to the October term of the superior court. The bond was raised from $7000 to $10,000.

Throws 1000 Out Work.

HARTFORD, July 13.—The Charles Parker company of Meriden has shut down for an indefinite period. The firm is one of the largest concerns in Meriden, employing about 1000 hands in the manufacture of lamps, screws, etc.

Brief Mention.

Rev. W. W. Hooper, who has severed his connection with the Universalist church at Taunton, Mass., was presented by his former parishioners with $100 in gold.

Charles E. Simpson, a recent teacher of penmanship and bookkeeping in the Saco (Me.) public schools, has been elected instructor in commercial branches in the English high school, Lynn, Mass.

William O'Brien, a lineman, while fixing a trolley wire of the electric railway at South Natick, Mass., broke his right leg. The wire broke and precipitated O'Brien from the tower wagon to the ground.

Post 79, Grand Army, of North Adams, Mass., has given Harry A. Hale a dishonorable discharge from the post and from the Grand Army, for printing and selling counterfeit tickets to the post's Fourth of July athletic games.

Gold For America.

SOUTHAMPTON, July 13.—The North German Lloyd steamer Trave, from Bremen, which sailed yesterday afternoon for New York, has on board gold to the amount of $335,000.

CROWD GOT DISGUSTED.

Because They Thought Gaffney Favored the Bostons.

CLEVELAND, July 13.—Gaffney gave a poor exhibition of umpiring. In the third inning, with three runs in for Cleveland, two men on bases and no one out, he permitted a double play to be made on a foul ball. Nash knew the ball was foul and did not start to make the play until Merritt yelled to him to do so. In the next inning Tebeau stopped a hit in fair ground, retired the batter, and then Gaffney called it foul. The crowd was so disgusted that it left the grounds, and the game was turned into a farce. Tucker spiked Zimmer and hurt him so that he left the game.

PHILADELPHIA SCARED

By the Arrival of a Vessel With Yellow Fever Cases on Board.

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—The schooner Mystery, from Pernambuco, is lying at the Delaware breakwater with several cases of virulent yellow fever on board. This coming directly after the arrival of the brigantine Oderilla, whose crew with the solitary exception of the captain died of that disease, has created consternation in the board of health.

The Ordorilla's captain believes the entire port of Santos will be completely depopulated. While the Odorilla lay at Santos the death rate daily averaged 310. Hundreds of corpses were afloat in the river in all stages of decay. The government has exhausted every means looking toward a suppression of the spread of the disease. Three gigantic hospitals have been erected for the care of those stricken with the fever, and they are crowded to their utmost capacity.

TO FIGHT IN DECEMBER.

New Articles Signed For the Corbett-Mitchell Battle.

NEW YORK, July 13.—William Brady, manager of James Corbett, met Judge Newton of the Coney Island Athletic club at the Coleman House yesterday afternoon. After a short talk they signed new articles of agreement for Corbet and Mitchell to fight at West Brighton between Dec. 5 and 20.

All previous conditions are agreed to and the club agrees to post $10,000 as a guarantee that their contract will be carried out, while the men will post a $5000 forfeit each. It is also understood that the principals cannot appear in any other contest before the case at issue is decided. Last night the articles were mailed to Mitchell for his signature. It is understood by Brady and Newton that Mitchell's signature must be obtained by Aug. 5 or the match is off.

Will Meet His Match Some Day.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 13.—Captain Abraham Baker, one of the best known cottagers here, struck an inoffensive young man in the face yesterday. Baker says that he is a man of unusual vigor and vitality and that weaker men are drawn toward him, and that he cannot resist the temtation to punch their heads. He claims to have killed 16 men in his time.

THE REPORT of the Committee on Fire Department of the City Council is just what was expected from the minority. That it is the majority report is a surprise. The charge of inefficiency will not hold water; it is not shown by the evidence as presented, and insurance men and property holders will not sustain it. The Fire Department was far from being excellent. when Mr. Walter H. Ripley was appointed Chief Engineer. The improvement since has been very marked. The service is now prompt and efficient, and the fire losses are small, particularly when considering the territory covered and the apparatus supplied. That harmony prevails in the force is generally evident, and it finds expression in the last report of the Chief Engineer when he says, "there are no better workers and none more willing, in my opinion, in any fire department, than in that of the city of Quincy."

The failure of Hose 2 to respond to the fire in such close proximity to its house, was a serious "slip up," and yet one for which the Chief Engineer was not wholly responsibly. The facts are about as presented in the report. But there were three streams on the fire and one of these was manned by Hose 2 men. The Chief very naturally thought the Steamer boys had laid two as usual, and Hose 2 one. The Chief did not understand the foreman on his arrival to report the fact that his apparatus was not at the fire, and on the second visit used more expressive language than "he supposed they had" got their apparatus out, when he became aware of the situation. That the Chief and others were negligent on this occasion is true without doubt. He was prompt to investigate the circumstances. He believed the experience had been a lesson to all concerned and that it would not be repeated. In obedience to public sentiment he reduced the foreman.

Had the report stopped here and a prompt report been made to the Council, the public would have felt that the committee was sincere in its efforts to improve the service. But no, the investigation has been dragged along for months and doubtless an effort will be made to delay action on the report until as near election as possible. The investigation was not conducted in a way to invite confidence. Hearings were kept as quiet as possible; witnesses were sometimes summoned on the day thereof; seldom were all the committee present, and the presence of interested parties and the press was not wanted. And what of the report?

The houses in Wards Two and Four are found "sadly out of repair," but the Chief is not responsible because a building is getting old, and if he were, the finding is not news to him. He said in his last report they were "entirely unfit for fire station purposes" with a hope that the new Council would replace them. On his recommendation the Mayor, both last year and this year, recommended new houses, and the matter was referred to the Committee on Fire Department.

The apparatus in Wards Two, Four and Five is said to be too heavy. Possibly, but it was in the possession of the department when Chief Ripley was appointed, and no attention has been paid to his request for a new wagon for Ward Two in his last report. In a recent communication to this paper a fireman used the argument that the wagon at the central station was too light for two horses and would be just right for one horse in Ward Six, while a heavier new one should be placed in the central station.

It is not an easy matter to secure outside the department just such horses as are best to pull a hose wagon. It is a trying place for an animal and they are used hard. We believe the Chief has done as well as possible in all cases.

The committee give the whole credit to the Council for providing for horse in Hose 2 house, when Chief Ripley asked and was refused an appropriation for the purpose last year.

The report says the Chief Engineer made no attempt for a month after the Wollaston fire to have the Chemical repaired, when the facts of the case are that he immediately set about to ascertain the probable cost, and then asked for an appropriation. He was aware the first of the year that it was out of repair and suggested in his report a "thorough going over." The advisability of replacing it with a hose wagon is an open question. As for its being "little better than old junk" the city has been offered $400 for it as it now is.

The committee say that at least one or two more long ladders were needed, but it might have known that the chief had ordered one as he said in his report he should, and was only waiting to get into the new central fire station, as there was not sufficient room in the old one.

Chief Ripley has certainly done all he could to have the fire alarm circuit divided by annual recommendations. To his credit he has made the circuit of over 31 miles work where others had failed.

The committee said none of the provisions of Chap. 310, of the year 1888, had been complied with when the investigation begun, but nevertheless a net had been ordered.

Harmony prevails among the members and officers in spite of assinuations to the contrary. As Chief Ripley has been among the first to arrive at nearly all fires no conflict has arisen as to authority this year. In notifying Engineer Packard of an intended absence from the city he has delegated no authority to him and none has been assumed. It is thoughful of the Chief, and Engineer Packard has at these time remained at home and given his time and efficient services to the city. No very serious breach of the ordinances certainly.

The permanent men have no fault to find with getting their salary. As to the steamer going out of town without permission, the men were reprimanded at the time.

It is to Chief Ripley's great credit that he has secured competent foremen and firemen as admitted.

That the Chief is cognizant of the wants of the department and is ever alert is shown in the following quotation from his last report:

"There are so many things needed that I hardly dare mention them all for fear some one will say 'hold up, go slow.' But your Fire Department must not go slow, and where so much is expected of them they must have tools to work with."

So much for the report. The LEDGER now proposes to interview insurance men, property holders and others as to the efficiency of the fire department.

Percy M. Blake

Of Hyde Park, had been a civil engineer since 1874. Had investigated the Quincy water works in 1890. His estimate of duplicating the works as they were when completed under McClellan contract was $159,134.41. The value of pipes and service pipe added since then was $59,524.26. The cost of dam and reservoir exclusive of land was $68,339.52. To reconstruct the entire plant as it was in 1892 exclusive of land damages was $274,323.11. In detail the cost of reconstruction under the McClellan contract was; piping and laying $126,436.28; pumping station and machinery $32,200; well and filter gallery, $6,000; stand pipe, $9,000; value of land $5,800; for service pipes $3,700; engineering, etc., $8,000; total $191,136.20; deducting filter gallery and depreciation leaves $159,134.40.

The cost of pipeing laid since 1884, including second well and conduit line was $69,700.28. From this deduct cost of abandoned well and depreciation leaves $59,524.22. To this add the original cost, and $68,529.52 as the cost of the drain which gives the present cost

To Reproduce $287,198.19.

Found piping to be open to much doubt to be practical for engineers to use; found much of the pipe in Quincy insufficient for fire service; found Wollaston, West Quincy, and Quincy Point not sufficiently protected from fire; was not a hydrant in Quincy fed from 4-inch pipe where it was possible to throw two fire streams 60 feet; the conduit pipe limits the capacity of the supply of water and is too small; would recommend a main of 30 inches in diameter; the draft chimney at Pumping station is too small; the pumps are common affairs; the foundations of boilers are such that if a new boiler should be added the whole would have to be reconstructed; the well now used is liable to collapse at any time; he had examined the stand pipe by careful measurements and found it had not been constructed according to contract; had found a leak in bottom; foundation was liable to go to pieces at any time; it presented a very serious condition of affairs; the dam appeared to be a good one and well constructed; the reservoir was an average one of that class but needs some improvements; should a break occur in the conduit pipe serious results might follow from the Insufficient Storage Capacity.

CROSS EXAMINED. Was first retained by Quincy in 1890 to prepare plan for independent supply. Witness was rigidly examined in regard to his testimony offered at the Legislative hearing in regard to the quality of the pipe used by the Quincy company; also as to his estimate of cost to reproduce the plant. Witness was also questioned at length as to what examination he had made of the pipes. Outside of that used at Quincy, he did not personally know who made the pipe of this kind that he had examined; the occasion at Wollaston when there was a failure to throw a stream to the ridgepole of a house was where an old lady was out with a lawn hose; made examination of stand pipe in April 1893; made measurements from the outside; saw that joints were not corked by looking in at the top of the pipe; Town brook below the dam had been condemned by the State Board of Health; would not swear that leak in standpipe did not come from a bad connection, but did not believe that it did.

Herbert Shedd

Recalled, said the $50,000 included changes he deemed necessary; for fire protection the changes he gave at Tuesday's hearing were necessary; this would give two streams in the outlying districts; by changes four streams would be available from Squantum street to Neponset bridge; at Wollaston eight streams could be used in the thickly settled portions; at West Quincy four streams in southerly and eight in the northerly; in South Quincy and the Centre eight streams, and four streams at Quincy Point; there are many places now where only one stream can be obtained; did not think a reservoir would be of much use between reservoir and dam, but one above present reservoir might be well; a fair estimate of the storage capacity available was 165,000,000 gallons.

CROSS EXAMINED. The $311,518 is what might be paid to owners as proper compensation for the transfer; his scheme involved the removal of about 20,000 feet of 4 inch pipe and all the 2 inch pipe; the object was to give proper fire service to the hydrants as well as to extend the works. The $50,000 includes cleaning the reservoir and drainage area; did not remember the number of yards he would take out, but had allowed $30,000 for reservoir and banks and $20,000 to get rid of the piggeries and cleaning the land.

REDIRECT. Was not very familiar with the calamine pipe but regarded it as a suspicious pipe; if the coating could be assured it would be all right; think coating is liable to disappear; it is not a pipe generally used.

CROSS EXAMINED. In taking value, witness took all the water available under the supposition that it was all sold. Witness was cross-examined at length upon testimony given at other hearings as to method of arriving at values which apparently differed from that used in the present case. Knew of no process of coating wrought iron so that it will be as good as cast iron; one of the specimens brought in here shows tubercles on the inside; the area was from one-half to 1 inch in diameter; in the 4-inch sample pipe there were three or four spots.

Percy M. Blake

Recalled, read report of State Board of Health, made Nov. 15, 1889, condemning that part of Town brook between the dam and pumping station.

This closed the testimony for the city and the Water Company commenced its Rebuttal

the first witness being

Charles A. Allen.

He had made examination of road way. There was no doubt about its capacity.

Samuel M. Gray.

Had examined road way as to its capacity to discharge. He estimated it capable of discharging 185 cubic feet per second. It was ample without any question.

Frank E. Hall.

Was at the stand pipe with Eng. Blake when there was a break; it was repaired within a few days by calking the joint connecting the supply pipe with the stand pipe; the dead fishes first seen by him was June 5; six pails full was reported as being taken out by the man employed there; never saw anything of the kind before; saw samples of water taken June 7; State Board of Health send a monthly report of analysis of water; these reports were not admitted as evidence.

CROSS EXAMINED. Attention was called to fish in the reservoir about the 1st or 2d of June. They were taking them out for three or four days; did not know what caused the fish to die; the only occasion when he had seen dead fish was some time when there was a high wind, they had been washed over the banks; had informed Mr. Whitman about the fish; do not think he asked me first about it; Mr. Blake discovered the leak at stand pipe; not able to tell how long it had existed.

Mr. Hayden

The next witness lives at Allston: knew McClellan in 1883 at United States Hotel; was there four or five years; he had an office in the basement.

Edward B. Locke

Clerk at the United States hotel was called, but as he was not at the hotel at the time Mr. McClellan was, his testimony was not allowed.

Mr. Shedd

Recalled by the city, said engineers usually allowed 250 cubic feet per second per square mile as discharge for road way.

At this point the hearing adjourned until Friday morning at 11 o'clock, at the office of R. M. Morse. The only witness to be examined will be Prof. Ernst, who is making a chemical and microscopical examination of the water.

Next Tuesday the arguments will be made, each side being given three hours. Ex-Governor Robinson will make the argument for the company and Mr. Morse for the city.

It is thought that the commission will give their decision early in September.

Salem Willows.

The Universalist Ladies' Association excursion to Salem Willows was a great success. About fifty persons were in attendance and they comfortably filled the spacious car furnished by the Lynn & Boston electric street railway company, Mr. Sewell, the superintendent, Messrs. Albee and Stone, the conductor and motorman, received the thanks of the ladies for courtesies. A splendid shore dinner was served the hungry crowd at the Pavilion by Mr. Seiler's manager. No pleasanter excursion could be planned than the chartering of a special car for the Willows. On the return trip the party was landed at the Old Colony station in Boston. Wednesday was a "red-letter day" for the ladies.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

A Continuation of the Committee's Report from Yesterday's Edition.

It appears that Chap. 310, Sect. 1, Acts of 1888, requires every city or town having a fire department, established and organized according to law, to provide and keep, as a part of the equipment of such department, one or more of each of the following pieces of apparatus:

First, a gun or other suitable device capable of shooting or throwing an arrow or other missile, with a cord attached thereto, over the top of or into any window of any building within such city or town, together with all needful appliances for properly working the same;

Second, a "chute," so called, made of canvas or other suitable material, rendered uninflammable, of sufficient length to reach, at a proper angle of inclination, from the ground to any window in any such building, said chute being provided with proper means of fastening the upper end thereof and having a flexible ladder attached thereto; and,

Third, a "life net" or "jumping-net," so called, suitable for breaking the fall of a person jumping from the top story of any such building.

Section 2 provides that the proper authorities of the fire department shall see that the above-named pieces of apparatus are kept in good condition, and that a sufficient number of firemen are periodically practiced and trained in the proper handling and use of the same.

Sec. 3 provides that any city or town violating the provisions of this act shall be subject to a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500.

It appears that at the time your committee started its investigation, the city was not provided with a single one of the pieces of apparatus above mentioned. One life net has since been secured by the Chief Engineer. It appears that the attention of the Chief Engineer was called to a part of this act in 1888, and that he has, for nearly five years, neglected to take any steps to provide the city with such apparatus, and that the city has been liable to the fine above mentioned, on account of the apparently inexcusable neglect of the Chief Engineer.

Your committee further investigated the conduct of the of the different companies, and also the enforcement of the rules and ordinances governing the fire department, which were made and authorized by the City Council, in order to arrive at a more intelligent conclusion as to the management of the apparatus, and the protection of property in the city.

There seems to be a general lack of knowledge among the assistant engineers of the different wards as to their respective duties and powers, and the Chief Engineer seems to have failed to have made clear to these officers the scope and line of their duties.

Sec. 3 of the Ordinances provides that the rank of officers in case of fire shall be as follows: Chief Engineer, assistant engineer of the ward in which fire originates, the first engineer to arrive, etc.

It appears that this section has been repeatedly violated by the Chief Engineer not only last year, when his attention was called to this section, but also this year. It appears that it is the common practice of the Chief Engineer when he leaves the city to notify the assistant engineer of Ward One to take charge of affairs until his return, and that the assistant engineer of Ward One has assumed to take control of men and apparatus at a fire by virtue of the attempted delegation of authority to him by the Chief Engineer, in direct conflict with the ordinances of the city. There appears to be an understanding among the members of the fire department that when the Chief Engineer is absent, the assistant engineer of Ward One takes his place until his return.

Such violations of the ordinances as these, on the part of the Chief Engineer, tend to create discord among the different assistant engineers, a lack of harmony among the men and a less efficient fire department. It is the Chief Engineer's duty to see that this section of the ordinance is enforced as well as others, and he has set a poor example for others by being the first to commit a breach of the ordinance thereof.

There is testimony also that Section 8 of the Ordinances has been frequently broken in that the Chief Engineer has not on the last day of each week prepared a pay roll of all permanent members, and presented it to the Mayor for his approval or disapproval.

There is testimony also that Section 14 of the Ordinances has been broken, in that an engine of the city has been taken out of the city without the permission of the Chief Engineer. The foremen of the different companies appear, as a rule, to be competent men for their positions, and the same may be said of the men. The assistant engineers apparently fail to understand the duties which they are to perform, and this condition is caused in your committee's opinion, by the action of the Chief Engineer in ignoring Secion 3 of the Ordinances, which section is the foundation of the assistant engineer's authority.

The enginemen of the fire department are apparently competent men, but at the time of your committee's investigation had forgotten the signal whistles used in the fire department.

The driver of the steamer is apparently competent, but the testimony shows that he assumes too much authority at the Steamer house, and has taken upon himself part of the duties of the enginemen. There is also testimony that the driver is allowed by the Chief Engineer more leisure time than other permanent men.

The rules require that a copy of the Ordinances, rules and regulations of the fire department shall be prominently posted in the several houses of the department. This rule, up to the time your committee started its investigation, had never been complied with.

In conclusion, your committee desire to say that Sec. 2 of the ordinances governing the fire department provides that the chief engineer shall be responsible for the discipline, good order, and proper conduct of officers and men of the department, and for the good condition of houses, engines and all apparatus used in the fire department. He has sole power to remove or suspend members, and full control over houses, engines, apparatus, and all property appertaining to the fire department. Where such full and complete control and unlimited authority is given to any one man, it is essential that he should be a man efficient in every respect to guard the property of the city and its citizens, from destruction by fire. He should be a man capable of enforcing good discipline among the men under his control and should set the example to his men by conforming to the ordinances, rules and regulations prescribed for the fire department.

Your committee made a lengthy examination of the qualifications and experience of the present Chief Engineer, and found that his former experience consisted of two years' service, when a boy, upon one of the hand engines formerly used in the town of Quincy, and that that term of service expired in 1868. It appears that his next connection with the fire department in any capacity was when he was appointed Chief Engineer of the fire department of Quincy.

It appears to your committee, after a careful examination of the qualifications and capacity of the present Chief Engineer, that the discipline and efficiency of the fire department of Quincy might be materially benefited by the appointment of some man as chief engineer who has had a greater experience in fighting fires, in the control and authority over men, and in the enforcement of good discipline, than the present incumbent.

WEYMOUTH.

There will be a band concert and fireworks at Thomas' corner Saturday evening. The Atlantic band, of Quincy, will furnish the music and the Quincy & Boston street railway will run extra cars.

The members of the First Congregational church and Sunday school, of Hyde Park, will unite with the Young Men's Christian Association of that place, in a basket picnic at Lovell's grove Saturday.

D. D. G. M., Walter W. Hersey, will install the officers of Crescent lodge, I. O. O. F., this evening.

The lawn party at Mrs. Torrey's will be given tomorrow evening. The entertainment programme includes vocal and instrumental music.

Charles and Harry Blanchard are on their vacation.

The North Weymouths cross bats with the Roxbury Athletics on the home grounds Saturday.

Miss Eliza Stowell of Fitchburg is in North Weymouth visiting her parents.

H. E. Kennison moves his family to Campello, Friday.

Mrs. Oldham has not taken possession of the North Weymouth post office as yet, as her commission has not arrived. It is not definitely known where the new office will be located.

Nearly all the cottages at Fort Point are occupied, and no sooner is one empty than there is a family all ready to move in.

The regular monthly meetings of the hook and ladder and hose companies were held this week.

The electrics continue to be popular, and many make the trip to Quincy and return evenings just for the ride.

The North Weymouth Land Company's property will soon be in demand as a number are talking of erecting residences there.

MANET BEACH.

A Picnic Party Meets With a Serious Accident in Returning Home.

MAILS—Close for Quincy at 8 A. M. and 5 P. M. Arrive from Quincy at 9 A. M. and 6 P. M.

ELECTRIC CARS are run to Quincy at 5.40 A. M. and every half hour from 7 A. M. to 10 P. M. Returning at 6.15 A. M. and every half hour from 7.30 A. M. to 10.30 P. M.

THE DAILY LEDGER is for sale at Post Office, Manet Lunch Room, by Henry W. French and by Newsboys. Mr. French is the authorized local agent of the paper. Items of news solicited from everybody.

A large picnic of the members of the First Unitarian Church, Canton Corners, visited Manet Beach Wednesday. The day was passed in the usual sports. The party left the beach about five o'clock. As they neared Mr. Dennen's residence an electric car approached, and the horses on one of the barges became unmanageable. They dashed along until one of the leaders shied, carrying the barge down among the rocks on the side of the street.

The driver was thrown violently to the ground but escaped injury.

Fortunately no one was injured, but the party were obliged to walk to Quincy. No blame is attached to the driver of the barge, as he did all in his power to prevent the accident

Arrived in port Wednesday at six bells on the afternoon watch the good ship Veto, J. W. Seaver, Jr., master, from Plymouth. A rather rough voyage was experienced by the Captain and crew, which consisted of Hon. C. A. Hutchins, M. P. M. During the passage while off Minot's, Mr. Seaver was unfortunate enough to lose a valuable cedar canoe. The Veto will lay off the Quincy Yacht club house until further advices are received from Washington.

The dances at Taber's are not so well attended this year as last. Mr. Taber says he will discontinue them if the people do not care to come to them.

BURNED TO A CRISP.

Body of One of the World's Fair Fire Victims

RECOVERED BY BROTHERS.

Awful Sight Greets Them After Their Day's Labor.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, July 13.—Yesterday's work in the ruins wrought by Monday's terrible affair resulted in the finding of one more body, the mass of flesh being brought to light, not by the men in the employ of the World's Columbian exposition management, but through the efforts of the two brothers of the victim. The body found was that of B. A. Drummond, superintendent of the Harter Electric company, and the circumstances attending its recovery are peculiarly horrifying.

David and Robert Drummond were upon the scene at 7 o'clock in the morning expecting, in the prosecution of the search for the body, that it would be found near the stairs, but only 12 men appeared to begin work and these were taken to another part of the ruins by their foreman, where they worked during the day. As soon as the brothers saw that to search the debris near the stairs, they threw off their coats and went to work in the heat of the boiling sun.

About 4 o'clock the men who had been toiling all day in the midst of an atmosphere of stifling stench lifted a huge joist, under which they perceived parts of a human body. One of them reached downward in an endeavor to extricate the mass, while the other called for help. Two or three Columbian guards and a customs inspector answered and the party went to work, digging under the body and loosening it in a few minutes. They then endeavored to lift it, but as the body stirred the odor became sickening and the men stopped and got some fresh air before they returned to their task.

When they resumed they lifted the body up, the arms and legs fell off, and the trunk of the body, almost bare, split almost across the middle, emitting a fearful odor. They were charred so they would not hold to the body, and the trunk was in a fearful state of decomposition, while the head was devoid of hair. The men who on Monday were rendered helpless physically by the sight of the firemen jumping from the tower to death, from this more sickening spectacle and summoned assistance.

Disiufectants were sprinkled upon the remains and they were laid on a board and taken out of the ruins. Here the two brothers, worn out by long anxiety and labor, recognized their brother. The remains of the form were hastily covered with a cloth and in a short time taken to the morgue, the brothers leaving the fair grounds in a carriage.

The search work went on until half past five without any more bodies being discovered, when operations were suspended for the night. At 1 o'clock director of works Burnham sent 13 more men to the scene, and the force of 25 man was engaged during the afternoon in removing wines and fruits from the cold storage vaults.

Lewis J. Frank of engine company No. 2, who jumped from the burning tower, died in the emergency hospital, where he had lain in a semi-conscious condition for two days. The list of the known dead now number 14. The missing now number four.

Doings of Literateurs.

CHICAGO, July 13.—The world's literary congress met in six different divisions yesterday. The authors were presided over by Walter Besant of London. Mr. Besant read a paper on "Author and Publisher and the British Society of Authors." The paper was a discussion and the digest of the relations of author and publishers. In the philology division Professor Richard Garber read a strong paper, arguing that Greek philosophy was derived from India.

An Indiscreet Preacher.

FLUSHING, L. I., July 13.—The worshippers of St. Michael's Catholic church are highly incensed over the utterances of Rev. D. P. Chockley, the new pastor of the First Baptist church, who entered a barber shop and began a fierce tirade against Catholics and Catholicism. Many Catholics contributed largely to the building of the new Baptist church here.

Whole Family Poisoned

CHARLESTON, July 13.—Isaac Mitchell and his entire family, consisting of five persons, were poisoned. Mitchell and his daughter Ada are dead and the others critically ill. The victims died from arsenical poison, which got into their food.

Sadly Afflicted.

VINELAND, N. J., July 13.—O. Carrison, superintendent of the New Jersey state home for feeble minded children, lies at home suffering from hiccoughs. It is three days since he was attacked and all attempts to relieve him have failed.

A Mine Disaster.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 13.—A terrific explosion of gas occurred on the copper vein of the Pettibone mine, near here, by which two men were instantly killed, two fatally injured and two others very badly burned.

Strikers Gave Up.

BUFFALO, July 13.—The strike of the union plasterers, who have been out for the past 13 weeks, for an advance of their pay from $3.50 per day, has ended. The men have given up the struggle.

Made Insane by Overwork.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 13.—Miss Emma Vaders, the actress, while a guest at the Florida House in this city, was attacked with insanity in a mild way, induced by overstudy.

Judge Kills Himself.

FORT SMITH, Ark., July 13.—Judge R. T. Kerr committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself. He was a prominent man in his profession. but recent sickness affected his mind.

Thinks His Brother Was Murdered.

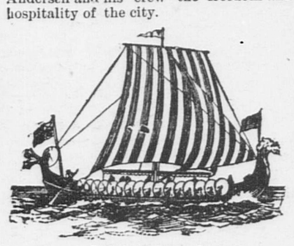

ORANGE, N. J., July 13.—George Werner, a brother of Martin Werner, who, it was alleged, committed suicide by hanging on May 4, now asserts that his brother was murdered by his wife and hung up in the barn in a suicidal attitude. The widow's remarriage is given as a motive for the act. It has been decided to exhume the body and hold an autopsy.

VIKING AT CHICAGO.

Norsemen Escorted Into the White City by an Admiring Crowd.

CHICAGO, July 13.—A gallant fleet, with gay banners flying, steamed out of Chicago harbor to meet and welcome the Viking ship and crew and escort it and them to the harbor at the World's fair.

The fleet sailed north to a point a few miles off Evanston. Here they sighted the Viking ship. The Andrew Johnson fired a salute of 21 guns, and the fleet hove to and, forming in line on each side of the honored little vessel, started for Jackson park. When the fleet arrived off Van Buren-street pier, Mayor Harrison and the council committee boarded the Viking ship, and Mayor Harrison gave Captain Andersen and his crew the freedom and hospitality of the city.

THE VIKING SHIP.

At the World's fair hundreds of little electric launches and pleasure boats came out to welcome the sturdy Viking. Cannon boomed, whistles blew, and the thousands of sightseers who had gathered along the shore cheered vigorously.

Director General Davis and a number of World's fair officials took the captain and crew off the Viking ship and welcomed them to the fair. This was followed by a reception in the administration building, to which the chiefs of departments and other officials were invited.

NICARAGUA'S TROUBLES

Increased by the Outbreak of a Fresh Civil War.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 13.—Civil war has again broken out in Nicaragua. The citizens of Leon are in arms against the government established when Sacasa was overthrown. More important still is the fact that President Don Salvador Machado and General Avilez, commander-in-chief of the army, are held as sponsors by the revolutionists. The president and general were paying a visit to Leon. Their presence there probably caused the rebels to open their fight at a time when the president and commander of the army could be easily got under their control.

Having made the president and General Avilez prisoners the revolutionists seized the military barracks which were yielded without opposition. Besides taking possession of the barracks the revolutionists seized three steamers on Lake Managua. These were used in transporting their troops.

News of the outbreak reached Managua yesterday afternoon. It is not known how strong the revolutionists are, but it is supposed that they are supported by the republic of San Salvador. Troops have been ordered to march to Leun and quell the revolt and release President Machado and General Avilez from prison.

A MASSACHUSETTS MAN

Chosen to Fill the Place Vacated by Naval Constructor Wilson.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Secretary Herbert has accepted the resignation of Commodore Wilson as chief constructor of the navy and appointed Naval Constructor Philip Hichborn to succeed him. Commodore Wilson resigned on account of ill health. He prepared the plans of the first steel ship of the new navy, the Chicago, and from that time until the present, with the exception of the plans of the Baltimore, Charleston, Texas, Philadelphia, Vesuvius, Dolphin and the Cushing, the plans of all the other vessels of the new navy have been prepared under his supervision.

Captain Hichborn, who succeeds to the position, was born in Massachusetts and appointed to the navy from California in 1869, and since 1881 has been prominently associated with all matters affecting the designing and construction of the new navy vessels. He is regarded as an officer of the highest efficiency, fully qualified to maintain and advance the upward trend of the United States navy.

The Bamberger Tragedy.

DEVIL'S LAKE, N. D., July 13.—Sheriff Fadden of Grand Forks wired Sheriff McCune of Cando as follows: "Come and take Bamberger, people are getting excited and I cannot protect the prisoner much longer."

LANCASTER, Pa., July 13.—Fifteen thousand people saw the funeral of Daniel Kreidet, his wife and three children, who were murderer at North Dakota last Friday by Albert Bamberger.

Mrs. Miller Seeks Redress.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 13. — A new phase of the Bardwell (Ky.) lynching is developed by the suit to be instituted by Mrs. Bertie Miller, wife of the negro who was hanged and burned by the mob last week. She will bring an action for damages against all those who, in any way, participated in the actions that caused her husband's death.

His Resignation Accepted.

CINCINNATI, July 13.—The trustees of Lane Theological seminary have accepted the resignation of Professor Henry Preserved Smith. They also protested against the action of the last general assembly in criticising Lane seminary. The board placed Dr. Morris in charge of the seminary, with power to employ necessary help.

Will Meet Next Time In St. Louis.

CHICAGO, July 13.—The National Retail Liquor Dealers association adjourned last evening to meet in St. Louis at the call of the executive committee for the next annual convention. The day was spent in the adoption of a constitution and the election of officers.

Cambria Company Discharges Men.

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—The depression in the iron trade has resulted in the Cambria Iron company suspending a large number of men employed in the works at Johnstown. A further reduction will follow, pending a revival in trade.

Offers Were Too Low.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The offers of silver for sale to the treasury department yesterday aggregated 375,000 ounces, at prices ranging from $0.72 to $0.7350 per ounce, all of which were declined and $0.7150 tendered.

Twelve Buildings Gone.

MAXWELL, Cal., July 13.—A fire supposed to be of incendiary origin started in the business portion of this town and destroyed 12 buildings.

SIDE OF SILVERITES.

Resolutions Adopted Proclaiming Silver as King.

BLAND AGAIN HEARD FROM

Sherman Law Repeal Would Precipitate a Panic.

DENVER, July 13.—The silver convention reassembled, with a large attendance. Delegates were appointed to the St. Louis and Chicago conventions and to the Gold Bug gathering at St. Paul.

The committee on resolutions then presented a report, which was unanimously adopted. The report was in the form of an address to the people of the United States. It asserts that preceding the call for the extra session of congress, the classes which have struggled for 20 years to overthrow the bimetallic money standard inaugurated a panic which they untruthfully charged to the existing silver law. The report then continues:

The Sherman law is not the work of the silver producing States. It was forced upon the country against their will. Their constant demand has been that of agricultural states of the west and south and of the working masses of the whole country. They have not sought to impose upon the country but have asked simply for the restoration of the coinage laws as they were from the first year of the federal constitution until the furtive repeal of 1873.

The Sherman law was the trick by which that restoration was defeated. It was accepted by bimetallists as a pledge that the old laws should at some future time be restored, and they now demand not that the Sherman law shall be retained, but that the hostage shall be redeemed by the re-enactment in its stead of the coinage laws under which the country grew and prospered for more than three-quarters of a century.

The charge that the bimetallists demand that 60 cents be made a dollar is a lie. It was the trick of the single standard conspirators that Lessened the Value of Silver.

Had gold been demonetized instead of silver, retaining for silver its greatest use and chiefest function and depriving gold of its greatest and chiefest function, gold would not today be worth $5 per ounce, and silver's value and purchasing power would be increased largely above its former highest figure.

What bimetallists do ask, and all they ask, is that the law relating to coinage as it was for the seventy-five years of the country's greatest glory shall be restored, without the addition or expunging of a syllable. If with that law re-enacted, and a fair trial of it had, silver shall not, without the purchase of an ounce of metal by the government, resume its former relative value with gold, bimetallists will cheerfully submit to any legislation that experience will suggest as necessary to make every dollar of the United States equal in intrinsic value to every other dollar bearing its stamp.

The convention, after arranging for a fund with which to disseminate free coinage literature in the east, adjourned sine die.

A SILVER PANIC

Would Follow the Repeal of the Sherman Law, Says Bland.

ST. LOUIS, July 13.—The Chronicle publishes a long letter from Congressman Bland in which he says that in the war between gold and monometallists and bimetallists there is no room for trimmers or doubters. The Sherman law must go, but its expiring breath must breathe into life legislation on lines of true bimetallism. Mr. Bland declares that if either of the free coinage bills which he introduced in congress had been passed, the silver question would have been settled. He says further:

RICHARD P. BLAND.

We are now brought face to face with the question of total silver demonetization in this, the greatest metallic power the world ever knew. The Democratic party promised first of all a reform of the tariff. Tariff reform is no longer talked of except with bated breath.

The east proposes to formulate a tariff policy on the lines of the original Chicago platform, brought forward by the protection element of the Democratic party and not in harmony with the substitute adopted by the convention. They also propose to repeal the Sherman law without granting the free coinage part of the platform.

It is plain to all that our eastern friends played a huge bunco game on the Democracy of the south and west by lustily preaching tariff reform, a measure so popular here, but at the same time intending to spring upon us after the election the sole issue of silver demonetization.

If the Republicans of the west and south are true to themselves and the interests of their constituents, his conspiracy will not succeed. To repeal the Sherman law outright and substitute nothing for it, would precipitate a silver panic throughout the world, and probably cause its universal demonetization. If we ever intend to get free coinage of silver in this country, we must war for it now.

Murderous Assault by a Woman.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., July 13.—While on her way home on the edge of Mount Holly, Miss Amanada Peak, sister of Barclay Peak, who murdered Kate Anderson, was set upon and murderously assaulted with a blackjack by Mrs. Lizzie Durand. The injured girl will recover.

Pete Is Ready.

LONDON, July 13.—Peter Jackson has received a cable to come back to America to arrange match to fight Jim Corbett for $10,000 a side and a purse in November. Jackson cabled he would sail for America on July 19.

Actress Allen Is Dead.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Octavia Allen, aged 35 years, at one time a famous actress, died at Fort Lee of heart trouble. She was at different times leading lady for Booth, Barrett and Keene.

—The royal palace of Madrid, which the Infanta Eulalia still regards as her home, though her mother is in exile, is one of the most magnificent edifices in Europe. It is of marble and granite, occupies an area of two hundred and twenty thousand nine hundred square feet, and rises dazzlingly white against the sky to a height of one hundred feet. The scene from the palace gardens is splendid. In the edifice there are a gallery of paintings, a library, a museum, an armory, a chapel and a theater.

DEATH ON THE RAIL.

A Train Runs Into an Open Switch With Fatal Results.

MANY KILLED AND INJURED

Miss Cooke of Cambridge One of the Victims.

NEWBURG, N. Y., July 12.—West Shore day express No. 1, due here at 12:04 noon, was wrecked in the West Shore yard in the southern part of the city yesterday. Six or seven persons were killed and 15 or 20 injured. The train consisted of an engine, baggage car, three day coaches and a Wagner car. The train was well filled with passengers. Car No. 71, in which nearly all the casualties occurred, had every seat filled.

The train was a few minutes late at Cornwall and made the distance from that place to the southern limit of Newburg at a very rapid rate. It crossed Quassaick creek, a mile south of the station, ran a few rods further, under the Pennsylvania Coal company's bridge, then into the West Shore yard. In that yard a train was standing ready to pull out on to the main track. The day express engine struck the freight engine with terrific force. The engineer jumped, but a little late, and was slightly hurt. The fireman also jumped and escaped injury.

The train crashed through the freight and all the passenger coaches were more or less smashed. Day coach 71, following the sleeper, had its side torn off and the trucks torn out. The scene in this car was terrible. Several persons were killed outright, and nearly all the rest were more or less injured. Those who were able to walk started out on foot for the station and were seen with bruised and bleeding faces making their way painfully and slowly in the hot sun.

Mr. William H. Callahan of the Pennsylvania Coal company office force, near the scene, heard the crash, and, upon learning the cause, sent word to the central telephone office to notify every physician in the city to go to the scene, and within half an hour there were a dozen doctors Attending to the Wounded.

Several clergymen, among whom was the Rev. James B. King, were also present to offer consolation to the severely injured. The dead are as follows:

Unknown woman of stout build, weighing about 190 pounds. Her hair was brown; wore an open-face gold watch and chain; had on a blue-striped calico dress.

An unknown woman, aged about 30 years, of medium height.

An unknown woman, elderly, with grayish hair; wore a blue satin dress.

The 20-months-old child of Burnham Elberson.

An unknown woman of stout figure, about five feet in height; gray hair.

Unfortunately in the confusion articles that might have aided in the identification of the dead were separated from the bodies, and it will be impossible to get the names until the coroner shall have made his investigation.

In a purse was found an envelope bearing the address, "Miss Jane J. Cooke, 13 Hilliard street, Cambridge, Mass."

A railroad pass bore the same name, and visiting cards and other papers also bore the name of Cooke.

In another lot was found a library book belonging to the Working Girl's club of Newark, N. J. On the card in the book was the name Miss Mary Maylander.

The wounded whose names could be ascertained were: John Phillips, slightly cut and bruised; J. L. Moore, baggagemaster, slightly hurt; F. G. Bunce, the messenger, slightly bruised; Frank C. Barger of West Haverstraw, severe bruise on leg and cut on the head; Jane Cooke' injuries probably fatal.

Refused to Make an Accounting.

CHICAGO, July 14.—The Illinois Trust and Savings bank, administrator of the estate of Walter M. Lovett, has made application for a receiver for the Smith Corrugating company. It is claimed that a large amount of money is due to the estate of Lovett, and that John Smith, proprietor of the Smith Corrugating company, who has the firm's books in his possession, refused to make any accounting.

Thurber Hears From His Chief.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Secretary Thurber yesterday received two rather bulky budgets from Gray Gables, containing business matters sent by the president for reference to the various departments. There were no appointments, the president adhering to his original intention of transacting only such business as demanded his immediate attention.

Short In His Accounts.

CHICAGO, July 14.—A special to The News from Tipton, Ind., says enough has been learned regarding the affairs of County Treasurer James K. Armstrong to warrant the statement that he is short at least $20,000, with a strong probability of a much larger deficit. Deputy Treasurer Cal Armstrong, who conducted the business of the office, cannot be found, and it is thought that he has fled.

Murder In the First Degree.

ALPENA, Mich., July 14.—William Repke, who confessed and implicated 12 others in the murder of Albert Moliter at Rogers City in 1875, has been found guilty of murder in the first degree. Repke, together with the three prisoners who were convicted Monday of the same crime, will probably be sentenced to life imprisonment.

THE HOME RULE BILL.

An Exciting Day In Parliament—Conservatives Leave In a Body.

LONDON, July 14.—Between 9 and 10 o'clock yesterday the galleries of the house were crowded with persons eager to watch the work of the government in forcing through clauses of the home rule bill. At 10 o'clock Chairman Mellor applied the closure to the debate on an amendment proposing the omission of the in-and-out provision, which forbids Irish members of the imperial parliament to vote on certain questions. The closure was carried by a vote of 325 to 298 amid loud opposition cheers. Clause 9, which provides for the representation in parliament of Irish counties and boroughs, was then adopted by a vote of 326 to 297.

As Chairman Mellor proceeded to put the question in clause 10, the first of the financial clauses, the Conservatives, after cheering derisively, left the house in a body. The government's proposal that the consideration of clause 10 be postponed was then passed by a vote of 358 to 49. The votes on financial clauses 11, 17, 20 and 21 were postponed by almost equally heavy majorities. By the time clause 18, concerning the powers of the Irish legislative assembly in matters of money bills and votes, was reached the bolting Conservatives had returned. The clause was carried by a vote of 328 to 204.

The following clauses were then rushed through, with majorities varying between 25 and 30. Clause 19, concerning the Irish exchequer judges; clause 22, concerning appeals from Irish courts; clause 23, concerning provisions for the decision of constitutional questions; clause 24, concerning the office of lord lieutenant; clause 25, concerning the use of crown lands by the Irish government; clause 26, concerning the tenure of future judges. Today the house in committee will begin discussing clause 27, which, with the 13 following clauses, must be got out of the way between 10 o'clock and midnight on next Thursday evening, if the government program is to be executed.

GERMAN ARMY BILL.

The Ministerialists Pleased With the Progress Made In the Reichstag.

BERLIN, July 14.—At yesterday's session of the reichstag Dr. Osann, a National Liberal, moved the adoption of a resolution declaring that, in consequence of the fodder famine, the proposed army maneuvers ought not to be proceeded with.

General Von Kaltenborg Stachau, minister of war, opposed the motion. Despite the war minister's statement as to the emperor's prerogative, Herr Bachern held that the reichstag had the right to discuss the subject, and to this view the house agreed. After some further discussion the subject was dropped, and the house proceeded with the second reading of the army bill. Dr. Lieber, Centrist, made a speech against the bill. Chancellor Von Caprivi replied to Dr. Lieber's arguments, and concluded by asking the house to pass the bill in the shortest time possible.

A vote was taken on the first article of the bill and it was passed by a vote of 198 to 187, a government majority of 11. Count Herbert Bismarck supported the government. The article fixes for two years the peace effectives at 499,955 men. The volunteers for the year are not included in this number.

Ministerialists are jubilant at this result, which practically amounts to the passage of the whole bill.

A NAVAL CZAR.

No Information Concerning His Department to Be Made Public.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Brigadier General Thomas Lincoln Casey, chief of engineers of the United States army, yesterday planted himself squarely upon the ancient Vanderbilt platform and announced to the representatives of the press that no information would be given to the public as to the reports of the engineering officers upon river and harbor works. Representations and estimates have been pouring in on the engineering bureau of the war department for some time past, covering the most important government engineerworks in the country.

Reports have also been received in regard to the survey ordered by congress, expressing the views of the engineer officers of the government as to whether the proposed works surveyed are of sufficient importance to be undertaken. These reports have heretofore always been made public, and the people in the localities covered by the operations look forward to them with interest, as they naturally desire to know what progress has been made in the works and what further operations are contemplated toward the completion of tht project.

Brazilian Offices Closed.

VALPARAISO, July 14.—The Herald's correspondent in Montevideo telegraphs that all Brazilian offices are closed. Rigid censorship is maintained and no messages are allowed to be received or sent from the River Platte county. This measure was taken because the Brazilians believed Uruguay and Argentina connived to help Wandelkolk.

Death of a Congressman.

IRONTON, O., July 14.—General W. H. Enrichs died suddenly at his residence in this city yesterday from apoplexy. He was born near Middlesburg, Noble county, March 29, 1842, and was elected to represent the Tenth Ohio district in the coming 53d congress.

Sent to an Insane Asylum.

MORRIS, Ill., July 14.—Sarah H. Dodge, who in 1887 was arrested but not convicted on a charge of killing Colonel Babcock, the wealthy Chicago lumberman, was committed to the Kanakee asylum, having been declared insane by a jury.

Silver Purchases.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The treasury department has had notice of acceptance of counter offers for silver to the amount of 30,000 ounces at $0.7150 per ounce, fine. The purchases thus far for July aggregate 768,000 ounces.

ANTIMONY THE DRUG USED.

The Husband of the Woman Also Under Arrest.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Police Inspector McLaughlin yesterday received a dispatch from the superintendent of the police of Detroit, stating that Dr. Henry Meyer was under arrest in that city.

Mrs. Dr. Meyer was also arrested when her husband was taken into custody. Together with her 2-year-old son, she was lodged in the Woodbridge street police station. Later she was removed to Harper's hospital, as she is in a delicate condition. A detective was detailed to keep her under surveillance.

The indictment was found upon the evidence of Dr. Simon Minden, who assisted in the analysis of the stomach.

Behind this announcement is a startling tale, and if the facts now in possession of the police are verified, Lucretia Borgia has a formidable rival in the person of Mrs. Meyer.

On March 30, 1892, J. Baum of 320 East Thirteenth street died after a severe attack of intestinal trouble. Dr. Minden of 118 East Twelfth street, who attended him, gave a certificate to naming the cause of death chronic dysentery. He was buried in a Brooklyn cemetery.

Baum's life was insured for $2000 in favor of his wife, and, after the usual formula, the amount was paid.

Dr. Gillette of the insurance company for some reason suspected there was something wrong and communicated his fears to Coroner Schyltz. Baum's body was quietly exhumed, and Deputy Coroner Walsh, assisted by Professor R. Ogden Doremus, made an autopsy.

The stomach was found to contain antimony in large quantities, which drug had produced the intestinal trouble. The coroner laid the facts before Inspector McLaughlin, and, after a search, detectives found that Mrs. Baum was in reality who was also known under the alias of Henry Reuter and Hugo Maylor.

The woman, the detectives say, made a business of getting married, persuading her husband to insure his life, and then accomplishing his death by poison.

The couple were finally located in Detroit, and it is said she has plied her murderous trade in that city, and that no less than five deaths are laid at her door.

The police feel sure that a further search in this city will reveal a greater number of her victims.

WORLD'S FAIR NEWS.

Chicago's Fire Victims Now Number 17. A Fire Corps to Be Established.

CHICAGO, July 14.—The World's fair authorities displayed unusual activity yesterday in clearing away the ruins of the cold storage building. The total list of dead bodies recovered to date, including those who died in the hospital as well as those whose who perished in the flames, now reaches 17, with three or four persons still unaccounted for. The total will not exceed 20 or 21.

The president of the national commission spent a half-hour yesterday in getting a quorum together in the commission hall in administration building. The special committee appointed by the commission to report on the facilities for saving life in case of fire in any of the exposition buildings reported to that body as soon as the rollcall was over. They recommended the establishment of a corps of men, to be known as the life saving corps, to be furnished with all the modern appliances for saving life, this corps to be stationed at some central point within the park. The report was adopted.

HOSTILITIES OPENED.

The French Gunboats Open Fire on the Pakham Forts.

LONDON, July 14.—The Times correspondent in Bangkok telegraphs that despite the most pacific assurances from the French minister, who undertook to stop the advance of the gunboats, the Comet and the Inconstante slipped across the bar last evening and exchanged shots with the Pakham forts.

The two men-of-war then proceeded to Bangkok, and now are anchored with the gunboat Lutin opposite the British legation. One sailor was killed and two were wounded in the exchange of shots at Pakham. The government is now holding a council. If it comes to fighting fearful scenes will probably be witnessed.

Malietoa Captures an Outpost.

AUCKLAND, July 14.—The last Samoan mail reports the outbreak of hostilities. First blood was shed while Malietoa was marching on Malice. He captured a rebel outpost after a short fight. His followers now outnumber the rebels five to one. Many of the rebels have deserted to him. Apia is feverishly excited.

An American Citizen Knighted.

NEW YORK, July 14.—William Steinway received yesterday from Emperor William of Germany the insignia of the Order of the Red Eagle of the third class, carrying with it the honor of knighthood, the first order of the kind ever sent to an American citizen from the fatherland.

An Illinois Judge's Resignation.

CHICAGO, July 14.—Judge Lorrin C. Collins stated yesterday that he had made up his mind to resign as judge of the Cook county circuit court. Judge Collins was elected in June, 1891, for a term of six years.

Arrival of a Long Expected Steamer.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The long expected steamer Red Sea has arrived with all well on board; none have been sick, none died; in fact, there was one birth during the voyage.

Mrs. William Robertson and Misses Bertha and Bessie Robertson are visiting friends at Concord, N. H.

Mrs. Rhines, bookkeeper at Kemp & Tisdale's, is away from duty on account of the illness of her mother.

Romantic Marriage.

Mr. A. Morton Safford, one of Milton's millionaires, and Miss Edith Edwards were married Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. L. Crossman of Adams street. Rev. Albert K. Teale officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Safford will reside in the old Safford homestead on Canton avenue.

The Boston Advertiser of today tells a very romantic story. It says:

In the centre of Milton is an old drab building, low studded, with a marble tablet rivetted to its front which tells that in this very house the Suffolk resolves under the spur of Maj.-Gen. Warren's elcquence were adopted in Sept., 1774.

The owner of this house, and of plenty of other houses, of land by the acres, perhaps a millionnaire, certainly very wealthy, N. M. Safford, has taken for a wife Miss Edith Edwards, grand daughter of Lemuel Crossman, a liveryman, with whom the girl has lived for the passed few years and at whose home she was married last night.

Mr. Safford is the progressive son of a father whose conservatism was frequently most annoying to his townspeople. The old gentleman's chief delight in life was to acquire land, and as a result the son has a magnificient estate. The father, N. S. Safford, died two years ago.

A large section of the real estate is in wood land situated near Elliot street, and Central ave. This land the son decided to divide into house lots.

So cleverly was the work performed that the advantage of fine broad roads and water service were added without in any way destroying the great natural beauties of the place.

It was in this picturesque spot that rumor asserts Miss Edwards, walking with a friend, first met Mr. Safford. This chance meeting is said to have been last summer, and the mutual impression seems to have been instantaneous and lasting. The acquaintance thus commenced was continued through meetings at the public library, that popular trysting place in a suburban town. However the romance may have commenced, it was all done so secretly, not to say quietly, that every one drew a long breath of astonishment when it came out a fortnight ago that the couple were engaged.

The bride is 22, slim and a very pretty brunette. She is the oldest daughter of Thomas Edwards. Always known as very domestic in her tastes, one of her few outside interests was the choir of the village Congregational church at Dorchester Lower Mills. She has sung there for some time.

Miss Edwards lived in an unpretentious house on Maple avenue, less than a third of a mile from the fine old colonial mansion which sheltered the millionnaire and his aged mother. The Safford home is rather a rumbling old structure, setting back some little distance from beautiful Canton avenue, and embowered in fine old elms. It is situated near the estate of E. I. Pierce.

Mr. Safford is rather under medium height, dark-eyed, slightly chubby in appearance, and wearing a glossy black mustache. He is about 40.

The Saffords are an old family, originating so far as this country is concerned in the Salem colony, and much valuable property still stands in the Safford name in that city and Peabody. The other side of his family is about as old and distinguished, the Mortons of Quincy and Milton, being well known for three or four generations.

Mr. and Mrs. Safford left for New York last night. They will stop until the latter part of August at Bar Harbor, where the groom has business interests and where it is not unlikely that he and his pretty bride will plan a cottage for coming summers. After returning in August for a few days they will very likely spend further time in travel, a trip abroad being contemplated.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of Joseph N. Wait of Boston, upon complaint of Otis Bramhall, came up this morning, when he was held in $1000 for the Superior court.

The annual picnic of the Sunday School connected with the Washington street Congregational Church will be held on Tuesday at Downer Landing. A general invitation is extended to all the congregation. Barges will leave the church at eight o'clock.

A Good All Around Man.

Editors of the Ledger:

Not only does Chief Engineer Ripley have the confidence of his men and have their best support, but he is a good all round man. If occasion required he could run or fire or repair the Steamer. He has fires on his mind all the time to the neglect of his own business; is very prompt in answering alarms and is a good fire fighter.

They say Mr. Ripley had only a brief experience on the old Granite hand engine previous to his appointment but I know better. He has travelled considerably and worked in different parts of the country and it was always his first thing to do to hunt up the fire department, be intimate with the firemen, run to the fires, etc., and wherever he is now he is investigating fire departments.

Chief Ripley looks after the financial matters in good shape. This is proven by the Auditor's figures in the last city book, which many probably have not taken the trouble to look into. None of his accounts were exceeded and most of them show good balances, as will be seen:

	Appropriation.	Expended.	Balance.
Repairs and fixtures,	$400.00	$335.80	$64.20
Pay of men,	9,927.50	9,763.50	164.00
Miscellaneous,	1,560.00	1,216.87	283.13
Fire alarm,	500.00	483.06	16.94
New hose,	625.00	625.00
Rubber goods,	100.00	73.00	27.00
Keeping Chief's horse,	125.00	125.00
Horse keeping,	1,300.00	1,100.79	199.21
Fuel,	250.00	215.32	34.68
Lighting engine houses,	225.00	185.56	39.44

There is no doubt about it, Chief Ripley is a good all around man. M.

Young Men's Christian Association.

Dr. C. O. Young of the Swedish Lutheran Church will address the men's meeting at 3.30 Sunday afternoon.

The Triangle cycle club has received an invitation to visit the Brockton Association club in August, when they will be given a receptiun.

The Juniors of Hyde Park, Brockton, Somerville and Quincy went into camp at Silver Lake Tuesday. Elward Brown and Ray Delano were the Quincy members. Secretary Colton expects to spend next Tuesday at the camp.

The basket ball team will play their first game with an out of town team Saturday at Lovell's grove. Their opponents will be the Hyde Park team, one of the leading teams of the State. The following members will constitute the team, including the substitutes. William F. Donavan, John Ball, Walter S. McBurnie, Walter Sampson, George O. Peverly, Edward A. Chute, Barney D. Mann, Arthur T. Perry, Herbert W. Allen, Alex. Black, Dr. Johnson, the physical director, who is now attending Prof. Roberts' summer school of Physical Training, expects to be present and coach the Quincy team. The game will be witnessed by the Hyde Park Congregational Church Sunday School, who picnic at the grove Saturday. Others will be admitted by paying at the gate.

A Serious Charge.

Probably there was not a more surprised man in the city this morning than the president of the Lazy club when he opened his morning mail, for in a large official envelope he found a bill made up of 5 and 10 cent items for cake and pie, the aggregate of which was $14.60. The bill was made out in the gentlemen's name but he personally had not purchased any of the articles. Investigation showed that the vice-president and treasurer had been in the habit of going into Mr. Carlson's and getting a lunch, which they had charged to the personal account of the president. A convention of all the Lazy clubs in the State is called to take action on the matter.

Stolen and Recovered.

Thursday afternoon a little girl sat in the waiting room at the Quincy depot, holding a pocket book in her hand containing $3.25, when a young man whose name is not known came in and snatched it and ran down the track. His act was seen by a gentleman waiting to take a train, who immediately gave chase and captured the fellow and secured the pocket book, which he returned to the girl. Unfortunately he did not hold the thief but allowed him to escape.

THE NAKED EYE comet probably missed its calculations or it would have landed in the great dipper.

—The bicycle bell ordinance under consideration in the Somerville city government, has been recommitted.

Proposed Monuments.

An imposing monument to Robert Burns will be erected in one of the parks at Chicago. There will be a bronze statute of the poet placed on a granite pedestal twelve feet high.

The committee for raising funds for a monument to the memory of the unrecognized dead who perished in the Ashtabula, Ohio, disaster on December 29, 1876, has issued an appeal to the public for contributions. The matter is in charge of the Knights of Pythias of Ashtabula. The committee now has on hand about $800, and hopes to receive about $1,200 more, so as to erect a monument to cost about $2,000.

At a meeting of the ex-Confederate association, July 6, it was decided to erect a monument in Forest Hill cemetery in memory of the Confederate dead who are buried in Jackson county, Mo. The monument will be twenty-two feet high and surmounted by the figure of a soldier in bronze. It will cost $2,700.

Lewis Rice, of Frederick, Pa., has collected over $800 for a monument to Francis Scott Key, the author of the "Star Spangled Banner," whose body lies in Fredericksburg, Va.

The Scranton, Pa., Truth, of last Saturday, says: William Hunter Post, G. A. R., of Jermyn, are contemplating the erection of a Soldiers' monument and are at present negotiating for the purchase of a suitable site.

The Leader, of Kingston, N. Y., says: Edmund Elting, of New Platz, is meeting with encouragement in his plan of raising a fund to erect a suitable monument to the memory of the early settlers of New Platz, all of whom, with the exception of Abram DuBois, now lie in unmarked graves.

The probable cost of the soldiers' monument at Syracuse, N. Y., will be $75,000.

The question of honoring the memory of Gen. John Stark by the erection of a state monument was discussed by the New Hampshire Board of Trade yesterday and a resolution passed to petition the next Congress for an appropriation for this purpose.

Church Reopened.

The auditorium of the Washington street Congregational church which has been closed for several weeks will be open on Sunday, and services held there as usual, at eleven o'clock.

The pipe organ is in place and will be used for the first time on this occasion. The musical portion of the services will be more extensive than usual. The sermon will be by the pastor, Rev. W. Sherman Thompson.

A stained glass window has been placed in the rear of the church which adds much to the appearance of the auditorium.

Clerks in Office.

The following officers of Quincy Council, I. O. C., were installed Thursday evening by Deputy Chief Clerk Bacon of Lynn assisted by Supreme Marshall Fall:

P. C. C.,—John W. Walsh.
C. C.,—John R S. Ross.
V. C.,—William Dalpi.
T.,—Newall E. Bridges.
Financier,—A. I. Dixon.
Marshall,—B. N. Pinkham.
Recorder,—James F. Allen.
Chaplain,—H. L. Boutin.
Guard,—John Haley.
Picket,—Arthur Mitchie.

Following the ceremony there was a collation and speeches.

MANET BEACH.

Yacht Club Hop — Fixture Changed — A Large Picnic—Catholic Meeting.

The members of the Q. Y. C. and friends enjoyed a very pleasant evening at their club house Thursday evening. There were rather too many for comfortable dancing but some substituted promenading. A decided change had taken place during the day and cold easterly breeze which had come up so suddenly made many prefer to remain in the dance hall. Many of the beach people gathered to witness the dancing. Without doubt this party was as brilliant a success as the previous dance.

Down below in the locker room Commodore Faxon, Messrs. Gavin, Shaw, Hall, Merritt, Cavanagh and other yachtsmen discussed yachts and yachting. They decided to change the race which was to take place Saturday the 22d to the preceding Friday, otherwise it would interfere with the Hull and Dorchester races.

The city's telephone at Houghs Neck will be put in today and will be located at Doble's store.

Bowling is a very popular sport now, and the alleys are running from early morn until late at night.

A large picnic of the First Orthodox church of Milton came to Mear's Hotel Thursday. A pleasant time was enjoyed. As usual, boating and bathing were indulged in. The cold wind which came with the ebb tide rather spoiled the day's enjoyment.

A religious service will be at the cottage of William Williams, on Bird street, Houghs Neck, Sunday July 16th, at 3.30 P. M. The public are cordially invited to attend.

There are registered at the Loretto: Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Whittemore and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Whittemore of Savin Hill; Mr. Harry Martin of Watertown; Mrs. and Miss Holly and Mrs. D. C. Cronin and family of Boston; Mrs. Reuben Hayseed of Dorchester; Mr. Lester Heath, Fred Moulton of Vermont; Dr. Barnes of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Fitts and family, Roxbury; Mrs. Jennie Deering of East Boston, and Mrs. Abby McDonough of Boston.

Among guests expected are: Dr. Clarence, New Castle, New York; Mrs. Addie Webber, Mrs. Ida F. Spear, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peterson of Roxbury; Mr. and Mrs. Silva and family of Huntington avenue; Mrs. Charles Pfeffer and family South Boston; Mrs. Cheney, Mrs. Emma Cheney and daughter, Waltham; Miss Eloise Martin of Brookline; Miss Annie Tierney of Roxbury; Mr. Charles Atwood, Boston; Mr. Piper, Roxbury.

A meeting of the Catholics of Houghs Neck is called for Sunday at Vogel's cottage.

LEFT TO THE PRIVATES.

Why the Yankee Breastworks at Petersburg Were Not Stormed.

There are a plenty yet living of the old soldiers who can tell you that the question of "storming" or "not storming" the Yankee works at Petersburg by night was left entirely to a vote of the privates.

I forget dates, it has been so long, but it was just a short while before the Confederates left their trenches and started on the nine days' retreat which ended at Appomattox.

When night approached and the officers quietly bid the men to "fall in," you may wonder at the surprise of all privates when they were told that all commissioned officers would retire from their presence, and that privates should decide by ballot among themselves as to whether the Yankee works should be attempted by "storm" upon that very night.

A little incident happened just as the commissioned officers retired, and none of us can say to what extent it bore upon the action of the privates. The mail had arrived—letters from home to the brave soldier boys—an unexpected thing just at that time, for it was so early to get the mails then.

The arrival of these letters from home stopped all other thought, and the men gathered in groups around their orderly sergeants anxiously listening to the names upon the envelopes to be called out. As each man received his letter he hastened from the group to some little firelight, and down upon his knees he broke the seal and read the contents. Soon there were many kneeling men round the fires through the camps, and as now and then one would reach up and punch up the chunks you could see the tears glistening in his eyes.

But a vote must be taken—a ballot of "no" if the fight was not to be made or a ballot of "yes" if it was. Each soldier knew that time was precious, and it was a picture to watch the soldiers fold their letters and place them deep down into the inside pocket of their gray jackets, and the ones who had received none sadly waiting as they thought of their own dear ones far away at home.

It was under just such circumstances that balloting began, and as they were gathered all in a hat the time had come for the counting. Then came short moments of expectancy. The first ballot was:

"Yes!"

And the blood thrilled through every soldier heart. The counting went on, and—

"Yes."

"Yes."

"Yes."

For three times the fatal "yes" came, with not a single "no." But a "no" came at last, and then a long column of "noes," with only here and there a "yes," was the result. The fight was off. The Yankee breastworks would not be stormed that night, and they never were, but many of these same brave hearts ceased to beat before the end at Appomattox.

And pity it was.—Atlanta Constitution.

Held by the Enemy.

"I fell in love with the young lady I afterward married while the battle of the Wilderness was raging," said Major Dan Thompson, a member of the reminiscence club, that was in session at the Southern. "During the first day's fighting the Confederates charged us across an old ditch and were driven back with terrible slaughter. We advanced and took up a position in the ditch, and for a few moments the roar of battle died away, with the exception of a Confederate battery far to our left, which kept snarling viciously. Right in front of me lay a young Confederate who had been shot through the hips. He was a handsome boy not more than 17 and was evidently suffering terrible agony. He was trying bravely to be a man, but the tears would rise to his eyes, and in a few moment he was sobbing bitterly. I asked him what I could do for him, and he took from his pocket a portrait of his sister and asked me to give it to her when I reached Richmond. He evidently believed that because his regiment had been driven back the cause was hopelessly lost, and that nothing remained for the Federal troops to do but march into Richmond with colors flying. I had the youngster carried to the rear and cared for and put the picture of his sister in my pocket, where it remained to the end of the war. Her brother recovered and was finally exchanged. A few days after the capitulation of Richmond I called on the young lady to deliver her picture according to promise, and—well, it was another case of 'Held by the Enemy.' The brother and I are in business together in Baltimore."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Last Man Killed.

General Chamberlain narrates an incident which happened under his eye at Appomattox. He was leading his brigade through the woods advancing to take position to threaten Lee's army, which was on the crest of a hill on the other side of the Appomattox.

Word had not reached him of the flag of truce. Of a sudden he saw a battery of two guns drawn up in front of a brick house, the object being plainly to check his advance, temporarily at least. Just as he was preparing to charge upon the battery an aid came to him from General Custer announcing that a flag of truce had been sent out by General Lee, and that hostilities would be suspended. While he was receiving this news the Confederates attacked with their battery, but did no damage, not having range. Then, he said, one of the guns was again discharged, and the ball decapitated a young officer of his brigade, of whom he was very fond, who had been a brave soldier and had fought almost scathless for nearly two years. The shock injured no one else, and the firing was immediately stopped, the Confederates having received instructions, and they abandoned their guns and made their way back to General Lee's camp. This officer was undoubtedly the last soldier killed of either side in Virginia, and but for misapprehension he would have been alive.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Irishmen at Fort Sumter.

Not long before he died General Abner Doubleday related an incident of the bombardment of Fort Sumter. It seems that there were a number of Irish workingmen in the fortress when the bombardment began. The Irishmen were asked to help man the guns against the rebel ships, but they stood aloof. Finally General Doubleday withdrew from three cannon because the fort was badly battered at their embrasures, and it was deemed dangerous. An Irishman went up to one of the guns, aimed and fired. "Faith, I struck the ship!" he cried. In a a few minutes all the Irishmen were bravely working the guns and continued to fight until the evacuation.

Old Battlefields.

Dame Nature, with her universal kindness, has covered over the rude scars of war with the daisy, the morning glory and the Virginia creeper. The plowshare of industry has leveled down the ridges of rebellion, and where once the reveille and long roll of battle resounded the horn of the husbandman calls his toilers of peace from fields of waving grain and golden fruit to the rustic board of joy and love.—Exchange.

Sabbath Recreation.

Editors of the Ledger:

The recent action of the city officials in discriminating against a certain form of amusement at Manet beach on Sundays, seems to me an unwarranted stretch of authority. Having gone thus far why not go further and treat in a like manner those venders of fruit, ice cream, tonic and so on, who do their biggest day's business on Sundays. From a moral point of view this form of trading is certainly as much a violation of Sunday as running the amusement referred to, and if one thing is to be stopped, then for consistency's sake the others should be stopped as well.

Looking at the matter in a broader sense however, the question involved is simply this:—"Does it violate the Sabbath to indulge in recreation and harmless amusement?" In my opinion it does not. If simple forms of amusement such as this are to be put a stop to on Sundays it will be like taking a step backward to the times of the ancient Puritans, with all its wretched cant and hypocrisy, instead of progressing towards higher and better conditions.

The population of this city is mostly composed of men and women who work with either brain or muscle, during six days of the week, and when are they to recreate or enjoy themselves if not on Sunday?

Many years ago a great teacher gave forth the doctrine "that the Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath;" but certain disciples of a spurious theology would subvert this truth, and leave men to choose between flagrant hypocrisy, and total disregard of the so-called religious observance of Sunday. Let those rabid sabbatarians and notoriety hunters who interfere with these things direct their surplus energy in other channels, and if rumor speaks true they will have enough to do even nearer home than Manet Beach. Let them do what lies in them to put down Sunday street loafing, drunkenness, and immorality, and leave harmless amusements alone.

It is a noticeable fact that among the more advanced of all classes and creeds, the true use of the sabbath as a day of rest and recreation, is getting to be more universally recognized. Occasionally yet, we hear some voice raised against Sunday newspapers, and the opening of public parks and museums on Sunday, but these voices are getting fewer as time goes on and by and by they will be heard no more. I fully recognize the importance of the mission of true religion in the world, but men and wemen have been too long bound by the fetters of senseless custom and superstition, and it is now high time that they were thrown aside.

In times past there has been abuses of the sabbath day, and doubtless there always will be as long as fools and imbeciles continue to exist; but the opportunities for recreation and enjoyment among the working masses, are not to be taken away because of the delinquencies of a few who cannot behave themselves, and who are a standing reproach to their species.

USEFUL LIFE ENDED

Arthur T. Woodward's Death Probably Due to Poison.

THE RESULT OF A DEBAUCH.

He Invented the Underground Electric System.

LYNN, Mass., July 14.—Arthur T. Woodward, the inventor of the underground electric system which is named after him, died suddenly at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his boarding house, 46 Market street. It will never be known whether he intended to commit suicide or took the oil of wintergreen by mistake. His boarding mistress, Mrs. Herbert Carleton, states that he took the two ounces of poison at 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon he laid in bed as if in a swoon. Dr. William A. McDonald of 54 Summer street was called and he suggested that the patient be given some medicine to brace him, he thinking that Mr. Woodward was Suffering From Alcoholism.

At 5:20 he was again called and found that Woodward was dead. He then learned that his patient had taken poison.

It seems that Woodward had been drinking excessively ever since the Fourth, and Mr. Carleton had all he could do to take care of him, as at times he acted like an insane man. Yesterday morning, after taking the poison, he tried to leave the house with only a pair of rubber boots on.

Dr. McDonald was seen by a reporter concerning the case. He said: "I could not say whether he wilfully committed suicide or not. All that I know about it is that on my last visit Mrs. Carleton informed me that he had taken poison.

"I know that seven years ago a certain woman living here took an extra dose of oil of wintergreen, which is a deadly poison, leaving no traces afterwards, and 10 hours afterwards she was dead. It took just 10 hours for it to kill Woodward, that is, if he took it as they say he did. I did all I could for him at 3 o'clock, but I thought then he was suffering from the effects of too much liquor.

"He might have died of a shock of alcoholism

Or the Poison.

I should not want to state positively, but I should not wonder if it was this poison."

Woodward was 52 years of age, and he has relatives in Troy, N. Y. He was not married. The Woodward Underground company have an office on Central avenue, and here are displayed all of Mr. Woodward's inventions, which are numerous. In a short time his system was to have been adopted in this city.

The body was removed to Carl Mower's undertaking rooms, where it will be viewed later by medical examiner Pinkham.

END OF THE WORLD.

A Clergyman Annoyed by Cranks on Account of a Sermon.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 14.—Rev. C. R. Crossett, a leading Advent clergyman of this city, delivered last Sunday a sermon on "An Hour Before the Advent," in which he made some general statements about the world coming to an end in the near future. The local papers gave extracts from the sermon, and as a result he has been deluged with matter from cranks everywhere, who predict the immediate crash of all things terrestrial.

Lieutenant Totten has sent him a copy of a New Haven paper containing an account of the terrible holocaust, covered with peculiar hieroglyphics. This is not the worst, however, for a New Hampshire Ignatius Donnelly, who must be mad as a March hare, has sent him about a ream of wrapping paper, on which he has marked mathematical problems in the shape of straight lines, converging at every possible angle that human ingenuity could devise, and which he gravely announces foretells the end of the world. Every mail bring new contributions, and Mr. Crossett is nearly wild over his unfortunate notoriety.

SAYS THE EARTH IS FLAT.

A Professor From Maine Who Entertains Queer Views on Astronomy.

BOSTON, July 14.—Queerly dressed in a short blue coat, faded trousers and a regulation farmer's straw hat—looking, in fact, as if he had just stepped in from the hayfield—Professor J. W. Holden, who comes from way down in Otisfield, Me., stood up before a blackboard in the Produce Exchange hall yesterday afternoon and tried to demonstrate to a group of produce men that this earth of ours is not, as is generally supposed, round, but that it is flat, and that it does not rotate.

Professor Holden is a typical Maine man of something like the Daniel Pratt style, and he is deeply in earnest in this important astronomical subject. Several times during his talk he moved his hearers to loud applause; but they were humorously inclined, and in spite of the earnestness of the speaker, they did not seem to be thoroughly convinced that what he said was true.

A Physician's Tragic End.

EVERETT, Mass., July 14.—Dr. Abbott Sanford was found dead at his office yesterday. On the table near him was a partly filled bottle containing chloral and some liquid of some kind in a tumbler, with every indication that the deceased had taken a dose of the drug, but whether intentional or not is not known. Dr. Sanford was born in East Bridgewater on Sept. 7, 1854, and was educated in the Bridgewater academy and Amherst college, from which he was graduated in 1877, and received his degree of A. M. in 1880. He took a three years' course in the Harvard medical school and spent the fourth year in hospital work.

Another Quiet Day For the President.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 14.—President Cleveland enjoyed another quiet day at Gray Gables. He had no callers and put in a full day's rest with his family. Colonel Lamont and Dr. Bryant took a fishing excursion down the bay. Colonel Lamont expects to leave here tomorrow, and Dr. Bryant will leave either on that day or soon after. The president has nearly recovered from his rheumatism.

Following Her Sister's Footsteps.

BOSTON, July 14.—Minnie Schneider, the little girl who robbed the stores in Dorchester, and was sent to the state primary school, has a sister, 6 years old, who has been obtaining pastry under false pretences. Flossie is the child's name, and she says her sister Emma sent her to get the articles. Emma is the oldest of the children, and the police now think that she is not so innocent as she appeared to be at first. An attempt will be made to put the children in some home. They are Emma 10 years old; Otto, 8 years, and Flossie 6 years.

Railroad Employes Pleased.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., July 14.—The Worcester division employes of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad are being paid according to the Providence division new schedule, which is an advance for all the classes affected except passenger conductors having through runs, who find their pay reduced from $3.90 to $3.50 a day.

Will Take Their Case to Court.

BOSTON, July 14.—The prohibitionists will resort to the courts to maintain what they deem to be their constitutional rights. The state ballot law commission met yesterday and sustained the ruling of Secretary of State Olin refusing to place upon the state ticket the prohibition nomination of Rev. A. A. Miner for senator from the 7th Suffolk district.

Slight Railroad Accident.

BOSTON, July 14.—While Thomas Kelly, 35 years of age, was crossing the tracks of the Grand Junction branch of the Boston and Albany railroad yesterday an engine struck the gates and threw them out on to the sidewalk, striking him and knocking him down. His ankle was sprained and his right hand somewhat injured.

Charles River Illumination.

NEWTON, Mass., July 14.—The river carnival and lantern parade took place at Newton Upper Falls last evening. The parade started from Needham bridge at 8 o'clock. Over 150 boats were in line, and the affair was a grand success.

Had His Skull Fractured.

BOSTON, July 14.—Edward Crowley is at the Massachusetts general hospital in a very critical condition, having been struck by a train on the Boston and Maine railroad yesterday afternoon. His skull was fractured.

Death of an Ex-Judge.

NEW HAVEN, July 14.—Edward Isaac Sanford, ex-judge of the superior court of this state, died at his home in this city yesterday. He had been in failing health for about a year.

Will Have to Serve His Full Term.

ALBANY, N. Y. July 14.—In May, 1889, James Burns was sentenced for 15 years for robbery, and on Jan. 10 last Governor Flower pardoned him on condition that he abstain from the use of intoxicants for five years from that time. Last week Burns was arrested in Rochester for being intoxicated, and will now have to serve his full term and cannot avail himself of the statutory reduction of sentence for good behavior.

BOSTON'S CLOSE CALL.

The Spiders' Pitcher Gets Rattled and Throws the Game Away.

CINCINNATI, July 14.—The Reds had the Bostons defeated up to the ninth inning yesterday. Then Mike Sullivan, who had been pitching superb ball, went to pieces, and not only made a bad error, but was wild, and besides giving two bases on balls was hit for three singles. The feature of the game was a brilliant catch of a line fly by McCarthy and George Smith's short stop work.

A JUDGE IMPLICATED.

An Indictment Against J. G. Jenkins For Wrecking the Plankinton Bank.

MILWAUKEE, July 14.—James G. Jenkins, the United States circuit court judge who is under indictment here on the charge of bank wrecking in connection with the directory of the Plankinton bank, said yesterday that he had no idea he was to be indicted. Had he received the least intimation of the fact he would have immediately resigned his seat on the circuit court bench. Just what action he will take now he cannot state positively, but he thinks he will have some friend, probably Secretary Gresham, lay his case before the president, and if Mr. Cleveland thinks he had better resign he will do so. Judge Jenkins will leave for Washington in a few days.

Stevenson to Be Examined.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Pay Director Stevenson, who has already passed three examinations for promotion, only to be turned back by the reviewing authorities, is to be given another chance. He is now under orders to appear before a medical board which will test his physical fitness, and if he succeeds in passing this ordeal, which will be severe, in view of his recent illness, he may appear before the examining board again to show his professional qualifications for promotion.

Ellison Indicted For Assault.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Frank Ellison, who assaulted Broker William H. Hemiques, was indicted for assault in the first degree. The maximum penalty for the crime is ten years in the state prison. He was remanded until today, when he will be arraigned for pleading. The customary bail for the crime charged is $5000.

A Rumor Discredited.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—A ridiculous story is printed here that England is to send troops and warships to Victoria to defend her alleged rights in the Behring sea controversy. It is said that England anticipates an unfavorable termination of the arbitration, and therefore rushes into warlike preparations.

Albany Savings Bank's Condition.

ALBANY, July 14.—Theodore Townsend, treasurer of the Albany Savings bank, says that institution was never in a sounder financial condition than it is today. It has a surplus of $2,500,000, assets of $17,000,000 and $800,000 ready for any demand depositors may make.

MORE ABOUT MEYER.

He Was Once a Resident of a Boston Suburb.

ALLEGED WIFE DIED THERE.

Facts Just Brought to Light by Recent Events.

BOSTON, July 15.—One chapter in the life of the now famous Dr. Henry Meyer, who is charged, with his wife, of many murders for the purpose of defrauding insurance companies, happened at Newton about two years ago. According to all accounts he was in search of lodgings for some time, and was anxious to obtain a place of residence in a respectable locality.

He finally took lodgings with Mrs. McAvoy in a block on Washington street, and, although his landlady was surprised to obtain a lodger who was so abundantly supplied with money, and who was so ready to pay liberally for the use of her rooms, she said nothing, and would probably not have thought anything further of the circumstances had it not been for the accounts which have been published concerning the doctor during the past few days.

The block in which the doctor lived was in rather a poor locality, although he was Liberally Supplied With Money.

He spent most of his mornings in Boston, and would return at noon with elaborate dinners, which had been prepared and packed in a tin case at a Boston hotel.

DR. HENRY MEYER.

After the first two weeks the doctor did not live alone, but brought a woman with him, who, he said, was his wife. At this time he rented the entire second floor of the tenement. The supposed Mrs. Meyer was a woman of fine presence and was beautifully dressed, according to the statements of the women of the neighborhood.

She wore a great number of jewels, and some of them were of such brilliancy as to excite a good deal of comment. After a residence of a few months in this place Mrs. Meyer became ill, and a physician announced that there was No Hope of Her Recovery.

On the day before she died Dr. Meyer brought a gentlemen and young lady to the house, and took them to the room of the dying woman.

From conversation which was overheard it was inferred that the woman, who had been living with Meyer, was not his wife, and that he had brought her real husband to visit her on her deathbed. The jewels which the woman wore were given to the visitors.

Soon after the death of his companion Dr. Meyer left Newton and was entirely forgotten by those with whom he came in contact until recent events brought his name before the public.

RUM AND WOMEN

Given as Causes For the Downfall of a Young Bostonian.

BOSTON, July 15.—Louis G. Knowlton, 25 years of age, son of Daniel C. Knowlton of 344 Beacon street, was arrested last evening for obtaining property and money by fraudulent means from a number of Lynn and Boston merchants.

Last October young Knowlton went into the leather and shoe stiffening business in Lynn, and up to May last did a very good business. At that time competition drove him out of business. This fact, it is said, drove Knowlton to make use of worthless checks, and he acknowledges that since that time he has put out between 20 and 30 of these checks, upon which he realized about $600.

Knowlton admitted his guilt and stated that the money he had gained by his questionable transactions had all been expended on rum and in houses of questionable repute in this city. He has an idea that his relatives will try to settle the complaints against him and keep the matter out of the courts.

STRUCK BY AN ENGINE.

Henry White Is Dying and His Wife and Son Are Dead.

WALTHAM, Mass., July 15.—Henry J. White, town treasurer of Weston, his son and his wife were struck by a train moving at a high speed at the Hastings crossing at Kendall Green yesterday afternoon. The railroad at this point makes a turn and the occupants of Mr. White's carriage were unable to hear the approach of the train. The horse, after being driven upon the track, suddenly balked, and could not be started again before the engine had crashed into the vehicle. The trainmen claim there is no one to blame, as the crossing is a "blind" one.

Mrs. White was instantly killed. Mr. White and his son were removed to the hospital, where the son died shortly after. Mr. White's death is hourly expected.

MERRILL IN CANADA.

Says He Was Bled by Friends—Intends to Return to Boston.

BOSTON, July 15.—Moody Merrill has been seen and talked with in Ottawa by E. M. Shannon, at one time one of the staff of the Lynn Bee, and for a few years connected with the Montreal Star. Shannon says that Merrill was looking well and was apparently glad to see him. They had a long conversation about the affairs of Merrill in Boston, in the course of which he said that he had been a victim of his friends, and that he had left this city because he thought it was the best way out of his difficulties. He had reached that point where he was compelled to [illegible] to pay another, and he knew that this could not last long.

He has correspondents in Boston who keep him informed of all that is going on, and he is well satisfied with the insolvency proceedings because he thinks that that will be the best for all concerned. He recently visited Ogdensburg, N. Y., for the purpose of acknowledging some legal papers sent to him from Boston. He has also been to St. Rose and St. Vincent de Paul fishing. He is making his home at Bord-a-Plouffe, a hamlet in the Province of Quebec. He said he expected to be in Boston before Oct. 1.

THE AXE FALLS.

Republicans Make Room For Democrats at Portsmouth Navy Yard.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 15.—The Democrats of this city are happy for the first time since the inauguration of President Cleveland. A number of offices have actually been given them at the navy yard, and the present Republican incumbents have been ordered to pack up and get out.

For months now the Democrats have been waiting, first buoyed up by hope and then cast down by despair. The office-seekers have been promised again and again that they should have the places, but tears and threats had no effect.

The Republicans removed include clerks, bookkeepers, special laborers and a pilot, in the department of construction and repair, goods and docks, and supplies and accounts. It is expected that other changes will be made.

But Few Left.

BOSTON, July 15.—The attorney general has filed in the supreme judicial court bills against the remaining endowment orders for which receivers have not yet been appointed. The orders are the American Friendly society, the Abraham Lincoln Benefit association, the American Mutual Relief association, the Order of Franklin, the National Fraternal and Benefit union and the United Order of Equity.

Daring Thieves.

ROCHESTER, N. H., July 15. Postmaster Greenfield was alone in the postoffice yesterday when a stranger engaged him in conversation at the delivery window, when an accomplice extracted the contents of the safe, about $15 in money and $400 in stamps. Mr. Greenfield saw him and gave chase. The man was stopped, and an officer arrested him. The stolen property was recovered.

Locks Bad For Kennedy.

BOSTON, July 15.—James Kennedy, with a record of 22 years' imprisonment in the state prison, is under arrest, charged with burglary at Revere. Kennedy, if convicted of this crime, will get a sentence of 25 years. The prisoner has been a free man only since June 21 last.

Guests Were Sound Sleepers.

OLD ORCHARD, Me., July 15.—Burglars entered the Lawrence House after midnight, hitched a rope to the safe, dragged it out on the back piazza and blew it open, securing $200. The guests were not aroused and nothing was known of the robbery until after daylight.

Greenhalge Solid In Haverhill.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 15.—H. M. Sargent, secretary of the Republican city committee, says that Greenhalge is by long odds the choice of the Haverhill Republicans for governor, and that he will have a solid delegation from this city to the state convention.

The Wardwell Murder.

BOSTON, July 15.—Amos L. Morse, the alleged murderer of Dr. Wardwell at Roslindale, was arraigned in the superior criminal court yesterday. John B. Moran appeared for the prisoner. The plea of not guilty was entered by permission of the court.

Portland For Repeal.

PORTLAND, Me., July 15.—The board of trade passed resolutions asking congress to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman bill.

GASTRIGHT WITH BOSTON.

His Initial Game Results In Defeat For the Porkopolitans.

CINCINNATI, July 15.—Pitcher Gastright joined the Bostons here and pitched his first game for them yesterday. He had splendid command and was very effective at critical stages. The Reds could do little or nothing with his delivery until the eighth, when they made a nice rally and gave the visitors quite a scare. Several sensational stops by Herman Long were the features of the game.

SETTLED FOR GOOD.

World's Fair Directors Vote to Close the Show on Sundays.

CHICAGO, July 15.—The local directory of the World's fair met yesterday afternoon and decided, by a vote of 24 to 4, to rescind their former action and to close the World's fair on Sunday after July 16.

The admission money of next Sunday has already been donated for the relief of the families of the firemen who lost their lives in the recent fire, and but for this fact the fair would probably be closed tomorrow.

When the directors had assembled, an address, advocating Sunday closing, signed by the leading Chicago clergymen, was read. This was the signal for a series of speeches, all in favor of closing the fair. The directors adjourned apparently well pleased with their work.

Troubled Conscience Relieved.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The conscience fund of the treasury has been increased by the receipt of $90 from St. Louis. The writer says the contribution is payment in full, with interest, for a small sum in equity due the government for several years past from a penitent priest.

Murdered For His Money.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—John H. Swift, an ex-union soldier from Hartford, was murdered on the Virginia pike. The murder is supposed to have been committed for the sake of the few dollars which Swift is known to have had on his person at the time.

A Populist Victory.

GREENVILLE, S. C., July 15.—At a meeting of the Greenville county alliance, Hugh M. Barton, an avowed Third party man, was elected president, defeating M. L. Donaldson, president of the state alliance, who was president of the county alliance also.

Hebrews Have a Champion.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 15.—The Grand Duke Michael, uncle of the czar, has persuaded the czar to postpone indefinitely the expulsion of the Hebrews from the Caucasus.

Gored to Death by a Bull.

NORWALK, Conn., July 15.—John Fink, aged 60, a farm hand employed by Henry Fenwick of New Canaan, was gored by a bull and died from his injuries.

Business Is Dull.

RUTLAND, Vt., July 15.—The Howe Scale company will hereafter run nine hours a day and close Saturdays.

Brief Mention.

J. N. Wales of Dorchester, Mass., was held on the charge of forgery.

Fire in Wallace's cotton waste mill at Fitchburg, Mass., did some $600 damage.

The rate of taxation at Swampscott, Mass., this year will be $11 on $1000. Last year the rate was $10.

At the Maine mile track the stallion Nelson trotted a mile in 2:13. He made the last half in 1:05 1-2, and the last quarter in 32 1-4—a 2:0-9 gait.

Essex (Mass.) County Treasurer Jenkins reports that the amount paid for dog damages in June amounted to $1300, or $500 less than last year's month.

At Portland, Me., Thomas McDennett, aged 55, employed at C. J. Walker & Co.'s, was taken sick in an elevator and fell down, his head projecting over the edge. He was instantly killed.

William Lundregan, a newsboy, of Beverly, Mass., attempted to board a train that was in motion, but landed between the edge-stone of the platform and the moving train. He was rescued by bystanders.

CITY CHIT CHAT.

Items of Interest from All Parts of Quincy.

Showers are predicted for Sunday.

Miss Sarah McDonald and Miss Josie McLoud have gone to Nova Scotia.

Miss Elsie Parks leaves today on the Bothnia from Boston for Glasgow.

Charles H. Brooks is building a house at the corner of Adams and Alleyne streets.

Mrs. S. Kincaide is having a mid-summer sale and every day is a bargain day. See ad.

Miss Pearl and Mr. Harry Terry of Richmond, Va., are the guests of Mrs. A. A. Harlow.

The Hyde Park Congregational church and Y. M. C. A. are holding a picnic at Lovell's grove today.

A number of the Quincy Cycle club will take a run to North Weymouth tonight starting from the club rooms at 7.45.

Mr. George Scott and family of North Abington, well known in this city, sail on the Bothnia from Boston today for Glasgow.

The Journal correspondent was one of the very few who were startled by the tramp in the lockup alleged to be the Borden murderer.

The railroad commissioners and officials of the Plymouth Division of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., inspected the stations at Quincy and Quincy Adams this morning.

Among the sports at the Congregational church picnic at Merrymount park next Saturday are boat, tub, wheelbarrow and potato races; 100 yards dash, a mile and half mile run.

The Weymouth Gazette says, "Benefits unthought of are being derived from the electric cars. A lady of this place, who has been a great sufferer with cold feet, tried the cars last week and quite unexpectedly was cured of the difficulty.

W. H. Bennett and A. A. Coolidge paid their first visit to New York this week, returning last evening. They took in all the sights including Central Park, Coney Island and the Bowery, and were only sorry that they could not prolong their visit.

Miss Josie Flynn, Misses Mary and Lizzie Elcock of this city, accompanied by Miss Mary Elcock of Boston, left Thursday for Niagara Falls and the World's Fair. On their return they will visit Washington. The ladies will be absent about two months.

Mr. W. P. Cherrington, an enterprising citizen of Weymouth is to put on a line of barges on Saturdays to run from the terminus of the electric road in that village to Downer's, the first trip connecting with car leaving Quincy at 2.25 P. M. returning as late as 9.15 to connect with 10.00 P. M. car from Weymouth, thus affording an excellent opportunity for Quincy people to enjoy the manifold attractions of Melville Garden, not the least of which is an evening of dancing in the brilliantly illuminated Music Hall where Edmunds Band holds forth until 9 o'clock.

WOODWARD SCHOOL.

Temporary Building to be Erected Right Away.

TO COST ONLY TEN THOUSAND.

Decision of Supreme Court Not Expected Until November.

The board of Managers of the Woodward Fund and Property have decided not to wait any longer for the decision of the Supreme court which is not expected now until November or December.

They have decided to build a wooden or temporary building at small cost and will open the school in it before the time limit expires. With this in view sketches for a $10,000 building are being prepared.

As the school is largely an experimental one it is thought this will give the board a good idea of the requirements and needs, and the principal and interest will be saved to erect in five or ten years just such a building as is needed, and one which will be an ornament to the city.

Look out for Bluefish.

Mr. E. W. Marsh, who, yesterday, visited Mr. B. F. Curtis at his new cottage Humarock Beach, reports that as they left the dinner table, a rush of fish was noticed in the surf, close upon the beach, with one line, hastily prepared, six splendid bluefish, with an aggregate weight of forty-eight pounds were landed in a few minutes, one tipping the scales at nine pounds with something to spare. These, with a dozen nice "hickory shad," made a fair string for the commencement of the season. An attempt to land some of the beauties with a pitchfork was not a success, though several big fellows floundered into deep water disabled. Who will report next.

Quincy for Matthews.

The Boston Advertiser comes out plain this morning and says, "Josiah Quincy will not be a candidate for governor, and Mayor Matthews will. For several weeks it has been understood that one or the other would be selected, they to decide between themselves which it should be. Mr. Quincy has put the handle round to Mr. Matthews' side, by declaring that he would be very glad not to allow his name to be used, provided the mayor would take it."

During the evening Chief Patriarch Jacobs, in behalf of Manet Encampment, presented the district deputy with a handsome Past Chief's regalia. Deputy Joy was greatly surprised but heartily thanked the members for their kind gift. A collation with speeches followed.

Old Stoughton Musical Society.

The Old Stoughton Musical Society, which celebrated it centennial in 1886, is making active preparations for concerts to be given by invitation in Chicago in August. Rehearsals have been held every week with good success.

Members of this ancient organization are found in Stoughton, Randolph, Sharon, Canton, Braintree, Weymouth, Avon, Holbrook, Brockton, East Bridgewater, Bridgewater, West Bridgewater, Easton, Taunton, Milton and other localities in the vicinity of these places.

Mr. Leander Soule, the conductor, of Taunton, is enthusiastic in leading the chorus, and Mr. E. A. Jones of Stoughton, the leader of the orchestra, is a host in himself.

Mr. Alanson Belcher of Stoughton, at the age of more than four-score years, is present at every rehearsal, showing the zeal which the occasion kindles. S. B. Noyes, Esq., of Canton, for many years leader of the Unitarian choir, is also a member. The young are also present to catch the inspiration of the songs the fathers sang.

The music to be rendered by the society is of American composition, and nothing more recent than the composition of 1840 will be presented. The tunes of Billings, Holden, Swan, Poole, Cole and others will be prominent.

A Partial Settlement.

The following two reports of the difficulty in the Lazy club, one furnished by the President and the other by the vice-president. Take your choice.

The warrant on the vice-president has not as yet been served. He acknowledged his peculations, and would make good the loss, and give bond of $5,000 for his faithful performance of his duties, for the future.

The Supreme Council of the Lazy clubs have passed on the legality of bills under controversy and have declared that they are legal in every respect. We understand that the Supreme Council were entertained by the vice president and treasurer at Houghs Neck yesterday before the executive session —Few have any conception of the progress which photography has made in the direction of taking instantaneous impressions. An object traveling at the rate of 10,000 miles an hour can be photographed by means of an electric spark, while if a revolving mirror is introduced, objects traveling at the enormous speed of 180,000 miles an hour can be taken.

That is a strong statement. Yet exactly what Miss Gertrude Sickler, of Wilton, N. J., has written to Mrs. Pinkham. She says:—

"I suffered terribly with suppressed and painful menstruations. Doctors could only keep me from having fits each month by giving me morphine. This continued until I was completely prostrated.

"My father at last got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which at once gave me relief. It did what the doctors could not—cured me. I never have any trouble now, and have no dread of the coming month.

Rough Experience of a Cat Boat—Big Day in the Contest.

MAILS—Close for Quincy at 8 A. M. and 5 P. M. Arrive from Quincy at 9 A. M. and 6 P. M.

ELECTRIC CARS are run to Quincy at 5.40 A. M. and every half hour from 7 A. M. to 10 P M. Returning at 6.15 A. M. and every half hour from 7.30 A. M. to 10.30 P. M.

THE DAILY LEDGER is for sale at Post Office, Manet Lunch Room, by Henry W. French and by Newsboys. Mr. French is the authorized local agent of the paper. Items of news solicited from everybody.

The cape cat boat Myth had a very hard time of it Thursday. She left Nahant for home and was struck by the northeasterly gale which came up so suddenly. After scudding under peak and jib for some time she reached the mouth of Shirley gut but was prevented from passing through by the wall used in laying the pipes. She came to anchor and after the boys had had a long night's rest reached home early next morning. Johnny says it's his last cruise.

Clearing papers have been issued, and the Veto started this morning for Newburyport.

The big five of the Q. Y. C. will start on a cruise to Plymouth and return by Monday.

Envelopes and paper have been left at each house on the beach. If you wish to let people know you are at the beach send in your message.

The Commonwealth yacht club will cruise to Fort Point, Sunday, and partake of a clambake.

The Canton Journal thus reports the accident to one of its barges which was conveying home the picnic party on Wednesday:

The horses attached to the "Belle of Canton" driven by John Buckley, took fright at the electric cars near the Mount Wollaston farm, and ran a short distance, carrying the barge across the track, directly in front of the car, over a low stone wall to the edge of a gully near by, where a fallen tree caught in the wheel. The plunging horses snapped the pole and dragged the driver from the seat headforemost. He fell beneath the heels of the rear pair, but though stunned and bruised by the fall regained his feet and stopped the team, after being dragged a short distance. It was not until the occupants of the barge were safely outside of it that they realized how narrow had been their escape. Had the wheels struck the wall at a less angle than they did, or had the barge gone into the gully on the brink of which it stopped, it would surely have been overturned and the occupants more or less injured. As it was no one was hurt but Mr. Buckley, who was able to drive home. It is said that a green horse was the cause of the accident.

A religious service will be at the cottage of William Williams, on Bird street, Houghs Neck, Sunday July 16th, at 3.30 P. M. The public are cordially invited to attend.

The Biggest Day Yet.

The vote today is the largest of any day since the contest was inaugurated and yesterday's leader is now number three. Mr. Dunhams friends added 130 and he comes to the top with 280. He has a near rival, Mr. Hutchins, whose gain today was the largest, 185. Friends of Miss Rose of Stoughton doubled her vote, and Mrs. Emery of the Loretto cottage also has twice as many. Others made smaller gains and the standing is:

Arthur H. Dunham, Houghs Neck	280
C. A. Hutchins, Manet Beach	255

BRAINTREE.

The new principal of the High school is said to resemble Abraham Lincoln in appearance. This is an additional recommendation in his favor. It was Dr. S. C. Bridgham of the School Board that went to the town of Warren, R. I., and discovered him.

Alfred Southworth, the new postmaster for Braintree proper, has received his commission, and has begun to fit up an office in Long's Block. The situation is conveniently near the railroad station, and the accommodation ample. The late postmaster, Mr. N. R. Procter, don't intend to retire from business or "hide his candle under a bushel." He is both well known and liked in the community, and there is no reason in the world why he should not prosper. He has made an excellent postmaster, but politics was "in it."

The Universalist Society and Sunday School had its annual outing in the grove at Mayflower Park last Wednesday. The party came in barges arriving at about 10.30 A. M. Swings and hammocks were immediately put up and a long lunch table constructed. Games were indulged in by both young and old, a few had brought their thimbles so that all were busy in one way or another and a pleasant day was the result.

Catherine S., wife of Nathaniel White of East Braintree, after five months of severe suffering, endured with Christian patience and fortitude, surrendered her soul to her Maker. Nathaniel White, her husband, and an honored citizen, has the sympathy of the entire community. He has done all that was within the limit of human possibility to save, but the Providence of God called her higher on Friday, July 14. She was born in Dracut, Mass., was an earnest worker in the Methodist Episcopal church, an honest, upright woman, and faithful wife. She leaves two children—one a mechanic in Fore River Works, the other the wife of Bradford Y. Knight. Funeral at house on Sunday at 2 P. M.

The South Congregational church has received a coat of paint and looks fine. We never saw it look better.

Samuel Henry of East Braintree has sold his boat Bessie B. to Thomas Clarkson, of Brockton, who keeps a hotel on Raccoon island.

Rev. Mr. Hatch of the Baptist church will occupy the pulpit of the First Congregational church, tomorrow morning. All are invited!

There are 425 dogs in Braintree and 210 have been licensed. Warrants for the collection of the license for those unpaid have been put into the hands of officers Faxon, Qualey and Kelley. Look out!

Mr. Sanford P. Record has been chosen principal of the Stoneham High school for another year at a salary of $1,600. Mr. Record is worth it. He is a graduate of our High school under Charles E. Stetson. So much for "Charlie" and so much for Braintree and her High school.

The locomotive 136 bringing out the South Shore express to Quincy, engineer Snow driver, in charge of conductor Olmstead, is a clipper. The distance, eight miles, is travelled, generally, in about as many minutes. The best of it is, there is no jolting of the carriages. 'Tis a well patronized train, passengers feel safe and seem to enjoy the swift rate of speed, very much.

D. D. G. M. George W. Richardson of Neponset, will install officers elect of Puritan Lodge, I. O. O. F., next Tuesday evening. A collation will follow.

The initiatory steps looking towards the organization of a historical society, including the City of Quincy and the towns of Braintree, Randolph and Holbrook are making satisfactory progress. The list of charter members comprises the names of the most prominent and influential citizens of the several towns mentioned. It is bound to go! Thanks to W. G. Spear of Quincy.

Thursday night Hook and Ladder No. 1 was entertained at supper by the steward, George Sampson, Jr. The boys turned out in full force and feather. William Buckley, foreman, discharged the honorable and onerous duties of the chair.

WEYMOUTH.

Mr. Edgar R. Downs, principal of the South High school, has resigned, to accept a position in Denver, Col., and Miss Jessie Smith, the assistant, has a call from a girls school in Suffield, Conn.

Rev. H. A. Philbrook, of the Universalist church, Quincy, will preach in exchange with Rev. L. W. Atwood, at South Weymouth, Sunday.

Intellectual Progress In Boston.

It is not unaffectedly pleasant to the average Bostonian of mature years to sit and listen to Professor Drummond's talk about evolution. Those of scientific and highly differentiated intellects don't mind, neither do the young who have been brought up in the nurture and admonition of modern thought. But unscientific men and women, whose hair is lightly streaked with more or less silver, are a little nervous while awaiting the evenings yet to come when Professor Drummond will undoubtedly make the final logical dash from the ape that yearningly and with irresistible instinct apes mankind to man, who still occasionally apes the ape.

It will be easy for members of a community nurtured on Browning to follow the lecturer then, and people who have feasted more on the delicate fruits than the hardy roots of life in their intellectual and spiritual growth will take very kindly to the later lectures. The material is always a vexation to those determined to dissociate the natural and the spiritual, and for those it is not agreeable to be taken back into the physical memories of the faroff beginnings of the race, or to make those agile mental jumps which fling a man forward in the upward scale of being.—Boston Transcript.

She Saved the License.

One should not be too confident and precipitate in affairs of the heart. James McCarthy of Norfolk has learned this bitter lesson. Friday he purchased of the town clerk a license to marry a certain lovely widow on whom his favors fell.

With the parchment in his vest pocket he presented himself before the widow and for the first time asked her to be his cherished bride, and in the certainty of her answer he showed her the precious license. The proposal was so sudden and the swain so sure that the widow was nettled and refused him with considerable emphasis.

Mr. McCarthy was dazed for a moment, and then realizing his discomfiture he dashed the license to the floor, danced a breakdown on it and left the house. The next day, says the local chronicler, the economical widow took the license back to the town clerk and requested him to hold it until the right man wanted her.—Buffalo Courier.

Curiosities From Key West.

Dr. Einar Lonnberg has returned from his trip to Key West for the purpose of scientific research among marine animals. He describes the sea there as enormously rich in fish and the sponging grounds as the best in the world. He captured and brought with him 50 different kinds of fish, three of which had never before been seen along the Florida coast. He found many strange mollusks, crustaceans, actinias and worms, and the first—of the land species—were very abundant on the keys on account of the calcareous soil. On Key West he found a snake that exists nowhere else, also the great black scorpion, imported probably from the West India islands. An animal of semiellipsoid form about an inch, which he is not able to classify before it is dissected, is probably a new discovery. —Orlando (Fla.) Record.

The Grafton Shrievalty Case.

CONCORD, N. H., July 15.—In the Grafton county shrievalty case counsel for Brigham (Democrat) moved for judgment. Counsel for Hurlbutt asked for delay and the court granted a continuance until July 29.

Our 200 page book "THREE CLASSES OF MEN," showing middle-aged and old man, sent sealed, free. Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt as we have restored thousands to robust health and vigor, after all other treatments failed, as shown by hundreds of cases throughout this and other States, which we will gladly testify to, from many of whom we have strong letters bearing testimony to their recovery after using our Belt.

WE HAVE CURED THESE—WE CAN CURE YOU:

NERVOUS DEBILITY AND WEAKNESS.

NEW YORK CITY, October 24th, 1892.
DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—About three years ago I purchased one of your electric belts for the cure of nervous debility, which I had in its worst form and which was undermining my health. For years I had suffered from this terrible debilitating drain on my vital forces and I did not know what it was to have a good night's sleep, but in one month's time after using the belt I felt a much stronger man both mentally and physically, and in a short time was entirely well.
Yours truly, H. BELLIG, 297 Bowery.

RHEUMATISM AND LOST VIGOR.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., October 25th, 1892.
DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—Four years ago I suffered such pain from rheumatism that at times it was impossible for me to get around, and I always carried a cane for support. I used your belt and felt a relief in one hour. I gained in weight from that day and it was only a short time until the pains left me and to-day I am a well man. I always keep my belt near by for fear there might be a return, but as it has now been four years since you cured me, can safely say it is permanent. A. L. VOSS, Musical Director, 249 St. Mark's Place.

RHEUMATISM—LOST VIGOR.

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 25, 1892.
DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—I take pleasure in writing you that the belt has entirely cured me of rheumatism from which I suffered for four years, almost continually. I am a letter carrier, and the long daily tramps necessary in my rounds, up to the time of getting the belt, were painfully performed with but little relief. It is a wonderful invention. I can now walk as well as ever I did, and will recommend your treatment to others in the same ways as you said it would.
Yours very truly,
JAMES MEAD, 37 Forsyth st.

GENERAL DEBILITY, &c.

CHESTER CO., S. CAROLINA, Oct. 30, 1892.
DEAR CROSS, M.D., CHESTER, S. C.
DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—I have much pleasure in giving my testimony to many you have of the cures wrought by your belt. My self and a number of my friends have gained twelve pounds in weight since wearing the belt, and have an excellent appetite, and feel like new men. I have used the belt with your "Electric Suspensory" and find it a valuable benefit to me, and I take pleasure in recommending it to my friends. Yours respectfully, your belt.
W. H. [illegible]

THE DR. SANDEN ELECTRIC BELT
Is a complete galvanic battery, made into a belt so as to be easily worn during work or sport, and it gives soothing, prolonged currents which are instantly felt throughout all weak parts of the body. It has an Improved Electric Suspensory, the greatest boon ever given to suffering manhood, and we warrant it to cure any of the above weaknesses, and to enlarge shrunken parts of the body. France Regrets the Hasty Incident In Siamese Waters.

EXPLANATION FROM PARIS

Defending the Commander of the French Squadron.

BANGKOK, July 15.—The French minister has informed the Siamese government that the commanders of the gunboats Comet and Inconstant misunderstood the situation when they fired upon the Paknam forts and ascended the Menam river. Their instructions contemplates no such action. The anxiety prevailing throughout the city has been partly allayed by the arrival of another British gunboat.

The announcement is made that an armistice has been concluded and that the incident will probably be explained by France as regretable.

How It Happened.

PARIS, July 15.—A semi-official note published today explains the Bangkok incident thus: France, learning that England and other nations were sending war vessels to Bangkok, notified the Siamese government on July 8 of her intention to increase the French naval force at the mouth of the Menam river, where only the gunboat Lutin afforded protection to the French residents.

In accordance with article 15 of the treaty of 1856 French men-of-war have the right to enter the Menam river and anchor off Paknam, but must give the Siamese government notice to arrange for the anchorage in case of intention to ascend the river at Bangkok. As, however, no other than British vessels entered the Menan river, Siam having objected to the presence of more than one foreign vessel. France, while reserving her formal treaty rights, instructed Rear Admiral Humann not to cross the bar of the Menan river and notified the Siamese government accordingly. The order was received too late by Humann, and the gunboats ascended to Bangkok.

MISSIONARIES IN SIAM

Must Not Depend Upon American Vessels For Protection.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—There are about 20 American missionaries in Siam, mostly Presbyterians, and their friends in this country have become concerned about their welfare now that actual hostilities have been started with the French and the Siamese. Rev. Dr. Gillespie of New York, representing the Presbyterian mission board, telegraphed Secretary Gresham to inquire what provision would be made for the safety of these missionaries and the numerous children in their charge. In view of the present war outlook, Secretary Gresham replied as follows:

I am informed by the secretary of the navy that there is not at present at an Asiatic station an American vessel capable of entering Siamese waters. Missionaries should communicate with legation at Bangkok for usual diplomatic protection.

W. Q. GRESHAM.

Military Bicycling.

TOLEDO, July 15.—The Toledo cadets, Ohio National guard, unattached, left for Chicago last night to go into camp on the Midway plaisance. The company is mounted on 60 military bicycles, arranged to carry guns, knapsacks and blankets. The war department has taken a deep interest in this experiment.

Lightning's Work.

BANGOR, Me., July 14.—During a heavy thunder shower at Orland a dwelling house occupied by a family named Saunders was struck by lighting and completely wrecked. Mrs. Saunders was prostrated by the bolt and is dying, but her husband and infant in the same room were not seriously injured.

Should Begin a New Life.

FITCHBURG, Mass., July 15.—On Monday last a tramp, who gave the name of Alfred Wilson, was arrested for drunkenness. He was fined $5 on Tuesday, and being unable to pay was sent to jail. He has since been informed that he had inherited $50,000 by the death of his father, a wealthy resident of Blackstone.

Transfer of Borden Property.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 15.—The daughters of the late Andrew J. Borden have transferred to Mrs. George Whitehead of this city and Mrs. Fish of Hartford some $4000 worth of property which belonged to the late Mrs. Borden. The beneficiaries were half sisters of the murdered woman.

The Pensions Cutdown.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Just 2500 pensioners have been suspended up to date under the recent ruling requiring beneficiaries of the act of June 27, 1890, to prove total disability where they are drawing pensions of $12 per month. The suspensions are well distributed throughout the country.

A Horrible Experience.

BOSTON, July 15.—George W. Smith was caught in a rapidly moving shafting and whirled until every shred of clothing had been torn from his body, his jaw and nose fractured and his left arm broken, at the Prescott building on Summer street, yesterday afternoon.

To Prevent Fraud.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Secretary Morton will purchase seeds for the United States department of agriculture this year under a guarantee on the part of the sellers not only that the seed will germinate, but that they will be found true to name.

Quiet at Gray Gables.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 15.—Other than taking a drive over to the Buzzard's Bay postoffice in company with Dr. Bryant, President Cleveland passed a very quiet day at Gray Gables. There were no callers.

Crack Billiardists Matched.

LONDON, July 15.—Frank C. Ives, the American billiard champion, and John Roberts, Jr., the English champion, have signed articles for another billiard match. They will play in Chicago next September.

Bids Fair to Become a Law.

BERLIN, July 15.—The army bill has passed its second reading in the reichstag. All the articles of the bill will pass their third reading today.

Robbers Get $10,000.

NIAGARA FALLS, July 15.—Sneak thieves stole $10,000 worth of diamonds from the jewelry store of T. V. Dickinson in the Hotel Imperial block here last night.

ON THEORY DISPELLED.

Story Surrounds the Death of J. E. O'Meara at Boston.

BOSTON, July 15.—Suicide or homicide. Such is the decision of Medical Examiner Harris on the death of J. Edward O'Meara of Cranston, R. I., reported by the police as having been accidentally killed by falling through a light of glass in the building corner of Federal and Franklin streets and severing his jugular vein late Wednesday night.

The dead man's friends and relatives scout the suicide theory, and say he came to his death either by accident or foul play. The accident theory seemed very plausible till Dr. Harris made his examination. Then it vanished like the morning mist before the rising sun.

O'Meara was found with his head through the broken pane, with his neck resting on a broken edge of glass, close to the lower part of the window frame. A large square of glass above that through which his head is supposed to have crushed was shattered in a thousand pieces. There was no sign of blood inside the window frame, where it most likely would have been had the jugular been severed by the broken glass, while the sidewalk a few feet from the spot was covered with blood, and it was undoubtedly away from the window that he received the wound which caused his untimely end.

The gash in the man's neck was made with a sharp instrument like a razor or knife, and could not possibly have been made by the broken edge of glass on which he rested when found. Such is the opinion of the expert on matters of the kind, and it entirely dispels the accident theory.

A TOUGH YOUNG WOMAN

Who Has Been Masquerading as a Man For Fifteen Years.

MILWAUKEE, July 15.—On the strength of a dispatch from the Fond du Lac authorities Chief Janssen arrested one Frank Blunt, who was wanted at Fond du Lac on a charge of grand larceny. It was then developed that Frank Blunt was a woman.

For 15 years Blunt, as the masquerading woman was known, had dressed and acted as a man, drinking, smoking, gambling and swearing with the rough crowd in which her life passed, and not once was her identity known.

When taken before Chief Janssen she said her name was Annie Morris. She is a native of Nova Scotia, and her family lived in Halifax. Annie, 14 years ago, ran away, accompanied by her brother who was two years younger. She was at that time 13 years of age. The mother of the children was dead, and the cruelties of the father, the girl says, caused them to leave home.

Annie put on a suit of her brother's clothes, and from that time until now she has passed for a man. She was adopted by a man named Jessie Blunt, and they traveled through New England for some time, finally coming to Milwaukee.

MONEY A LITTLE EASIER

But Business Men Are Unusually Cautious In Their Dealings.

NEW YORK, July 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

There is a somewhat better tone in business, because money markets are a little less stringent. But it cannot be said as yet that there is any distinct improvement. In every direction unusual conservatism prevails, orders are relatively small, the volume of business is restricted, and a waiting policy rules.

New York banks have received some money from the interior, but are not yet clear that it is best to retire clearing house certificates, because there are said to be weak spots which may yet require liberal extension of credits. Other cities have drawn less from New York because their business is restricted. Some gold has come already from abroad, and more is expected within the next week, but exports of products do not increase as much as has been expected.

To Divert Colorado's Trade.

CHICAGO, July 15.—A dispatch from Pueblo, Colo, says another silver convention will soon be called with the object of diverting to New Orleans the wholesale trade of Colorado, which now goes to Boston, New York and Philadelphia, the idea being that eastern merchants will then withdraw their objection to free silver coinage.

Guilty of Criminal Assault.

BOSTON, July 15.—In the superior criminal court James H. Fitzgibbons was convicted for a felonious assault on young Mary Doherty. The grand jury reported a bill against Fitzgibbons on Saturday last. The jury returned a verdict of guilty. Fitzgibbons was sentenced to 12 years in state prison.

Friendly Scuffle Ends In Murder.

GREENVILLE, S. C., July 15.—Tom Toney cut Jim Cox with a pocket knife, yesterday, severing his jugular vein, killing him instantly. Both men were visiting a brother of Cox, who was giving a dinner in honor of the 21st birthday of Toney's son. The trouble began in a friendly scuffle.

Hustling For Dempsey.

PITTSBURG, July 15.—It is expected that the Homestead poisoning cases will be reopened. Hugh F. Dempsey's friends expect to produce evidence that will not only prove his innocence, but will also bring to light the exposure of a sensational plot.

Bar Harbor's Medical Inspector.

BAR HARBOR, Me., July 15.—Dr. William Rogers of this place has received an appointment as medical inspector for Bar Harbor. His orders are to inspect vessels arriving from foreign ports to guard against cholera and all infectious diseases.

Batch of Conspirators Indicted.

PATERSON, N. J., July 15.—The grand jury, which has been investigating the affairs of the county officials for the past 35 days, reported findings today. Twenty-three persons will be indicted upon charges of bribery and conspiracy.

Body Almost Cut In Two.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 15.—William J. Cook, a Wales farmer, was cut nearly in two by his mowing machine and died before aid could be summoned. His oxen ran, throwing him to the ground directly in front of the knives.

Hundred Men Out of Work.

RUTLAND, Vt., July 15.—The True Blue Marble company at West Rutland, one of the largest marble concerns, has discharged 100 men. Many manufacturers are working on short time.

FLEET OF WARSHIPS

To Be Maintained by Russia In American Waters.

WILL AID UNITED STATES

Should Trouble Arise Over the Behring Sea Dispute.

NEW YORK, July 15.—It is learned from high Russian sources that the Russian government has decided to maintain a permanent fleet of warships in United States waters and that the port of New York will be made Russia's western naval centre. Acting under instructions from St. Petersburg a board of Russian naval officers has been engaged in making a careful inspection of the big Erie dry dock to ascertain the exact number of Russian warships the docks will accommodate.

It is further announced that representatives of the Russian government have made overtures to the Erie drydocks establishment to undertake the care and overhauling of all warships maintained by Russia in American waters. To a reporter, General Superintendent Dickey of the Erie drydocks establishment intimated that the facilities of the Erie basin would be soon at the disposal of the Russian government.

"Already," said Mr. Dickey, "we have undertaken to look out for the Admiral Nachimoff, Dimitri Donskoi and Rynda, the three Russian cruisers now in port, and we are at present overhauling the machinery of these vessels." Superintendent Dickey would not say whether an imperial dockyard had yet been received by the Erie drydocks establishment.

Russia has never before maintained a fleet of warships in American waters. Russian ships cruising around the world have touched at United States ports for short periods, but there has never been a practiced Russian admiralty of assigning war vessels to a three-years' cruise on the American coast.

In the event of the Russians making this port their western naval center, it will be the first instance in the history of the United States of a European power having such recourse to an American port. Great Britain, Spain, Denmark and France each maintain fleets in American waters, with headquarters in West Indian waters.

The opinion was ventured in naval circles last evening that in view of the likelihood of the Behring sea decision going against Great Britain the proposed action of Russia was of great importance to the United States. With the Russian fleet constantly in and about New York the liability of the powerful British fleet on the North American station to sally upon exposed Atlantic ports of the United States will be greatly lessened.

Charged With Smuggling.

BURLINGTON, Vt., July 15.—Cadmus S. Gates of Highgate, Vt., was arraigned before United States Commissioner Johnson in this city on a charge of smuggling, in assisting his daughter, Mrs. Lester H. Greene, the wife of a Montpelier druggist, in unlawfully bringing drugs across the Canada line. They were held in $300 bail each for their appearance at the October term of the United States circuit cout.

What We Want Is Money.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Senator Jones of Nevada is in town. He summed up the financial situation as follows: "People say what we want is confidence. Confidence be gollyswashed: what the people want is money, money, money. That's what they want, and it's what I want, and silver is just as good money as any other. That's the whole story."

He Obeyed Orders.

GREENVILLE, S. C., July 15.—School Commissioner Davenport of Laurens county has resigned and fled. He attempted a criminal assault on a young married woman. The woman's husband agreed to compromise the matter for $100. Neighbors heard of the transaction and called on Davenport to leave the state in two days.

Lije Will Go to Omaha.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The order directing Major E. W. Halford, paymaster, to report for duty to the commanding general of the department of Dakota, has been revoked, and he is ordered to duty in the department of the Platte, with headquarters at Omaha.

Grandin Starts For the Fair.

NEW YORK, July 15.—George Grandin, who represents Le Journal, Paris, left The Herald office at 4:20 p. m. yesterday to walk to the World's fair. He expects to make 50 miles a day. He carries no money, relying entirely upon good fellowship.

Will Survive Her Injuries,

GLEN HOUSE BURNED.

The Noted Hotel at Foot of Mount Washington.

BUT FEW GUESTS IN HOUSE.

Was Built in 1885 and Had Accommodations for 300 Guests.

MT. WASHINGTON, N. H., July 17.—A fire broke out in the upper part of the Glen house, owned by Charles R. Milliken, about 6:30 o'clock last evening.

The fire started over the office and spread with great rapidity. Within an hour the large structure was in complete ruins.

The origin of the fire is unknown, as the telegraph operator at the Glen gave notice of the fire to the Mt. Washington operator, and then immediately closed the office.

The Glen was built in the early part of 1885 to take the place of the old house, which was burned on the night of Oct. 1 of the previous year. It was the latest built summer house in the White mountains and was provided with modern improvements.

Only a part of the structure was built in 1885. The next season it was enlarged, carrying out the original plans. It would accommodate about 300 guests, and, including the furnishings, it cost fully $100,000.

It is not known what Mr. Milliken will do about rebuilding, it being too late to get it ready for this season's business, should he conclude to build at once.

The amount of insurance is not known, but it is understood that it will fully cover the loss. Business had opened light at the Glen this season, as it has in some of the other houses in the White mountains, and there were only about 25 guests in the house.

The hotel was managed this season by O. L. Frisbie, late of the Oceanic at the Isles of Shoals, and Charles T. Wilson. Part of the furniture was saved, but the most valvable was consumed. Mr. Milliken was present, having come up from Portland Saturday to spend Sunday.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

The Body of William Baxter of Holden Found Bruised and Mangled.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 17.—The quiet of the town of Holden was rudely disturbed yesterday by the discovery of the mutilated remains of William Baxter, the keeper of a notorious road house on the Winter Hill road, in a cow pasture about 40 rods from his house.

The man had been murdered and robbed, as his pockets were turned inside out, and a gold watch which he was known to possess cannot be found.

His skull was fractured in two places, over the left eye and behind the left ear, the weapon with which the wounds were dealt, a long-handled axe, being found lying close to the body.

Yesterday Marshal Handy of this city, from whom Baxter leased the farm, went out to the place, and, in looking over the premises, was attracted to a hollow in a cow pasture about 20 rods from the house by a foul odor.

On investigating he discovered the badly decomposed

Body of the Murdered Man, lying on his back, with his arms stretched over his head.

A long-handled axe, lying close beside the body, accounted for the clean wounds in the dead man's head, and a small hatchet was found about 15 feet distant.

Medical Examiner P. H. Keefe of this city and Deputy Sheriff Merrick of Holden were notified, and a more thorough search of the premises was made by these officers.

It looked to them as if Baxter had received his death wounds in a clump of white birch saplings and the body dragged to the hollow where it was found, as the bushes and grass were crushed for about 20 feet in a direct line between the two points.

The blood stains on the bushes might have been washed away by the showers during the past week.

A search of the surroundings revealed the fact that Baxter kept his beer hidden in the pasture, as 38 bottles of lager were found partly covered by a blanket about 40 rods southwest of where the body lay and ten feet away from there, behind a rock, the officers found 16 more bottles.

It is supposed that some time Saturday night he was visited by a party who wanted beer, and he went for it, never to return.

There is no clue to the murderer, but it is known that some time ago there was a row at his house and a man fired a pistol at him through the door, the bullet narrowly missing its mark.

Edward Cunningham, a mill hand of Holden, about 22 years old, is under arrest.

He is known to be a frequenter of the place, and was seen by the officers there June 26 and 27. He acknowledges that he stayed with Baxter until July 5, when he started up through Vermontt looking for work. He says he was in Hinsdale, Vt., July 8, and returned to Holden last Thursday.

Henry Knox says he saw Cunningham with Baxter on the 8th.

Forest Fires In New Hampshire.

PLYMOUTH, N. H., July 17.—A forest fire has been raging for the past two days in the timber land owned by the Ashland Knitting company, situated on Petlee Hill, Ashland, N. H. Over 200 cords of dry wood has been consumed and the fire is not yet under control. The surrounding country is very dry.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 17.—Three boys entered the barn of Peter Crapo, at the South End, yesterday, and finding a keg of gunpowder, poured some out on the floor and touched a lighted match to it. Charles Baxter, aged 10 years, had the clothing burned almost entirely off and will probably die from his injuries. Eddie Allen, 10 years old, was burned horribly about the arms and legs. The third boy escaped with a scorching.

Somnambulist's Fatal Fall.

BOSTON, July 17.—Daniel Clearey of Newton, a guest of the St. James Hotel on Beach street, while walking in his sleep, stepped out of the window of his room and fell to the sidewalk, a distance of 60 feet. It was found he had sustained a severe injury to his spine, a broken arm and was suffering from concussion of the brain, from the effects of which he died.

Shut Down In Madison, Me.

MADISON, Me., July 17.—On account of the financial depression, the pulp mill in Madison, the largest in the world, has shut down. The Madison woolen mill has also shut down. The thrift and prosperity of the town is dependent on these mills, and their shutting down will be a severe blow. Five hundred people will be thrown out of employment.

Increase In Worcester's Population.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 17.—The official return of polls in this city for 1893, as given out by the board of assessors, gives the total number as 28,333, against 26,993 in 1892, an increase of 1340. Taking the average of the last United States census, the estimated population of the city, according to these figures, is 96,474.

Diamond Tips.

Nash has been doing some tremendous hitting on the Boston's trip.

Five victories for the Bostons last week, and away from home, too.

It is reported that Sullivan of Harvard will join the Northamptons.

Moore has been released by the Lewistons and signed by the Dovers.

Dave Coughlin of the Northamptons is to play first base for the Portlands.

Mack, who was hurt in a collision with Long, will be able to play in a few days.

Schoch is filling Tom Burns' place in right field to perfection for the Brooklyns.

The Providence Telegram hints that Manager Burnham's reign will not continue long.

Harry Stovey says he will never play in a western club. He would sooner retire than leave the east.

Virtue is covering third base for Cleveland in good shape for a man who has always played on first.

Now that the St. Louis team is winning, Manager Watkins is a king in the estimation of Chris Von der Ahe.

Burke has fallen off in his batting lately, and Ward has put him down to seventh place in the batting order.

George Gore is practicing daily. He says he wants a trial from some league club and may ask Ward to give him a chance.

The Pittsburg management has secured the services of Sugdon and Colcolough. The new men will accompany the team on the western trip.

Zimmer, who collided with Tucker in Cleveland, is more seriously hurt than was at first supposed. He will not be able to play for some time.

"Herman Long has made more errors than any player in the league."—Sporting Life. That may all be; he has also spoiled more base hits than any player in the league.

Boyle has been granted a leave of absence by the Philadelphia club to go to Cincinnati, where his mother is very sick. In his absence Cross is covering first base in fine style.

A complimentary clambake was tendered John and Andrew Highlands, Bernard W. Trafford and Benjamin Cook, Jr., of the Harvard baseball team, at Cook's farm, near Fall River, Mass.

The Pittsburgs are making another spurt. The signing of Glasscock seems to have put a little life in the faint-hearted ones on the team, and from now on there may be much to look forward to at Pittsburg.

SEEKING STATEHOOD.

The Discharged Agent Says the Indians Are Abused and Calls a Meeting.

FORT GIBSON, I. T., July 17.—For some time efforts have been made to induce somebody of unquestioned standing to take the initiative in a movement looking toward statehood for the five civilized nations. This week's Muskogee Phœnix contains a letter from ex-Indian Agent Bennett, which goes far toward gratifying the wishes of the statehood element.

Mr. Bennett was recently removed from office on account of the brave stand he took in preventing the execution of certain Choctaw Indians, but the letter above referred to was written some time prior to his removal.

He thinks congress has the power, regardless of treaties, to remedy these wrongs, and that something ought to be done to protect the Indians, as well as other citizens. In short, he is an advocate of statehood, and recommends that a mass meeting be held at Muskogee soon, to devise ways and means to get at legislation that will relieve the people, and give them a government that will protect all citizens alike. This is considered as the beginning of a movement that will result in the disruption of the present tribal relations.

Death of a Famous Scientist.

ALBANY, July 17.—Dr. Philip Ten Eyck, the associate of the famous Joseph Henry, is dead, aged 91. At the time of his birth Dutch was the prevailing language here. Albany then boasted of less than 1000 houses, and its population numbered but a few thousand. After his graduation from Hamilton college, he practiced medicine for a while, joining also with Mr. Henry in the study of the natural sciences. To their combined experiments are largely due the great discoveries in electro-magnetism.

TELEPHONE, 213-3 QUINCY.

QUINCY HAS more schools than any town in Massachusetts, and but 18 of the cities have more. Quincy's total in 1890 was 70, and Weymouth and Brookline were next in order in the county with but 47 each, and Hyde Park and Dedham followed with 35 each. Brookline with a valuation of fifty millions has to support but 47 schools where Quincy with a valuation of sixteen millions supports 70. Statistics show:

The annual expenditure for schools in the State, exclusive of repairing and erecting schoolhouses is $6,668,690.93.

The amount expended for each child between 5 and 15 years of age, annually, is $17.41.

The annual expenditure for schools, including repairing and erecting schoolhouses, is $9,515,556.65.

The annual expenditure for each child between 5 and 15 years of age, under the latter item, is $24 32.

In Quincy the annual expenditure per child is probably more than $24.32, and a person who pays a tax on $1,500 don't pay more than enough to support one child in school. A tax on $3,000 will support two children in our schools. How often a man with two or more children in school and paying a tax on less than $3,000, will say that they pay taxes and don't get good streets, sidewalks, lights, etc.

HAPPY CHURCH PEOPLE.

The New Organ at Quincy Point the Occasion for Rejoicing.

Sunday at the Washington Street Congregational church will go on record as one of the pleasantest in its history. Long before the hour for morning service many people gathered at the church, and by eleven o'clock the auditorium was completely filled.

Mr. Arthur Raymond of East Weymouth presided at the organ, and showed the power and sweetness of the new instrument. The choir consisting of a double quartette, under the direction of Mr. Newton, furnish some excellent music. Mr. Bates sang a bass solo, and a quartette from North Weymouth, consisting of Miss Shaw, Mrs. Bean, Mr. Newton and Mr. Bates rendered one selection.

The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and hydrangeas, and the flower committee, composed of Miss Amy Newcomb, Miss Gertrude Sampson and Miss Margaret Thomas deserved and received much praise for the pleasing effect produced.

Rev. W. Sherman Thompson preached a short and interesting sermon on the "Charms of Music."

In the evening Rev. Mr. Norton filled the pulpit and Mr. Herbert A. Hayden officiated as organist. The singing was by the congregation.

Quincy Cycle Club Notes.

Fifteen members of the Quincy Cycle club took a run to North Weymouth Saturday evening. While there they were refreshed with delicious soda by Mr. J. R. Orcutt.

Sunday quite a number of the club took a run to South Natick and had dinner at Bailey's.

The rooms of the club in Adams building are open every evening.

Three new members were added to the club Saturday evening.

Some of the fast riders of the club will enter the bicycle races at the Centennial celebration, at Randolph, Wednesday, and we may expect to see some of the prizes come to this city.

Members should consult the bulletins at the rooms every evening that they may keep posted on the coming events.

Six Per Cent. Enough.

The Lynn Item says, "The Massachusetts towns and cities which are offering notes on the market at 7 and 8 per cent. for money in anticipation of taxes are running against the law of 1884, which limits the rate at which municipalities can borrow money to 6 per cent."

In Holiday Attire.

Many public buildings, places of business and residences of Randolph, are beautifully decorated in anticipation of the grand celebration of the town's centennial on Wednesday. There will be a round of attractions from sunrise until after midnight.

—Fire caused a damage of from $3,000 to $4,000 to the large five story granite building at Nos. 1 and 3 Commercial street, Boston, Saturday night. It was owned by the heirs of Josiah Quincy and is insured.

Distances.

The noise of a train can be heard 3,300 yards, the bark of a dog 1,800 yards, the roll of a drum 1,600 yards, a dinner bell 2 miles, a call to get up in the morning 2 feet,—but this drop. A beautiful oak frame combination plush parlor set for $35.00, can be heard for 20 miles. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

A GOOD DEPARTMENT

Ex-Mayor and Insurance Agent Porter Says Among the Smaller Cities

HE KNOWS OF NONE BETTER.

Ex-Councilman Litchfield Regards Chief Ripley Faithful and Able.

As promised a few days ago the LEDGER has approached a dozen or more prominent citizens of the city, and interviewed them concerning the efficiency and work of the Quincy Fire Deparment, its officers and members. It has not confined itself to any political party or ward of the city. In the list might be mentioned: Ex-Mayor Porter, Hon. William A. Hodges, ex-Chief Hall, ex-Councilmen Glover, Burke, Jones, Hammond, Litchfield, Newcomb and Bryant, ex-Engineers Duggan, Souther and Glover, and others. Some of these did not wish to be quoted, and others will be heard from later. Ex-Mayor Porter and ex-Councilman Litchfield speak of the department and Chief Ripley in very complimentary terms as will be seen.

The opinion of

leading insurance agent of the city, will be of value. When interviewed by a LEDGER representative he said:

"The report of the Committee on Fire Department so far as it relates to the necessity for new houses in Wards Two and Four receives the approval of all who know anything about the condition of the present houses in use in those wards.

"The requirements of the city are so great, that the Council I presume (for the Council is the only one responsible), has felt that these wards should wait before relieving the almost absolute necessity for new buildings. The Chief Engineer has in his reports called the attention of the Council to these matters, and is held most clearly free from the slightest blame for the existing conditions.

"The Fire Department of Quincy is a very good one. The apparatus is in good condition. The men who serve are good men. I know of no better Fire Department in any of the smaller cities, or one which responds more promptly to calls or alarms. It must be remembered however that with only one Steam Fire Engine in service a very great number of long runs have to be made.

"Am reasonably familiar with the Fire Departments of other cities, and believe that ours will compare very favorably with those in cities of our size.

"I think the present Chief Engineer performs his duties in a most creditable manner. He has now served in that position for nearly five years, and applying the test which the committee makes, namely, that of experience, it appears to me that by reason of this very service, a complete answer is given to the criticism offered.

"Of course it is easy to lay down a programme for increasing the efficiency of the Department. The only trouble is the item of expense. When the city can afford to increase its expenditure for the support of this Department, I am sure it will be more efficient.

"The underwriters who are familiar with this city and operators of the department, have most cordial expressions for its excellence. I know of no board of underwriters which has criticised the department.

"The Board of underwriters of the United States through its inspector suggests for the improvement of the department:

(a) That the Chief Engineer be made a permanent officer.

(b) That the hydrant service should be made much more complete.

(c) That the water pipes should be extended.

"I agree with the propositions (b) and (c) and hope that the Water Commissioners will put in hydrants every 500 feet, and that extension of the water mains will be made as rapidly as possible. In my judgment this is imperative, and in no one way can so good results be accomplished, and the Fire Department made more efficient than by increasing the hydrant service and extending the mains."

Ex-Councilman Litchfield,

A valuable member of the Committee on Fire Department of the Council of 1892, was found ready to express his opinions to the LEDGER representative. He said:

I think the efficiency of the Quincy Fire Department is as great as can be expected under our system, where we have so few permanent men. With the central station apparatus and the permaent men I think there is no fault to be found. Upon them the chief reliance must be placed in case of fire.

The outlying companies in the different wards do as well perhaps as could be expected of men who have their own business to attend to, and who naturally get but little experience as firemen.

They are firemen only incidentally and cannot attend to the duties incident to the position as men can who make it their business.

In my judgment the fire department would be upon a more satisfactory basis and property would be better protected with another steamer located somewhere in the northern part of the city, without the temporary companies which we have at present. Another steamer has been regarded as a necessity in the near future in any event, and the necessary running expenses would hardly be greater than at present with the hose companies.

I think Chief Engineer Ripley has filled his position with faithfulness and ability.

Mr. George Richards

Of the firm of A. J. Richards & Co., the well known grain dealers, at whose place of business near the depot the fire department have been called several times, when asked what his firm thought of Chief Engineer Ripley and the efficiency of the fire department said,

"Of the internal workings and harmony of the department he knew nothing, but in the matter of fires his firm had always found them very prompt in responding to alarms and that they had always done excellent work. The Chief Engineer and his assistants he considered competent to cope with any fire the firm might have and that they had perfect confidence in the Chief Engineer and his department.

THE DAILY LEDGER is for sale at Post Office, Manet Lunch Room, by Henry W. French and by Newsboys. Mr. French is the authorized local agent of the paper. Items of news solicited from everybody.

Sunday was as usual a lively day at Houghs Neck. Several large barge parties visited the beach. Numbers of bicyclists of both sexes were seen resting under any perceptible shade. Chief of Police Langley and several other citizens of Quincy visited the beach. Yachting was enjoyed by only those who like a puffy southwest wind. A large number of yachts landed parties at the beach.

It is amusing to see the advantage the visitors take of the absence of the officer after six o'clock. Several men tried to convert Taber's amusement pavillion into a beer garden but failed most signally. Better have the police patrol continue until nine o'clock.

There will be a meeting of the residents of Manet Beach Wednesday night to determine what steps shall be taken in relation to a lower rate of car fare for the permanent residents of the beach. The meeting will be held at the Pavilion of Mr. Stanley Mears.

The road passing in front of Mears' hotel is a private way and no team is allowed to stand there.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer and the Misses Palmer arrived at the Mammoth cottage today.

A fire alarm tapper has been put into Mr. Walter Littlefield's house.

The first trial of the Chemical, under the supervision of Mr. Al Taber, was last Saturday night. The stream which this little engine of safety throws reminds one of a fog. Only one good stream was obtained. A meeting of the company will be called soon.

A. L. Cady and family have as guests at the Riverside cottage, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Trites and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Chotes of Brockton. Mr. and Mrs. George Jones and family of Bridgewater are expected.

Mr. Millage Ladine, a guest of the Brockton cafe is suffering very badly from a fracture of the arm which he received while working on a drain at Mr. Tuckerman's cottage the other day.

Does Advertising Pay?
We know of a case when it did not. A man advertised for a wife and he got her. Thus his troubles commenced. He couldn't live without furniture, but he found the prices so wonderfully low at the store of Henry L. Kincaide & Co.'s that it made him a happy man. Yes, he found everything there, and the prices,——cut almost in two.

WEYMOUTH.

A large crowd from Quincy and Weymouth gathered at the park in North Weymouth Saturday night to listen to the concert given by the Atlantic band of Quincy, and admire the fireworks that exploded during the early part of the evening. It was a good natured crowd and very orderly. The electrics carried a large number while many came in their own carriages and others on the silent wheel.

North Weymouth 19, Roxbury 3.

The home team took the Roxbury Athletics into camp this afternoon with ease. Dolan was at his best and was not hit hard at all. The visitors played a loose game while the only error made by the North's was a muff of a line drive by Duffy while on a dead run. Pitts was the leader with the stick, he and Dolan making homers.

The next game will be with the Institutes of Weymouth at North Weymouth. The home team is several degrees stronger than when last these clubs met and a hot game will no doubt be played. Dolan will lay off for the game and twenty-seven hits will not be counted against him next Saturday night. Stick a pin here.

SCENES OF ANIMATION

At the Great World's Fair Terminal Station.

ARRIVAL OF EXCURSION TRAINS.

Only a Few of the Railways Make Use of the Magnificent Station, the Main Shed of Which Has Thirty-six Tracks Side by Side — Compared with Other Railway Stations.

WORLD'S FAIR, July 14.— [Special.] — Now the railroads are beginning to run trains into the World's fair railway station. Every day there are scenes of animation in this great building, as the loads of passengers disembark and pass through the gates into the fair. You may not know it, but the World's fair has one of the finest passenger stations in the world. They built it in the expectation that nearly all the roads leading into Chicago would be glad of the opportunity to run their trains into it and there to discharge their passengers. But this expectation proved to be poorly founded. Only a few of the roads have been willing to use the station. The reason therefor is obvious, and the wonder is the managers of the exposition did not see it in time to save themselves the enormous outlay. Only those roads which enter the city somewhere near the fair grounds can afford to run their trains to this terminal instead of to their regular stations. Take, for example, the Milwaukee and St. Paul road. If it were to attempt to run its excursion trains to the World's fair entrance its passengers would have to wait two hours and a half after arriving in the city before they could enter the gates of the exposition, for that is the time which would be required to run a train from the Union railway station, where the St. Paul comes in, to the fair.

How much do you suppose this railway station at the World's fair and the system of tracks leading to it cost? More than $600,000. It is a tremendous station. It is colossal in dimensions, magnificent in design and unrivalled in the conveniences which it affords to the people who make use of it. Compare it with the greatest railway stations in the country, the Pennsylvania at Jersey City or Broad street, Philadelphia, the New York Central at Forty-second street, New York, the Grand Central station in Chicago, and the World's fair station surpasses them all. Where those structures have eight or ten tracks each for the handling of trains, the World's fair train shed has thirty-six tracks side by side. The system of rails entering the southwest corner of the grounds and converging in this station is like a great fan of steel spread out over the landscape. Moreover, the system is provided with all modern appliances of signals and blocks for handling trains with celerity and safety. The plant therefore becomes not only a convenience for practical use but a splendid exhibit of the development of modern railroading.

Suppose you come to the fair by a train which enters this magnificent station. The cars stop under a shed, where the platforms are very long and surprisingly clean. A short walk brings you to the fence which separates the platforms from the station proper. Here a surprising scene awaits your eye. Here are forty ticket offices for sale of tickets to the fair, for you must remember that the other side of the fence is the Columbian exposition and that you must pay 50 cents for the privilege of entering the precincts of the world's wonders. There are no fewer than ninety-six turnstiles for you to pass through, and a great array the forty ticket windows and ninety-six turnstiles make, spread out in a long row.

Overhead you hear a rumbling sound, and some one tells you that the elevated electric railway, which runs all through the exposition grounds, passes right over the station, and near by are broad stairs leading to the platforms of that road. A few rods to the north you see the broad entrance to the elevated railway which runs from the fair to the center of the city of Chicago, eight miles away, and there are many more turnstiles and a long row of ticket windows. Just beyond is the great red Transportation building, and at its lower end you may see locomotives and snow plows, and near by the splendid exhibits made outdoors or in their special buildings by the Pennsylvania and New York Central roads. All these things bring one to a realization of the fact that this is the era of transportation, and that this is a spot in which the greatest and best that man has been able to accomplish in that line is spread out before his eyes, both for use and for illustration.

Just after passing through the turnstile you find yourself in a passage or transept that is of tremendous proportions. It is some sixty feet wide and several hundred feet in length. On one side are the entrances to and exits from the trains, and every gate is plainly marked with the name of the road using it and the destination of the train. There are check rooms where you may leave your parcels, baggage rooms in which you may have your luggage checked to any point or transferred to any address in the city, and many other conveniences.

Now you pass into the station proper. It has a great court in its center, with a roof so high above the floor that you look in vain to distinguish the details of construction at the great hight. There are galleries running all round the court, broad and airy, and these, like all the floors, are abundantly supplied with comfortable seats. There are balconies from which one may enjoy a splendid view of the fair grounds. There are restaurants, lunch rooms, cigars, newspapers, candy, telegraph offices, rest rooms where weary travelers may wait in comfort, writing rooms, lavatories, a room in which passengers may eat their home-made luncheons, buying only coffee or whatever they like from the cafe, and many other conveniences. In the center of the ground floor is a large booth, in which men and women who speak all modern languages are constantly stationed, and the signs on this booth are "Information," "Informacione," "Informazione," "Auskunft." It doesn't matter what it is you want to know, about the fair, the trains, the city or the programme, or in what tongue you ask for it, here is where you may learn it without delay and without price.

One is instantly impressed by the cosmopolitan aspect of the station. Here you see people from all over the world. The Orientals in their fezes, the Esquimaux in their skins, the South Sea islanders in their not much to speak of, the Coreans with their bird-cage head-dress, may now and then be seen here, mixing with Americans native and transplanted (the former in their red blankets and feathers in their hair), with Germans, Frenchmen, Spaniards, Italians, Russians, Scandinavians, men from Australia, from New Zealand, Egypt, Greece, Japan and China. This air of cosmopolitanism is added to greatly by the fact that the fast express trains which run from the fair to the city without stopping now enter and depart from this station, and the officials, exhibitors, employes and showmen of the nations have frequent occasion to use these trains in going to and fro on their business.

Cosmopolitanism shows itself everywhere. If you cast your eye upward, above the great galleries surrounding the court, you will see that the walls are studded with a great number of clocks. The clocks are marked with the names of cities all over the world, and that instrument denotes the time in the city which it represents. Ninety-nine out of a hundred people who pass through this station pause to look at the international clock-race, and it doesn't matter whether they are experienced travelers who have trotted from one side of the globe to the other, or country folk who have never before been away from home. The interest is the same. Many people take out their notebooks and jot down the difference in time between some of the more prominent points, and a large number are so mixed up between the east and west differences that they have to appeal to the information bureau for assistance. They do not appeal in vain, and the young man or woman in that booth will cheerfully explain to all comers that the time for these clocks is furnished from Washington, that it comes over a telegraph wire, and that running forty clocks in this way is just as easy as to run one clock, the only point being to have the clocks and to set them right in the first place. The clock display affords a splendid object lesson in geography, and helps to familiarize one with the relative location of such cities as Jerusalem, Bombay, Victoria, Yeddo, Yokahama, Constantinople, St. Petersburg, Paris and London.

CROWDS AT THE TERMINAL STATION.

If you will come to this station some evening when there are extraordinary attractions at the fair, such as a great display of fireworks, you will see one of the finest examples of transportation of masses of people that the world is able to show. Take, for example, the Fourth of July. There were more than 300,000 people on the grounds that day. Certainly more than 200,000 of these remained to see the fireworks in the evening. About a quarter of ten o'clock the display was finished and the crowds broke for the railway trains, steamers, cable cars and other means of conveyance. It was a mighty throng that poured toward the gates. Just at that hour I happened to ride over the intramural elevated railway, from one end of the grounds to the other, and the spectacle made by that great lake of humanity pouring itself through every road way in a black surging river was most impressive.

In one hour and three-quarters the Illinois Central special express trains carried 60,000 people out of this station. Eight trains were loaded at the same instant, and on account of the construction of the cars, without aisles and every seat opening to a side entrance, the trains were loaded in a few seconds. As fast as one moved out another backed in to take its place. In those 105 minutes no fewer than fifty-three trains, of from eight to fourteen coaches, each train averaging 1,200 people, were moved from the World's fair station to the city. It is said by experienced railway men that this beats the world's record for rapid movement over such a distance, and it is an encouraging commentary on the splendid facilities which Chicago has provided for handling crowds of World's fair visitors. Two hundred thousand people who remained the evening of the Fourth to see the fireworks were moved to their homes without a single accident, and without much delay.

One of the best lessons of this fair is in the possibilities of transportation when the tracks are elevated and modern appliances for speed and safety are employed. Chicago is sure to reap an immense benefit from the exposition in this respect alone, besides profiting directly or indirectly in many other ways. Nearly two miles of Illinois Central track within the city were elevated on account of the fair, and the success of that enterprise has taught the people, and the railroads, too, that all the steam tracks in the city should be raised above the streets. Chicago is a net work of railway tracks, being by far the greatest railway center in the world, and with one or two exceptions all the roads cross all the streets at grade. Hundreds of persons are killed or injured every year at the crossings, and elevation of the tracks is the only relief from such slaughter.

It is a great pity the splendid railway station at the fair cannot be used by a larger number of roads. But this terminal plant affords at least a striking illustration of the energy and enterprise of the builders of the fair. Between the Mining building on one side and the Machinery hall on the other, west of the Administration building, there was a great open space. To complete the landscape picture it had to be filled in with something or other. With what? Some one suggested a railway station. Happy thought. If it was to be a station of course it would have to be the biggest and finest in the world, else it would not do for this exposition. So $600,000 was poured into it, in the hope that the railroads would run enough trains into the shed, paying trackage or wheelage for the right, to defray the cost of construction. As it turns out the receipts from this source will not pay the expense of maintaining the station and tracks, let alone first cost. It was in such ways as this that the exposition has been made to cost $24,000,000 to build and manage, more than twice as much as any other exposition ever cost.

But it is a great fair.

BASKET BALL.

The Quincy Y. M. C. A. Boys Won Their First Regular Game.

The Y. M. C. A. boys played their first game of basket ball with an out of town team Saturday afternoon, at Lovell's Grove, and came off the victors. Their opponents were the members of the Hyde Park Association, a team which has the reputation of being one of the strongest in the State.

The game was not called until 5.15, and the first half lasted twenty minutes. The field was over 150 feet in length, and was covered by the eighteen men. The Hyde Parks were at a disadvantage because of never having played out of doors.

There was some fine playing on both sides, but either side failed to make a goal on the first half. Two fouls, however, were called on Hyde Park and one on Quincy. The strong wind made it exceedingly difficult to land the light ball in the basket.

The team playing of the visitors was very fine, and excelled that of the home club, which needs more practice. The Quincy boys showed themselves good runners and their practice out of doors had evidently developed their "wind," for they were still fresh at the end of the first half. Owing to the lateness of the hour, only ten minutes were given to the last half. Neither side made a goal or a foul. Both sides came very near putting the ball home, but the goal tenders defended their places in good shape.

The Quincy boys were natural elated over the score of two to one in their favor. The Quincy club consisted of Wm. Donovan, John Ball, Walter McBurnie, Alex. Black Ed. Chute, Walter Sampson, Barney Mann, George Peverley, Arthur Perry and Herbert Abler, substitute.

The team will play a picked team at the Congregational picnic next Saturday.

A Quincy Stone Cutter Makes a Fatal Jump from Old Colony Train.

Saturday night John Mayer of West Quincy jumped from the midnight Brockton train near Capens bridge and was run-over and killed.

The man was observed to jump and the train was stopped and an unsuccessful search made to find him. His badly mutilated body was found by men on the early morning freight. He was unknown to Medical Examiner Frasier who was summoned but has been identified as John Mayer, who was a stone-cutter and had resided in West Quincy but a short time. He was 32 years old and unmarried.

CHAPTER OF CRIMES

Laid at the Door of Dr. Meyer, the Wholesale Poisoner.

THE HISTORY OF HIS LIFE

His Remarkable Escapes From the Hands of Justice.

CHICAGO, July 17.—The details of the lives of the pair of poisoners in Chicago equals in horror even that of the Borgias. It is a story of subtle scheming, wholesale poisoning and depravity that almost passes comprehension.

Dr. H. C. F. Meyer left the town of Minden, Westphalia, in 1876, and came to America. He was then about 25 years of age. He came directly to this city, where he began the practice of medicine. He was never graduated from any Chicago medical college, though he attended some of the post-graduate lectures at the Rush medical college.

try the next year, were married. She was the mother of six children and 32 years of age when she met Meyer. They grew so intimate that the neighbors began to talk.

Early in October, 1878, Gilderman's relatives were notified that he was seriously ill. They found Dr. Meyer in attendance. He said it was nothing and that Gilderman would be well in a few days. The patient grew weaker and weaker and the night of Oct. 18 he died in horrible convulsions. Matthew Stark, a brother-in-law of Gilderman, believed that the man had been poisoned, but he had no proof. Gilderman left nearly $40,000, all going to the widow except $6000, which was reserved for the children. Twelve days later, on Nov. 1, 1878,

Mrs. Meyer Died Suddenly.

The death of Mrs. Meyer increased the gossip of the neighborhood and matters reached a climax in January, 1879, when Dr. Meyer and the widow Gilderman were married.

On Feb. 22, 1879, Stark, who had married a sister of Gilderman, swore out a warrant, charging Dr. Meyer and Mrs. Gilderman with the murder of Gilderman and Mrs. Meyer. The couple were arrested the next day and held without bail. The bodies of the dead were exhumed and the viscera given to Professor Haines and Dr. J. E. Siebel of the Chicago medical college for examination.

He had a diploma from a German college, the genuineness of which has been questioned. In 1877 he boarded with a family named Kirchoff on North Sedgwick street near North avenue. Among the members of the family was a handsome young woman, Miss Mary Kirchoff. She was 21 years of age and a universal favorite in the neighborhood. Dr. Meyer had an office on North avenue, a block from the house, and Miss Kirchoff was a frequent caller. He paid her marked attention, and the result was a marriage in the fall of 1877.

Early in 1878 Dr. Meyer was called professionally to attend a child of Henry Gilderman, a grocer and saloonkeeper on Sedgwick street. He made the acquaintance of Mrs. Gilderman, and it ripened into an intimacy that Resulted In a Triple Murder.

Gilderman was first put out of the way. Mrs. Meyer, the bride of a year, was poisoned, and subsequently her child was strangled in a bathtub.

When he first met Mrs. Gilderman and learned that Gilderman was worth $35,000 and carried life insurance, Dr. Meyer began pushing himself into the favor of the wife. She was a Miss Frankan, whom Gilderman met in Antwerp. They lived as man and wife in the Belgian city for a few months in 1866 and, coming to this coun-

Professor Haines testified that he found traces of strychnine and chloroform in Gilderman's body. Witnesses were produced who sold Dr. Meyer the chloroform. On this evidence the coroner's jury held the pair for murder. Mrs. Gilderman instantly sold about $30,000 worth of real estate and the money was expended in securing freedom. Despite the direct evidence of two eminent medical experts the grand jury ignored the bill.

The pair were released. They lived together for two years, Mrs. Gilderman bearing Meyer one child, a girl now about 13 years of age. Early in 1881 the babe that Meyer's first wife had borne him was found dead in a bathtub. The coroner found dark marks about the child's throat, and the evidence pointed to a murder. Meyer was again arrested, but, as no direct evidence could be produced against him, he escaped.

A year later his wife, the former Mrs. Gilderman, was taken suddenly sick. She asserted that her and refused the medicines he prescribed. Other physicians were summoned and they said she was suffering from poison. Mr. Meyer instantly fled to Germany. He remained abroad until he induced his wife to withdraw the charge. He returned to Chicago, was arrested, but his wife would not appear against him and he was released.

She refused to live with him, and Meyer began to look up other desirable female acquaintances. In 1886 he met a Miss Dresser, a young German girl who lived with her parents on Bissell street. He made such progress in her favor that in six months his wife secured a divorce. She has since married another physician and is now a Mrs. Mullock and lives in the Polish section of the city.

Meyer, after his wife's divorce, devoted himself to insurance swindling. It is not known that he married Miss Dresser in Chicago. Miss Dresser's father, a retired merchant, offered a good mark, and Meyer put in execution the scheme that he has since frequently worked. He wrote out a life insurance policy for $10,000 in the name of Mr. Dresser, payable to his daughter, who was then living with Meyer. He turned in the examination, which showed a much younger and vigorous man.

Mr. Dresser suddenly grew sick. In some way the Germania Insurance company, the one interested, heard of the sickness and began an investigation. Myer and the daughter fled and a year later both were arrested in Denver and brought back for trial. The daughter prevailed on her father, who had recovered from the poisoning, not to prosecute, and they left Chicago at once, and have been operating in other cities since.

Serious Bomb Explosion.

CHICAGO, July 17.—By the premature explosion of a bomb last night at an Italian picnic two people were killed and a number of others injured, some fatally.

THE COMET.

Professors Frisby and Brooks Report Observations of Our Latest Visitor.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—At 10:30 o'clock Saturday night, the comet, which is now the object of so much search and speculation, suddenly developed an enormous tail, which by the unpracticed eye was taken to be a display of the aurora borealis.

At that hour Professor Frisby of the naval observatory was studying the comet through a nine-inch glass. He noticed a long streak of greeni-shwhite light shoot out from the comet and extend itself almost to the zenith.

At first, the nucleus of the comet being at that moment hidden by a fleecy cloud, it was thought to be an auroral display, but as there was no flickering and as the light came steadily from where the comet had last been seen, the professor concluded that he was seeing a comet in process of development.

The tail of the comet was 30 degrees in length, a distance about 60 times as long as the moon is wide, and extended from 10 degrees above the horizon almost to the zenith. It was plainly visible to the naked eye and was watched for some time by the corps of observers at the institution.

GENEVA, N. Y., July 17. — Professor Brooks yesterday reported the observation of a display of the aurora here Saturday night, the most magnificent feature of which was a beam of light of great brilliancy reaching from about the horizon up past the zenith toward the eastern sky. It resembled in form and brightness a great comet, for which it was mistaken by many persons. The real comet, he said, was considerably to the north of this and is becoming fanter. It was just visible in the aurorial glow.

SUNDAY OPENINGS.

Judge Stein Says That Mr. Clingman's Injunction Is Still In Force.

CHICAGO, July 17.—By an almost unanimous vote a large majority of the world's fair directors decided last Friday that after yesterday the gates of the fair shall be closed to the public Sundays. But this decision, it appears, does not finally settle the question. A temporary injunction obtained several weeks ago by Charles W. Clingman, one of the stockholders in the exposition company and a taxpayer of Chicago, compelling the gates to be kept open, still stands in the way.

Judge Stein of the superior court of Cook county, who granted the decree, said: "The injunction is still in force; there is no doubt about that. If the court's attention is officially called to any violation of the order it will, after due consideration, take such action as may appear proper."

Further than that the judge declined to discuss the matter. He said that it would not be becoming in him to anticipate what will be done. William E. Mason, solicitor for the petitioner, said: "The gates will not be closed next Sunday, unless my client backs down."

Edwin Walker, who has been the chief legal spirit in conducting all the litigation on the side of the exposition company, said: "The gates will be closed. Unless Mr. Clingman consents to an amicable adjustment of the matter relative to the injunction, we will simply go into court and have it set aside."

A BAD SHOWING.

Receiver Appointed For the Garwood Steel Works by Chancellor McGill.

NEW YORK, July 17.—Chancellor McGill of New Jersey has appointed John C. Paul temporary receiver of the steel works of Garwood, on the representation of George Holmes that the company is in financial straits.

Originally a Boston corporation, formed to manufacture steel car wheels at a single casting, its proprietors were induced to locate their plant at Garwood, on the line of the Jersey Central railroad. The Garwood Land and Improvement company built the required plant, and then the Boston corporation was reorganized and new capital stock to the amount of $500,000 was issued.

The statement of the company's finances submitted to the chancellor showed that the assets are about $14,000 outside of a $35,000 contract with the Central railroad and the lease of the Garwood plant. The liabilities amount to $66,000.

John C. Paul, who was appointed temporary receiver, is also president of the company, and Chancellor McGill said his appointment would be made permanent if there was no objection from stockholders. The trouble is said to be due to the failure of the company's experiment with the patent process for making car wheels.

A Good Saving Shown.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The special examination division of the bureau of pensions has kept a record since May 1 of the amount involved in first payment of every case rejected after the special investigation. This record shows that for the most of May and June last in these prima facia cases, which would have been allowed had they not been specially investigated, the first payment would have amounted to $150,279.

International Engineering Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The international congress, which is to be held in connection with the fair at Chicago, will open July 31. It will cover all the fields of engineering, except electrical, which is to have a special congress. The division of marine and naval engineering will be managed by Chief Engineer George W. Melville of the bureau of steam engineering, navy department.

Died by His Own Hand.

PHILADELPHIA, July 17.—John A. Lombard, 59 years of age, manager of the Hero Fruit Jar company, which was involved in the failure of the Spring Garden National bank, and who was the defendant in suits brought by the receiver of the wrecked institution, was found dead, with his throat cut, at his home, having evidently committed suicide.

Murder Over a Field of Wheat.

ROCKVILLE, Ind., July 17.—Saturday James Swain shot his brother, Lafayette Swain, badly wounding him, and instantly killed Gabriel Bryant, his brother's hired hand. Both claimed a field of wheat which Lafayette was just starting to cut when the shooting was done.

WORK OF THE COMMISSION

To Be Reported to Congress This Coming Winter.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The international railway commission, which was one of the outgrowths of the late Pan-American congress, is now engaged in winding up the work it has been pursuing for the past two years, and the engineers and surveyors who have been in the field are now preparing their reports and reducing their field notes to the shape of maps and charts.

The commission was appointed for the purpose of surveys for a railway system which should connect the northern and southern hemispheres with each other and form a continuous line of railroad from the United States through the American republics of the south. As in the case of the bureau of American republics, each country interested pays its share of the expense in Proportion to Population.

Congress last year failed to make any appropriation for the continuance of the work on the part of the United States, and it will require the greatest economy for the commission with the funds in hand to be able to close up its work and print its reports, which will then be open for the use of capitalists who may seek to profit by these government surveys and build the railroads that are contemplated. The field work was pursued by three parties—one in Central America and two in South America. That in Central America was under the direction of Lieutenant McComb, U. S. A., and surveyed a line from the southern boundary of Mexico through Guatamala, San Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica to the Savage river. This party has just returned to the United States, arriving July 8, and is now at work upon the reduction of its field notes and the preparation of maps and charts.

Corps No. 2, under the command of Mr. William F. Shunk, started in at Quito, Ecuador, and surveyed a line through as far as Cartagena on the Caribbean sea; also a line from the Savage river in Costa Rica through Panama and the isthmus to the neighborhood of Antioquie, in Colombia, where it connected with the other line from the isthmus to Cartagena. Mr. Shunk's party returned to the United States in June, and are also engaged in writing up their final report and preparing their maps.

The remaining corps was under the direction of William D. Kelly, and surveyed a line from Quito, Ecuador, to Cuzzo, Peru. The maps of this last party are nearly completed, and their reports covering their operations are now in preparation.

Concerning the whole work it may be said that the reports of the fielding engineers demonstrate the feasibility of building these railroads to connect the systems of North America with those of South America, and that there are no insurmountable engineering difficulties in the way of a successful prosecution of such work. The whole number of miles surveyed aggregate 4500. It is expected that all the reports will be made to congress some time this winter.

Wants to Manage Her Affairs.

MILWAUKEE, July 17.—Mrs. Marion V. Dudley, the authoress, has met an obstacle in her attempt to regain possession of her property and have her guardian discharged. A petition was sent to the state board of control and that body decided that she was of unsound mind. She also has an application before the probate court to the same effect as that made to the board of control. It is thought, however, that the decision of the latter will prevail.

Swimming Fatalities at Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Mitchell Morgan, a soldier at Fort Myer, was drowned while bathing in Little river, an arm of the Potomac in front of the fort; Howard M. Quander, 15 years of age, was drowned in Rock creek near the National Zoo; Joshua Holmes (colored), 12 years old, was drowned while swimming in the Potomac river, yesterday. All the bodies were recovered.

Looking For an Alteration of Laws.

NEW YORK, July 17. — Among the passengers on the steamer Orinoco from Bermuda, which arrived here yesterday, were Sir Josiah Rus, K. C. B., chief justice of Bermuda; Hon. S. A. Masters and Hon. Thomas Watson, delegates to Washington. Their mission is to ask for an alteration of the tariff laws.

Anti-Jewish Riots.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 17.—The Jews of Yalta, in the Crimea, refused to obey the decree to retire within the pale. Last week an anti-Jew mob took possession of the streets, broke into houses occupied by Jews and tried to drive the occupants out of the town. The Jews fought back and many were killed.

Wants De Blowitz Disfranchised.

PARIS, July 17.—Le Provest De Launay will interpellate the government this week as to the dispatches sent by M. De Blowitz to the London Times. He will propose that Blowitz be deprived of his French naturalization in view of his statements in The Times concerning French politics and public men.

Lost One of Her Passengers.

QUEENSTOWN, July 17.—The Cunard line steamer Umbria, from New York July 8, arrived here and reports that one of her passengers, Ascher Weinstein of 808 Lexington avenue, New York, fell overboard from the saloon deck Friday morning and was drowned.

Congressman Breckinridge to Marry.

LOUISVILLE, July 16.—The engagement of Congressman W. C. Breckinridge to Mrs. Louise Scott Wing, widow of Dumsey Wing, ex-minister to Peru, has been announced, the wedding to take place just before the extra session of congress. Mrs Wing lives here.

Seized With Cramps.

JAMAICA, N. Y., July 17.—John Tiedeman, 19 years old, a farmer living at Queens, while bathing last evening in Dooley's creek, South Springfield, was seized with cramps and drowned before assistance could reach him. His body was recovered.

SURVIVORS ON TRIAL

For the Loss of the British Warship Victoria.

A MISREADING OF SIGNALS

Given as a Possible Cause of the Disaster.

VALETTA, July 18.—The court martial appointed to try Captain, the Hon. Maurice A. Bourke, Staff Commander Hawkins-Smith and the surviving officers of the British battleship Victoria, which was sunk in collision with the Camperdown, off Tripoli, Syria, opened yesterday upon the Hibernia, the flagship of Rear Admiral Richard E. Tracey. All the survivors were on board the Hibernia.

The trial opened with the reading by Judge Advocate Rickard of the first dispatch sent by Rear Admiral Markham, whose flag was on the Camperdown at the time of the accident, announcing the loss of the Victoria to the admiralty, and the subsequent dispatches forwarded by the rear admiral. A letter written by Rear Admiral Markham on July 1 was also read.

In this letter minor points in the dispatches were corrected and the statement made that, in reply to Vice Admiral Tryon's question:

"What Are You Waiting For?"

signalled after the vice admiral saw that his order for the fatal maneuvre was not being obeyed, Rear Admiral Markham had signalled that he did not quite understand the vice admiral's order. The judge advocate also read a letter addressed to Rear Admiral Tracey in which Captain Bourke said that in his opinion the engines of both the Victoria and Camperdown were put three-quarters instead of full speed astern before the collision.

Captain Bourke in this letter said he concluded that the telegraph indicators in the engineer room deviated from the indicators on the bridge, and thus the signal from the bridge had been misread by the engineer on watch.

Constructor Newham of the Malta dockyard testified that the last time that the Victoria was in the dockyard her watertight chambers and scuttles were all in perfect order.

BAD DAY IN KANSAS.

Six Banks Show Inability to Meet Their Obligations.

TOPEKA, July 18.—Six Kansas state banks went down in the financial flurry yesterday. They are the banks of Riter & Doubleday of Columbus, the Johnson City bank of Johnson City, the Bank of Wier City, the Bank of Pleasanton, the Caney Valley bank of Caney, and the Bank of Meade at Meade Center.

Governor Flower Pardoned Him.

ALBANY, July 18.—Warden Thayer of Clinton prison at Dannemora came to Albany and related to Governor Flower a scheme of a number of long term prisoners, confined in that prison, to gain their freedom, which included the murder of some prison guards. One of the prisoners who was asked to enter into the plot refused, and disclosed it. When Governor Flower heard this story he pardoned the prisoner who revealed the plot. The man had four years to serve for grand larceny. His name is withheld.

Trouble Ahead In Oklahoma.

GUTHRIE, O. T., July 18.—The decision to the effect that any person who has been upon the Cherokee strip since March 2, 1889, has forfeited his right to a homestead there will result in much serious trouble, as nearly every boomer on the line has been upon the land within that time and has claims picked out, for which he will fight if any attempt is made to dislodge him.

Will Outdo His Predecessors.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., July 18.—Frank S. Deadleson, the one-legged bicycle rider, who is riding from San Francisco to New York for a sporting paper of Syracuse, arrived here at 9 o'clock last night. Yesterday was his 63d day on the road. He left here at 7:30 this morning. He will reach New York on Thursday, 20 days ahead of any two-legged rider's record.

Sam's Sermon Choked Off.

WINEMAC, Ind., July 18.—While Sam Jones was preaching a sermon to 15,000 people, a sudden windstorm came up and lifted the huge tent that covered the congregation high into the air, and landed it at least 100 feet from where it originally stood. No one was seriously hurt, but the meeting ended abrutly.

Tired of Prison Life.

PITTSBURG, July 18.—P. A. Stout, a convict in the western penitentiary, tried to commit suicide by jumping from the door of the rotunda of the prison into the yard below. He received probably fatal injuries. Stout murdered his son while under the influence of liquor.

Father's Present Caused Death.

INVITATION TO BERMUDA

To Come and Get Under the Shelter of the Eagle's Wings.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The New York Sun publishes the following editorial this morning:

Two worthy gentlemen from Bermuda, members of the house of assembly, the representative legislature of the islands, have come to the United States to get the duty on onions and potatoes reduced. The Bermudians are very much concerned about their access to our markets.

There is a short, simple and easy method by which the Bermudians can effect for themselves not merely a reduction in the American tariff, but a total abolition of our customs and duties upon the products of their agriculture. They need not pay a cent to get their potatoes and their onions and their tomatoes into the markets of the United States.

Free trade between Bermuda and our Atlantic ports would be worth millions of dollars to the people of the Atlantic islands. Free trade can be had by Bermuda through the same process and under the same conditions as by Canada. Annexation is the road. There is plenty of room for Bermuda, the Hawaii of the Atlantic, under the broad banner of the great and expansive continental republic of the 20th century.

THREE PERSONS KILLED

And Many Injured In a Collision Between Steam and Street Cars.

CHICAGO, July 18.—An incoming passenger train on the Grand Trunk road ran down a crowded street car last night, killing three people and injuring a number of others.

The collision occurred at the Forty-ninth street crossing, which is a network of tracks, and has always been regarded as a dangerous crossing. A long freight train going west had just passed and the tower man, George Barnett, had raised the gates. This was taken as a signal that the way was clear, and the driver started to drive across the track.

Just as the car reached the track the train struck it squarely in the center. The car was hurled 30 feet from where it was struck. Some of the passengers managed to save themselves by jumping, but the majority were caught. Thomas Perkins and Margaret Murphy were frightfully mangled. The two women killed were unknown.

BRAINWORKERS GATHER.

All Classes of Education Represented at the Chicago Congress.

CHICAGO, July 18.—Educators will hold forth at the Art institute for two weeks. Every possible phase of education, from the kindergarten to the highest points of what may be denominated as high culture, will be represented and discussed. College professors and college students, the deaf, the dumb and the blind, the typewriters and stenographers, physical culturists, business educators, exponents of manual training, will each and all have their innings. No less than 15 separate and distinct congresses figure in the program, and as most of these will hold two and in some cases three sessions a day, the educational congress has attracted to the city the greatest number of notable men and women from different parts of the country that has been here in many years.

A Remarkable Case.

NYACK, N. Y., July 18.—Triplets born here yesterday weighed in the aggregate 15 pounds. There were two boys and a girl. The boys were joined by a ligature almost precisely like that which united the Siamese twins and were otherwise perfect. The girl was joined to one of the boys by a band of flesh from the hip of each. When the death of the girl and one boy had occurred, an effort was made to save the life of the other child by cutting the ligature, but death ensued.

Prince of Wales Shaken Up.

LONDON, July 18.—While the Prince of Wales was riding in his private hansom cab his driver swerved sharply in order to avoid collision with another cab. In turning a corner it smashed into another hansom cab. The prince's horse fell and the prince was dashed against the side of his hansom. He was not seriously injured.

Minnie Cronan's Hard Luck.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., July 18.—Minnie Cronan of Middlefield, while driving to this city, was run into by a team in which were three drunken men, was thrown out and received a broken ankle and other injuries. She was picked up and brought to this city. Here she was again thrown out and received further injuries.

A Disastrous Explosion.

ELMIRA, N. Y., July 18.—The boiler in the Towanda, (Pa.) Nail Works exploded. One man was instantly killed, another fatally injured and a third severely burned and bruised. Another man is missing and thought to be in the ruins. The whole plant caught fire and was completely destroyed.

Cordage Company's Plan.

NEW YORK, July 18.—If the deposits of the stock under the plan for the reorganization of the National Cordage company approximate 100 per cent, the old company will be reconstructed. If the deposits do not considerably exceed 90 per cent, a new company will be formed.

Cleveland on a Fishing Trip.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 18.—President Cleveland has not gone to New York, as was expected when he sailed on the yacht Oneida yesterday afternoon. The party have gone on a short cruise and fishing excursion, to be absent from here about two days.

A Flimsy Story.

NEWARK, N. J., July 18.—Theordore Sonn, 35 years old, took two ounces of paris green and when discovered suffering from the poison said a friend had made a wager that he could not take the poison and live. Sonn does not seem to be anxious about winning the bet.

Death Awaits Him.

VALPARAISO, July 18.—Admiral Wandenkolk is a prisoner and is on his way to Rio Janeiro under a heavy guard. He was recently formally declared to be a traitor, and now he will no doubt be executed without much ceremony.

Guard Among the Victims.

CHICAGO, July 18.—Workmen engaged in removing the debris from the ruins of the cold storage fire found a Columbian guard's saber. This indicates that the body of some guardsman may yet be found

NAME IS NOT MEYER.

Such Is the Claim of the Wholesale Poisoner.

LOCKED UP AT NEW YORK.

Will Not Say Much Until He Consults Counsel.

NEW York, July 18.—Dr. Henry C. W. Meyer, the alleged wholesale poisoner for insurance money, was led into the rear entrance of police headquarters yesterday afternoon handcuffed to Detective Sergeant Trainor. Detective Sergeant Von Gerichten walked on the other side of the prisoner. They had just arrived on the Chicago limited train from Detroit. He was shabbily dressed. His face is deeply marked and lined. He has a heavy moustache that defies cultivation and a large square lower jaw. Meyer trailed along sheepishly with the detectives and was taken before Inspector McLaughlin.

"What is your name and residence?" inquired the inspector.

To this the prisoner promptly replied: "Carl Shaffer, 55 years old, of 123 Clifford street, Detroit, Michigan."

"Is that your right name?"

"Yes."

"Were you also known as Dr. Henry C. W. Meyer?" asked the inspector.

"I would rather not answer that question until I see counsel."

Meyer Refused to Answer

other questions. He said he would say nothing about his case until he had consulted counsel.

The inspector ordered Meyer to be locked up. The detectives said that nothing of importance occurred between themselves and the prisoner on the trip from Detroit. He would talk about nothing but commonplace matters, except that he occasionally said that he had never been in New York, and he knew nothing of the man known as Gustave Baum and the man Ludwig Brandt.

The train on which detectives with their prisoner first started from Detroit would have carried them through Canada. This would have resulted in complications, and they were therefore obliged to rest for a few hours in Toledo, where Crowds Flocked Into the Car.

Meyer seems worried about his wife who, on Thursday night, was delivered of a child in a Detroit hospital. When asked about Meyer's alleged wish to commit suicide, Detective Von Gerichten said that Meyer had simply asked for a needle.

The detective knew nothing about the wish that Mrs. Meyer is said to have expressed in the hospital that she might bleed to death.

ERRATIC COMETS

Give Astronomers Still Another Item to Ponder Over.

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 18.—An important discovery regarding the comet has been made at Lick observatory. Photographic plates reveal the fact that the celestial visitant has a companion. The second comet is enveloped in the tail of the first one, shows distinctly, and its tail merges into that of the other. The second comet cannot be seen through the telescope. It appears to move in the same orbit as the main one, or an orbit exactly parallel, and at the same rate of speed. The discovery makes more certain the theory that the original force which throws out comets sends out more than one at a time.

"Man From Boston" Must Settle.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—Judge Troutt yesterday gave judgment against John L. Sullivan, the pugilist, for $1415.80. When Sullivan and Barnett were in Australia, last year, they borrowed the amount from James and William McMahon. Sullivan gave his promisory note, but left Australia without settling it.

A Pitiful Case.

DETROIT, July 18.—Lillian Saulte, an 18-year-year old girl, committed suicide by taking a dose of laudanum. She left two letters implicating one of the soldiers at Fort Brady, who she said outraged her Friday night last while returning from a village dance. She could not stand the disgrace.

Won't Permit Desecration.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 18.—Colonel John P. Nicholson and Colonel John B. Batchelder of the United States Gettysburg commission went over the entire line of the trolley road. It is known that they will adopt some measures that will drive the electric railway from the field.

Steamer Wrecked Off Oregon.

MARSHFIELD, Or., July 18.—The steamer Emily from San Francisco went ashore at the entrance of Coos bay during a fog. All the passengers and crew were saved save one. The steamer will be a total wreck. She was valued at about $40,000, and the cargo at $10,000.

Beverly Wants to Be a City.

BEVERLY, Mass., July 18.—The work of census taking is still going on and the expectations are that there will be over 13,000 residents, so that the town can be a city. So far the reports are most favorable and the townspeople are jubilant over it.

To Meet Again on Friday.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Jack Skelly called at The Illustrated News office yesterday and met Tommy Creede. They wrangled for some time trying to make a match fight to a finish and then postponed the meeting until Friday of this week.

Cardinal Gibbons Will Be There.

BALTIMORE, July 18.—Cardinal Gibbons has accepted the invitation of the state commission to offer the prayer and bestow the benediction on the occasion of Maryland day at the World's fair on Sept. 12.

Pomeroy's Forty-Ninth Victim.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., July 18.—Roy Keefer, one of the injured brought from Pomeroy, died here yesterday. This makes the total fatalities of the Pomeroy cyclone 49.

Hurrying the Work Along.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The cruiser Detroit will be placed in commission on the 20th inst. and prepared for service as soon as possible.

MILTONS' TAX rate is getting up. It will be $12.50 this year, an increase of 56 per cent. It is said that the increase in valuation is about a million and a half dollars or 10 per cent.

THE ASSESSORS figures for Quincy are not expected for three or four weeks yet, but the taxpayers may be assured that the rate will not exceed last year and will probably be less, although the State tax and rate of interest is much higher.

THE ARGUMENTS in the water hearing are being made in Boston today and will be reported at length in the LEDGER tomorrow. If the award can be delayed until the money market is more satisfactory it will be better for the city.

ELABORATE PREPARATIONS are being made for the celebration of Randolph's centennial tomorrow. Hon. J. White Belcher, well known to many of our citizens, is president of the day, who will see that the event is worthy of the occasion. The public buildings are elaborately decorated. Mayor Fairbanks and other distinguished citizens of Quincy are invited.

IT TAKES a very little thing oft times to stir up the people. The selectmen of Dedham contemplated the removal of a band stand and hay scales near Memorial hall. The people objected and petitioned for a town meeting. The Selectmen refused to call it and it was done by a justice of the peace. It was held Monday evening and 1,000 citizens are reported to have attended and the band stand and hay scales will remain.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

A Very Short Session Held Last Evening—Little Business.

Monday evening's session of the City Council was but half an hour long, and an adjournment was made for three weeks. Six members were absent at the roll call but soon came in, and only three got black marks—Messrs. Donahoe, Drake and Federhen.

Petitions.

Applications to sell naptha, and a common victualler were referred to the Committee on Licenses.

A petition was received for the sprinkling of Granite street between Swithin's shed and quarry.

Mayor Fairbanks in a communication requested authority to sprinkle as above, and an order was introduced and adopted that the work be done, one half the expense to be assessed on abutters.

The Calendar.

The order appropriating $1,500 for repairs of the Willard and Washington schoolhouses was passed to be ordained, under a suspension of the rules, after increasing the limit of interest to six per cent.

Upon recommendation of the Committee on Finance the order making an appropriation for Adams street was recommitted with the recommendation that it be done under the betterment act.

The Committee on streets then reported an order for a public hearing on August 7, on laying it out wider under the betterment act, which was adopted.

The order appropriating $500 for raising the grade of Cross street was passed to be ordained by a unanimous vote.

Adjourned at 8.08.

Another Man Missing.

Cornelius Kelliher, a well known politician of Ward Three, is reported as missing since last Thursday and his friends are anxiously awaiting some news of his whereabouts. On the morning he disappeared he informed the police that some of his stone tools had been stolen from the yards where he was employed. Chief Langley gave him a note to the Captain of Station 4, Boston, requesting that an officer accompany him through the pawnbrokers' shops in hopes of finding his tools. It has been learned that Kelliher presented this note at Station 4. Later in the day Chief Langley met Kelliher on Merrimack street, Boston, and nothing has been heard from him since.

The missing man is about 28 years of age, 5 feet 6 inches tall, and had a short, black moustache and hair. He was not a drinking man which makes the mystery surrounding his disappearance all the deeper. He has two brothers and a sister living in this city.

Does Advertising Pay?

We know of a case when it did not. A man advertised for a wife and he got her. Thus his troubles commenced. He couldn't live without furniture, but he found the prices so wonderfully low at the store of Henry L. Kincaide & Co.'s that it made him a happy man. Yes, he found everything there, and the prices,——cut almost in two.

POINT PICNICKERS

Meet With a Serious Mishap at North Weymouth.

ONE OF THE BARGES IS UPSET

Seven or More Injured—Mr. Samuel Hayden Injuries the Most Serious.

The numbers who wanted to go on the annual picnic of the Washington Street Congregational Sunday School picnic this morning far exceeded the accommodations.

Three large barges went early, but it was necessary to send to Weymouth for more barges before all the party were accommodated.

About ten o'clock two small barges started, Downer Landing being the objective spot. One of these was a one-horse barge and was driven by a boy, who drove rather recklessly.

In going down Bradley's hill just beyond North Weymouth the barge capsized and is one of the worst wrecked teams you ever saw. The other barge was close behind and the passengers saw the serious accident.

Among the passengers of the overturned barge were:

Henry Porter
Mrs. Henry Porter
Infant child
Miss Stella Porter
Harry Porter
Samuel Hayden
Mrs. Thurber
Little Miss Thurber
Mrs. Mary Porter
Mrs. Joseph Hayden
Miss Hayden
Miss Lillian Harlow

Mr. Samuel Hayden is the most seriously injured, and it is feared internally. One of his collar bones is broken. Drs. Gilbert and Hunting attended him at his residence.

Mrs. Henry Porter is injured about the head and shoulder; Stella Hayden about the back and arm; Harry Porter cut an artery of his arm; Mrs. Mary Porter, mother of Henry Porter, was severely shook up and somewhat bruised; the daughter of Mrs. Joseph Hayden had her arm bruised The others are unhurt.

Dr. Drake of North Weymouth, and Dr. Davis of Quincy, also attended the injured.

Anniversary and Banquet.

Monday evening, Wollaston Lodge No. 926, K. of H., took that occasion to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the institution of the order. They had as their guest Grand Guide F. M. Hersey of Hingham, who is one of the most popular deputies in the state. The lodge being closed early, the members partook of an excellent repast, followed by some of Tucker's cannon cracker cigars, and the balance of the evening was devoted to the discussion of the growth of the order during the twenty years of its existence, and of various ways and means to increase its membership.

The eloquence which flowed from the lips of such members as District Dept. F. M. Hersey, followed by E. E. Williamson, W. B. Orcutt, Councilman Brown and Baker, ex-Councilman Roberts, W. J. Battison, W. H. Brasee and G. W. Brown, was indeed a treat; completing one of the most enjoyable evenings in the history of Wollaston Lodge.

Among the Missing.

Mrs. Samuel Rex of Water street, while in a probable demented condition, left her home last night and has not been seen since. In the middle of the night Mr. Rex awoke and discovered that his wife was not present.

Upon making a search of the premises he found a note from his wife stating that he would never see her again, and to take good care of the children.

Mr. Rex at once instituted a search for his wife which has been continued all day without finding any trace of the missing woman.

Mrs. Rex was about 35 years of age and about 5 feet 2 inches in height. She has eight little children who are anxiously awaiting her home coming.

There is no reason why she should do away with herself, as intimated in her note, as she had a kind husband and pleasant home.

Mr. Rex is foreman at Willison's stone sheds and today that place is shut down while his fellow workmen are engaged in the search for some trace of his wife.

CITY CHIT CHAT.

Items of Interest from All Parts of Quincy.

Mrs. D. Pratt of Appleton street is visiting at Tilton, N. H.

Scarcely a day passes but one or more of our citizens leave for the World's Fair.

S. L. Hersey and family of Boston have moved into the Oakman block on Atlantic street.

District Deputy Hersey installed the officers of Wollaston Lodge, Knights of Honor, on Monday evening.

The West Quincy Methodist church and Sunday School will hold its annual picnic Wednesday at Lovell's grove.

Rev. J. H. Yeoman and wife, with Mrs. John Carver and Miss Annie Clean have gone to Franconia for two weeks.

It has got to be quite fashionable for Quincy men to be reported missing as will be seen by an article in another column.

Miss Ella G. Higgins and her niece, Miss Bessie Higgins, leave today for Chicago and the World's Fair. They will be absent a month.

The St. Jean Baptist society of West Quincy will unite with the societies of that order of Boston on a picnic at Lovell's grove on Thursday.

Many of the residents of Crescent street now feel sorry that the order authorizing the watering of that street was not allowed to pass the Council.

Fenton E. Lowe, one of the employes of the LEDGER office, leaves today for a three weeks' trip to his father,s, in New York.

Messrs. Albert Richards and John C. Pierce have gone to Lake Warampang, New Preston, Conn., for a few weeks' outing.

Mrs. Roger H. Wilde with her children have gone to Fairlee, Vt., where they will pass a few weeks at the Glen Falls House on Lake Morey.

Box 26 of the fire alarm being out of repair it has been temporarily replaced with box 24. Remember for a few days that box 24 is on the First church.

The members of the J. Q. Adams chemical were called out on a still alarm at eight o'clock, Sunday night,to extinguish a blaze which had started in the ruins of the old car stable.

The attention of our readers is called to the new bicycle rooms at No. 2 Washington street, next to the Young Men's Christian Association building. Bicycle riding is on the increase both by ladies and gentlemen, and as Mr. Ripley has a fine assortment of wheels, we bespeak for him a liberal patronage.

Mr. C. E. Brackett of Brockton, widely known throughout Quincy and vicinity as the representative of F. B. Washburn & Co., won the eighth vacation prize in the Journal contest, with 41,084 votes to his credit. He will leave for Old Orchard Beach, August 25. Miss Lizzie Borden stood second but declines to accept a prize. Mr. A. W. Purbeck of Salem is first.

Mr. Charles A. Hobart and John P. Bigelow, Jr., of South Quincy, left on the 7 o'clock boat, Sunday night, for a sojourn at the Old Orchard House, Old Orchard, Maine, where they expect to spend two or three weeks with the Hingley Club, the only hitch being that Captain Curtis, of the club, also from Quincy, was unable to leave on account of rushing business.

The marriage of Mr. J. Oliver Williams of this city and Miss Elmie Mahala Morrill of Canterbury, N. H., is announced to take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Morrill on Tuesday, Aug 1, at 11 A. M. Mr. and Mrs. Williams will be at home at 38 Canal street, this city on Wednesdays in September and October. Mr. Williams holds a responsible position with W. H. Hervey & Co. of Boston.

TODAY'S COURT.

Despite the roaring red hot weather we are experiencing, the mills of justice continue to grind quickly and fine. This morning Charles M. Sloane of Randolph was arraigned for being drunk. After much pleading with his Honor, Charlie succeeded in having his case continued till August.

John M. Connell of Weymouth, also imbibed too freely of the ardent Monday, and this morning he found himself before the bar of justice. John was fined $10. As he was not able to pay he will take a vacation at Dedham for a month.

Another disciple of Bacchus was found in the person of John Tierney of Milton. A penalty of $10 was also imposed upon him, but as he was also financially embarrossed, he too will take a vacation at the expense of the county.

Malcom J. McQuarry received his final naturalization papers and became a full fledged citizen of the United States.

Serious Fall.

A painter in the employ of Mr. Mischler, a Braintree painter, believed to be a Mr. Mudge, was serious injured this morning by falling from the piazzi of the house of Mr. Edward E. Brown, on Safford street, Wollaston. He was taken to the Quincy Hospital.

—The town of Medway in this county has added to its valuation by taxing bicycle $4000.

DIED.

SIMMONS—In Quincy, July 17, Mrs. Julia A., wife of Mr. William A. Simmons, aged 33 years and 8 months.

GILL—In Stoughton, July 17, Mr. Jason Gill, aged 86 years.

FIRED UPON.

U. S. Warship Mohican Disabled by a Sealer's Guns Great Excitement.

[Special to the Daily Ledger.]

BOSTON, July 18.—A despatch has been received in this city stating that the United States Cruiser "Mohican" has been fired upon and disabled by a sealing vessel.

The Mohican came upon the sealer as the latter was among the seal rookeries and fired two shots across the vessel's bow. The vessel returned the fire and struck the Mohican disabling her. The greatest excitement prevailed upon the receipt of this dispatch.

CAPTURE OF LEPERS.

They Had Defied the Goverment of Honolulu For the Past Ten Years.

HONOLULU, July 17.—The capture of 20 of the 28 lepers in the valley of Kalalau, island of Kanai, is reported. A steamer arrived on July 4, bringing 15 lepers and official dispatches to the government from the expedition sent to the valley of Kalalau to capture the leper murderer of Sheriff Stolz and remove the remaining lepers to the island of Molokai.

The expedition reached Kalalau valley on July 1. Martial law was at once proclaimed, and all outlets from the valley were closed with extra guards. Fifteen lepers surrendered to the expedition at Hanalei, and two lepers were captured at Waimea pass by the police. These had been driven off the valley by the leper Koolau, because they refused to join and fight the government forces.

Koolau told a leper spy that they could escape over a trail known only to the lepers, provided they could reach it; otherwise, they would fight to the last and then kill themselves before they would surrender.

☞By July 5 orders were forwarded by steamer Iwalani to bring the lepers in dead or alive. The government expects the steamer Iwalani next Sunday, bringing the last of the Kanai lepers who have defied the government for the past 10 years.

All will be removed to the settlement at Molokai at once.

President Dole announces that the government will hereafter carry out a strict policy of segregation.

Voyage of a Bottle.

During a stroll upon the beach of Pamramore's island, Va., a few days ago, a member of our editorial staff picked up a tightly corked bottle that had been washed to his feet by the waves. The bottle contained a letter written by a romantic young lady, resident at Asbury Park, N. J., and committed to the sea by her upon March 13 last. Unfortunately for those who would like to see or hear of a romance growing out of this incident, the finder is a married man with an interesting family.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Great Catch.

A Washington paper says there is a flutter among the marriageable young ladies at Washington because so many of the new appointees are bachelors. It adds:

"Mr. Josiah Quincy, assistant secretary of state, comes at the head of the list in the way of eligibility and riches. As one bright young woman has already said of him: 'Good land, Mr. Quincy ought not to go out unattended, or else some matchmaking mamma will cut short his future usefulness for the rest of us.'

"But the girls ought really to make an arrangement amicable or otherwise to let him have at least one season to get acclimated."

The Kickapoos' Greeting

Words of Sympathy to the Sick and Suffering Whites.

After the Kickapoo Indians had consented to allow their medicines to be introduced among the white people they had a grand Medicine dance, lasting all night. Their wild movements in fantastic array around a blazing fire were in time to a chant they sung. The meaning of the words of their song was wholly of kindness, love and sympathy—a portion translates as follows:

"The Kickapoos bring you health."
"Their hearts are full of pity for you."
"Have hope for the great spirit"
"Has given us that which we offer you."
"It will make you well and happy."

It was with the feelings expressed by these words that they offered the Kickapoo Indian Remedies to the white people. That the offer was appreciated, and that the remedies have done great good is evidenced by a large sale all over the continent and their remedies are now found on the shelves of every druggist in the land.

Its seasonable use has prevented serious sickness in thousands of cases.

Disease cannot exist in its presence.

Best of all it is a simple compound of roots, barks and herbs, about which the Indian has more knowledge than any living botanist or physician.

Remember, too, that "Kickapoo" Remedies are genuine Indian preparations. Indians gather the herbs and prepare them for shipment. Indians steep them for the medicine and Indians put up the finished product. From first to last they are true medicines of the red man.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, the great Liver, Blood and Stomach Renovater, and other Kickapoo Indian Remedies are Sold by all Druggists.

Malden's New High.

Plans have been accepted for a new high school house in Malden to cost $78,500, and which with the furnishing will cost over $100,000.

The building will be three stories in height and will contain 14,000 square feet on each floor. It will be of sandstone to the sill of the first floor, and probably red pressed brick above that, although some desire the new white brick.

On the first two floors are 10 school rooms and 2 recitation rooms, libraries, offices, etc. On the third floor are to be the physical lecture rooms, chemical laboratory, with store and dark rooms, botanic, drawing and Physiology Lecture Rooms.

There is also to be a hall, with stage, which will accommodate between 600 and 700 seats, and a general lecture room with seats for 150 scholars.

The building will accommodate 600 scholars.

Distances.

The noise of a train can be heard 3,300 yards, the bark of a dog 1,800 yards, the roll of a drum 1,600 yards, a dinner bell 2 miles, a call to get up in the morning 2 feet,—but this drop. A beautiful oak frame combination plush parlor set for $35.00, can be heard for 20 miles. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Is a positive cure for all those painful

Ailments of Women.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements, of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life. Every time it will cure

Backache.

It has cured more cases of Leucorrhœa than any remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels Tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. That causing pain, weight, and backache, is instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the laws that govern the female system, and is as harmless as water. It removes

Bearing-down Feeling

Irregularity,

Suppressed or Painful Menstruations, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility. Also

Dizziness, Faintness,

Extreme Lassitude, "don't care" and "want to be left alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy, or the "blues," and backache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, some derangement of the Uterus, or Womb Troubles.

The whole story, however, is told in an illustrated book entitled "Guide to Health," by Mrs. Pinkham. It contains over 99 pages of most important information, which every woman, married or single, should know about herself. Send 2 two-cent stamps for it. For and Backache of either sex the Vegetable Compound is unequaled.

Kidney Complaints

Fire Company to be Organized This Evening—Big Gains in Contest.

MAILS—Close for Quincy at 8 A. M. and 5 P. M. Arrive from Quincy at 9 A. M. and 6 P. M.

ELECTRIC CARS are run to Quincy at 5.40 A. M. and every half hour from 7 A. M. to 10 P. M. Returning at 6.15 A. M. and every half hour from 7.30 A. M. to 10.30 P. M.

THE DAILY LEDGER is for sale at Post Office, Manet Lunch Room, by Henry W. French and by Newsboys. Mr. French is the authorized local agent of the paper. Items of news solicited from everybody.

A company will be organized tonight to man the chemical with these men, all residents: A. H. Taber, J. E. Bean, Henry W. French, Walter Littlefield, Walter E. Wyman, George S. Bass, Arthur Dunham, John Baker, M. McDane, Charles Hall, Amos Merritt, George Sanborn, Charles Batson and Mr. Delaney. A meeting will be held at 8 P. M, at the engine house to elect officers. The water barrels have been located at different parts of the village and the beach will be better protected than ever from fire.

A party of Houghs Neck fishers went sailing out into the deep on the morn of Monday tide. Many fish were caught and the sails were set and homeward the fishermen hied. But off Boston light in a calm they laid and of hunger nearly died. In the early morn of this bright day the boat was securely tied. One of the crew was so turned about that to Downers he thought he had come, and he was much surprised on reaching the pier to find that he just "got hum."

Mr. C. A. Hutchins, M. P. M., returns to Houghs Neck to complete several conquests as yet unfinished.

Mr. John Pugh and family of Roxbury have as guests at the Idlewild cottage: Miss Katie M. Kiley, of Philadelphia, Pa., Miss Alma M. Steinmann, of Cambridgeport, Mass., Miss Jane C. Steimann, of San Francisco, Cal., Mrs. Andrew Duncan, of Lennox, Mass., and they expect in a few days, Mrs. John McLain, of Roxbury, Mr. and Mrs. William Brummet, of Roxbury, Mr. John Green, of Chelsea, Mass., Mr. William Pierce Steinmann, of Harrogate, Tenn.

A delightful shore day yesterday not enough wind for sailing.

A very handsome sloop yacht arrived from Orleans, Monday. She is called the Manset and has a very saucy look. She carries a tremendous spread of canvas and from all accounts is a very roomy and comfortable boat.

All letters sent out of Houghs Neck require a two-cent stamp. The postmaster says many have recently been mailed with a one-cent stamp.

Hutchins in Lead.

Mr. Dunham made a gain of fifty today, but his nearest rival yesterday doubled his vote, and Mr. Hutchins now leads with 200 to spare. Mrs. Macomber of the Winthrop cafe enters the race with fifty votes and Messrs. Pugh and Batson with ten each. The contest is now becoming interesting. Candidates should remember that the coupons good for five votes will not be printed after July 30.

NICHOLS AN EASY MARK.

Bostons Barely Escaped a Whitewash at New York.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The New Yorks surprised 3000 cranks at the Polo grounds by playing beautiful ball and defeating the champion Boston team easily. Baldwin was in fine form throughout and the visitors did not score until the very last inning, when an unfortunate fumble by Davis gave Long a chance to bring Carroll in with a hit. New York hit Nichols quite freely, especially in the third inning, when two singles, a triple and two errors yielded three runs. Tiernan knocked out a home run in the eighth.

Trojans Have No Love for Knowles.

TROY, N. Y., July 18.—Troy refused to play yesterday because Knowles was scheduled to umpire. He has treated the club with such rank injustice that patience has ceased to be a virtue. President Powers was notified that Troy will play no game where Knowles is to umpire and if its wishes are not regarded they will withdraw from the league. The patrons of the game here sustain the management.

Crooked Government Servants.

PORTLAND, Or., July 18.—James Lotan, ex-collector of customs, has been arrested on an indictment charging him with smuggling opium and landing Chinese from British Columbia on fraudulent certificates. Robert G. Paddock, deputy customs inspector, and C. D. Cardinell, who was dismissed from the customs service a few months ago, were also taken in custody. All were released on $20,000 bail.

An Underground Trolley System.

An underground trolley system, the invention of Malone Wheles of Tennessee, is being tested on a three-quarter mile section in Washington. Briefly described, the road is laid with 40-pound T rails, yokes of 180 pounds each and 40-pound slot rails. The conduit, midway between the rails, is 16 inches deep by 17 inches wide, and inside is a loose wire on insulated brackets. This wire is cut in 200 feet lengths and carries a current only when the car is moving over one particular section. The copper feeding cable is laid parallel to the trolley wire. Without going into details, the car is fitted with two ordinary 20-horsepower motors, and a pair of trolley wheels passing through the slot connects the motors with the trolley cable.

In each 200-foot section is an iron switch box containing an electro magnet, and as the cars enter a section a storage battery of several cells on the car vitalizes the magnet and lifts an iron armature and connects the trolley and the feed cables, and thus supplies power to the motors, while the main line current cuts out the local battery. On reaching the next section the current is again automatically switched on and is also cut off from the rear section. When the car stops, the current is instantly released from the trolley wire, and the same is the case when going down hill. The car can travel in either direction by turning a reversing switch. The cost for a single track is said to be $30,000 per mile.—Engineering News.

Training For the Sickroom.

The Massachusetts Emergency and Hygienic association has just prepared a class of young women for a new occupation—that of trained attendants for convalescents, chronic invalids, elderly persons and little children. It often happens that members of a family are either unfitted, unwilling or unable through business engagements to care for their own sick or feeble. The trained nurse is too expensive a luxury to be kept through weeks, perhaps months, of weary convalescence, and the patient, who perhaps was doing well at her departure, begins to suffer for proper care. The trained attendant, who has been instructed by competent trained nurses, is then prepared to take her place.

She has been taught how to ventilate the rooms, make beds, bathe the patient, serve and prepare attractive food and do the many other things necessary to make life as pleasant as possible for the sick. The young women admitted to the Boston classes must be at least 20 years of age and be possessed of good antecedents. The course of 30 lessons, for which $3 is paid, is followed by an examination, which if creditably passed entitles the pupil to a diploma.—New York Post.

A Terrible Solecism In Dress.

A correspondent with a humorous turn writes to a New York newspaper as follows: "With the spring fever and the jubilant mosquito there has come among us a bacillus more insidnous than the dreadful cholera germ—a disease whose rapid spread among our better classes is terrible to contemplate. Men who do not look quite lost to better things may now be seen parading in high hat, frock coat and tan shoes, and compared with this new deadly sin against proper attire the execrable combination of high hat and sack coat is as nothing. There is no saying whither this new sartorial idiocy may not lead us if we do not check it. What say your readers to the passage of a city ordinance making it a misdemeanor for any one to wear tan shoes after noon, or at any time in combination with a frock coat and top hat? Would 30 days be too light a penalty? We must

"Strike 'gainst this innovation dire,
Strike for the cause of right attire,
Black shoes and our native land."

Stealing at the World's Fair.

"I was told by a member of the national commission while in Chicago the other day," said a western congressman in telling of the great fair, "that claims aggregating almost $700,000 have been filed with that body by exhibitors for property stolen. This is enormous. During the Paris exposition the entire amount of claims was only $175,000—one-fourth of the amount of those at Chicago, and the fair has been open only one month. There is undoubtedly an organized gang. Why, they carried away from the French exhibit a bronze clock that weighed 350 pounds that had required four men to unload it. How they got it out of the grounds is a mystery, unless there was collusion on the part of some guard."—Washington Post.

Eulalie Has Heard of Carter's Hat.

Next to the arrival of the infanta the event most talked about was the silk hat worn by Mayor Harrison on the occasion.

"What did you do with your old slouch hat?" he was asked.

"Do you think I'd throw it away? No, sir. I intend to be buried in that hat."

"Will you wear it while her highness is in the city?"

"Yes, fact is, I told her I had another hat."

"Is it so? What reply did she make to that?"

"Said she had heard of it and wondered how I would look under it."—Chicago Tribune.

A Curious Will.

THE BAXTER MURDER

Is Very Likely to Forever Remain a Mystery.

HE HAD BEEN DEAD A WEEK.

Cunningham Is Not Suspected by His Neighbors.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 18.—Did Edward Cunningham murder William Baxter of Holden? No one living can answer the question but Cunningham himself, and he denies it and has proved an alibi.

He was held in custody about two hours by the police, and his release has left the murder as mysterious as some others that have occurred in this state of late.

Baxter was murdered in a most foul manner, the first blow of the four evidently being given from behind, the implement used being one of Baxter's own axes. The murderer has had over a week's start of the police, and ample time has intervened to cover his tracks.

The motive of the crime was without doubt robbery. The spot in the bushes where the dastardly crime was committed is an if such a term may be applied to so foul a thing. It is 300 or 400 feet from the house (which is about three miles from Holden Center), and about the same distance, or a little more, from the Winter Hill road that runs past the premises.

It is a lonely place, and but few people pass, so that the chance of detection was small indeed. The crime must have been committed in broad daylight, for Baxter was cutting young birches for peapoles, and he probably would not select night for doing such work.

Baxter was last seen alive July 8, but whether in the morning or afternoon is not certain.

An old man named Connor, who lives next house to Baxter, and in the same house with Knox, says he was at the Baxter house on Saturday morning, July 8, and had a drink of cider there

With Baxter and Cunningham.

He left the house and Cunningham and Baxter went off together down the lane, and he says he saw them disappear through the bar way in the direction of the birch patch where the body was found. Connor says they started off together to cut some birch limbs, and this story is corroborated by the circumstances of finding the birch limbs and also finding the body in the spot where Connor saw them walk toward.

The story as told by old man Connor is combated by the story of Cunningham, which seems to be backed up by another witness, making out a complete alibi.

Connor is certain that he saw both Cunningham and Baxter go out together to cut down birch boughs on the Saturday morning in question, each carrying an axe, and that the one carried by Cunningham, in the opinion of Connor, resembles the one which the officers think did the awful work.

Cunningham says he was in Ashuelot, N. H., July 7, and in Hinsdale, Vt., July 8 and 9. He says he travelled from there to Burlington, Brattleboro, Rutland, Mass., Fitchburg, Leominster, Clinton and Oakdale, back to Dawson's, where he arrived last Thursday night. Edward Downey, another mill hand, says he was with Cunningham all through the trip. Detectives left for Hinsdale yesterday to look up the story, and, of course, if Cunningham and Downey are telling the truth it Can Easily Be Verified.

The autopsy shows that four blows were inflicted. It was held by Medical Examiner Keefe, assisted by Drs. Carroll and Conlon.

They examined the body as it lay in the barn, where it was placed Sunday night. They found four different blows on the head. One was at the base of the skull; another was in the left side of the eye, also crushing in the skull; another was over the right ear, and the other was back of the head. The blows, in the opinion of the doctors, were made with a heavy axe. They are of the opinion that the man has been dead a week. They found the body in a terrible state of decomposition.

It was the stench arising from the decomposed body that directed the searching party to the place where the victim lay.

The Murdered Man was not very well known in this city. He has lived here for about eight years or since he came from Sheffield, Eng., in 1884. He was a married man and left a wife and son at home, but he has always told that he was not on the best of relations with his family and had ceased to live with them long before he left England.

He lived with Mr. Anderson, the cook in Trulson's saloon. Anderson speaks very highly of Baxter. Mrs. Briggs, who keeps a boarding house, knew him and speaks in the highest terms of him, but says she has not seen much of him of late. The sentiment in Holden is that it is best to let the matter drop, as the town is clear of a bad house.

Cunningham is not looked upon with suspicion by the people of Holden who know him, even though he is a shiftless fellow. His actions while undergoing examination were straightforward, and gave the impression that he was telling the truth.

The police apparently have no clue to work on, and with the indifference of the people, the case is likely to remain a mystery until someone gives forth a dying confession.

THE DANFORTH TRAGEDY.

The Dead Man Had Been Heard Threatening Bela Noyes.

DANFORTH, Me., July 18.—This town has been in a fever of excitement and all business suspended, the occasion being the preliminary examination of Bela Noyes for the murder of John Edgar last Saturday before Trial Justice Carleton.

County Attorney Campbell appeared for the state, and Messrs. Hanson and Hewes for the prisoner.

It appeared from the testimony that Edgar had been drinking during the day, and had some trouble with Noyes, who runs the stable in connection with Foss' hotel, and sells rum. Edgar wanted more liquor and Noyes refused to let him have it. Edgar said Noyes called him hard names and he was going up to have it out with him.

It was in evidence that he was in a state of beastly intoxication when he went to the stable and was no match for Noyes, who weighed some 225 pounds, while Edgar was a slight man. They had a fight in the stable, and when witnesses arrived Edgar was unconscious on the floor. He was taken to the hotel, where he died five or 10 minutes after the arrival of the doctors.

The autopsy made by Dr. M. L. Porter and witnessed by Coroner A. K. Lincoln, revealed several bruises on the head and a hemorrhage of the brain, which produced death.

The defence considered that if anything had been shown it was a case of manslaughter, and justifiable at that, as the dead man had been heard to threaten the prisoner. On this, Counsel Hanson asked that the prisoner be admitted to bail.

County Attorney Campbell said that he could not consent to bail, as it had been shown that Noyes literally pounded his victim to death, while he was pleading for his life.

Justice Carleton decided that the probable cause had been shown, and ordered the prisoner committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury at the October term of court.

WHOLE FAMILY POISONED.

A Case Which Has Attracted the Attention of Nashua Police.

NASHUA, N. H., July 18.—A sad case of mysterious poisoning was reported last night in the family of Theophile Deschamps, residing on Tolles street. The family consisted of a father, mother and six children. One of the latter was taken sick Friday and died at 8.30 the next morning. Another was taken sick and died Sunday morning. Another girl, 13 years old, was taken sick and is dying, and now the mother is not expected to live.

They all have symptoms of poisoning. They are taken with vomiting and severe headaches, and the bodies of those who have died are covered with black spots. It is claimed that they have eaten nothing but rice soup, bread and meat and their deaths have created much excitement.

It is feared that the whole family will die. A post mortem examination will be held. An investigation was begun at a meeting of the police commissioners yesterday afternoon.

A Thief's Queer Trick.

SALEM, Mass., July 18.—Mayor Rantoul has recovered his stolen pocketbook, which he missed after returning from the circus two weeks ago. The mayor at the time was in company with G. F. Buxton, a business man of Beverly. Mr. Buxton yesterday put on the clothing that he had worn to the circus for the first time since then. He happened to put his hand into one of the pockets and there found a pocketbook. He found a season ticket inside marked "R. S. Rantoul." The thief had evidently rifled the wallet and then dropped it into Mr. Buxton's pocket.

Suit For $150,000 Worth of Morocco.

BOSTON, July 18.—The International Trust company is the plaintiff in one of the most important repleven suits brought in Suffolk county. Deputy Sheriff J. P. Silsby, Jr., is the defendant. The plaintiff seeks to get possession of morrocco leather worth $150,000 which the sheriff held as the property of the insolvent firm of Phelps & Lombard. The Trust company claims that the property belongs to the New England Morocco company, of which concern one of the other firm was an officer.

Forger Sent to Prison.

BOSTON, July 18.—Charles P. Walker, the produce dealer, for forging three notes for $2500, $2000 and $1000 respectively, was sentenced to four years at the state prison. The defendant was indicted for embezzlement as well as forgery, but the government was content with the sentence upon the forgery indictment, to which Walker pleaded guilty, and the embezzlement indictment was placed on file.

Victory for Moulders.

LYNN, Mass., July 18.—The moulders employed by the Thomson-Houston Electric company some time ago asked for a different price list. Several of the employes left off work because the company appeared so indifferent to their demand. The company has granted the petition at last, and the men will get more pay. The consequence of this will be the starting of the foundry at full blast.

Buried In a Sewer Trench.

SALEM, Mass., July 18.—Michael Thompson and others were at work on Spring street in a sewer trench, when the side of the trench suddenly caved in upon Thompson, who was buried completely. Willing hands soon removed the earth from Thompson, who was unconscious when discovered. He had been nearly suffocated.

Big Mills Shut Down.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 18.—There is a feeling of the deepest despondency in Manchester. The big Amoskeag corporation, the largest producers of manufactured cotton in the world, posted notices informing its thousands of operatives that all of its immense plant will shut down during the month of August.

Poisoned by a Colored Servant.

RICHMOND, Me., July 18.—A colored girl employed in the family of Captain B. E. Reed, West Dresden, put paris green in the coffee yesterday and poisoned three members of the family. Porter Walbridge, farmhand, and Mrs. Reed are out of danger, but Mr. Reed's condition is critical.

Sentence None Too Heavy.

BOSTON, July 18.—Leonard Wouters was sentenced to 15 months at the house of correction for feloniously assaulting Jennie Bubler, a 11-year-old girl, on June 1 last.

Bernard Murphy, aged 17, residing on Quequechan street, was drowned while bathing at Fall River, Mass.

Rhodes Cornell, twice tried for murder in Rhode Island, the jury in both cases disagreeing, was set at liberty.

The Nova Scotia schooner G. E. Bentley, now in New Haven, is liable to seizure for violation of health regulations.

Joseph Meaney of Lowell, Mass, while swimming with other boys in the Concord river was seized with cramps and drowned.

At the Main street crossing of the Boston and Maine road, in Biddeford, Me., a train struck Marjorie Romeo, an 18-year-old girl. It is feared that she has suffered internal injuries.

A Tree Started In His Stomach.

A strange case is puzzling local medical practitioners and the most prominent of the fraternity from Memphis and Nashville. John Henry Leake, a stalwart negro living on the plantation of R. L. Strong, a week or two since ate a lemon and swallowed one of the seeds, which it seems lodged in his stomach and attracting to it a certain proportion of the food subsequently eaten by him was soon surrounded by a clot or mass of matter which gradually grew larger. After a short time Leake began to suffer acute pains in the region of his stomach and applied to a physician, who diagnosed his trouble as indigestion and proceeded to treat him for it.

But the pains increased, and it soon became a matter of impossibility for the sufferer to retain any food except such as was administered in a liquid form, and the doctor began to suspect that the cause of the trouble lay beyond the ordinary phases of indigestion and declared an operation necessary. It was with difficulty that Leake was prevailed on to submit to this, but he finally consented.

The surgeons thoroughly explored the abdomen and intestines, but without finding any disturbing object, though it was observed that the stomach was distended to nearly twice its normal size. Leake suffered the greatest agony, with repeated efforts to vomit, which continued until death ensued. A post-mortem examination revealed the fact that the seed had sprouted from the mass surrounding it, and putting out shoots had actually attacked the walls of the stomach as a creeping plant does a wall. —Trimble (Tenn.) Cor. Baltimore Sun.

The Cause of the Backward Spring.

Dr. M. A. Veeder of Lyons, N. Y., who has devoted much time and attention to the weather and kindred phenomena, and whose reputation as a meteorologist is international, has advanced a theory to account for the general disagreeableness of the present spring. Dr. Veeder says that for the present the climate of this portion of the globe has undergone a radical metamorphosis, not unlike that which might have resulted from the locality being suddenly placed upon a high mountain. We are, in short, suffering from an acute case of derangement of the isothermal strata, which may last the entire year.

The lines of barometrical pressure are variable. They have become deranged, so that the state of New York is now included in a belt of reduced density or comparative rarefied air. The result is cold nights and mornings, cold winds and hot sunshine. We are in a mountain climate. Dr. Veeder insists that there is no telling when there will be a change for the better of the isothermal strata, but says it is his belief, which is confirmed by observations of the sun spots, that it will last the entire year.

Colored People In the North.

Within a few years there has been a large increase of the colored population of Philadelphia, and numbers of colored men and women arrive there every week from the south, as we learn by a report in The Ledger. Here in New York also there is a rapid and steady growth of the colored element, and a well informed citizen of color makes the statement that more than 10,000 people of the African race have arrived here from the southern states since this time last year.

Reports of a similar kind have come to us from Chicago and from very many of the other northern cities. We must believe that over 100,000 of the colored natives of the old slave states have left there for the north within a year. Nearly all of them seem to be able to earn by hard labor the means of livelihood in their new homes. According to Mr. Frederick Douglass they do not furnish an undue proportion of the lawbreakers and paupers of the communities in which they settle.—New York Sun.

Comes of Centenarian Stock.

The ancient city and seaport of Havre has a grand old man compared with whom Mr. Gladstone may be considered no more than middle aged. Dr. de Boissy is 100 years and some days old. In honor of his having completed a century he has been feted at a dinner given in his honor by the medical faculty of his native place. In accordance with French custom he presided himself. After eating an excellent dinner he made a lively and amusing speech, which was much applauded. His father, he declared, lived to be 108 years old, and as for himself he had every hope of going on for a long while yet to come, laboring in the cause of suffering humanity. During the cholera epidemic, the year before last, Dr. de Boissy is said to have greatly distinguished himself and to have gained a medal of honor for the arduous work he performed.—Cor. Sucked Fish From the Lake.

Wednesday night a cyclone struck Portage lake and the surrounding country, doing great damage. At 8:15 a dark cloud swept up from the east, and the roar of the approaching storm could be heard 15 minutes before it struck the place. Barns, fences and houses were blown down, and sheets of water were carried from the lake over half a mile. Fish, large and small, were found next morning fully one mile from Portage lake.—Cor. Grand Rapids Democrat.

Cheap Flour In Maine.

Flour was never so cheap as at present, and farmers in some parts of the state are buying it for $2.50 per barrel and feeding it to their stock mixed with bran. The outlook, however, is that lowest water mark has been reached, as crops prospects in Europe are very poor. Bread was never so cheap as now—the bread you bake at home.—Bangor Commercial.

According to the Paris Figaro, 500 unpublished letters of Voltaire were recently found in a house at Bessinger, near Geneva.

Twenty-five pictures by modern French painters, now exhibited at the St. Botolph club, Boston, are insured for $248,000.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

The Town of Randolph Today in Holiday Attire—Program of the Exercises.

RANDOLPH, Mass., July 19.—The town of Randolph is celebrating its 100th birthday. Flags are flying today from all the public buildings, bunting, red, white and blue, making the streets rainbows of color.

From the public school children to the graybeards of the local government, the townspeople were interested in making the centennial a success, and local enthusiasm is high in the town of a hundred years.

The program began bright and early, with a salute at sunrise. At 8:30 there was a bicycle race; 10 a. m., exercises by school children; 10:30 a. m., foot race; 11:30 a. m., parade in order as follows: Police, band Horace Niles post, G. A. R.; battery, town officers, invited guests, Rising Star lodge, I. O. O. F.; St. Mary's Y. M. C. L. A., band, fire department, trades. The procession formed in Central square and started at 11:30 a. m. and proceeded down North Main street to the West corners, where a halt was made and the noonday salute fired by the battery, thence to the square up South Main street to the district No. 1 schoolhouse, countermarching to the tent, where the exercises of the day took place.

Hugh J. Molloy, A. M., principal of the Stetson high school, read a poem. The Hon. J. White Belcher delivered the address of welcome, and John V. Beal delivered the historical address, followed by addresses by Lieutenant Governor Wolcott, Hon. E. A. Morse and others.

The music of the occasion was furnished by the Temple Quartette of Boston and Baldwin's Cadet band, a concert closing the tent exercises.

A JEALOUS ITALIAN.

Murderously Assaults the Alleged Destroyer of his Home.

BOSTON, July 19.—Another probable murder to be added to the already long list of homicides recorded against the North End took place yesterday afternoon at the corner of Stillman and Endicott streets.

The principals in the tragedy were Antonio Raimondo, an Italian, 27 years of age, of 256 Friend street, who is under arrest at station 1 charged with a felonious assault. Patrick F. Beatty, 29 years of age, of 31 Billeaica street, who was the victim, and Mrs. Antonio Raimondo, nee Mary Burns, over whom all the trouble occurred,

Some three months or so ago it appears that Antonio, after a short courtship, married Mary Burns, and they took up their residence on Friend street. It is alleged that the woman's reputation is not of the best, and that shortly after their marriage Raimondo, it is claimed, became exceedingly jealous of Beatty.

Antonio is a laborer, and of late has been at work in Somerville. Recently he became extremely jealous of his wife, as he frequently heard, so it is said, stories of Beatty's almost daily visit to his domicile during his absence. This incensed the Italian, but circumstances did not appear to change so as to suit Raimondo, and it is alleged that last Saturday night the men had some trouble, in which the husband tried to stab Beatty, but was unsuccessful.

Yesterday afternoon about 4.30 o'clock it appears that Mrs. Raimondo and Beatty were standing, engaged in conservation, at the corner of Stillman and Endicott streets, when the husband came along.

He Remonstrated With the Couple, but it is alleged that they paid scarcely any attention to him. He then moved away a few feet, leaving the spot as Beatty supposed, but the very next instant plunged a stiletto into the right side of Beatty's abdomen.

Beatty sank to the ground, and the Italian started on a brisk run up the street. A cry of murder was quickly raised, and it came to the ears of Special Officer Wise of division 1, who was standing at the corner of Cross and Endicott streets. Antonio held the stiletto in his hand, and by slashing it from side to side quickly made pedestrians get out of the way.

Officer Wise gave chase to the fleeing man, and a lively chase occurred along Charestown, Stillman, Salem and Travers streets to the corner of Friend street.

At that point the Italian's flight was partially blocked by a pedler's wagon and Officer Wise took advantage of that fact and Threw Him to the Ground.

A few well delivered blows of the fist caused Antonio to weaken and to release his hold on the stiletto which was secured by the officer and will be used as evidence against the Italian. Antonio was taken to the station house and after a short interview with Captain Cain was locked up.

Beatty was brought to Station 1 and Dr. Dunn ordered his removal to the Massachusetts general hospital, whither he was taken in the police ambulance. He has a wound about four or five inches deep and the physicians say he cannot recover. He positively identifies Antonio as his assailant.

Antonio admits the stabbing and says it was caused by the attentions paid by Beatty to his wife.

Death of a Shoe Manufacturer.

LYNN, Mass., July 19.—James H. Aborn died yesterday morning of apoplexy, having been sick but a short time. He was a member of the shoe manufacturing firm of C. H. Aborn & Co. from 1864 to 1889, and was well known in business circles. He was 57 years of age, and leaves a wife and two children.

German Ministers of Finance to Confer.

BERLIN, July 19.—Dr. Miquel, minister of finance of Prussia, and the finance ministers of all the other German states, will hold a conference at Frankfort-on-the-Main on Aug. 6, to discuss the means to be adopted to cover the outlay that will be incurred in carrying into effect the provisions of the army bill.

PLUCKY OLD SALT

Proves Too Much For a Confidence Man and Gets His Money Back.

BOSTON, July 19.—When Captain Charles O. Derrill of Biddeford, Me., stepped out of the Market National bank at 89 State street, yesterday, he had about $400 in his pocket. Just as he started down the street a man appproached him and asked him where he was from. The captain replied that Biddeford was his home, and the man told him that he knew the postmaster at that place and asked Captain Derrill if he would kindly take some presents to him when he went home. The captain was willing to be obliging and the two proceeded down State street until they reached Merchants' row, when they stepped into a doorway to continue their conversation. They had been talking there but a few minutes when the man asked the captain if he could change a $500 bill.

Captain Derrill replied that he could not, but added that he had considerable money about him, and pulled out a roll of bills. His new friend told him that would do just as well as the change for the bill, and asked him to let him have it for a few minutes. Captain Derrill counted out $258 and handed it to the man, who went across the street and said that he would return in a moment. He entered a building, and when he failed to appear in what seemed to be a reasonable time Captain Derrill went after him. The two met in the hallway of the building, and a struggle followed, in which the confidence man got the worst of it. A patrolman saw what was going on, and placed the stranger under arrest. At police headquarters he was identified as George H. Appleby, alias George A. Curtis, a confidence man, whose picture is No. 1240 in the rogues' gallery. The money which he obtained from Captain Derrill was recovered.

SHOT IN COLD BLOOD.

Abraham Hall Now Lying at the Point of Death as the Result.

LAWRENCE, Mass., July 19.—Shortly after midnight a sensational shooting affair took place in this city, as a result of which Abraham Hall of 88 Margin street lies at the point of death in the Lawrence hospital.

Mr. Hall was getting into a window in his apartments by means of a ladder, when Gates Mills, who occupies the lower tenement in the house, came to the window, revolver in hand.

Hall told him who he was and begged him not to fire, when, it is said, Mills' wife urged him to shoot, and Mills fired, the ball striking Hall and penetrating the left lung.

The injured man was removed to the general hospital, where the doctors say there is scarcely any chance for his recovery.

Decision Reserved in Admiralty Suits.

BOSTON, July 19.—Admiralty suits growing out of the collision of the steamer Simon Dumois and the schooner Charles A. Campbell were heard yesterday in the United States district court. The collision occurred early on the morning of Sept. 25, 1891, off Nantucket. The owners of the steamer claim $18,000 damage, and the consignees of her cargo claim $1766 more. The schooner's owners seek $2500 damage against the steamer. Each side contends that the other was at fault. The court reserved its decision.

A Thief's Sad Plight.

BOSTON, July 19.—Inspector Barry's visit to the municipal court room yesterday was a bad one for Walter K Borsch, a notorious thief who was waiting for his case to be called for larceny. The warrant said that his name was Walter K. Porch, and under that name he would probably have received a light sentence, but on account of Inspector Barry's visit, if convicted, he will have to serve a term of 25 years in the state prison, as he had a record which entitles him to be classed as an habitual criminal.

Will Prove a Total Loss.

BOSTON, July 19.—News has been received that the bark Joseph A. Ropes, which sailed from New York March 30, bound to Zanzibar, went ashore at Tamatave, Madagascar, and will prove a total loss. The Ropes was a bark of 681 tons register, and was built at North Weymouth in 1877. She was owned by George Ropes of this city and hailed from New York.

A Boy's Serious Fall.

FITCHBURG, Mass., July 19.—Carlton R. Sanford, 15 years old, fell from a cherry tree yesterday, and sustained a double fracture of both arms above the wrist and a double compound fracture of the left leg above the ankle. It is thought that he is maimed for life.

UNION LEAGUE CLUB

Tenders a Dinner to the Comptroller of the Currency.

MR. ECKELS MAKES A SPEECH

And Advises the American People Not to Be Alarmed.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Comptroller of the Currency James Eckels was a guest of his predecessor, ex-Comptroller A. P. Hepburn, at the dinner of the Union League club last evening. The affair was stated by the diners to be a purely social affair, given as a compliment to the new comptroller, and for the purpose of enabling him to meet the New York bankers. The gathering of so many of the leading financiers of the country at this particular time and the presence in the city of the comptroller of the currency attracted much attention, and the meeting between Mr. Eckels and the bankers was regarded more as a conference on the monetary situation and the prospective methods for its relief than for a purely social gathering.

As Mr. Hepburn is not a member of the Union League the dinner was given in the name of Henry W. Cannon, president of the Chase National bank, and Frederick D. Tappen of the Gallatin National bank. President George C. Williams of the Chemical National bank and president of the Clearing House association presided.

Mr. Williams made a short speech, introducing Mr. Eckels, who responded as follows:

"Nothing is to be gained by taking on a fright that is unwarranted by either the immediate past or the immediate future. What the American people ought to do in the midst of the failures that have occurred is not to give way to but to study the character of the institutions which have failed, the causes which produced them and tho localities in which they have occurred.

"After such a study let them view the solvent institutions everywhere about them, and the conclusion that must irresistibly follow is that the legitimate life of the country is not threatened, but instead will come out of the present turmoil the stronger from having passed through it. In conclusion, permit me to say that I indulge neither in extravagance or undue flattery when I say the course followed by the banks of this great city throughout the past stress has been such as to commend them to the good wishes of every citizen of the republic."

Mr. Eckels' remarks were received with applause.

Charles M. Preston, superintendent of New York state banks, was the next speaker. He confined his remarks entirely to state banking, and depreciated the idea of removing the 10 per cent tax on state banks unless some uniform system on regulating the currency be adopted by every state in the union.

Each of the other gentlemen present spoke briefly and informally.

Lake Identified as a Horse Thief.

BOSTON, July 19.—Daniel Clark, a stable keeper of Farmington, Me., came here yesterday to have a look at Fred W. Lake, who was arrested some time ago on a charge of being concerned in the attempt to defraud several Massachusetts banks, under the name of Newton & Stockbridge, produce dealers. Mr. Clark positively identified Lake as the man who hired a team from him several months ago and failed to return the outfit. At the time he gave his name as F. C. Luce, and said said that he was attending the Farmington normal school.

Assaulted an Officer.

BOSTON, July 19.—Morris McCarty, colored, and John Booth, the state prison convict who assaulted an officer, in an attempt to escape last March, were brought before Judge Fessenden yesterday and arraigned on indictments charging them with assaulting the officer and attempting to break jail. Each pleaded "not guilty." They were remanded to jail until the officer is able to testify.

Prices for northern and eastern beef cattle pr lb dressed weight: Choice, 5½@8c; first quality, 5@5½c; second quality, 4½@4¾c; poorest grades of coarse oxen, cows, bulls, stags, etc, 2½@3c.

Northern and eastern beef cattle—The demand was slow. Good cattle were exceedingly scarce. Prices were off on all grades from ¼@½c pr lb.

Milch cows and springers—Trade was slow. Farmers are so busy now haying that they stay at home rather than come to the market to sell cows. Then again the seashore and mountain trade is about all supplied and the demand for cows has fallen off.

Veal calves—Trade was active and a clearance was effected shortly after the stock had been yarded. Values showed no change from those quoted one week ago. The buyers present all wanted a few calves and so the stock was disposed of quickly.

Sheep and lambs—Among the arrivals were only a few spring lambs. A clearance was effected at prices showing no change from last week.

Western beef cattle—The arrivals were consigned to shippers and exporters.

Swine—Values are quoted at 7¾c pr lb dressed weight.

THIS IS Randolph's great day, and the old town is in luck.

THE CATHOLICS of this city may well be interested in Randolph today. The town was 40 years ago included in the Quincy parish, and has now a flourishing Catholic church.

MALDEN PEOPLE are to have five cent car fare to Boston. Quincy would not complain much at ten cents if it could make a continuous trip without change.

MANCHESTER, N. H., has this week disposed of at par $100,000 of 20 year improvement bonds at 4 per cent., and $100,000 of 20 year water bonds at 5 per cent. Manchester is in luck.

TO READ the reports in certain Boston dailies, one would think the selectmen of Milton could make the tax rate anything they see fit. First, it is the assessors who assess taxes, and second, the rate depends on the amount the voters decide to raise and the valuation. Milton property holders cannot complain on the valuation and even now the tax rate will be below the average, and the debt being paid, will be smaller again next year.

AT MANET BEACH.

Volunteer Fire Company Organized—Caught Out in the Shower.

A meeting of the volunteer fire company was held last night. H. W. French was elected chairman and presided until Mr. A. H. Taber was elected foreman. The other officers were elected as follow:

Assistant Foreman,—W. D. Littlefield.

Leading Hosemen,—C. W. Hall and Amos L. Merritt.

Steward,—W. D. Littlefield.

Engine Men,—W. D. Littlefield and J. E. Bean.

Barrel 1,—Bass and Cain.

Barrel 2,—Sanborn and Wyman.

Barrel 3,—Moebs and Hoey,

Barrel 4,—Hudson and Hawn.

Several new members signed with the company and a thoroughly organized company will soon protect the property at the beach.

The shower which passed over Manet Beach last night gave the people of the beach an exhibition which was beautiful and awful.

Several parties were caught out in the shower but were only a little frightened and completely wet through. They rowed for land as fast as possible.

A party of Worcester young ladies are spending a pleasant time at the Snowflake.

FINAL ARGUMENTS

In the Hearings in the Great Water Case.

THE QUALITY OF THE WATER

The Supreme Point With Lawyer Morse, the City's Counsel.

The final argument in the great water case were made Tuesday morning at the old Court house, Boston.

Mr. Morse made the argument for the city, which in substance was as follows:

In opening, he read the several acts passed by the Legislature and the law in regard to the purchase of this property by the City of Quincy.

He enlarged upon the clause which provided that the city should first purchase the property of the Water Co. The city was therefore in a position of doing nothing to supply its citizens with water and it was compelled to buy the property of the Water Co. It was a case where one party wanted to sell and the other party was obliged to buy. The city did not want to buy, but was compelled to do so as a proper step toward supplying itself with water, which allows us to criticise the Company. Should not discuss the expert testimony. Assumed the city should pay for its visible property and its franchise. They are entitled to fair compensation and in determining this the commission are to consider the elements, such as cost of construction, maintenance, income, etc.

Called attenton to the tenth section of chapter 162 of Acts of 1883, where the town is authorized to issue bonds to the amount of $250,000, which indicated a limited power and indicates that it was the amount the town should pay for the property. The quality of the water is as it is essential to have water safe for the people to drink, and it has been clearly proven unfit for domestic purposes. It is true it can be improved at a great cost. That it is unfit for use is evident as it is not used largely for drinking purposes. Referred to the analysis made by Prof. Sharples, every sample of which is pronounced poor, except that taken from the well, about which no question has been raised.

He referred also to reports of State Board of Health, testimony offered by Prof. Bennett, Dr. Ertz and others. He then referred to testimony of citizens who did not use the water and that the Water Company had produced no testimony to show that it was extensively used for drinking purposes. If they could have found a single person to show that it was good for domestic purposes they would have produced him.

He also referred to the fish testimony. These things must be taken into consideration, as no grown city would accept it as it now is. It is not very funny this dying of the fish if you have to drink the water. This must be refined and purified before it can be good.

The next subject was the supply and distribution system which looking to the immediate needs of the city was inadequate, as 50 per cent of the entire system is 4 inch pipe and under.

The pipe is of itself of a

Novelty Character,

Which is still an experiment whose life is not known. We have had the testimony of the best hydraulic engineers in the country, and not one of them has used it as yet, and the only reason it was used here was because Mr. McClellan had an interest in the pipe.

Referred to Gleason's testimony, who admitted he had patched the pipe but declined to tell where, because he said it was his capital in trade. This is very suspicious.

It has also been testified to that the stand-pipe and foundation were poor and that the conduit pipe from the reservoir to the pumping station was insufficient, and the system is a third rate system at the best.

The next point in Mr. Morse's argument was the cost of construction. This case is without a precedent as it is without trustworthy data. He charged that this company was conceived to make a big sale to the city of Quincy, to manufacture bogus contracts, false affidavits, and a peculiar system of bookkeeping. The contracts say the works cost $237,000 but it is certain that they did not cost that amount. He thought Dr. Faxon must have imagined some of the things that he testified to.

Out of 2,500 shares 1,355 were owned by Mr. McClellan. It is not unfair to say that Mrs. McClellan is the plaiutiff in this case. She appreciates the importance of her books. We have tried to get these books but were unable to do so. Mr. Stickney kept two accounts, one true and one fictitious. It was the true account that we wanted to see and it would have been no injustice to Mr. Stickney to have produced these books as we have a right to know what the exact amount paid on that contract was.

The Best Evidence

On the cost we have had is by Mr. Howland, the consulting engineer, who says the cost was $183,377.12. The cost of building the reservoir is in the dark, as all the papers had been destroyed, and what is

The report that T. A. Whicher & Co. had failed probably originated from the fact that their shop in Quincy was closed Saturday and Monday. It was open Tuesday, and will be run but four days a week for the present.

Misses Matilda McDonnell, Sara and Helen Gavin will give a lawn party on the grounds of Mr. J. A. McDonnell, 16 Adams place on Thursday, July 20, from 2 to 8 o'clock for the benefit of the City Hospital. Ice cream, cake and fancy articles will be for sale.

Considerable anxiety is felt for the whereabouts of William J. Davenport. Monday morning he started for North Scituate to sell essences for E. Packard & Co., intending to return that night, but he did not and nothing has been heard from him since. It has been learned that he purchased a ticket for that place and took the train and here all trace has been lost.

CHARLES BRECK DEAD.

The Good Old Man, Mason, Historian and ex-Town Official Passes Away.

The death of the veteran, Charles Breck of Milton, on Tuesday, came suddenly to his many friends who hoped and expected he would become a centenarian. He was in his usual health up to a week ago Saturday, when be began suddenly to fail and took to his bed. He retained his intellectual powers, however, up to the day before. He was in his 96th year and was a remarkably smart man up to the last, holding town office until 90 years of age and retaining all his faculties, being an authority on matters of local history, particularly of Quincy, and for many years of his life kept a valuable weather record.

Mr. Breck was one of the earliest subscribers of the Quincy PATRIOT and always paid his subscriptions promptly often in advance. On June 8 last he visited the office unattended and took a receipted bill to date. We then commented on his smartness.

Rural lodge of Masons of Quincy will attend his funeral in a body on Friday, from the First Congregational church in Milton. Union and Macedonian lodges of Masons, Neponset lodge of Odd Fellows, and the fraternities at large will be largely represented, and it will bean imposing ceremony.

The Transcript had the following interesting sketch of his life:

Mr. Breck was born in Medfield Jan. 11, 1798. The foundation of a self-education was laid in the best common-school teaching the early part of this century could give; three years a farmer, nineteen years a wool-puller, four years a tanner, and for the rest of his long life farmer, surveyor and insurance agent. Through most of it, from 1837, when, even then approaching middle life, he was elected one of the Board of Selectmen, and until past his ninetieth birthday he had held important town offices. For thirty-four years he was its treasurer, and for sixteen years clerk, collector and treasurer for the First Congregational church of Milton. For more than forty years he has been one of the directors of the Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Company. In 1841-42 he represented the town of Milton in the Legislature.

Few people know that there are in the State two unique organizations (one each in Milton and Dedham, and the only two in existence) known as the "Society for Apprehending Horse Thieves." The Milton Society, founded in 1819, has, it is said recovered every horse stolen in the town, without additional expense to the owner. Of this society Mr. Breck has many years been clerk.

Almost every Saturday the venerable gentleman has taken the train for Boston, as he has done since the road was built, and as he took the semi-daily stage for many years before. Every faculty seemed to be perfect, including memory and powers of most interesting conversation, both reminiscent and of current topics.

But it is by reason of his connection with the Masonic fraternity that Mr. Breck has been best known. He has been a Mason since 1825, was in and of the tremendous convulsion that a year later swept over the country at the time of the Morgan (alleged or otherwise) exposure. The "anti-Masonic" spirit was very powerful and lodge after lodge went down. Among the lodges which barely saved their charters was Union Lodge of Dorchester, and the fact that the charter was saved is due largely to the efforts of Mr. Charles Breck.

He was made a Mason in Rural Lodge of Quincy; withdrew and went to Union Lodge, returning later to his mother lodge, but being retained in Union Lodge as an honorary member. He was past master of both lodges. On Jan. 12, 1892, both lodges united to do him honor upon his birthday. Mr. William T. Adams ("Oliver Optic"), who is also a past master of Union Lodge, wrote a beautiful "Auld Lang Syne," which was sung by the brothers assembled.

At the constitution of Macedonian Lodge in Milton on Wednesday evening, June 28, of this year, Mr. Adams ("Oliver Optic") said, in his remarks, that a convention of old men of all nations was soon to be held in France, and no man under ninety-five years of age was to be permitted to attend. Mr. Adams also said that he wanted much to take Mr. Breck to that convention, as he hoped to be there in that country before the middle of July. He claimed that he could present a man in the person of Mr. Breck who would rival all nations, inasmuch as he was a good man, possessing not only all the riches in the fulness of a perfect life of almost ninety-six years, but in the fact that he had been a good, true and perfect Mason of over sixty-seven years' experience, an experience unequalled by any other man in the country, and perhaps in the world.

Mr. Breck was the one survivor of the "Three Macedonians," so well known to Masonic history in the United States, who rendered such wonderful and telling aid to Union Lodge of Dorchester, Mass., and Masonry of the world during that great struggle of fifty years ago for Masonic liberty and freedom.

On May 2, 1827, Mr. Breck married Mary A. Blanchard of Quincy. Two children, Mary E., and Charles E. C., the latter the eminent civil engineer, were the result of the union.

The story that the U. S. S. Mohican had been disabled by a sealer in Bering sea is discredited.

Distances.

HORRIBLY MUTILATED.

T. F. Haley Probably Run Over Twice on the Granite Branch.

The gateman at the Furnace avenue crossing of the Granite branch of the N. Y., N. H. & H. railroad discovered early this morning the horribly mutilated remains of a man scattered over a distance of 50 feet. Near him was found his watch which had stopped 10.05, which leads the authorities to believe that he was struck by the 10.06 inward train and again by the 11.32 outward train. When struck he was evidently walking upon the tracks as his foot was caught in a frog. The man is Thomas F. Haley of East Milton, aged 21 years.

ONE HOUSE STRUCK.

Lightning Entered Residence of the Misses Hersey.

DOING CONSIDEBABLE DAMAGE.

Inmates Much Frightened but No One Was Injured.

Just as many were congratulating themselves last evening that they were going to escape a severe thunder shower, there came a sharp crash at 7.10 which caused considerable fright in the vicinity of Faxon hall and the rain began to come down in torrents. Other flashes were sharp but with one exception the peals of thunder were not loud.

The first bolt struck the residence of the Misses Hersey at 25 Canal street, probably at the front corner on the west side at the eaves. On the inside it ripped of many laths, splintered the timbers and threw plastering all over the room. On the outside it ripped off clapboards, smashed the blinds and caused other damage. Some of the clapboards were scorched, but otherwise there were no signs of fire.

The chamber was unoccupied, but previous to Sunday had been by Miss Louise Hersey, an invalid. She was in a bed in the next chamber, the headboard being against the dividing wall. She was quite calm through the ordeal, although under the impression it had struck the house, but the inmates did not know such was the fact until informed from the outside.

The damage to the house may amount to $100 and is covered by insurance.

The report that a house in "the hollow" was struck cannot be verified. The rain caused many washouts, particularly at Wollaston.

At Brockton the barn of G. H. Ackerman on Winter street was struck and destroyed by fire. The house of F. Goodrich on Albion street was set on fire and slightly damaged.

The street lighting wire in Dorchester parted at the corner of Dorchester avenue and Shamrock street and the district was in darkness nearly an hour. There was a grand electrical display at the break.

PRIZE WINNERS.

At the Annual Picnic of the Wollaston Unitarian Society.

The Wollaston Unitarians had a royal good time at their annual picnic Tuesday at Rufe's Hummock, the summer home of Mr. Frank P. Waterhouse and Mr. F. A. Page. The intense heat proved an additional incentive for the members of the society to attend. Early in the afternoon a clam chowder and lunch was served. The young people enjoyed themselves with boating and bathing.

The prize winners were:

Tub race,—Percy Hull, silver medal.
Boys' Swimming Match,—Eddie Prince.
Girls' Swimming Match, — Ernestine Litchfield.
Girls High Jump,—Catherine Sibley.
Boys High Jump,—Clifton Baker.
Shot Throwing,—Cora Wellington.
Boys' Shooting Match,—Walter Ela.
Women's Shooting Match,—Mrs. F. P. Waterhouse.

ALL BUT TWO DOING WELL.

Mr. Hayden and Mrs. Porter the Most Seriously Injured in Barge Accident.

Mr. Samuel P. Hayden who was so seriously injured yesterday was attended by Drs. Gilbert and Hunting. Mr. Hayden is suffering from a bad fracture of the left shoulder and severe bruises. Considering the seriousness of his injuries he passed a comfortable night.

Mrs. Henry Porter, another of the party was injured internally and is still a great sufferer.

The remainder of the overturned barge load are doing well.

The Result of Hard Times.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 19.—A special meeting has been called to authorize the Bradford selectmen to use the town's collateral to float a temporary loan, the officials being unable to float the bonds authorized to meet the large paving contract, the work of which is in progress. The town has paid as high as 8 3-4 per cent interest recently on borrowed money.

A Brutal Pugilist.

BOSTON, July 19.—Pugilist Ike O'Neil Weir was found guilty of an assault upon James C. McCabe, class '88, Holy Cross college, and a Harvard medical student, and sentenced to four months' imprisonment at the house of correction yesterday. The defendant took an appeal to the superior court and was held in $500 bail.

BOSTON BEATEN AGAIN.

New York Bats Stivetts in Great Style and Win With Ease.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The New Yorks batted Stivetts for 18 hits and 10 earned runs yesterday, and beat the Bostons again in a canter, Rusie kept the hits well scattered and received magnificent support, besides there being no less than five double plays made by New York's infield. Ward's all-round work was a feature, and Burke's home run drive in the sixth with the bases filled was a corker. Two games will be played by these teams today.

The Victoria Court Martial.

VALETTA, July 19.—Captain Bourke said that he became aware of the danger of a collision almost directly the Victoria began to turn. He did not think that Staff Commander Hawkins-Smith had ever been consulted by Vice Admiral Tryon in regard to the maneuvers; indeed, nobody had been consulted. Lord Gillford, flag lieutenant of the Mediterranean squadron, testified that after the collision Vice Admiral Tryon said to him: "It was all my fault." Staff Commander Hawkins-Smith also gave evidence showing that Vice Admiral Tryon took upon himself the responsibility for the disaster. Immediately after the Camperdown rammed the Victoria the vice admiral said to him: "It was entirely my doing. It was entirely my fault."

Homestead's Poisoning Cases.

PITTSBURG, July 19.—The depositions of confessors Gallagher and Davidson, exonerating Dempsey and Beatty from all connection with the alleged Homestead poisoning, were not taken yesterday. District Attorney Burleigh will request Warden Wright to permit Gallagher's deposition to be taken. This will be backed up by a written request from Judge McClung, and it is probable it will be granted.

Sunday School Train Accident.

BUFFALO, July 19.—About 8 o'clock last night an excursion train, having on board the members of the Bethany Sunday school of this city, ran into an open switch on the Western New York and Pennsylvania railroad, near East Aurora. Twenty-two persons were injured.

Odd Fellows' Corner Stone Laid.

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—The corner-stone of Odd Fellows' Temple, which will cost $1,000,000, was laid yesterday with impressive ceremonies. The oration was delivered by Sir Colin T. Campbell. The exercises were witnessed by 10,000 persons.

FINAL ARGUMENT.

peculiar, Mr. Taylor did the work and the company paid him under fictitious contract made with Mr. McClellan. These things were done to give a large figure to the plant, and account after account in these books are fictitious. One of the ludicrous things was that Taylor, who was hired to do the work and was paid for it was put on the stand and I asked to give his opinion as to the cost of the work. He submitted certified copies of the returns made by the Water Company to the Commissioner of Corporations.

Mr. Morse then read from the testimony offered by Dr. Faxon with relation to returns to the Commissioners. We have offered testimony as to the cost of the plant, except land and personal property, which did not differ much, and it is not unfair to say that the cost was not over $300,000. The value of the real estate is agreed to be $7,250. We may sum it up that the plant, making due allowance for depreciation, is $300,000. Adding the personal property and real estate given as $314,750. This is for a first class plant which he did not consider it. In considering the one of the things is what did it cost. It cost absolutely nothing. The future value of this plant in the future is not the proper way, and the whole basis of calculation is imaginary, as possible demands in the future are not proper calculations.

The question is what is the property worth in 1892. Mr. Golding in his opening argument has said that he would prove the property was worth $1,200,000, and then his first expert witness testified he should not put that value until 1910, and he made the present value $890,000.

Mr. Tidd makes the value including the future value $560,000, and where there is such a variance there could not have been a proper system of figuring. The estimate of the income according to the books for the last year was $21,100. This represents the income at 7 per cent on $300,000. We have shown that these figures were not correct as we have shown by Mr. Howland it was $14,100. At Mr. Golding's figures of $1,200,000, the property was not earning 1 per cent. This represents a true capitalization not far from $300,000.

Notwithstanding these things we think it is fairly right to adopt a basis which allows something over the figures mentioned and from $300,000 to $350,000 is a fair price for the property.

This concluded the argument of Mr. Morse, who consumed two hours and 10 minutes.

Ex-Governor Robinson then made the final argument for the Quincy Water Company, consuming 2 hours and 40 minutes. An extended synopsis of his address will appear in the DAILY LEDGER tomorrow.

Papers for Hospital.

Ex-Councilman Morton while visiting a friend at the Quincy Hospital recently observed that there was a great scarcity of newspapers. Recognizing the need, he has made some neat boxes for papers, locating one in the Quincy post office. Mr. J. F. Merrill has promised to make the collection, and if he will also call at the LEDGER office regularly we will be pleased to contribute many of our exchanges.

Does Advertising Pay?

We know of a case when it did not. A man advertised for a wife and he got her. Thus his troubles commenced. He couldn't live without furniture, but he found the prices so wonderfully low at the store of Henry L. Kincaide & Co.'s that it made him a happy man. Yes, he found everything there, and the prices, ——cut almost in two.

FOUR FOUND GUILTY

Coroner's Jury Bring in a Charge of Criminal Negligence.

HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY

What the Defendants Have to Say on the Matter.

CHICAGO, July 19.—After its prolonged investigation, the coroner's jury investigating the World's fair cold storage catastrophe reached a verdict last evening.

The jury held these persons for the grand jury: D. H. Burnham, director of works at the World's fair; Fire Marshal Edward Murphy of the World's fair fire department; J. B. Skinner, president of the Hercules Iron company, and Charles A. McDonald, secretary and treasurer of the Hercules Iron company.

The hearing of the evidence was concluded at 3:20 p. m., when Coroner McHale gave the cases to the grand jury.

The jury reached its conclusion much more quickly than the time they were out would indicate, as there were 16 deaths, the causes of which they were called to consider, and each represented a separate case. The verdict was the same in all the cases and read as follows:

We, the jury, find that the deceased came to their death from injuries and burns received at a fire of the cold storage building at the World's fair grounds on July 10, 1893; and we, the jury, find from the evidence presented that Charles A. MacDonald, John B. Skinner, D. H. Burnham and Edward Murphy be held to the grand jury for criminal negligence, and there held until discharged by the course of law.

Fire Marshal Murphy was apparently much affected by the result of the investigation. "I did not expect it," he said, "I think it unjust and uncalled for. I was neither negligent, nor was I guilty of misconduct at the fire."

President John P. Skinner of the Hercules iron works, said the verdict was ambiguous. "The fire department and ourselves cannot both be guilty in this case. It must be one or the other. Our conclusions were never the same after the alarm was turned in."

There was no order of arrest made following the verdict.

All four were allowed to remain at liberty on personal recognizance. They will be asked to furnish bonds today, however.

A GENEROUS DONATION

In Behalf of the Brave Men Who Perished In the Flames.

CHICAGO, July 19.—W. H. Mullins of Salem, O., owner of the Columbus statue which stood before the cold storage building at the World's fair grounds, has donated it to the city to be placed as a monument over the graves of the unknown dead who were buried at Oakwoods.

There is no longer doubt that the West Point cadets will visit the fair officially. Captain Spurgin, treasurer of the academy, has completed arrangements for camping and messing of the West Pointers while here. The will arrive, about 300 strong, Aug. 17, and go into camp east of the government building. Accompanying the cadets will be the academy band and the various officers of the institution.

Denver's Banks In Trouble.

DENVER, July 19.—The Union National bank failed to open its doors yesterday. The capital is $1,000,000. A run is now being made on the City National, German National, First National and Colonial and even the clearing house banks. There is a panic in financial circles. The National Bank of Commerce has also closed its doors. Ex-Governor Job A. Cooper is president of this bank. The Commercial National bank closed its doors early yesterday.

A Hard Citizen Killed.

OWENSBORO, Ky., July 19.—A report reached this city that Joe De Peyster, a gambler and hard citizen, was killed in Ohio county by a miner whose name could not be learned. The two men had a quarrel over a game of cards. De Peyster shot the miner fatally, and the miner cut De Peyster's throat from ear to ear. Both died in a few minutes.

An Italian Tornado.

ROME, July 19.—A tornado swept down yesterday on Voghera and Casteggio. Hundred of buildings were wrecked. In one section of Voghera hardly a house was left standing. Not a structure in either town was left intact. Hundreds of persons were killed and injured. Voghera is a manufacturing city, with some 10,000 inhabitants.

Dropped Dead In an Elevator.

CANTON, O., July 19.—George Colley, janitor of The Repository office, dropped dead while riding up the elevator. He was formerly a prominent business man at Sheffield, Eng., but failed, and as ashamed to face poverty came to this country. He leaves a wife and three children in destitute circumstances.

The President's Trip.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 19.—Other than the arrival of the Oneida in Newport harbor nothing has been heard from the president and his party since they left here. It is not known when the president will return, but his absence is not expected to be long.

Mr. Drexel's Funeral.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The body of Anthony J. Drexel arrived here yesterday on the North German Lloyd steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II. The funeral took place at 10 o'clock today from Mr. Drexel's late residence at Philadelphia.

Serious Charge Against a Club Man.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Lloyd Aspinwall, the well-known club man, who is being sued for separation by his wife, is confined in Yorkville prison for further examination in default of $5000 bail on a charge of forgery.

Suicide of a School Principal.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Miss Emma Garrett of Philadelphia, principal of a deaf mute school at Monument and Ford avenue, in that city, committed suicide last night by jumping from the fifth story of the Briggs House.

RUSSELL SAGE SUED

For $100,000 Damages For Betrayal Under Promise of Marriage.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The fact that Russell Sage is defendant in a suit to recover $100,000 for betrayal under promise of marriage was revealed by proceedings in Judge Bookstaver's part of the court of common pleas.

The plaintiff in the case is Miss Delia Keegan, 435 West Thirty-ninth street. In her complaint, which was served April 29 last, she states that she came to this country from Ireland in 1868. Her sister was then employed as cook in Russell Sage's home, and Miss Delia went there to stop temporarily with her while she was looking for a situation. She alleges that Mr. Sage betrayed her under promise of marriage, and that he even was cognizant of a criminal operation that was afterwards performed.

Russell Sage said yesterday at his office that he would leave all explanations to his lawyer.

GLOOMY OUTLOOK.

The Settlement of the Ironworkers' Scale Not Yet Decided On.

PITTSBURG, July 19.—The failure of the amalgamated association and manufacturers' conference to reach a settlement of the wage scale and the ending of all conferences has rendered the situation more than critical. As a result of the disagreement union mills, or at least these that paid union rates in the past, will continue closed or resume operations on a non-union basis. It is stated that it is not probable that any of the manufacturers will attempt to start their works for at least four or probably six weeks. In the meantime thousands of iron workers will be forced to seek employment elsewhere or remain idle. The amalgamated association will have its modified scale presented to individual firms for signature.

There were three more signatures to the iron wage scale received at the general offices of the Amalgamated association yesterday. The firms signing were Tyler Tube Works company, Washington, Pa. a large concern; the Sharon Rolling mill company, Sharon, Pa., and the Muncie Rolling Mill company of Muncie, Ind. This is a total of 26 firms that have signed the scale up to date.

DOUBT THE STORY.

Sealers Say the Report Concerning the Mohican Is Improbable.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—The news of the disabling of the warship Mohican by a sealer in the Behring sea is questioned by the sealing men here. Donald Ross, of Ross & Hewett, the firm that fitted out the Alexandria, said that if the Mohican was fired into it was by some other vessel than the Alexandria. On June 1 the Alexandria was in Hokodate, Japan, while the battle with the Mohican is said to have occurred on May 25, and the Alexandria sailed from here in April and had no cannon on board. From here she went to Honolulu and thence to Japan, it is said, where she has been ever since. Ross says it is probable that the Mohican mistook the Russian gunboat for a poacher and when she fired across her bows she got a shot in return.

HAD A NARROW ESCAPE.

Arrival in London of Two Professors of the American College at Marsovan.

LONDON, July 19.—Professors Thoumaine and Kayayan, the latter accompanied by his wife, arrived here yesterday from Constantinople. They were employed as teachers in the American college at Marsovan, and were accused of having been implicated in sedition some months ago at Cezarea and Marsovan, and, together with a number of other Armenians, were arrested. The trial resulted in the conviction of the two professors and they were condemned to be executed. Strong influence was brought to bear upon the Sultan of Turkey, notably by Great Britain and the United States, with the result that the sentences were commuted.

Railroad Financial Rumor Denied.

CHICAGO, July 19.—A special from Omaha says: "There were rumors in Omaha that the Union Pacific would go into the hands of a receiver. General Manager Dickinson said: 'A local paper alleged that Mr. Clark had sent me a telegram stating that if expenses were not cut down the road will have to go to a receiver. This is not so; we are in no worse shape than other western roads, and if the Union Pacific should go into the hands of a receiver, which I do not for a moment anticipate, it will have several associates in the same business.'"

Corbett's Show to Be Stopped.

CHICAGO, July 19.—President Higinbotham has issued an order to close James J. Corbett's athletic exhibition on the Midway plaisance. The order was served on the people who are running the show, but so far they have ignored it. Mr. Burnham says steps will be taken to stop the performance as soon as President Higinbotham returns.

The Old, Sad Story.

One afternoon last week there was a private funeral service in a fine mansion situated on an uptown street in Portland, Me. The funeral procession consisted of a single landau and a hearse. Passers-by looked at the pathetic little cortege as it came out of the graveled driveway from the rear door of the stately dwelling and lightly remarked, "One of the help is dead."

None of the papers in their mortuary column furnished a clew to the identity of the dead. Only the heartbroken father, the mother and sisters knew the old, sad story which for ages bards have sung. It was indeed an awful lesson. Decades ago the trite saying was penned, "There are sermons in stones, and good in everything," and that truism is as potent today as it was then.

None knew and few guessed that the poor, frail frame that was on its last long journey was once the body of a young woman who, seven years ago, had fashionable Portland at her feet, was courted and petted by all and was allowed every pleasure that mind could invent or money procure except freedom.

She longed for New York. The nightingale was caged, and she longed for freedom. She burst the tiny, woven golden chains of love and became as the moth to the candle.

Three years on Fifth avenue, then to Broadway, then in the human maelstrom toward the Battery, then that haven of rest—home.

Last of all, Calvary.—Exchange.

How a Snake Fight Ended.

A remarkable occurrence took place lately in the zoological gardens at Breslau. In the cage of the large snakes a South American boa constrictor contended for a rabbit with a large python from west Africa. It did not succeed, however, the python being the stronger of the two, and it withdrew. About two hours later the keeper found the same snakes fighting for another rabbit.

As the keeper supposed that the boa, which was the weaker of the two, would again give up its prey, he left them to themselves and went home. The next morning he was horror stricken to find that the unfortunate boa had not let go its hold and had been swallowed by the python as a pendant to the rabbit. The boa was nearly 7 feet long and correspondingly thick. The python had already swallowed one rabbit before the one which proved fatal to the boa. Its circumference throughout its length was from 23 to 28 inches, and its skin was expanded to double its usual size. The supposition that the snake might perhaps not be able to digest the boa proved false. Digestion proceeded only somewhat more slowly than usual.—Pall Mall Budget.

A Graceful Act of a Noble Man.

An interesting incident in San Francisco the other day was the gift of $20 by William T. Coleman, the head of the famous vigilance committee, toward making comfortable the last days of Ned McGowan. The latter was the leader of the lawless element of 1856 whose conduct brought about the murder of James King of William, brother of the Buffalo police justice, and the execution of the murderer Casey by the vigilantes.

McGowan was himself condemned to death by the committee, but escaped, first to southern California and then to Europe. He afterward returned, stood trial for his offenses and upon securing an acquittal assailed Coleman savagely in a newspaper which he started and in a history of his own career. About three years ago he went once more to California to sue the historian, H. H. Bancroft, for libel in his history of the state, but came to grief, and is dying of destitution at the age of 86. He was once a political boss, the head of a great gambling establishment and worth half a million.—Buffalo Courier.

Works Both Ways.

The district court has rendered a decision in regard to the Jim Crow car law requiring the railroads to provide separate cars for whites and negroes that will seriously interfere with justice.

The decision declares that the law makes no exception of deputy sheriffs or officers accompanying prisoners, and that a white officer having a colored prisoner in charge cannot accompany him in the same car. The case arose over the sheriff of Lafayette parish who was taking a negro to an asylum for the insane, and who was forced from the car. By the decision no negro prisoner or lunatic can be conveyed by car to jail, prison or asylum by a white officer. The law will in this respect work a great inconvenience.—New Orleans Cor. Philadelphia Press.

Edwin Booth's Successor.

Now that Mr. Booth has passed into history, the American stage is cleared of its conspicuous men. It can hardly be said of any living American actor that he is the leader of his profession in this country. Among the younger actors Mr. Mansfield has won a strong place, but it would be straining language to call him the successor of the great player whose name is on all lips today. The simple fact is that the heir to Booth's place on the stage has not yet made himself known to the public.—New York Herald.

An Honest Judge Tells a Story.

An Aroostook judge who looked thoroughly honest and ingenuous has been telling this story to some of the Portland lawyers, and they believe him. The judge says that one farmer in his county raised last season 800 bushels of oats upon 10 acres of land. He sold the oats at his door for 50 cents a bushel and tucked nearly $400 in the bank. He valued the land at $150.—Lewiston Journal.

A Strange Cargo.

The Hilda has just arrived in the Mersey from Montserrat, West Indies, after a protracted voyage. Her cargo consists almost entirely of lime juice, of which she brings no less than 50,000 gallons, being the first arrival of the new season's juice.—London Tit-Bits.

A TIMELY WARNING.

World's Fair Agricultural Building Said to Be Unsafe.

MR. BURNHAM IS GRIEVED.

Thinks the Coroner's Jury Has Unjustly Blamed Him.

CHICAGO, July 20.—When the national commission assembled yesterday Commissioner Turnbull of Florida arose to a question of privilege. He said he had just come from the agricultural building, and that structure was in momentary danger of being destroyed by fire.

He had seen a smokestack which passed up through the roof and which came in contact with the woodwork. The woodwork, he said, was so hot he could scarcely hold his hand on it. He called the attention of the Columbian Guard to the danger and the guard said he had already called the attention of the authorities to the faulty and dangerous construction. The clerk was instructed to notify the director general at once.

A communication from the Underwriters' association of Chicago to the committee on grounds and buildings was read. It said that the numerous defects in buildings that endangered them to fire had been reported to the association by Fire Marshal Murphy. If the exposition authorities would at once correct these defects in would greatly reduce the danger to loss of life and property.

A committee was appointed to wait upon Director General Davis and notify him of the imp nding danger of fire in the agricultural building. The committee reported that the director general had sent an official to remove the cause of danger.

Bonds Furnished.

President Skinner and Manager McDonald of the Cold Storage Warehouse company, who were held for the grand jury, gave bond in the sum of $5000 to appear when called upon. Director of Works Burnham and Fire Marshal Murphy also gave bonds.

Director of Works D. H. Burnham feels deeply the blame imposed upon him by the coroner's jury in its recommendation that he be held to answer to the grand jury for his responsibility for the World's fair fire. He says: "No one ever called my attention to the imperfection of the smoke flue until after the destructive fire, and after the fire occurred I had all my correspondence up in my office thoroughly examined, but no communication upon the subject could be found. I did not know that there was a dangerous condition of the smoke flue in the cold storage warehouse until informed on the night after the fire had occurred."

Obligation Disregarded.

It has been unofficially decided by the local directory not to return to the national government the $1,929,120 derived from the sale of souvenir coins. No vote has been taken on the question but a majority of the directors are not in favor of returning the money and consider their action of last Friday in voting to rescind the rule providing for opening the gates on Sunday and for the return of the souvenir coin appropriation as all that is necessary in the matter.

A Wicked Priest.

DULUTH, July 20.—The grand jury returned four indictments against Father Connelly, the Catholic priest who is charged with assaulting Lena Sutherland, an 18-year-old girl. The defense does not deny criminal intimacy, but sets up that it was with the girl's consent.

Should Be Shut Up For Good.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., July 20.—William Kane, a notorious ruffian and jailbird, is held to await the action of the grand jury, on the charge of assaulting a little girl. The child was seriously injured. Kane has been in prison several times for similar offenses.

Hunting a Rape Fiend.

MEMPHIS, July 20.—Several posses are in pursuit of a negro who attempted to outrage the Misses McCadden near this city. The assailant passed through Riple and meeting a negro girl outraged her, and the negroes have joined the white posse.

The Yuengling Brewery's Troubles.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The Farmers' Loan and Trust company has brought suit against the D. C. Yuengling, Jr. Brewing company to foreclose a mortgage of $1,500,000 given on the brewery property.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Dot Sunwell, the snake charmer, has almost recovered from the effects of the rattlesnake bite she received last Sunday.

TWO CONFESSIONS

Upon Which Hugh Dempsey Bases His Hopes For Freedom.

PITTSBURG, July 20.—At the western penitentiary District Attorney Burleigh, Attorneys Porter and Brennen, Notary Public Lee and Stenographer Beals met to take Gallagher's and Davidson's depositions, serving time in the Homestead poisoning cases. Gallagher was before the commission two hours. Davidson's examination occupied about 20 minutes.

Gallagher's confession in regard to Hugh Dempsey and the Homestead poisoning case is much more sweeping in its details than had been imagined by the general public. He sticks to the story that the $25 Dempsey gave him was a loan to protect his furniture. Davidson made a statement similar to the Gallagher story, except that he was not in the plot as long as the men who convicted Dempsey. They both seemed willing to make their confessions under oath and stand by it, even if it means a lengthening of their terms of imprisonment. Dempsey's attorneys have matters in such shape that they will corroborate the confessions by other witnesses.

An Old Man's Great Ride.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., July 20.—James Mullens, aged 75, while in his pasture saw a ferocious bull belonging to a neighbor coming towards him. Escape by running was impossible, so he sprang on the animal's back and held on firmly. The bull made frantic efforts to throw the old gentleman, but he held fast until the owner shot the animal.

Whisky and Bi-Chloride.

CHICAGO, July 20.—President Greenhut of the whisky trust registered at the Grand Pacific hotel yesterday and was assigned to room 11 and left later in the day. Shortly after his departure Leslie E. Keeley arrived and was assigned to the same room. It was only after both had left the hotel that the coincidence was noted.

Bride Was Once His Pupil.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 20.—Judge Elisha B. Maynard of the superior court was married last night to Miss Luella E. Fay, who has been supervisor in drawing in public schools. The acquaintance with Miss Fay dates back to the time when as a little girl she attended a school taught by Mr. Maynard.

Suspicion of Murder.

MIDDLETON, N. Y., July 20.—The wife of William Laforge of Crawford was found dead with several stab wounds in the chest. Laforge is 50 years old and his wife is 23. Laforge said that his wife, in a moment of anger, stabbed herself. Laforge's story is not believed and he has been arrested.

Waterville's Great Gushers.

TOLEDO, July 20.—Great excitement exists in the hamlet of Waterville over a phenomenal oil find. The territory was abandoned as worthless 30 years ago. Two wells are flowing 600 barrels a day, and several others are running 200 and 400. The little town of 500 today looks like a city.

Anxious Pensioners.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Inquiry at the pension office elicits the information that the total number of pensioners dropped from the rolls since March 4, 1893, was 245, and that the total number of pensioners suspended since March 4, pending a further investigation of their cases, was 5000.

Farmers Becoming Desperate.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., July 20.—The dam being built by the Canadians in the St. Lawrence river is causing the overflow of thousands of acres of crops on the American side of the river. The farmers say they will resort to force unless the government comes to their assistance.

Ambitious Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Negotiations are in progress for the formation of a new musical organization to be known as the Chicago Opera company. The company will include no one except Chicago artists. The idea is that such an organization would advertise the artistic side of Chicago.

Friends Once More.

TORONTO, July 20.—The difficulty between Ned Hanlan and his nephew, Eddie Durham, which had its beginning nearly a year ago, has been settled, and they will hereafter row double. They will begin practice after the Hanlan-Gaudaur race for the championship of America.

A Southern Episode.

COBURN, Va., July 20.—A. M. Rogers, a drummer, representing boot and shoe merchants of Chicago, was beaten unmercifully by a mob for an alleged assault upon an 11-year-old girl. His condition is critical. Rogers protested his innocence.

Struck by Lightning.

SPRINGFIELD, Vt., July 20.—During a heavy rain with hail, lightning struck Charles Johnson's house, passing down the chimney and running along the kitchen floor. Cora Staples was struck senseless and badly burned.

Bank Directors In Court.

MILWAUKEE, July 20.—Four of the six Plankinton bank directors, who were indicted by the grand jury last week, appeared in the municipal court yesterday. One exception was Judge Jenking. All pleaded not guilty.

The Law Defied.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 20.—The steamer Angels of Port Townsend just before daybreak landed a large cargo of contraband Chinese from Victoria on the city front. The customs officers have caught neither the steamer nor the Chinese.

Liabilities Piling Up.

SHARON, Pa., July 20.—Writs of attachment have been served on the Douglass Furnace company of Sharpsville, foreclosing a judgment of $105,000 in favor of Corrigan, Ives & Co. of Cleveland. This aggregates $330,500.

Corbett Must Move.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Judge Connell refused to grant an injunction restraining the exposition authorities from removing Corbett from Midway Plaisance. That settles the matter and Corbett will have to go.

WITHOUT HER MINES

Colorado Still Has Resources Without End.

MR. WAITE'S FIERY TALK

Cooled Off by Statements of Henry Wolcott.

NEW YORK, July 20.—There are sane men yet left—and probably in large majority—in Colorado who are less anxious to swim in blood with Governor Waite or to form a seceding commonwealth among the Rocky mountains than to maintain the present credit and fair prospects of the state and the reputed intelligence and resource of its people. A few of them have already written to their banking correspondents in New York, setting the frothings of Waite at the recent convention at their true worth. A few more in this city for the moment, have confirmed in conversation the statements of these letters.

Henry Wolcott, a brother of the senator from Colorado and a kinsman of Lieutenant Governor Wolcott of Boston, has spoken at length of the resources of the state, the real temper of conservative men there and the safety of the investments in which so much eastern capital is interested. He speaks with understanding, and, at this time of ominous news from Denver, with much pertinence.

"Like the people of every other state," says Mr. Wolcott, "we wish to develop and put to the best use all our resources, which really seem to be without end. Silver is one of these, and it has in the growth of our state. It is natural that we should desire to receive the highest price we can command for our silver product; but we cannot expect, and of course it cannot be, that silver should be maintained at a higher standard of value than is consistent with a sound financial system, and by this I mean one that will command the confidence of the entire people. We hope that the united wisdom of the country will adjust the matter so that we may continue to run our mines with profits.

"But if every silver mine in Colorado should be closed, I undertake to say that there are other resources in our state that would occupy every citizen within her borders and a million besides. Even thus she of any other western state. We have a large area of agricultural land, which each year shows increased acreage under cultivation, besides large wool-growing interests, extensive oil lands, unlimited deposits of coal and iron, great stone quarries, the yield of which is used even in the east, large deposits of fire-clay, and productive gold, lead and copper mines.

"We have more coal than Pennsylvania, make as good coke and have a market for it. Eventually we shall make substantially all the steel rails and iron used west of the Missouri river. Our coal business must grow from year to year, as most of the western half of the country, a region that can and will support a denser population than the eastern half, for its coal supply. We have anthracite coal besides and ship it to all the country from Omaha to San Francisco.

Will Depend on Colorado

"We want to run our silver mines; but if we cannot we still have something of which to make a growing and prosperous state. Best of all—and this should give our eastern friends more confidence—Colorado is attracting the best of people. Most of our leading business men—men of ability and enterprise—came from the east. Our people are honest and trustworthy. They know that whatever is best in the end for their eastern brethren is best also for them. They much resemble their friends in New York and in New England. They are Moved by the Same Motives.

As for Waite, he was carried away by the thought of 'blood to the bridles.' Besides, he only shows what political chance will do for the country now and then.

"In these times of heavy liquidation and of great contraction in investments and of general depression, resulting, in Colorado as elsewhere, quite as much from sentiment as from the actual condition of affairs, it is not strange that such agitation, led by reckless and irresponsible men, as has taken place there, should injure investment securities for the moment. Yet, rest assured, every legitimate enterprise in Colorado will make handsome returns.

"Even if every silver mine and smelter there should close, other enterprises in the state whose stock has suffered in sympathy with all others, there and elsewhere, and is selling far below its value, would still do a growing business and continue to earn dividends. Be sure of this, Colorado will return more than value received for every dollar invested in her borders."

STORM IS OVER.

Financial Affairs at Denver Now Expected to Run Smoothly.

DENVER, July 20.—The U. B. Wheeler Banking company, Pioneer bank of Aspen, Bank of Sterling and the bank of Loveland have assigned. No statements of assets or liabilities have been issued.

The bank panic has apparently ceased. The run on the national banks has entirely subsided. The weak banks have all closed, and there can be but little doubt of the soundness of those that withstood the storm of Tuesday and yesterday.

J. A. Thacher, president of the Denver National and also of the clearing house, said that he anticipated no more bank failures. Those that had kept open passed through the clearing house in good shape and showed that they were in excellent condition for the future. An examination of the affairs of the closed banks has been made, and to the credit of their officers it can be said that in no instance has there been found the slightest dishonesty or crooked work.

Of Old New England Stock.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Joseph Hutchins Colton, the ex-map publisher, died from apoplexy at Brooklyn, yesterday, aged 94. He was of old New England stock.

HEARING CLOSED.

The Water Case Now in Hands of Commissioners.

GOV. ROBINSON'S ARGUMENT.

Compensation Wanted for the Franchise —Common Sense to Determine Value.

Ex-Gov. Robinson commenced his argument for the Quincy Water Co., at 1.30 Tuesday.

Prior to 1892 he said the city owned none of this property. The city was before that entirely without a supply. There was a city of 10,500 people dependent for water supply from wells and had taken no steps whatever toward a supply. These people were drinking water from wells near cesspools. Was this water pure? There are now 18,000 people having at their door water that is free from the contamination of cesspools and sink spouts. The Quincy Water Co. has made this change and given to the city what it never had before and now would not part with.

He told of the charter granted the Water Co. He could not see in sect. 10 a limitation of $250,000, as he found if he read the two sections there was $500,000.

The actual capacity of the reservoir is 180,000,000 gallons. There are 35 miles of piping. We find this work was finished in June, 1884, and done by a contractor who was accustomed to deal with large contracts. A man who handled a great deal of work. The first inference would be that the Company were dealing with an honest man. There was a dam built by Mr. Taylor and there is not a single expert who says it was not of the best work. It stands for itself and as all the works do. There is nothing better in the way of machinery.

Speaks for Itself

Nobody finds fault with the stand pipe, outside of Mr. Blake, whom he should leave out of his consideration, as no one has shown so much purpose to find fault as he.

The pipes have been laid nine years. These pipes were examined on the visit to McKeesport. It has a complete record and stands well to this hour. If there was anything wrong the city would have found it out as they have had charge of it over a year. There is nothing deleterious to the health in the alloy used in this pipe. Nothing can be said against it except by these gentlemen who say they have not used it. The word calamine means beautiful and durable. The water is not absolutely pure, yet they have used it since 1892 and have done nothing to exclude these piggeries. You will find this water of as good quality as Boston is using, if you will look through the report of the State Board of Health. There has been a complaint from twenty or more places in Massachusetts during the past year as to its poorness.

After all the objections to this water the Mayor Recommended

For the city to own it. Those who attended the nearings at the State House are perfectly familiar with them as they are the same ones. Show us a single Quincy doctor who has been brought here to testify against it. The two physicians who are here have not been contradicted which is a demonstration that it is free from any qualities that make it injurious to the people who take it.

Common experience is that reservoirs improve in cleanliness as they grow older. In 1883 there were between 20 and 30 applicants for water. In 1892 there were 1445. Does not this demonstrate what the people of Quincy think of it? No word has been said in the argument about the fire service. It is well believed that if there was any deficiency in the fire service the Chief Engineer would have been here. There has not been in the history of this evidence a single failure in the fire service. Mr. Howland says there are very few things to be done to make the water shed a good one. He says better iron was used in the stand pipe than called for. Why will the city go against its own engineer. The distributing system was planned by Mr. Howland to the best of his ability. Is there any ground for the statement that these works

Were Made to Sell?

Here is the man from the city proving that the works were built first-class. Every inch of the 2-inch pipe and the 4-inch pipe is in use today, and more 4-inch pipe has been put in by the city. Such property as the company owned, the city took.

The company also had corporate property, rights and privileges. It is important to understand the meaning of the statute. This commission must make this company whole. It must fairly compensate the company.

The word franchise has a meaning and calls for a compensation. Franchise is a special privilege vested in certain persons by the government. The value is not merely the price for which it may be sold but of its earning capacity. Upon the practical use to which it can be put. Several cases were sited to substantiate this. This is not a qualified right the Legislature gave but an absolute right for all time. The franchise is more valuable than its property. The State profited the community. By that grant it developed the city. The city did not give them the right to dig up the streets. The State told them to go in and dig up the streets. They said we as a city will not take the risk but if you put out your money we will only pay you what you put under ground. It is conceded that there should be a profit.

The city of Haverhill has been cited but no two assault cases are alike nor no two water cases are alike. The company owns the system and the water and the flow to the people and the franchise and we only find the compensation by taking

All These Things.

When this company were ready to commence work they offered it to the town, to go on and do this work and they would give up their charter. But no, the town did not want it. They put their stock on sale but not a dollar was subscribed. Mr. McClellan did not take that contract for a charitable purpose. Everything was done open and in daylight. No matter how the water smells or how many fish there were in it, it will quench fire and the city paid for a few hydrants.

The books of the company show that the cost of the works was $443,251.32. The books of the Water Co. are open and have been. They have been kept by Mr. Stickney, a thoroughly competent man, and not a word has been said about his honesty. His sickness and death prevented his coming here. With all Mr. Howland's work on the books he can only find a difference of $16,000 which is not large for a business like this of 9 years standing. Mrs. McClellen brought here what she swore was the only thing in her husband's books that refered to the Quincy Water Co.

There is no Proof Here that there were two accounts at Springfield, a true and a false account. The figures on the books at Quincy and on those on Mr. McClellan's private account are alike and therefore must be correct. What books the Water Co. had were bought here and because they compared with Mr. McClellan's they were called false. He gave all the estimates that had been made during the hearing except that of Mr. Blake. There are things the Water Co. could not do, the city can.

The value of franchise must be determined by common sense it is not in the power of a human being to get at the value to a cent.

Quincy has this property and all that is possible with it. Suppose ten years hence the city of Boston wanted to take the property the city would not say it was not worth anything as they do now. There is a debt of over $400,000 before a dollar can go to anything else. In making award, interest at 6 per cent. should be allowed from the time the city took possession as well as the rentals collected of the Company. They are entitled to have just compensation and award.

This concluded ex-Gov. Robinson's argument which consumed two hours and forty minutes, and the case goes to the commissioners. An award is not expected for a couple of months.

RANDOLPH'S GALA DAY.

The Centennial Largely Attended by Quincy People—A Good Time.

Wednesday was a great day for Randolph, doubtless the greatest in its history, it being the celebration of the 100th anniversary of incorporation as a town. The day was all that could be wished and its people turned out en masse to do honor to the occasion, not only the good people of Randolph, but hundreds from adjoining towns and cities, many faces of well known Quincy citizens being observed in the throng that was constantly passing through the main streets.

All of the public buildings and many private residences were handsomely decorated, although the traces of the heavy storm that passed over Tuesday evening could be seen.

The day was ushered in by the ringing of bells and the booming of cannon. During the early morning hours there was a series of races, and at 11.30 a procession which included the local organizations and fire department and invited guests in carriages.

Among the guests that passed in carriages the following from Quincy were noticed: Mayor Fairbanks, Senator John F. Merrill, Probation Officer F. A. Spear and Liquor Officer Daniel McGrath.

After the procession the exercises in the tent were held, the first part consisting of a banquet, which was served to about 700; then followed the literary exercises.

Hon. J. White Belcher presided over these exercises and delivered an address of welcome; followed by an original poem by H. J. Molloy. Then came music by the Temple quartette and an oration by John V. Beals which was replete with interesting incidents.

The president then proposed a number of toasts which were responded to by Lieut. Gov. Wolcott, Hon. E. A. Morse, Mayor Henry O. Fairbanks for the city of Quincy, Hon. Asa French, Erastus Worthington, Esq., and others.

In the afternoon there was a ball game, and concerts by the Boston Cadet and Randolph bands.

At sunset a salute was fired, and in the evening there were fireworks and a promenade concert and ball, in which a number of Quincy people participated.

A special train left for Boston at 12.30 A. M., stopping at all way stations.

Distances.

The noise of a train can be heard 3,300 yards, the bark of a dog 1,800 yards, the roll of a drum 1,600 yards, a dinner bell 2 miles, a call to get up in the morning 2 feet,—but this drop. A beautiful oak frame combination plush parlor set for $35.00, can be heard for 20 miles. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

A FREIGHT STATION.

A Strong Petition Presented to the N. Y., N. H. & H.

BY QUINCY BUSINESS MEN.

Union Station With Spur Tracks Wanted Between Quincy and Quincy Adams.

It now looks as though the long felt want on the part of the grocery and granite firms of this city for better freight facilities would soon be remedied. Wednesday a petition containing the signatures of 131 business firms of this city including all branches of business was presented to third vice president Kendrick of the N. Y., N. H. & H. railroad, asking that a central freight station be established with sufficient side tracks and facilities for loading and unloading freight. They also suggest as a suitable location a lot midway between the Quincy and Quincy Adams stations.

Mr. Kendrick in receiving the petition gave the committee to understand that one of the reasons nothing has been done before was that he had understood that it was a scheme on the part of some real estate dealers.

Mr. Kendrick promised to consider the matter and look into it and it is more than probable that the railroad officials will visit Quincy within a few days to look over the ground.

Should the railroad build a freight station between the two depots mentioned above it will prove of great benefit to all business firms of the centre and south districts, who have been seriously hampered in the past by the want of sufficient side tracks and facilities for loading, especially in the granite business, as in some instances teamsters have been obliged to wait hours before they could reach the cars.

The grocers have also been more or less bothered as cars containing freight for them have been side tracked at Braintree for a few days. As this was sometimes of a perishable nature it entailed not only an inconvenience but a loss.

WEYMOUTH.

Rev. A. B. Hudson is expected home next week.

Hundreds of bicycles passed through here Sunday going to and from the beach.

The foundation for the new house of Mr. E. H. Benson on the North Weymouth land Co.'s property is nearly completed.

Lovell's grove has been occupied by picnic parties every day this week.

Ladies' day of the Monatiquot Yacht club this afternoon. The review will be made by Commodore Cavanagh at 3 o'clock.

Rev. B. F. Eaton will enter upon his pastorate at Worcester Aug. 1.

The will of John Woodruff of Weymouth was allowed at Dedham on Wednesday. The first and final account of Z. L. Bicknell as guardian of L. W. and Emma E. Bates, minors, was also allowed.

The Institutes of Weymouth play the North Weymouths, Saturday on the home grounds.

George L. French of Waltham is spending his vacation at North Weymouth as the guest of Mr. James French.

The people of North Weymouth were considerably shook up over the barge accident on Tuesday.

D. M. Kidder is at work setting up the engine of the Quincy & Boston street railway and power station.

PRAISE FOR CHIEF.

And Criticism for the Committee on Fire Department.

The Monitor's editorial this month on the Fire Committees report is short and plain, and leaves no doubt as to the editor's opinions. It is given in full:

"The report of the City Council investigating committee of the fire department is causing much talk which is decidedly adverse to the action of the committee. Many of the brightest citizens totally deny the right of the Council to investigate any department which is responsible only to the Mayor. They consider the whole course of the Council in this matter as illegal, as entirely foreign to the intent and meaning of the City Charter, and as the first step on the part of the Council to usurp the powers which belong exclusively to the Mayor and to dictate to him in matters over which they have not the slightest jurisdiction.

"Everybody can see that the whole thing is a shallow political trick. Anything to discredit the administration, anything to wrong faithful officials, so that others who want their places, may obtain them. Chief Ripley has brought the fire department to a high state of efficiency and receives due credit from all unprejudiced citizens. With the small means which the Council grudgingly allows him, it is a wonder that his work is as good as it is.

"Some of these fresh and turbulent Councilmen ought to read frequently and carefully in the pages of the City Charter, which defines the limits of their power and jurisdiction, and then consider their own great defects in the proper intelligence of the duty which they owe to the whole city, before they attempt to play such shallow political bluffs which may yet turn and torment themselves."

The Magazines.

We are delighted to see the New England Magazine out for July. Although a little late it is an excellent magazine. The mountains make the topic of prominence in prose and poetry, as the opening article on Mount Washington by Julius H. Ward shows, also in illustration. A valuable illustrated paper is "In the Footsteps of Jane Austen," by Oscar Fay Adams, who traveled in England for the purpose of studying the homes of the novelist. "A Frontier Army Post" is carefully described by Price Collier. The Biographical "Experiences During Many Years," by Benjamin P. Shillaber, are varied and interesting. Published by the New England Magazine Corporation, 231 Columbus avenue, Boston.

The Kickapoos' Greeting

Words of Sympathy to the Sick and Suffering Whites.

After the Kickapoo Indians had consented to allow their medicines to be introduced among the white people they had a grand Medicine dance, lasting all night. Their wild movements in fantastic array around a blazing fire were in time to a chant they sung. The meaning of the words of their song was wholly of kindness, love and sympathy—a portion translates as follows:

"The Kickapoos bring you health."
"Their hearts are full of pity for you."
"Have hope for the great spirit"
"Has given us that which we offer you."
"It will make you well and happy."

It was with the feelings expressed by these words that they offered the Kickapoo Indian Remedies to the white people. That the offer was appreciated, and that the remedies have done great good is evidenced by a large sale all over the continent, and their remedies are now found on the shelves of every druggist in the land.

Its seasonable use has prevented serious sickness in thousands of cases.

Disease cannot existin its presence.

Best of all it is a simple compound of roots, barks and herbs, about which the Indian has more knowledge than any living botanist or physician.

Remember, too, that "Kickapoo" Remedies are genuine Indian preparations. Indians gather the herbs and prepare them for shipment. Indians receive them at the Laboratory. Indians steep them for the medicine and Indians put up the finished product. From first to last they are true medicines of the red man.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, the great Liver, Blood and Stomach Renovater, and other Kickapoo Indian Remedies are Sold by all Druggists.

Does Advertising Pay?

We know of a case when it did not. A man advertised for a wife and he got her. Thus his troubles commenced. He couldn't live without furniture, but he found the prices so wonderfully low at the store of Henry L. Kincaide & Co.'s that it made him a happy man. Yes, he found everything there, and the prices,——cut almost in two.

A Woman's Back.

The mainspring of her life.

What can she do, where can she go, so long as that deadly backache saps both strength and ambition?

She cannot walk, she cannot stand; her duties are burdensome; she is miserable.

The cause is some derangement of the uterus or womb. Backache is the sure symptom.

The one unfailing remedy is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A woman discovered it and gave it to woman. Mrs. T. W. Lane, of Holyoke, Mass., tells what a comfort it is to write to a woman about her peculiar troubles, and have a woman read her letters and give a woman's sympathy and help. Thousands send Mrs. Pinkham letters, grateful for renewed life.

THE DAILY LEDGER is for sale at Post Office, Manet Lunch Room, by Henry W. French and by Newsboys. Mr. French is the authorized local agent of the paper. Items of news solicited from everybody.

It was all done so quietly this morning that few are aware of an abduction at this quiet hamlet this morning. The parties concerned are reticent about making the matter public, but it leaked out that a husband and wife do not live together. That the husband had possession of a child and he had it at Houghs Neck. This morning the mother and friends came and carried off the child in a carriage. The grandfather gave chase on the 11 o'clock electric car and overtook the carriage at the cemetery, but it turned off into Valley street and succeeded in getting away.

The man continued to Quincy and notified Chief Langley, but he was unable to overtake the runaways.

Frank Hardwick and family and friends of Quincy are at the Lincoln cottage on Manet avenue.

The Monitor says, "We hope the Councilmen from Ward Three will pay some attention to a subject of such vital importance to the ward they represent; it certainly is of as much consequence as to try to stop the tide at Houghs Neck, or preventing Taber's wooden horses from sweating too much."

White Wings.

This afternoon is ladies' day with the Monatiquot yacht club. The review takes place at 3 o'clock followed by a sail on the river. At 6.30 supper will be served at the club house. A rowing race, concert and dance will conclude the programme.

Race of the Quincy yacht club tomorrow.

Saturday there will be a regatta off Hull, and also a union cash regatta of the Savin Hill and Dorchester clubs.

The Dorchester club will have a ladies' day Saturday, July 29.

The Popularity Contest.

The vote today in the contest is light but inquiries for papers by the wholesale have begun, and the coupons will come in quantities by and by. A uniform price by the hundred has been established and will be maintained strictly. The standing:

PASSION TIDE.

The young child Jesus had a garden
Full of roses rare and red,
And thrice a day he watered them
To make a garland for his head.

When they were full blown in the garden,
He called the Jewish children there,
And each did pluck himself a rose
Until they stripped the garden bare.

"And, now, how will you make your garland,
For not a rose your path adorns?"
"But you forget," he answered them,
"That you have left me still the thorns."

They took the thorns and made a garland
And placed it on his shining head.
And where the roses should have shown
Were little drops of blood instead.

A WIDOW'S WALK.

The Marquise de Beauminois had mourned sufficiently for a gouty and unreasonably jealous husband. She had recently laid aside her weeds and began a neuvaine, when an order from the king enjoined her to lodge a captain and his squadron, which had been sent to clear the country of an audacious band of brigands.

The young widow submitted with good grace. While the dragoons had free access to the pantry, she did the honors of her table for their chief, the Duc de Merval. Dom Marouflot, the chaplain of the chateau, acted as chaperon.

One evening the duke was talking and drinking in the large wainscoted room, where he was playing chess with Dom Marouflot. The marquise, who wore an exceptionally elegant toilet, was asking herself for the thousandth time that week, "Do I really love him?" and, though she reflected seriously, her question remained unanswered.

"That Gillou is a clever bandit!" growled the captain between two games. "For two weeks we have scoured the country, and still he slips through our fingers. I have decided to search for him tomorrow with the whole squadron.

"Gillou is not an ordinary brigand," continued the duke; "they say he is educated, courteous and even gallant upon occasion."

As the marquise drew her chair nearer to the table where the two men were sitting, the captain began to tease her.

"What a serious countenance, madame! I fear my stories about brigands have so frightened you that you will not dare to venture two steps in the park this evening."

Dom Marouflot looked at the clock and said: "It is the hour for your neuvaine, madame. I will ring for the servants to escort you."

"No, no, it is needless!" replied the marquise, piqued by the duke's sarcasm. "I shall go to the chapel alone. I wish to prove to Captain Merval that women are not such cowards as he believes."

The old chapel was at the farther end of the park. Once out of the house the marquise began to regret her bravado. Mme. Beauminois' mind was filled with the stories she had heard concerning Gillou—"the man in the mask," as the old women of the country called him. Under her fine satin corsage her heart beat so loudly she could almost hear it.

At last she reached the chapel, and entering kneeled and said her prayers a little more quickly than usual. Then she rose and went toward the door.

Suddenly she stooped and caught her breath. A masked man was standing near the holy water vessel. As she saw that he remained motionless and in a respectful attitude, she took courage and advanced.

The man dipped his fingers in the holy water and held them out to her. She did not dare to refuse the stranger's offer, and, thanks to a ray of moonlight that filtered through a stained glass window, she remarked that he had a very beautiful hand.

A little reassured, she made a sign of the cross and left the chapel.

She had scarcely taken 10 steps before the unknown man rejoined her, and she started at hearing a voice which she thought she recognized, although it was singularly softened.

"Will you allow me to offer you my arm, madame? Some accident might befall you alone in this great park at such an hour."

He had such a courtly bearing that the marquise felt perfectly safe.

As they crossed an opening bathed in moonlight, she examined her companion more closely. His mask left the lower part of his face uncovered. Not only did she believe that it was not the first time she had heard this voice, but it seemed to her that it was the same blond mustache which had lightly touched her hand each evening in a discreet kiss. The masked man had therefore almost the same voice, mustache and figure as the duke.

He had disguised himself to frighten her. This discovery gave her a great desire to laugh, and she leaned upon his arm with more confidence. Finding the adventure a pleasant one, she resolved to play her part of the courageous woman seriously so long as it should please the duke to remain a brigand.

Besides, what a fine occasion to learn under cover of jocularity the duke's real sentiments!

"Do you often go out alone like this, my pretty devotee?"

"Yes, M. Mask, all alone, just like this."

"Do you not know that Gillou and his band are running about the country?"

"Yes, I know it."

"Are you not afraid of brigands?"

"That depends upon the brigand."

"Myself, for example."

"Are you a real brigand?"

"Alas, yes, fair lady," he said in a melancholy tone.

"Indeed," replied the marquise. "I am sorry for you, but you do not frighten me a bit. Quite the contrary."

The stranger had such a grateful, tender and eloquent look that the young woman was touched. She would never have believed that the duke's eyes could express so much as that.

"Would it be indiscreet, beautiful princess, to ask why you went to the old chapel?"

"I went to finish my neuvaine."

"A neuvaine! And for what reason?"

"Guess."

"Are you married, my queen?"

"I have been, but"——

"Ah! I understand. You were offering up vows for the end of your widowhood."

"Perhaps that is it."

Without another word he began to press a series of kisses upon the marchioness' taper fingers.

Her hesitation increased the enemy's boldness, and when she thought of drawing away her hand he had already abandoned it for a skirmish where the kisses closed her eyes.

Suddenly she escaped from her imprisonment and noticed that his eyes were fixed upon the brilliant diamond she wore upon her little finger.

"Do you want a pledge of pardon for your boldness," she said; "here it is." And putting her whole soul into a last, playful smile she added: "It is a talisman that will aid you in returning to the right path, my dear brigand. Remember that I should prefer to see you dead rather than unfaithful or a felon."

At these words, lightly uttered, the masked man showed extraordinary emotion. Then, with reverence this time, he kissed the lady's hand and disappeared.

When she entered the house, she found the duke and Dom Marouflot at the chess table. The duke was so absorbed that he did not even turn his head as she came into the room. She thought that really she was in the presence of a consummate actor.

She leaned over his shoulder as he was moving a knight and suddenly turned pale—the duke had no ring on his finger!

The poor marquise passed a restless night.

Toward morning she had scarcely closed her eyes when she was awakened by the sound of gunshots, followed by the noise of galloping horses.

The duke at the head of his dragoons was returning to the chateau. He had alighted and was taking off his pistols when the marquise appeared.

"It's all over," he called out to her. "I brought down Gillou with a single shot. We had hardly got outside the park gate before the idiot came to us. He threw himself between our horses' legs, so to speak. And for fear that I might not recognize him he cried out: 'I am Gillou! Kill me!'

"He kneeled down 10 steps from me. When he saw me aim my pistol at him, he raised his hand in the air and held up something brilliant; then he cried out again, but I don't know what he said, for the report of my pistol drowned his voice.

"He fell, and one of my men picked up the brilliant thing he held in his hand. If you want it, here it is. It shall be your part of the booty. But there is a little blood on it."

The duke handed a beautiful diamond to the marquise. Recognizing her ring, she turned deathly pale, and suddenly she read clearly in her heart. She had never loved the duke, and now she detested him.—From the French.

French Imitation Pearls.

The best grade of French imitation pearls cannot be distinguished from real ones, even by the most expert jewelers, unless the string is handled, when the difference in weight becomes apparent, the real pearl being heavier than an imitation one.

An American lady who herself owned valuable jewels once told me that she and her husband were shown on one occasion by her Parisian jeweler a cluster of strings of pearls, half of which were real and the other half imitation, and they were requested to point out the real ones. They both inspected the pearls long and with the most minute care, and finally indicated their choice. The gentleman had indeed fixed upon a string of genuine ones, but the lady, though she continually wore and had had in her possession for years a magnificent necklace of real pearls, forfeited her claim for discrimination by picking out one of the imitation ones.

The very finest of the French imitation pearls are expensive, costing from $10 to $15 a string. Oddly enough, the longer they are kept the better they become, as the passage of years lends a yellow tinge to the wax, which causes the pearls to look at once more lustrous and more real. The pearls prepared for embroideries, dress trimmings, etc., are merely small beads filled with wax and lack the careful shaping, as well as the inner coating of fish scale liquid that make the pearls manufactured for necklaces and earrings so perfectly deceptive. —Ladies' Home Journal.

Fashion's Gold Tipped Shoes.

In this year of 1893 gold, yellow, shining, heartless metal, mother of murders and temptress to terrible privations, the yellow root of red evil, holds sway. In the silver age we had combs and brushes, buckles, toilet cases, picture frames and other stuff gleaming with the paler metal. It wasn't rich enough for the blood of New York. Gold has not displaced it here in the metropolis, but triumphantly flaunts itself above it.

A little time ago the satin slipper with silver filagree toe and heel tip was quite good enough for any one. But it only cost from $20 to $40. Society insisted on something more expensive, and now New York's swell set rest satisfied as they poke their gold tipped toes from beneath Worth afternoon "creations." The gold tipped shoes are only for house wear. You don't see 'em on Broadway. Their use is to make poor callers envious, than which there can be no greater happiness.

This is but one instance. The men are as bad or worse, for a pair of gold tipped shoes at $150 are at least visible, and a pair of $75 gold suspender buckles haven't even that merit. The only use for them is to show that one can stand the pace.

The extravagance of wealthy people in small personal expenditures has grown out of all proportion. Trifles and trinkets cost fortunes, good pictures by American artists go begging, and authors of good books trim their cuffs.—New York Cor. Pittsburg Dispatch.

MURDEROUS BLOWS

Rained Upon an Aged Man by a Negro Tramp.

THE FIEND THEN ESCAPES.

Friends of the Victim Hunting For the Assailant.

PALMER, Mass., July 20.—Wilson Lawrence lies at the house of Charles Foster in a critical condition, a victim of a murderous assault by a negro tramp, the motive of which was probably robbery. The assault was committed with a slung shot, and the injuries are nearly all about the head.

The tramp came to the Foster homestead about 3 o'clock, and, as Mr. Foster was at work in the hayfield, Mr. Lawrence went to the door. The negro said he wanted work. Mr. Lawrence went with him to the barn, where a load of hay stood on the floor. He was about to show the man where to put it, when he got behind him and upon his victim. Mr. Lawrence managed to gather enough strength to escape and went toward the house.

His groans attracted the attention of Mrs. Foster and her son Charles, who were both in the house. Young Johnson yelled, "Did he strike you?" and when he received a reply in the affirmative grabbed a gun and started in pursuit of the negro, who ran towards the woods. He fired at him and the man stopped and rubbed his right leg as if hit. He gathered himself and soon got in the woods.

The neighbors joined in the pursuit and officers from Palmer and Thorndike were notified. Later the fire alarm was rung and so much indignation was felt by the citizens that a and will use every possible effort to capture the fugitive.

Large Party Was Organized

The negro was first seen at the Foster house Tuesday. He came along with a white man, and both were given dinner in exchange for work in the field. The man probably noticed that the men were employed some distance from the house, and as Mr. Lawrence is 60 years of age and of slight physique anticipated an easy job when he called yesterday. Mr. Lawrence is a retired business man of a philanthropic turn of mind.

PECULIAR CIRCUMSTANCES

In Connection With the Death of Young Charles Shannon.

WOLFBORO, N. H., July 20.—The inhabitants are considerably excited over the rumors of foul play in connection with the drowning accident which occurred July 15, near Rattlesnake island.

On that day a party consisting of Forrest and Henry Wendell, Charles Shannon and George Thompson, all young fellows in their teens, except Thompson, started out for a day's pleasure on the lake. The next morning Forrest Wendell returned here with the sad story that his three companions had been drowned by the capsizing of their boat.

Wednesday the searchers recovered the body of Charles Shannon, about 80 feet from the shore of Diamond island. The left ear was found to be badly bruised, and on the bridge of his nose was a slight cut, but at that time there was no suspicion of foul play in connection with the accident. When the body of young Shannon was found it was attired in an old suit of clothes, not what he wore when he went away from home, and, although Wendell claims that Shannon changed his clothes, they have not as yet been found.

Dr. S. S. Huntress admitted that their was a bad bruise on the left ear, also a small cut on the nose. He also said that although he did not make a post mortem examination of the body, he was satisfied that there was no water in the lungs, as is usually the case when death results from drowning.

The doctor was of the opinion that the affair should be investigated, and it would free the minds of the towns people, as the longer the matter goes the stronger the belief prevails that something is wrong.

Officer Deserves a Leather Medal.

EVERETT, Mass., July 20.—One evening this week a member of the police force, between 12 and 1 o'clock at night, saw two men trying the front door of a public place. They then went around to a back door and tried that, and again returned to the front door. The officer reported the case 48 hours afterward, and said the men were frightened by the snapping of his suspender buckle, which he was handling while watching them. Later saw the same two men in a herdic on Main street, but he did not stop them.

Poison In Icecream.

ROCHESTER, N. H., July 20.—The excitement over the poisoning from eating icecream at the high school reception a few weeks ago has revived. Yesterday it was learned that parties in this city and Gonic, who partook of the icecream Wednesday evening, have been seriously sick, and that their suffering has been intense. The cream was made by the local confectioner, who served it at the reception. Dr. Sweet pronounces the sickness to be due to this cause.

Maine Dentists Elect Officers.

PORTLAND, Me., July 20.—The Maine Dental society elected the following officers: President, H. A. Kelly, Portland; vice president, J. E. Tibbetts, Rockland; secretary, F. A. Knowlton, Fairfield; treasurer, E. J. Roberts, Augusta; librarian, F. Bacon, Portland; executive committee, R. B. Miller of Rockland, G. P. Lombard of Belfast, E. J. Roberts of Augusta, D. W. Fellows of Portland, W. P. Johnson of Old Town.

Again at Gray Gables.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 20.—President Cleveland and party have returned. The president expressed himself as having had a most enjoyable cruise. He said that he was in splendid health and the rheumatic trouble had entirely dissapeared.

Morse Probably Insane.

BOSTON, July 20.—A. L. Morse, indicted for the murder of Dr. W. T. S. Wardwell, has been pronounced insane by Dr. Jelly and other experts.

Says Books Were Burned.

ANSONIA, Conn., July 20.—Charles W. Rowan, financial secretary of Court Otter Rock of Foresters of Birmingham, has been found to be short in his accounts. He was suspected and the auditing committee took the treasurer's books to Rowan's house to compare with his and left them in the house. The house caught fire and Rowan claims the books were burned.

Mysterious Disappearance.

DEDHAM, Mass., July 20.—Rudolph Engle, who boarded at a house on Milton street, East Dedham, has informed the police that his wife has disappeared. She came from Hamilton, O., last Friday afternoon and was taken home by her husband, who then went out to see about her trunks. Soon after he had gone she started out after him, and has not been seen since.

Heavy Damage by Hailstones

ESSEX, Mass., July 20.—A hailstorm visited this town yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock which lasted 30 minutes. The hailstones in some instances were as large as nutmegs. It was the hardest storm of that nature that has visited this town for the past 50 years. Hundreds of dollars worth of crops were destroyed while cattle did much damage in their stampede.

A Timely Discovery.

LYNN, Mass., July 20.—Some time ago S. C. Newhall, a jeweler, stored some of his silverware with his brother, who lives on Hamilton avenue. The ware was placed in a barrel, and by accident it was placed on the sidewalk with some ash barrels yesterday. Mr. Newhall espied a ragpicker fishing the silverware out of the barrel just in time to save it.

Correiro Arraignment Postponed.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 20.—Jose Correiro was to have been arraigned yesterday for the murder of Bertha May Manchester on May 30. M. G. B. Swift, counsel for the prisoner, filed a plea of misnomer. The plea was accepted and another session of the grand jury will be held.

Electricity to Be Used.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 20.—The Bridgeport Railway company, the Bridgeport Horse Railroad company, and the East End Railroad company have consolidated under the name of the Bridgeport Traction company. The capital stock of the new corporation is $2,000,000. The roads are to be operated by electricity.

Ordered Not to Whistle.

DANVERS, Mass., July 20.—Locomotives of the Boston and Maine railroad must no longer sound their whistles while passing Chestnut, Poplar and Oak streets in this town. The prohibition comes from the railroad commissioners in the shape of an order, issued after a hearing relative to the matter.

Petty Swindling Scheme.

LYNN, Mass., July 20.—A young man, representing himself to be a telegraph operator, has swindled several persons in this city of late by calling at houses and informing parties that there were telegrams at the Western Union office for them. In many instances he received money.

Confidence Man Held.

Boston, July 20.—George H. Godfrey, who was chased and arrested on State street after getting $258 from Captain Derrill of Biddeford, Me., by the confidence game, was held in $500 bonds for the grand jury at the August term of the superior court.

Biddeford Mills May Close.

BIDDEFORD, Me., July 20.—The Pepperell and Laconia mills' storehouses are rapidly filling, and some plan for curtailing the production will have to be made. A shutdown will be inevitable if the condition of the market does not improve.

One More Unfortunate.

BOSTON, July 20.—An electric car ran over and instantly killed Benjamin Cohen, about 12 years old, last evening, opposite the cathedral on Washington street. His face was badly disfigured and the body was considerably bruised.

Raimondi Pleads Not Guilty.

BOSTON, July 20.—Antonio Raimondi was arraigned yesterday charged with assault with a knife with intent to kill Patrick F. Beatty. The prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was held in $25,000 for examination July 26.

To Be Tried In September.

BOSTON, July 20.—Thomas Brown, who is in jail awaiting trial for the alleged murder of Bridget O'Mealey, his mother, at South Boston several weeks ago, will be put on trial some time in September.

A Peculiar Accident.

BOSTON, July 20.—George Colgrove, aged 25, a freight conductor on the Boston and Albany road, was at work in the yard, when a piece of iron was driven clear through his leg at the knee joint.

Canine vs. Feline.

EVERETT, Mass., July 20.—On complaint of the M. S. P. C. A. Robert W. Kaine was convicted of inciting a dog to chew up a pet cat belonging to Annie Patterson and was fined $10.

BROKE EVEN.

Boston and New York Each Win a Game at Gotham.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Boston won the first game by hitting the ball at the proper time. German pitched for New York and did creditable work. Several of the hits made off him should have been easy outs but were misjudged. Then, too, Ward's men could not hit Gastright consecutively and played a rather dumb game on the bases. Merritt had his thumb split in the fifth inning and gave place to Bennett. Wilson, New York's catcher, showed up strongly.

A BETTER OUTLOOK.

Comptroller Eckels' Words of Comfort to Denver's Banks.

WILL DO ALL IN HIS POWER.

He Has Faith In the Ability of the Banks.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—James H. Eckels, the comptroller of the currency, immediately on his return from New York yesterday, addressed to the national bank examiner at Denver a dispatch defining the policy of the administration with reference to insolvent national banking institutions generally as follows:

Frank Adams, national bank examiner, Denver, Colo.:

"I wish you would announce to the officers of the banks which have failed in Denver that it is my intention to lend them every aid possible looking toward speedy resumption on their part, and that I shall

to enable them to not only collect in such accounts as are speedily collectable, but to get together such amounts of money as will enable them to open upon a small basis.

"It seems to me that such citizens as have, by a foolish course of conduct in withdrawing deposits from banks which so long enjoyed their complete confidence and brought about this condition, ought, in view of the damage they have done their city, as quickly as possible repair it by standing ready to deposit with them.

"I fully appreciate all the circumstances of the situation, and that no unnecessary loss may be entailed you are authorized to employ as assistants to protect paper and collect in moneys the most competent and trustworthy employes in such institutions. I have also ordered Examiner McHugh of Iowa to report at once to assist you.

"I desire that this telegram be given to the press at Denver, evidencing as it does that the comptroller has

Faith In the Ability of the Banks of Denver to resume, and of his desire to lend them every assistance consistent with his official duty."

When asked to express more fully his views on the condition of affairs, Mr. Eckels said the failures in Denver, like a number of other national bank failures, were caused by no fault of the bank officials, but through a foolish and uncalled-for lack of confidence on the part of the depositors.

"It is my intention," he said, "where a bank has been properly conducted, and whose assets, under ordinary circumstances, would have permitted it to remain solvent, to give the institution every opportunity to resume business.

"All the Denver banks that failed were well conducted, and every opportunity will be given them to reopen. The people who have caused the Denver disaster by foolish runs should do all they can to help the banks resume."

Notifications of two more failures reached Mr. Eckels yesterday. The unfortunate banks are the First National bank of Harrisonville, Mo., and the Oklahoma National bank of Oklahoma City, O. T.

SHOCKING MURDER.

A Dayton Man Killed Near His Door and Within Sight of His Family.

DAYTON, O., July 21.—Charles F. Duerr, aged 41, a stonemason of this city, was brutally murdered yesterday while returning with his wife and children from a party. As they were about to cross a narrow bridge they found their way obstructed by three ruffians, who refused to step aside. Mrs. Duerr squeezed through, but her husband was not allowed to pass. He persisted in an attempt to cross, and was knocked down with a stone and then stabbed through the heart. All this occurred within a stone's throw of his home and while his wife and children were near by. The murderers escaped. Suspicion rests on three charactors with unsavory reputations.

Long Island's Fearful Blaze.

NEW YORK, July 21.—St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, in the central part of Long Island City, was burned early this morning. The firemen had no chance to save any of the contents. The parochial school and the priests' house were burning fiercely at 2 o'clock, and there was little or no hope of saving them. More than a whole city block has been burned over, and the fire has reached such proportions that the firemen are almost powerless.

Desperate Encounter With a Burglar.

CORYDON, Ind., July 21.—C. W. Cole, auditor of Harrison county, was shot in his room by a burglar, who was rifling his pockets. Mr. Cole ran the burglar to the head of the stairway, when the latter turned around and shot him. The ball took effect on a floating rib and glancing around came out at the other side. Mr. Cole, it is believed, will recover. The burglar made his escape.

Miners Thrown Out of Work.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 21.—The Clateaugay Electric and Iron company, whose mines and iron foundries are located at Lyon mountain, closed down yesterday, as did also the Crown Point Iron company's mines. The cause given is dullness in the iron trade. About a thousand men are thrown out of employment.

Large Woolen Mills Destroyed.

REYNOLDSVILLE, Pa., July 21.—The Reynoldsville woolen mills were destroyed by fire. The loss is placed at $100,000. The insurance amounts to $20,000.

BOSTON THE WINNER.

New York Played In Hard Luck and Rusie Batted Out of the Box.

BOSTON, July 21.—The score of yesterday is no criterion of its character. The champions batted with the greatest luck, scratch hits being the order of the day. Every base on balls which they gained, except one, are accounted for in the score. The Giants, on the other hand, hit Nichols a great deal harder than the score shows, two-thirds of the hits to the field going in a line straight at the fielders. Five hits, two of them scratches, and three bases on balls caused Rusie's retirement at the end of the first inning. Davies was hit hard only in the fourth inning. The fielding of Lowe, Duffy and McCarthy and the batting of George Davis, Connor and Nash were the features.

New Orleans Mint Defalcation.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—While Treasurer Morgan is non-committal on the report that a defalcation exists in the mint at New Orleans, it is learned that the treasury department discovered a shortage in the funds in the mint on June 26 and that a searching investigation has shown that the recent fire there was of incendiary character, started for the purpose of covering up robbery. Cashier James M. Dowling was arrested on a charge of embezzling $25,000 from the government at the instigation of the department at Washington. He pleaded not guilty. He waived examination before the commissioner, and his bond was fixed at $10,000.

TO HEAD THE TICKET

Matthews and Carroll to Be the Democratic Candidates.

THE SLATE MADE IN SECRET

Will Stand on Last Year's Campaign Issues.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 21.—The Springfield Union says this morning:

"The Morning Union can say authoritatively that the Democratic state ticket in the fall will be headed by Matthews and Carroll, and that both will accept the nominations.

"An agreement was reached by the Democratic leaders at a secret conference held Tuesday in Governor Russell's room at the state house.

"John H. Clune of this city, member of the state central committee from western Massachusetts, was present at the meeting, and four other members of the state central committe were called into the council.

At this meeting it was decided that Nathan Matthews, Jr., and James B. Carroll of Springfield were the men to in the battle next November, and the issues on which the campaign will be fought were outlined. They will not differ materially from the plan of campaign which Governor Russell followed last year.

"Mr. Clune was seen by a Union representative last night, but declined, as a member of the state committee, to say anything for publication, although he admitted that the conference was held, with the result stated above.

"James B. Carroll was also seen, but preferred not to speak of his own candidacy at this time. Mr. Carroll said that he had not given the subject any thought up to the present, and at any rate did not care to say anything about his accepting a nomination until it had been officially tendered him. He was ignorant of the fact that the conference had been held, but when made acquainted with its doings thought that they were satisfactory.

"'Mayor Matthews will be a strong candidate,' said Mr. Carroll. 'He is of a strong and courageous personality and a close student of affairs. As mayor of the largest city in the state he has made a splendid record, and his course in attacking the gas ring, not only proved his courage, but brought him more prominently than ever before the people of the state. As to the issues on which the campaign will be fought, I see no reason why they will be any different from those upon which Governor Russell carried the party to victory during the past three years.'

"The question of Mr. Carroll's acceptance was settled by a statement from a member of the state central committee, who not only stands high in the state councils of the party, but is a close friend of Mr. Carroll. He refused to be quoted, but said: 'You can state positively that Mr. Carroll will have the second place on the ticket this fall. The place will be unanimously offered him, and he will accept.'"

Cruelty to Sailors.

PORTLAND, Me., July 21.—In the case of the captain, first and second mate of the schooner Annie and Willard, accused of ill-treating Hans Swendsen and John Lewis of Iceboro, the first mate was discharged and the captain and second mate were bound over in $300 each for trial at Bath in September. Both furnished sureties, but Lewis, Swendsen and two other sailors, bound over as witnesses, will have to go to jail probably.

Trust Company Closes Its Doors.

NASHUA, N. H., July 21.—The Security Trust company closed its doors yesterday. The bank had not met with losses, but stopped business on account of the withdrawal of deposits. The treasurer states that the bank will be able to pay all depositors in full. It has a capital and surplus amounting to $250,000, which must be paid out before loss can come to the depositors.

BEVERLY, Mass., July 21.—The enumerators who have been at work here the past month taking the census to ascertain if there were sufficient population to apply for a city charter report the total population 13,113. The committee having the matter in charge will report to the town early in September, and at the same time move for a city charter.

It Wasn't Ambergris.

LYNN, Mass., July 21.—A sample of the ambergris found a week ago at Ipswich by Oscar Littlefield has been subjected to a scientific test in this city. It is very light and looks like pure gray ambergris. The finder is not so lucky as was supposed, and instead of being worth $800, the lump is probably valueless.

Reward of $300 Offered.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 21.—The selectmen of Palmer offered a reward of $200 for the arrest of the negro tramp who murderously assaulted S. W. Lawrence at that place. Mr. Lawrence added a personal reward of $100. Officers are on the lookout for the man in all the Worcester county towns.

Authorized to Do a Discount Business.

PRINTERS SAY that the DAILY LEDGER is a neat sheet and they are good judges.

THE STOCKHOLDERS of the Old Colony railroad at a special meeting have authorized the directors to issue stock to "carry into full effect" acts passed by the last legislature calling for the abolishing of grade crossings and other improvements. This should include the Water street crossing, acknowledged to be the most dangerous on the Old Colony division.

LYNN IS the third city to report its tax rate for 1893. It is $16.20 against $15.60 last year. Both Lawrence and Pittsfield were higher. That of Quincy will be lower than all of these if the gain in valuation is as large as last year. The amount to be raised in Quincy this year is about $265,000 and an increase of $1,200,000 in the valuation will make the rate $16 as last year. A smaller increase will increase the rate, where a larger increase will reduce it. It will not vary much either way from $16.

THE EVIDENCE in the water case of the city has been concluded and the arguments made, and the supreme court commissioners are now to pass on the value of the works, rights and privileges of the Quincy Water Company at the time possession was taken by the city. There were very few new points developed in the arguments of the learned counsel, either for the city or the company. No one wants to see the Quincy Water Company get anything but a fair value for its works; a price that will return to them a good interest for the actual money invested. Neither should the city be bled by the payment of any sum approaching a million dollars, and we don't believe it will.

Governor Robinson argued that the city had done nothing to remove the contamination since it came into possession, but it would be inexpedient before the award is made. Then the reservoir and water shed will receive prompt attention. Because no doctor appear to testify against the water it is not a fact that all consider it healthful, and it is not a fact that there have been no failures in the fire service. Of course the earning capacity should enter in determining the value, and if the common sense, of which the counsel speaks, prevails, Quincy will have no cause to regret having voted to purchase.

The Wollaston Lawn Party.

The Ladies' Social Circle of the Methodist Episcopal church held a lawn party and sociable for the children, at the church Wednesday afternoon and evening. An interesting part of the program was an attraction exhibition of dolls arranged, under the direction of Miss Edith H. Wilder. Not less than fifty dolls of all sorts and sizes and representing both sexes and several nations, races and ages, from a doll of forty years ago down to a bride of the present day, were exhibited.

A light lunch, consisting of sandwiches and cake with coffee, lemonade and ice cream was served. In the evening an entertainment was given as follows: Duett, piano and violin, Misses Bjorkman and Durgin; reading, Miss Jennie Ramsay; recitation, Miss Mabel Pierce; piano solo, Miss Daisy Farrell; recitation, Miss Lottie Belanger; recitation, Miss Lois Metherell; vocal duett, Albert Powell and Charles Wilder; reading, Miss Daisy Farrell; recitation, Frankie Belanger; recitation, Miss Lottie Belanger; piano duett, Misses Bjorkman and Chandler.

Picnic Tomorrow.

The Evangelical Congregational society and Sunday School have arranged through its committee of live young men for an old time basket picnic, with latter day accessories, to be held at Merry Mount Park, Saturday afternoon. Barges will run from the Square at 1.30, 2.00, 2.30 and 3.00 o'clock, and after that from the electric cars at the park entrance to the pavilion until six o'clock, when half hourly trips will be made to the Square from the pavilion, all free to the primary department and members of the Sunday School and society. Any willing to pay five cents fare will have the opportunity. It is expected that last year's four hundred will be there with all their friends. A good time is assured.

—Joseph Schlesser of Oakland, Cal., thinks he has solved the problem of Arctic travel by means of a device which puts a petroleum engine on a sled and makes the engine drive a series of spurs, which take hold of the ice and force the sled forward.

Distances.

The noise of a train can be heard 3,300 yards, the bark of a dog 1,800 yards, the roll of a drum 1,600 yards, a dinner bell 2 miles, a call to get up in the morning 2 feet,—but this drop. A beautiful oak frame combination plush parlor set for $35.00, can be heard for 20 miles. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

LADIES' DAY.

Many Yachts and Fair Ones Participate in Monatiquot's Annual.

Although thirteen yachts, that unlucky number, participated in ladies' day sail of the Monatiquot yacht club on Thursday, there was no accident to the 150 or more persons who enjoyed its pleasure.

On the flagship, Beatrice, was the following jolly party: Commodore Cavanagh, Capt. John T. Cavanagh, the Misses Cavanagh, Misses Webb, Hanlon, Downey, O'Brien, Moynihan, Costello, O'Reardon, Ray and Paterson, Mrs. Thomas Downey, Jr., Mr. Hannon, Bert Drake, Mr. Sheppard, Thomas Ray, Mr. Quick, Oswald Vogel, Daniel Heast and John Deasy.

The yachts sailed over the inside course. A rowing race of the tenders followed in which boats of the Beatrice, Posy, Aldolph, Gypsy, Don and Spider participated. Messrs. Cavannagh and Costello of the Beatrice won easily.

Refreshments were served at the clubhouse at 6.30 and there was a very enjoyable hop in the evening.

☞ St. Peter will not have to ask the applicant who trade with C. W. Guy, where he bought his furniture when on earth, as the happy and self satisfied look on the applicant's face will tell St. Peter that he traded where a dollar bought a dollar's worth of goods every day in the week. plo

—A new motor for street cars has been successfully tested in Chicago. The motor is stored with steam and hot water sufficient to run the motor and cars 20 miles. The steam is used over and over again, not escaping through an exhaust, but being reinforced by a small fire of anthracite coal and the hot water the motor carries. It is claimed the cost of running does not exceed two cents a car per mile.

MILTON.

The Assessors have completed their work and give the following as the valuation; personal, $8,799,825; real estate, $6,046,875. This is an increase of about $600,000 over last year which comes almost wholly from new property. The tax rate is $12.50. The assessors say that the increase in rate over last year is due to the increased appropriation this year. The appropriation in 1892 was $118,000, this year it is $197,000, an increase of $79,000. The number of polls assessed are: males, 1,258; females, 6.

—They have got hold of a report down south that there is a fellow up in Minnesota who, whenever he goes on a spree, insists on paying a year's subscription to his town paper. He has already paid for the paper until Jan 1, 1937, and the Press Association of Alabama is making frantic efforts to find out what brand of liquor he drinks.

—A Philadelphia humorist sent for a veterinary surgeon the other day to come to his residence and attend to a horse that had been hurt. When the doctor called he was invited to walk back to the yard and there he was shown a toy horse, one of the legs of which was broken off. The doctor examined the horse carefully and recommended a little glue and a wire splint and then sent in his bill for $5.

Does Advertising Pay?

We know of a case when it did not. A man advertised for a wife and he got her. Thus his troubles commenced. He couldn't live without furniture, but he found the prices so wonderfully low at the store of Henry L. Kincaide & Co.'s that it made him a happy man. Yes, he found everything there, and the prices,——cut almost in two.

Books for Our Hospital.

A public spirited citizen, Mr. George W. Morton, has given the attractive new boxes which can be seen at Quincy railroad station, at Mr. J. F. Merrill's store, at Quincy Post office, and at Mr. C. H. Johnson's, Washington street. Mr. Morton has had them made substantially, firmly put upon brass brackets and painted, so as to be ornamental, and he personally put them up. In these boxes are to placed newspapers, magazines, picture papers, and we hope some good paper covered novels, which will be daily collected and carried to our Hospital. Mr. Merrill and Mr. Johnson are kind enough to collect at their places, and the Hospital officers will take what is put in the other two.

Mr. Morton, in a recent visit to the Hospital, found that while our good physicians supplied pills and powders liberally, any nutriment to the minds was overlooked.

Will our friends please see that these boxes are well filled? Do not let Puck and Judge be forgotten. Place in them your Transcripts and other dailies, your Harper's Weeklies, Ladies' Home Journals, the Pilot, any and all of your papers as soon as you read them and have no further call for them. The secretary suggests that this good stream of kindness be continued and allowed to flow into other channels, and that after they are assimilated at the hospital, they be sent to other places, perhaps some to Quincy Home. Nothing makes a weary hour pass more easily than a paper or magazine.

We thank our public spirited citizen and his friends for their action in this, and now we call upon others to assist in carrying out this excellent idea.

In Marble Halls.

The palatial structure of the International Trust Company, facing on Post Office square from the corner of Milk and Devonshire streets, Boston, has practically reached completion and the tenants are moving into their sumptuous apartments.

The C. F. David Advertising Agency, and Mr. David's magazine, Profitable Advertising, have already taken possession of their elegant suite of offices on the fourth floor, where they have removed from 79 Milk street.

Like the rest of the offices of this magnificent building, those of the David Agency are finished in highly polished hard wood, have wide, cheerful windows, are supplied with both gas and electricity from the artistically designed chandeliers of wrought white metal, steam heat, and every accessory to a perfect modern office.

The halls of the building are all tiled in white, with a dado of marble, the entrance is of most ample and magnificent design, and the swift elevators run from the ground floor.

ELECTRIC CARS are run to Quincy at 5.40 A. M. and every half hour from 7 A. M. to 10 P. M. Returning at 6.15 A. M. and every half hour from 7.30 A. M. to 10.30 P. M.

THE DAILY LEDGER is for sale at Post Office, Manet Lunch Room, by Henry W. French and by Newsboys. Mr. French is the authorized local agent of the paper. Items of news solicited from everybody.

The meeting of the cottagers which was held at Mears' pavilion Wednesday was largely attended. Mr. John Cavanagh presided and made an eloquent address in favor of low rates of fares for the residents. He was followed by Messrs. Downey, Tuckerman, Wyman, Cawlin and Ray. Mr. Cawlin seemed to be thoroughly acquainted with all the facts relating to the railroad. It was stated by Mr. Cawlin that the road was not yet in Quincy & Boston's hands and would not be until August 15. A committee of the gentlemen mentioned above was formed and will wait upon the directors at no far distant date. Until then nothing further can be done.

The dance Wednesday evening at the Casino was a great success. Two barge loads from Hyde Park crowded the already filled hall. Mr. Taber was well pleased with such a large and orderly party. Music will be furnished all day Sunday in the large amusement pavilion by a competent pianist.

A large party in the barge Northern Light were at the Linden house on Thursday.

A religious service will be held at the house of William Williams on Bird street Sunday, July 23d at 3.30 P. M. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Many of the club boats went to enjoy a sail with the Monatiquot boats, Thursday. It was their ladies' day and a more perfect day could not be chosen.

A busy time for the yachtsmen. One race off the Q. Y. C. house this afternoon and two tomorrow.

People visiting the beach for any time must bring their medicine chest with them. You can't buy even a bottle of Jamaica ginger on the place.

Miss M. E. D. King of the Snowflake cottage has as guests: Margaret Carberry of Worcester; Mary, Katie and Annie Carberry, Lizzie Boland, Lizzie Moran, Lizzie Tansey and Marcella Doyle.

Many items intended for yesterday's issue were miscarried and did not reach the office in season. They appear today.

The Popularity Contest.

There is an increased demand for Daily LEDGERS at Houghs Neck and Capt. Boyd has doubled his daily order. This means lots of votes for somebody. Several candidates make small gains today. The standing.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY.

Dr. Meyer Arraigned For Murder—Two of His Accomplices Under Arrest.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Dr. Meyer, the alleged wholesale poisoner, was arraigned before Judge Cowing yesterday. He entered a plea of "not guilty" to the charges included in the indictment, with leave to withdraw that plea afterwards should he see fit. Meyer was represented by Lawyer Charles Brooke.

A very pretty and fashionably dressed young woman and an ordinary man of German appearance were brought to the district attorney's office yesterday. Their manner was mysterious, and they were kept under the surveillance of the detectives connected with the district attorney's office. All attempts to ascertain who they were proved to be of no avail until the district attorney said they were Carl Wimmer, alias Muller, and his wife Mary, who were wanted for their connection with Dr. Henry Meyer in the alleged poisoning of various persons to defraud life insurance companies.

They were brought on here from Chicago by Daniel G. Gillette, superintendent of the medical revision department of the Mutual Life Insurance company. Mr. Nicoll received word that the couple had been found, and he at once telegraphed that they be brought to this city. Mr. Nicoll said that he did not know at the present time whether or not he would charge Wimmer with any crime, but it was possible he might be indicted for complicity in the crime for which Meyer is held. Wimmer lived with the Meyers at 320 West Thirteenth street at the time of the death of Ludwig Brandt and disappeared a few days later.

Mr. Nicoll committed him to the house of detention, and Mrs. Wimmer was allowed to go in the custody of her lawyer, James Kennedy of Chicago.

KANSAS MINERS' STRIKE.

Shots Exchanged Without Serious Results—More Trouble Expected.

WEIR CITY, Kan., July 21.—The expected crisis has come in the Kansas miners' strike. Just before noon yesterday a band of 500 strikers, headed by 100 women, which had been marching to the various strip pits, reached Clent's pits and sent in a committee to persuade the miners working there to quit. This they refused to do, and when the committee reported the entire body moved on to the works to force them out. The men were ready for them, and when they passed the trespass line they were fired upon, and a general battle followed, in which Winchesters, pistols and clubs were used. Over 100 shots were fired, and it is nothing short of a miracle that nobody was killed. One man was wounded in the forehead and in the leg, a boy in the foot, and one of the women got a bullet through her arm.

The owner of the strip, Clent, his son and a man named Big Dick Reed are said to be the ones who did the shooting, and they have given themselves up and were run out of the county for safe keeping. It is rumored that a quantity of firearms have been received here. The excitement continues at a high pitch and further bloodshed now seems inevitable.

CHANGED HIS MIND.

A New Phase of the Homestead Poisoning Case Confession.

PITTSBURG, July 21.—Yesterday Patrick Gallagher, the confessor, requested the presence of Warden Wright at his cell in the penitentiary. Warden Wright responded at once. Gallagher said: "Warden, I have been in hell all night, and wish to say to you now that the confession made by me yesterday was all a batched up scheme, and I was dragged into it. I wish now to retract everything that was said in that confession and wish you would send for the attorneys interested, as I will decline to sign the confession."

After a three hours' talk with Gallagher, District Attorney Burleigh came out and said that Gallagher had declared under oath that every statement he made was absolutely false, and that he, Dempsey, Beatty and Davidson are guilty as indicted. There is considerable speculation as to why Gallagher made the statement he did.

The story that Davidson went back on Gallagher seems to have settled him, and he decided to reiterate the statement he made on the witness stand at the time Dempsey was convicted.

FATAL NAPHTHA EXPLOSION.

Four Men Killed and One Injured in a Brooklyn Factory.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Yesterday afternoon a can of naphtha exploded in the sweat band factory of J. D. Campbell, 211 Walworth street, Brooklyn, killing J. D. Campbell, Samuel D. Campbell, his son; John Weiss and Jacob Weiss. Matthew Deering was badly injured.

The building was completely wrecked. It was a two-story frame structure. There were 12 persons employed in the factory. All excepting the five named were in the basement and escaped without injury.

Progress on Home Rule Bill.

LONDON, July 21.—The last 11 clauses of the home rule bill were brought through the committee stage last evening. On Thursday evening of last week the work of the house in committee had been pushed forward to clause 27. This clause, concerning judges and other persons having salaries charged on the consolidated fund, was carried on Monday. Clause 28, concerning persons in the civil service, and clause 29, concerning pensions, were also passed.

Declines to Serve as Executor.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Judge McKenna, who was nominated as one of the executors of the late Senator Stanford's estate, has declined to act in that capacity. He says it might be deemed incompatible with his office to maintain a relationship that would give ground for comment in case he should participate in the hearing of cases where the Southern Pacific company or Stanford held interest.

Carpenters Seriously Injured.

HICKSVILLE, L. I., July 21.—The roof of a frame building in this village fell in yesterday morning, while a number of carpenters were working inside, and seven of them were found to be seriously injured. All had arms or legs broken and were otherwise injured. It is feared that two are fatally injured.

Ill Deserved Honors.

LONDON July 21.—Focham Pacha, the governor of Cesarea, who personally directed the inhuman tortures of the Christian prisoners at Cesarea, has been decorated by the sultan and will soon be promoted.

Fonda Follows Suit.

FONDA, N. Y., July 21.—The only manufacturing establishment at Fonda is a knitting mill, and, having the prevailing depression in business, it has shut down until further notice.

ENGLISH COTTAGE STYLE.

A Bold Design That Is Unique and Picturesque—Cost, $2,700.

[Copyright, 1893, by American Press Association.]

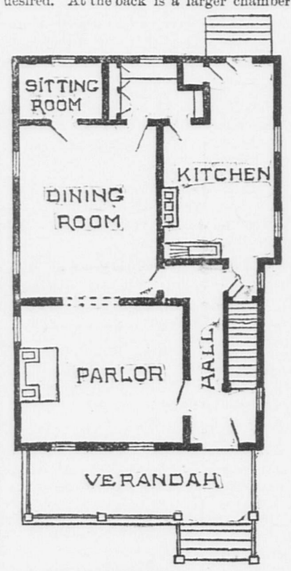

Here are the ground plans and front elevation of cottage in the English style, suitable for any genteel locality either in town or country. A broad veranda extends across the entire front of the house, affording shelter from the heat of the sun in summer and protection from the blasts of winter. In the first story is a large staircase hall, with an open staircase provided with neat turned balusters and newels, rails, etc. At the left of the hall is the parlor, lighted by two windows in front and one at the side. In this room is an open fireplace arranged so that wood or coal may be used at pleasure. The parlor is also used as a sitting room.

FRONT ELEVATION.

Next follows the dining room, which is an unusually large room for a low cost house. It is accessible from the hall and communicates with the parlor by a curtained opening. From the dining room you pass to the kitchen through the pantry in the proper way. At the rear of the dining room is a small room, which may be used either as a study, office or sewing room, or as a bedroom, as occasion may demand. The kitchen communicates with the front hall by means of a door under the principal stairs, which is an excellent arrangement, as it precludes the possibility of looking directly into the kitchen as you enter the house, a common fault of many plans. The door to the cellar is also underneath the main stairs, convenient to the kitchen.

In the second story is a large chamber, lighted by a triplet window in front and a small window at the side. Adjoining this chamber is a room suitable for a dressing room or a child's bedroom, amply lighted and shut off by a door, so that complete retirement and seclusion may be obtained if desired. At the back is a larger chamber and an unusually large bedroom, a fully appointed bathroom and good sized hall, all well lighted and all provided with liberal sized closets. A staircase leads to the attic, the entire area of which is floored, with one front room and the hall finished, the remaining space being left for storage.

The foundation walls are of stone. The building is of wood above the foundations. The outside walls sheathed and clapboarded in the first and shingled in the second story, while the gables are finished in half timber work, with panels of "rough coat" cement work. Open timber roofs, brick chimneys and shingled roofs. The walls and ceilings inside are plastered in two coats. Newels, rails and balusters of stairs of ash, polished. Floors of yellow pine. Doors of white pine. All other inside finish of white wood, painted two coats. Exterior painted two coats in three colors.

The broad projections of the open timber roof, half timbered gables, dormer windows, veranda and porch, with other details of the front, give the design a very attractive and picturesque appearance. The plans, too, are all that could be desired and well worth the consideration of any one who is about to build a comfortable home for a small amount of money. The building heated by a furnace in a proper manner will cost $2,700. D. W. KING.

A Remarkable Wedding.

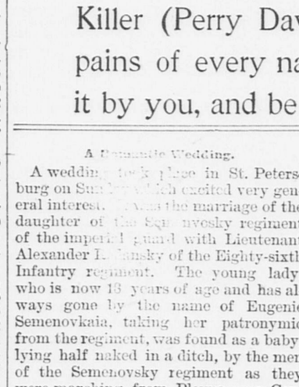

A wedding took place in St. Petersburg on Sunday which excited very general interest. It was the marriage of the daughter of the Semenovsky regiment of the imperial guard with Lieutenant Alexander I. Lansky of the Eighty-sixth Infantry regiment. The young lady, who is now 18 years of age and has always gone by the name of Eugenie Semenovkaia, taking her patronymic from the regiment, was found as a baby, lying half naked in a ditch, by the men of the Semenovsky regiment as they were marching from Plevna upon Constantinople in December, 1878.

The little Turkish foundling was tenderly cared for and after a time baptized into the Russian orthodox religion, her godfather being the surgeon of the regiment and her godmother the Princess Eugenie of Oldenburg. The regiment intrusted her education to qualified persons, and the bride now brings her husband a handsome dowry, provided by her military guardians.—St. James Gazette.

Court Dress For Embassadors.

Now comes the suggestion that our embassadors abroad should adopt a diplomatic court costume. It is doubtful, however, if it is acceded to. The simple dress of an American citizen prescribed for our ministers abroad by Secretary of State Marcy in 1853 will answer every purpose. Prior to that time American diplomats had worn a simple uniform, in accordance with the directions of the state department. Mr. Marcy's circular, just after Mr. Buchanan was accredited to the court of St. James, troubled Victoria's master of ceremonies, and he intimated that Mr. Buchanan could not expect to be invited to court balls if he did not come in court dress. Mr. Buchanan answered that he did not care if he never appeared at court, and he stuck to his everyday suit, which was a black coat, a white waistcoat cut rather high, a broad white neckcloth, black trousers and dress boots.—Boston Herald.

"Do you believe it a crime to steal a kiss," she said.

"In your case," he answered gallantly, "it would be grand larceny."—Truth.

Miners Leaving the Comstock.

Owing to the recent frequent drafts in the mines, Comstock miners are daily leaving for new camps, and lately many with their families have taken their departure from the lode. The majority of the single men who turn their backs upon this locality have no special point in view, but wend their way to Butte, Mon.; Park City, U. T.; Vanderbilt, Kootenai and other parts, not decided where they will locate. Every departing train carries away some miner whose home has been on the Comstock for a number of years. The mining population of Virginia is gradually dwindling, and it is doubtful whether the major portion of those departing will ever return.—Virginia (Nev.) Chronicle.

Fear Lost In Hunger.

During the cold and snowy weather of last winter foxes about the North Beach life saving station on the Maryland coast were driven to desperation with hunger. In their starving condition they seemed to lose the fear of men and actually approached the life saving station in broad daylight and attempted to steal chickens and even small pigs.—Washington Post.

Her Attractions.

She has no dazzling charms, no classic grace,
Nothing, you think, to win men's hearts about her.
Yet, looking at her sweet and gentle face,
I wonder what our lives would be without her!

She has no wish in the great world to shine,
For work outside a woman's sphere no yearning,
But on the altar of home's sacred shrine
She keeps the fire of pure affection burning.

We tell our griefs into her patient ear;
She whispers "Hope!" when ways are dark and dreary.
The little children like to have her near
And run into her open arms when weary.

Her step falls lightly by the sufferer's bed;
Where poverty and care abound she lingers,
And many a weary heart and aching head
Find gifts of healing in her tender fingers.

She holds a helping hand to those who fall,
Which gently guides them back to paths of duty.
Her kindly eyes, with kindly looks for all,
See in uncomeliest souls some hidden beauty.

Her charity would every need embrace;
The shy and timid fear not to address her.
With loving tact she rightly fills her place,
While all who know her pray that heaven may bless her.

Shall I Complain?

Shall I complain because the feast is o'er
And all the banquet lights have ceased to shine?
For joy that was and is no longer mine;
For love that came and went and comes no more;
For hopes and dreams that left my open door—
Shall I, who hold the past in fee, repine?
Nay! there are those who never quaffed life's wine—
That were the unblest fate one might deplore.

To sit alone and dream at set of sun,
When all the world is vague with coming night—
To hear old voices whisper, sweet and low,
And see dear faces steal back one by one
And thrill anew to each long past delight—
Shall I complain, who still this bliss may know?
—Louise Chandler Moulton.

Respite.

Drowsing, the other afternoon I lay
In that sweet interlude that falls between
Waking and sleeping when all being is seen
Of one complexion, and the vague dreams play
Among the thoughts, and the thoughts go astray
Among the dreams. My mother, who has been Dead almost half my life, appeared to lean
Above me, a boy in a house far away
That once was home, and all the troubled years
That have been since were as if they were not.
The voices that are hushed were in my ears;
The looks and motions that I had forgot
Were in my eyes, and they disowned the tears
That now again beneath their lids are hot.
—W. D. Howells.

Hearts, like apples, are hard and sour
Till crushed by pain's resistless power
And yield their juices, rich and bland,
To none but Sorrow's heavy hand.

EUROPE'S WARCLOUD

French Demands on Siam Discussed by England's Cabinet.

AGITATION IN THE HOUSE.

Immediate Preparation to Be Made by Great Britain.

LONDON, July 21.—A special cabinet meeting was summoned in Downing street yesterday afternoon. There was a full attendance, and France's demands on Siam were discussed at length, and eventually instructions for the Marquis of Dufferin, British ambassador to France, were formulated and approved.

After the meeting the Earl of Rosebery, secretary of state for foreign affairs, communicated with the admiralty as regards the disposition of the fleet in Asiatic waters. Late in the afternoon by the admiralty to Vice Admiral Fremantle, commander-in-chief of the Chinese division of the fleet.

Special Orders Were Dispatched

These facts, together with the sudden canceling of the Marquis of Dufferin's leave of absence, is regarded as hardly in harmony with the official predictions of a perfectly amicable settlement with France of the Siamese difficulty. Even if not alarmed by the course of France, the government is believed to realize that the Siamese affair is fraught with the most serious possibilities, for which immediate preparation must be made by Great Britain.

Further questions were asked in the house of commons yesterday in regard to the Siamese troubles. Sir Edward Grey, parliamentary secretary for foreign office, replied

In Behalf of the Government.

He rehearsed the events that have occurred in Siam since the relations between that country and France had become strained, and said that the British government had neither such sufficient nor precise information as would enable it to force a conclusion as to the merits of the conflict. Sir Edward added that the only part of the French ultimatum to Siam which concerned Great Britain was that relating to territorial arrangements between France and Siam.

SIAMESE DISPUTE.

Belief Prevalent That Russia Will Assist France—Siam Alarmed.

PARIS, July 21.—The statement that Russia had signified her intention to support France in her dispute with Siam, and that Russian warships were now on the way to the Gulf of Siam, was published in The Petit Journal, a Liberal Republican paper. A similar statement appeared in The Nation, a Radical newspaper.

—A dispatch received here from Bangkok states that the Siamese court is greatly agitated. Preparations are apparently under way for the departure of the king and his court from the capital. Reports of the intention of the king to leave Bangkok have spread among the populace, and have caused the excitement. The dispatch adds that it is stated in Bangkok that a popular agitation in favor of France has been started in the province of Battambang, some distance to the southeast of the capital, and that troops have been sent to put down the sedition.

Intimidating the Siamese.

BANGKOK, July 21.—The belligerent attitude of the French gunboats Forfait, Inconstante and Comete opposite the middle of the city is causing great anxiety among the people. All three gunboats have steam up and are cleared for action. The men are continually beaten to quarters, and they train the guns on any Siamese gunboat that happens to pass them on its way up or down the river day and night, although, in accordance with an agreement with M. Davie, French minister resident, the Siamese government endeavors to allay suspicion by warning in advance the French commander of the passing of every Siamese man-of-war.

Ex-Governor Still In Custody.

HACKENSACK, N. J., July 21.—Ex-Governor Price is still in the custody of Sheriff Dogert of Hackensack. Anderson Price, one of his former bondsmen, visited him, but did not qualify as his bondsman. The ex-governor will say nothing about his case, and, despite the action of Chancellor McGill in demanding no more bonds, he thinks the case will eventually be quashed. He is a civil prisoner and enjoys his liberty with Justice Heath.

Lost Both Legs and Will Die.

FORT WAYNE, July 21.—Charles Dewnells of Manchester, N. H., a young man who lost his money while attending the World's fair, was stealing a ride through this city, over the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad enroute for home, when he fell beneath the cars and both legs were cut off. He cannot recover.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The trial of Mrs. Margaret McCabe, who was charged with killing the 2 months-old child of Mrs. Rose Finch of 8 Amsterdam avenue on Jan. 2 last, has resulted in a verdict of manslaughter in the second degree.

Dr. Briggs Is Independent.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 21.—Rev. Charles A. Briggs, who was deposed by the Presbyterian general assembly, has declined an offer of a testimonial of $50,000, which Chaplain Parker of this city wished to raise.

Manhattan Athletic Clubhouse Sold.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The palatial home of the bankrupt Manhattan Athletic club was sold for $400,000. Adrian Iselin, the wealthy Wall street banker, was the only bidder.

Ahlward to Be Prosecuted.

BERLIN, July 21.—Herr Miquel has instituted a prosecution against Ahlwardt, based on insults in connection with the notorious bogus documents of the latter.

Canadian Village Destroyed.

QUEBEC, July 21.—The village of St. Anne de la Perado, near Quebec, one of the oldest settlements in the country, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday.

Fodder Export Prohibited.

VIENNA, July 21.—The Official Gazette publishes an order prohibiting the exportation of hay, straw or other fodder from Austria-Hungary.

SUED FOR $200,000.

Henry L. Aldrich's Estate Attached by a Former Partner.

PROVIDENCE, July 21.—Writs of attachment were issued here yesterday for the total sum of $200,000 against Henry L. Aldrich, a big cotton manufacturer and speculator, owning mills in Moosup, Conn. The attaching creditor is Henry M. Taber of New York. The property covered by the attachment consists of money in the Rhode Island National and City National banks, a large area of water front on Narragansett bay in the Fifth and Sixth wards, a large plot of land in Cranston and real estate in this and other cities and the mills at Moosup. Taber was at one time in business with Aldrich. The writs were served late last night.

Great Loss to Connecticut.

HARTFORD, July 21.—A special to The Times of this city states that Gunn has indoubtedly absconded, and a shortage of $0,000 has been discovered. Within four years Gunn has placed $200,000 in Allen county alone on loans for the Connecticut school fund and much more in other localities. His collections for interest on that account have amounted to $14,000 per year, and the fear is expressed that the school fund is a sufferer by his sudden departure. Nothing is known of his whereabouts.

Fishing Schooners in Collision.

BOSTON, July 21.—The fishing schooner Nellie G. Dixon, from the channel fishing grounds, arrived at Commercial wharf in tow of the tug Samuel Little. At midnight on July 18, when off Sankaty Head, the vessel was run into by the fishing schooner Edith Emery. The Dixon was cut down to the waterline, the damage being $1100. The damage to the Edith Emery is not stated.

Dull Times In Connecticut.

NORWALK, Conn., July 21.—Norwalk manufacturers are experiencing the dullest season they have ever known. Hutchinson, Cole & Co., shirt manufacturers, have been shut down for three weeks. Roth & Goldsmith, corset manufacturers, employing nearly 500 persons, are idle, and last night the Norwalk Lock company laid off 100 men indefinitely.

Salem Political Rumor.

SALEM, Mass., July 21.—Mayor Rantoul's name has been connected with a foreign consulship, but he will not say anything about it. An intimate friend of the mayor says: "There are other more desirable offices in this country than the mayoralty chair." It was hinted that an office is to be offered him in a short time by President Cleveland.

Mrs. Engel Found In an Almshouse.

DEDHAM, Mass., July 21.—Mrs. Rudolph Engel, the woman who disappeared from here several days ago, was found at the Cambridge almshouse. She had been wandering about for three nights, two of them being spent in the woods, and her ignorance of the English language prevented her from making her identity known.

Stricken With Apoplexy.

BOSTON, July 21.—City Solicitor Andrew J. Bailey was stricken with apoplexy at Clark's hotel yesterday. He was removed to the Massachusetts general hospital in the police ambulance. The physicians attending him said late last night that he was improving, was perfectly conscious and that his chances of recovery were fairly good.

Blackmailer Sentenced.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 21.—Claire Kelly, who attempted to blackmail Edward B. Wilson, a prominent citizen, last winter, was convicted of criminal libel yesterday. Judge Blodgett said he considered the prisoner more foolish than malicious, and sent him to the state reformatory.

Body Identified.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 21.—A body found in the river has been identified as that of Henry Passno, who had been missing since Tuesday night. He was convicted of drunkenness in the police court Monday and is supposed to have committed suicide to hide his shame.

A Railroad Hero's Death.

FORT FAIRFIELD, Me., July 21.—In removing a handcar from the track and saving a picnic train from destruction on the Tobique Valley (N. B.) railroad, Mr. McMinneman, a section hand of St. John, aged 52, was struck by a car and instantly killed.

Gingham Mills to Close.

PORTLAND, Me., July 21.—At a directors' meeting here yesterday it was decided to shut down the mills of the Westbrook Manufacturing company, makers of ginghams, from July 19 until Sept. 4. The monthly payroll is $20,000.

Enough to Last a Season.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., July 21.—Hon. Samuel Roads, Jr., has received from Washington a mammoth watermelon. It took a barrel to hold it, and it was a present from one of the clerks under him.

Quarryman Seriously Injured.

MACHIAS, Me., July 21.—David Cook of Sullivan, while at work in Marshfield quarry, had his skull fractured and his head badly jammed by a piece of granite falling from a derrick.

Reported Shut Down Denied.

LAWRENCE, Mass., July 21.—The report that the Everett mills would shut down on account of the present condition of the selling markets was denied by Agent McDuffee yesterday.

Secretary Herbert at Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 21.—Secretary Herbert spent two hours and a half at the torpedo station yesterday, viewing the work of constructing torpedoes in the factory.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

—It has been urged many times before, but during this hot weather it is worth stating again, that to rush about one's business or pleasure is very unwise, as is also the pouring down of quantities of ice water. Do not hurry, dress comfortably and in a way befitting the season, do not eat or drink too much, and you are likely not to be bothered with the heat.

—Boston has an Italian weekly paper now—La Concordia.

—The recent statement of the amount of unclaimed funds standing to various accounts at the British pay office brings out the fact that the national debt has been reduced by some £12,000,000 in the present century through the use of unclaimed money from various sources.

STILL IN THE DARK.

Siam Hardly Understands the Demands of France.

NO HELP FROM ENGLAND.

Indemnity Asked by France Exceeds the Damage.

LONDON, July 22.—Important communications have passed between the foreign office and Captain Jones, British minister resident in Bangkok. Vice-Admiral Fremantle, commander-in-chief of the Chinese division of the fleet, is hastening to Singapore, where dispatches from the admiralty await him. The greater part of the squadron under his command accompanied him.

A BIT OF BANGKOK.

Great Britain informed Siam yesterday that she could not recognize any obligation to assist her. It is evident, therefore, that the Siamese government must patch up as best it can most of its difference with France. In the territorial arrangements, however, Great Britain will have a voice. The exact nature of her demands cannot be ascertained before France shall specify more particularly than she has prefaced in her ultimatum the Boundaries of the Territory to be brought under the French control. The ultimatum is notably indefinite as regards this point.

Even Siam is still in the dark and her efforts to obtain light from M. Davie bids fair to remain vain for several days. The vital part of the French demand for territory may include the whole left bank of the Mekong river.

This territory Siam will not surrender without a struggle. France has given Siam a month in which to withdraw from the ports on the lower Mekong. Siam manifests all willingness to pay France the indemnity demanded for injuries to French citizens and property, although the indemnity specified by France is far in excess of the damages.

Export of Rice Stopped.

PARIS, July 22.—A dispatch from Saigon says: The Siamese government has issued a decree prohibiting the export of rice from Battambang and Angkor. The Fluvial Massageries company of Cochin China, therefore, fearing a rebellion in those provinces, has suspended its service on the lakes. Admiral Humann has made a requisition on the Fluvial steamer Battambang to replace the Jean Say, which was sunk, and carry the mails between Saigon and Bangkok.

Siam Will "Pony Up."

LONDON, July 22.—The Bangkok correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says: The concession of the French demands is probable, although a section of the Siamese cabinet council are defiant. The French gunboats are making special preparations for the event of a refusal.

To Reinforce French Troops.

PARIS, July 22.—A dispatch from Saigon to The Temps says that 350 men have been sent to reinforce the French garrison on the island of Kong in the Mekong river.

Bound For Siam

ALGIERS, July 22.—Five hundred of the foreign legion of the French army have sailed from Oran for Marseilles, whence they will be conveyed to Siam.

Missionaries Are Safe.

NEW YORK, July 22.—News of the most reassuring nature, so far as the personal safety of the American missionaries in in Siam is concerned, was received by the Presbyterian board of foreign missions from Rev. J. B. Dunlap of the Presbyterian mission in Bangkok.

Queen of the Seas.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The steamer Paris of the International Navigation company made the passage in 6 days, 9 hours and 37 minutes. The Paris not only breaks the record from Southampton, Eng., beating the time of the steamer Fuerst Bismarck, but still retains her record from Queenstown of 5 days 15 hours and 14 minutes.

Hoar Gets the Office.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—It was announced at the department of justice just before it closed yesterday afternoon that District Attorney F. D. Allen of Massachusetts had been removed, and that ex-Representative Sherman Hoar had been appointed his successor.

Burned In Earnest This Time.

CONEY ISLAND, July 22.—The grand stand of Pain's fireworks, West Brighton, where the spectacle of the "Burning of Mount Vesuvius" has been presented nightly this season, was entirely destroyed by fire. The burned space covered about half an acre.

Senator Stump.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Governor Markham has decided to appoint Irwin C. Stump to succeed the late Senator Stanford. Stump is a wealthy man, has large mining interests and is one of the executors of the estate of the late Senator Mears

BOSTONS WERE OUTBATTED

But Their Shortcomings Were Amply Made Up In Fielding.

BOSTON, July 22.—Dame Fortune was again on the side of the champions. She turned every slip that the Giants made unto profit for the Bostons. Every base on balls and every error that Ward's men made counted in the score. The Bostons fielded sharply, but they were outbatted more than the score shows. The features of the game were the fielding of Carroll, McCarthy, Tiernan and Long, and the batting of Connor.

GENERAL DULLNESS

Prevails In Business Circles Throughout the Country.

MONEY MARKETS EASIER.

Result of the Strain Not So Bad as Expected.

NEW YORK, July 22.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

This week the country has withstood surprisingly well an extraordinary strain. The failure of many banks and firms, of a great iron syndicate and other companies, the remarkable fall in stocks and the closing of some manufacturing houses have come in spite of real relaxation in eastern and some western and southern money markets.

Even while cotton and woolen mills are working over-time on past orders, the scantiness of new orders was noticed, and the great frequency of cancellations. Close observers also saw evidence of decreasing distribution to consumers, so that dealers were left with part of their stocks unsold, and wholesale dealers found less encouragement to buy. The steady increase in this state of things has brought such well-known mills as the Amoskeag cotton and the Slater woolen and many other textile and shoe works to stop operation for a time

Until the Prospect Is Clearer.

In dry goods cancellations are still numerous, sales of men's woolens are not commensurate with stocks prepared, and orders are small and mainly for low grade goods. Some improvement is seen in dress goods, but cottons are still dull and print cloths and brown goods lower. Sales of wool are reasonably small, and shipments of shoes fall far behind last year.

Wheat has fallen 2 cents, corn 1 cent. Pork products and oil are lower. Western receipts of wheat are moderate and exports fairly large, but unprecedented stocks press for sale.

The stock market closed last week hopefully, but by Wednesday had reached the lowest average of prices since 1884. London and short sellers then bought, and some recovery has followed.

Reports From Trade Centres.

Boston reports no improvement and hand-to-mouth buying. Dry goods backward, woolen orders limited, and the clothing trade slow. Shoes are quiet, with buying slender. Wool is more steady, but sales small. Trade in furniture and hardware is moderate, and building a little more active as, local money markets are easier.

At Philadelphia dry goods are unchanged. Liquor, tobacco, and chemicals are quiet, with slow collections, and wool lower, textile manufacturers buying little, and carpet mills generally running short time. Banks are holding currency and strengthening themselves.

Chicago reports 19 per cent decrease in clearings, 25 in real estate and 9 in eastbound shipments, active demands for loans, but more freedom in lending and better feeling. The strong position of Chicago banks is shown by reports. The jobbing trade has fairly satisfactory orders, and collections are easier. Retail houses are doing a heavy business.

At Milwaukee the closing of some manufactories and reduction of wages in others and the failure of the great iron syndicate are noticed.

At St. Paul trade is restricted.

At Minneapolis lumber sales are reduced and sales of flour below the output.

The treasury has been paying gold to the banks, but, on the whole, increasing its holdings.

Exports of products are a little larger than a year ago, but imports are also large.

The Failures

during the past week number 467 in the United States against 168 last year, and 25 in Canada against 19, two of the failures being of capital exceeding $500,000 and 101 others of capital exceeding $5000 each. Last week the failures in the United States numbered 374, and the previous week 324.

WAS ONLY TEMPORARY.

The Trouble Among National Banks Is Now Nearly Over.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Mr. Eckels, the comptroller of currency, is still of the opinion that the worst is over, and that the failures of a majority of the national banks that are involved represent nothing more serious than temporary inability to pay out unusual sums of money that could have been provided had panic-stricken stockholders given reasonable notice.

Reports received from nearly all the national banks in New York city show them to be in excellent condition, notwithstanding the great demands that have been made on them. A statement of the condition of the Brooklyn national banks shows that their reserve amounts to 27.01 per cent and resources $17,587,573. Twenty-five per cent is considered an excellent showing.

Didn't Practice What He Preached.

SEAM-FACED Quincy granite is coming into use for buildings. Ground was broken in Hyde Park this week for a handsome stone edifice for Christ church. It will be built of seam-faced Quincy granite with trimmings of Nova Scotia free stone, and will cost about $25,000.

MALDEN HAS the lowest city tax rate yet reported, $15 per $1,000. That of our twin city Woburn shows an increase of ninety cents, being $16.60 this year. Woburn's rate has not been below $15.70 for at least eleven years. The average for Quincy during the last eleven years was $14.60. The city rates for Woburn previous to this year have averaged $16.28, and those of Quincy $13.50. These facts only show that Quincy taxes are not excessive in comparison with other small cities.

It costs more to run large towns than small cities if we may judge by the tax rate of Athol. It was $19 last year and will be $20.70 this year.—Quincy Ledger.

We think it depends upon whether the comparison is made between a dead city and a live town. Athol's high tax this year is on account of building three extensive brick schoolhouses, opening and building new streets, and other public improvements. Athol is a live, prosperous town, and don't you forget it.—Athol Chronicle.

THE DAILY LEDGER'S little comment seems to provoke considerable discussion. All hail to Athol, but please remember that Quincy is not a dead city in any sense. It is getting the improvements and growing rapidly in population and valuation. The Hyde Park Times comes to our rescue also. It says:

Brother Waterman of the Athol Chronicle, and others, have taken great delight in booming that town, and by so doing have boomed the taxes up to $20.70 on a valuation at which the owners of much of the real estate would doubtless think themselves happy if they could get a cash offer on the basis of assessors' appraisal. Athol's financial policy is exactly the reverse of this town, and which is the better facts and figures show.

BRAINTREE.

New poll tax lists have been printed and contain fourteen hundred and fifteen names.

The engagement is announced of Miss Elizabeth Bradford Potter to Oakes A. Bridgham, both of South Braintree.

The engineers have decided to have a general drill of the Fire Department on the first of August in the north part of the town.

The putting of the Braintree Selectman in charge of an undertaker in the procession up in Randolph Wednesday is thought to have been done in questionable taste.

Miss Bertha and Miss Helen Arnold, daughters of Mr. E. Watson Arnold, left yesterday morning on a visit to the World's Fair. They form a portion of an excursion party of influential people, principally hailing from Boston.

A grand vesper service under the auspices of the Baptist church of this town will be given in Town Hall on Sunday evening, July 23d, at 7 30.

Patriot Editor Dead.

The Boston Journal reports the death of a former editor of the Quincy PATRIOT from paralysis of the heart yesterday. His connection with the paper was brief, but he has had an eventful career since, as the following sketch shows.

Senator Edward B. Osborne, representing the Fifteenth District, was found dead in his bed at his residence in Albany, N. Y., Friday morning. Mr. Osborne was born in Northampton, Mass., in August, 1814, was educated as a printer and in 1835 became foreman of the Salem Landmark. A year later he became publisher and editor of the Quincy Patriot, the organ of John Quincy Adams, and from 1837 to 1853 he edited and published the Danbury (Conn.) Times.

Then he removed to Poughkeepsie, purhased the American and changed its name o the Dutchess Democrat, which in 1856 was combined with the Telegraph. In 1884 he was elected to the Assembly, and in 1886 he became County Clerk of Dutchess. In 1889 he was again elected to the Assembly, and in 1891 he was promoted to the Senate, defeating Gilbert A. Deane, Republican candidate, by 14 votes.

TODAY'S COURT.

BRO. CHARLES BRECK

Two Hundred or More Masons Pay Their Last Respects to

THE OLDEST LIVING MASON.

Friends and Business Associates Gather in Large Numbers.

In the old town of Milton there was laid at rest yesterday a good old man, one who had nearly reached the century milestone, but who retained to the last all his faculties and was respected by the people generally.

Charles Breck was a wonderful old man, and was proud of the fact that he was the oldest living Mason, and the fraternity turned out in large numbers to pay their last respects.

Prayer was offered at 2 P. M., in the presence of the relatives at his late residence, at the the junction of Canton avenue and Centre street, by Rev. D. M. Wilson of Quincy, chaplain of Rural lodge.

The body was then taken to the First Congregational church where were assembled a large number of friends, seemingly including all the old people of the town, and also the town officials and business associates, and 200 or more Masons, representing the Grand Lodge, Old Colony commandery of Abington, St. Andrews chapter, Union lodge of Dorchester, Rural lodge of Quincy, and Macedonian lodge of Milton. There was also a delegation from Neponset lodge of Odd Fellows, of which Mr. Breck was a charter member.

The Forty-fifth Regiment association was also represented.

Among well known Quincy people present were: Charles Francis Adams, George L. Gill, Charles A. Howland, Edwin W. Marsh, Charles H. Porter, W. G. Prescott and others.

The pall bearers were Joseph Holmes, the Town Treasurer, Capt. E. D. Wadsworth, T. F. Temple of the Dorchester Fire Insurance company, and C. A. Howland of the Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance company. The ushers at the church were Mr. Arthur Sias and Mr. D. E. Wadsworth.

The plain black broadcloth casket bore the silver plate with the simple inscription of name, birth and death, and two wreaths of English ivy with white and purple flowers interwoven and a cluster of leaves of the rubber tree. The decorations at the altar were unusually fine. There were several set pieces, one from each of the various lodges, and a closed book was sent by the Directors of the Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Rev. D. M. Wilson officiated in the absence of Rev. Roderick Stebbins, the pastor, and his eulogy of the dead was very appropriate. It was the natural fulfillment of a full life, he said; a life of useful service to the good old town. It was always his aim to do that which was wisest and best, and his example should be praised and emulated. He was not a man of this generation, but one of those steady, sturdy, conservative men who led a quiet life, and which we sometimes think are passing away. He had convictions of his own mind and heart and knew what he believed. Masons knew how he had stood by the order in those dark days. He was loyal to anti-slavery and temperance. Integrity was a marked characteristic; he was trustworthy through and through. Of a kindly social nature and even tenor, and loyal as a friend. Always in his place and so natural. We recall these virtues in praise of a just and true man. We remember to our own good. We remember to emulate and to take as an example.

The Mendelssohn male quartette sang several appropriate selections, and Mr. H. O. Johnson, the tenor, a solo.

The Masonic bodies, relatives and friends escorted the remains to the beautiful Milton cemetery, where in a large shady lot they were laid at rest by the side of his wife who had gone before. The full Masonic services were performed by Union lodge.

Husband Missing.

It has become almost a daily occurence now to report some one of the citizens of the city as missing. Some of those reported missing have been found on the island down the bay and others have been found all right in other places, while some have not been heard from as yet. This morning another man is reported as missing, in the person of James Stewart, of Union street, who has been absent from home since July 16. Stewart is about 22 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches tall, of light complexion. He has a wife and one child who are in destitute circumstances. Family trouble is supposed to be the cause of his sudden leaving for parts unknown. The neighbors of Mrs. Stewart have raised a purse of money for her and she has gone to her parents' home in Nova Scotia.

Distances.

The noise of a train can be heard 3,300 yards, the bark of a dog 1,800 yards, the roll of a drum 1,600 yards, a dinner bell 2 miles, a call to get up in the morning 2 feet,—but this drop. A beautiful oak frame combination plush parlor set for $35.00, can be heard for 20 miles. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

AN ASSURED FACT.

Connecting Link in the Quincy-Brockton System to be Built.

The Braintree Observer of today says:

It would seem from announcement recently made that an electric line of road connecting our town with Quincy on the north, and Holbrook and Randolph on the south is an assured fact. On Monday evening last, a large and enthusiastic meeting was held in Holbrook, to act on the petition of the Directors of the Braintree Company for an extension of its line through that town, connecting with the Brockton Street Railway Company, and also the proposed line of the Randolph Street Company at the Randolph and Holbrook line.

The meeting was presided over by the Selectmen, and upon invitation, Mr. F. A. Hobart of the Braintree Company fully explained the situation, and gave a history of the efforts he had made during the past three years to secure the building of the road. His statement was quite interesting and his explanation of the proposed action was very favorably received, and after remarks by several citizens of the town, and also statements by Mr. Beaty of the American Railroad Improvement Company, with whom, we are informed, a contract has been made by the Braintree Company to build and equip the road. The meeting voted unanimously in favor of the granting of the petition of the Braintree Company.

We understand that the Braintree Company and the Randolph Company are to be consolidated, and that the contracts provide, after consolidation, for a belt line of road, starting at the Quincy line, running through Washington and Hancock streets to the Holbrook line, thence to the Randolph and Holbrook line, through Randolph to the Braintree line and thence to South Braintree village.

As the franchise in Braintree expires on Oct. 15th, work on that section will be commenced at an early date, but it is hoped that the entire line will be built and in operation within a few months, and we are assured that this will be done unless the present financial difficulties prevent it.

The consummation of this result will be gratifying to our people, and be of great benefit to the town. Mr. Hobart, although he has been subjected to severe criticism, seems to be entitled to congratulation and much credit for his final success. He has persevered under difficulties which would have discouraged others.

We understand from Mr. Hobart that the next movement will be the building of a road to East Braintree, the only obstacle to success being the grade crossing at Braintree. Our friends in East Braintree ought at once to interest themselves in an enterprise so vital to their interests. All hands up now for a road to East Braintree, thus binding together all sections of the town.

The Fresh Air Fund.

The story of the "Fresh Air Fund" will never be told enough until the cities of the world have become the cities of the Great King, "where all the world is sweet." It was fifteen years ago that this question appeared in a paper, "Have you helped any one this week?" and by it a new plan of usefulness was suggested — Ten cents will give a tired mother a ride and a chance to spend the day in green fields. Like the grain of mustard seed this has grown into a wide-reaching charity which shelters multitudes of weary ones during the long summer heats.

Many are so fettered by work that they can leave their close, crowded homes for not more than a day. For these, a succession of picnics is provided in Franklin Park, with plentiful dinners and pleasing entertainment, at an expense of only thirty-five cents for each person. Others are permitted to enjoy a day at Cresent Beach or Nantasket. The best of its gifts is Rosemary Cottage, in Eliot, Maine, which was given in memory of a little child, where poor children, tired mothers, and overworked shop girls are sent for two weeks at a cost, including transportation, of less than seven dollars per person. Forty-three are now at this "haven for weary ones distressed."

The children tell with delight of treading the hay, of swinging all they wanted to, and of the stories read to them on Sunday afternoons, while all have climbed the hill to see Mount Washington in one direction, and in the other the Isles of Shoals, "looking like long white boats."

A Norwegian lad, on being asked what he liked best at the Cottage, loyally pointed to the great American flag—to him a veritable banner of love—as it floated from its staff on the grounds, and answered, "I like best to see that flag flying!

How new and beautiful the most common ways of happy living are to some of them is shown by the remark of the little boy who said, "Mamma, when shall we go again to that picnic where they ring the bell for meals?' No wonder he thought the two weeks were a continuous picnic!

A mother had added to her own large family a sister's five children who were left motherless. Though worn out, she felt that she must not leave her little charge; but when she was allowed to take four of the children with her, her happiness was complete, and she says that she shall make a better mother for the two weeks at Rosemary Cottage.

Another mother thought that heaven must be like the life at RoseMary, and gathering her children about her after their return resolved with them to make their own home as much like that as possible.

Contributions to continue the work of the Fresh Air Fund the present season are solicited. They should be sent to Rev. D. W. Waldron, 7-A Beacon street, Boston, and will be promptly acknowledged.

CRACK BOATS ENTER

The Club Race of the Quincy Yacht Club.

VANESSA, MAGPIE AND MAB

The Winners in Their Respective Classes —A Lively Race.

The fourth club race of the Quincy Yacht club was sailed Friday afternoon off the club house in a stiff breeze from the southwest. The race was as large a one as held by the club for some time, thirteen boats being entered in the three classes.

The start in the first class was very unsatisfactory owing to the failures of the gun to work, and the boats were started by voice.

The Vanessa came over from Hull and there was an exciting race between her and the Beatrice, Commodore Cavanagh's prize winner. The Vanessa got away first but was soon overhauled by the Beatrice, and she led the way and finished with a good lead, but lost the race on time allowance.

The boats in this class were not measured until the finish and although the race was given to the Vanessa the leg rightfully belongs to the Beatrice as the fin keel should have sailed in the 21 foot class.

In the second class the fast ones were out, Barker's Opechee having as rivals the Magpie and Commodore Faxon's new boat, Aurisa. The Magpie was in her element, however, and upon crossing the line the first time round had a good lead which she increased.

The little boats had their fun as well as their larger sisters. Ex-Commodore Shaw's Mab carried off the honors, leading her competitors at the finish by five minutes atcual and three minutes corrected time.

The prizes were $10 and $5 in each class and a leg in the championship cup, and as a result the Vanessa and Beatrice take prizes in the first class, the Magpie and Opechee in the second class, and the Mab and Imp in the third class.

The judges were William Whitmarsh, P. H. Gavin, C. F. Colby and Luther S. Anderson.

Young Men's Christian Association.

The Y. M. C. A. rooms have been very cool during this hot weather. Many visitors have found the parlor and reading room pleasant places in which to spend an hour or wait for the electric cars.

The regular service will be held in the parlor Sunday, at 3.30 P. M. These meetings during this month have been very helpful to all who attended them. Come up and spend an hour with us, tomorrow.

The second moonlight excursion down the harbor will leave Commercial wharf next Monday at 7.15 P. M. Get your tickets of the Secretary.

The team will play basket ball this afternoon at Merrymount park.

Secretary Colton returned this morning from the junior encampment at Silver Lake. Thirty-five of the boys were there and enjoyed a very successful encampment.

Let It Come.

A Holbrook item in the Brockton Enterprise of yesterday said: "At last the proposed belt street railway line, to connect this town with Randolph, Braintree and other places, en route to Boston, seems assured. The company that is to carry out the project is the American Railroad Improvement Company, to whom the franchise necessary to lay tracks in this town and operate a railroad has been granted. The company in their petition agree to give bonds that the road will be built in a certain reasonable length of time, and judging by their representative, General Manager Beaty, they will live up to their agreement. The people are well pleased over the prospect.

Among the names of the passengers who are to sail today on the Pavonia, we note the name of Rev. Lyman Herbert Morse, of Newton Centre; who is going as missionary to Africa. Mr. Morse is a step-son of Mrs. Caroline Morse nee Caroline Burrell, who formerly resided in this city.

Two young ladies from Atlantic, endeavored to go rowing on the Neponset river on Thursday, but the current being quite strong, and they not being very skilful boatmen, brought up at the railroad bridge trembling, but still waving distress signals, until finally they were rescued by a party from a neighboring boat, who saw their entreaties to get safely on land again.

Divisions 4 and 5, A. O. H., of this city are holding their annual picnic at Lovell's grove, North Weymouth, today. The two divisions formed on Water street, and headed by the Granite City band marched through the principal streets of South and West Quincy, thence to the Centre, where cars were taken for the grove. At the grove there will be a series of sports, for which suitable prizes will be given, and also dancing.

Does Advertising Pay?

We know of a case when it did not. A man advertised for a wife and he got her. Thus his troubles commenced. He couldn't live without furniture, but he found the prices so wonderfully low at the store of Henry L. Kincaide & Co.'s that it made him a happy man. Yes, he found everything there, and the prices,——cut almost in two.

Mrs. Wm. Hulse, Mantoloking, N. J.
Taken from the grave.

"The doctors said I had the worst case of womb trouble they ever saw.

"I had heart trouble, lost my speech and the use of my limbs. I frequently had fits, fainting spells, and I could not sleep. Three of the best New York doctors gave me up. Friends came to see me—among them my cousin.

"She said she believed Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would help me, and persuaded the doctor to try it. Oh! how thankful I am they gave it to me, for it took me from the grave. I began to improve immediately. I soon got out, and am now well and strong. No words can express my gratitude to you for my life. Since then I have given it to others, and it never fails."

Sold by all druggists for $1 per bottle.

The Kickapoos' Greeting

Words of Sympathy to the Sick and Suffering Whites.

After the Kickapoo Indians had consented to allow their medicines to be introduced among the white people they had a grand Medicine dance, lasting all night. Their wild movements in fantastic array around a blazing fire were in time to a chant they sung. The meaning of the words of their song was wholly of kindness, love and sympathy—a portion translates as follows:

"The Kickapoos bring you health."
"Their hearts are full of pity for you."
"Have hope for the great spirit"
"Has given us that which we offer you."
"It will make you well and happy."

It was with the feelings expressed by these words that they offered the Kickapoo Indian Remedies to the white people. That the offer was appreciated, and that the remedies have done great good is evidenced by a large sale all over the continent, and their remedies are now found on the shelves of every druggist in the land.

Its seasonable use has prevented serious sickness in thousands of cases.

Disease cannot exist in its presence.

Best of all it is a simple compound of roots, barks and herbs, about which the Indian has more knowledge than any living botanist or physician.

Remember, too, that "Kickapoo" Remedies are genuine Indian preparations. Indians gather the herbs and prepare them for shipment. Indians receive them at the Laboratory. Indians steep them for the medicine and Indians put up the finished product. From first to last they are true medicines of the red man.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, the great Liver, Blood and Stomach Renovater, and other Kickapoo Indian Remedies are Sold by all Druggists.

—The New England Magazine with the current issue for July passes into the hands of Warren F. Kellogg, who has purchased the assets of the old company, and will continue the publication of the magazine, managing it himself from its new offices at 5 Park Square, Boston. Mr. Kellogg was formerly Treasurer of the Boston Post, under the old regime, when it stood for all that was highest in American journalism, and more recently he has been interested in different Boston magazines. Edwin D. Mead, the chief editor of the New England, under the old stock company, and Walter Blackburn Harte, the managing editor, will be associated with Mr. Kellogg in his new enterprise.

—A young woman in a Pennsylvania village the other day asked the postmaster for some stamps. "Which kind?" he inquired. "The ones with the whiskers," she replied, and he at once gave her some two-cent stamps on which is the picture of Columbus with his twelve-hours growth of whiskers.

—Just a year ago Collins Leaman, the Brockton barber, was murdered, and no arrest of the perpetrator of the crime has yet been made, although $1,000 have been spent for expert detective service, and the city police have followed scores of clews unavailingly.

—Cambridge and Newton are agitating a five cent car anywhere within the city limits, and the city solicitor of the former city appeared before the railroad commissioners yesterday.

THATCHER'S "POINTERS"

Appear to Have Existed Only In His Own Imagination.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Mr. Thatcher of Colorado, who is reported by Denver telegrams to have furnished President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle with a comprehensive financial policy, including free coinage of silver and the retirement of the $1 and $2 paper currency of the United States, is only recalled here as an applicant for office who had a brief interview some weeks ago with Secretary Carlisle on the subject of his office-seeking aspirations, but on no other topic. Secretary Gresham, the only member of the cabinet left in the city, when shown the dispatch, made no effort to control his risibilities, and, after indulging in a very hearty laugh, insisted that the story was not worth any other answer.

The story referred to was, in effect, that President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle had assured him that they would not try for an unconditional repeal of the Sherman law.

BAD FOR MEYER.

Evidence Which Gives the Government a Sure Case Against Him.

NEW YORK, July 22.—District Attorney Nicoll has in his possession a letter written by Dr. Meyer to his wife, inviting her to commit suicide. In the letter Meyer promised to commit suicide also. It is believed that Meyer wished to induce his wife to commit suicide so that there would be no possibility of her turning state's evidence against him. The letter will be used at the trial. That Carl Muller, alias Jacob Wimmers, will turn state's evidence and testify against Dr. Meyer there is thought to be little doubt.

Forgot His Own Youthful Days.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Jacob Werner, a butcher of Forty-fourth street, was with difficulty saved from the fury of a mob of excited men, women and children last evening. Some small boys built a bonfire in front of 425 West Forty-first street and danced about it, much to the disgust of Werner. Finally the butcher rushed out and seized Angelo Corrona and threw him into the bonfire. The boy was badly burned about the arms.

Gotham's Smallpox Cases.

NEW YORK, July 22.—A health inspector stumbled over a nest of smallpox in the big tenement at 25 Pell street. In one filthy room he found a whole family sick with the disease. Constantine Trabaco, his wife and three children were huddled together in two beds. The family could not afford a doctor. Louis Gabana, a homeless man, was sent to riverside hospital, suffering from smallpox.

Deserves a Pension, Surely.

DETROIT, July 22.—The most sensational thing that has yet come to light relative to the so called purging of the pension list, is the suspension of Justice Charles Dean Long of the Michigan supreme court. At the battle of Wilmington island, Ga., he lost his left arm and he was also shot through the hips and abdomen. This latter wound has still to be dressed twice a day.

Firemen Overcome.

BROOKLYN, July 22.—The big furniture warehouse of John Stevenson at Java street and Manhattan avenue, Greenpoint, was partly destroyed by fire this morning, causing a loss of $150,000. Firemen McGuire, Geiger, Hickey and Riordon were found unconscious in the burning building. McGuire will die.

Ardor Cooled by Law.

ATLANTA, July 22.—Dr. Westmoreland and Attorney Rountree were tried yesterday upon charges that they intended to violate the peace of the state. They have been bombarding each other in the papers and a duel was feared. Both were required to give a bond to keep the peace.

Prominent Man Charged With Robbery.

BELVIDERE, N. J., July 22.—Aurelius J. Swayze, a prominent citizen of this place, was arrested, charged with embezzling $10,000 belonging to Alfonse Lemioux. The money had been given to Swayze, it is alleged, to purchase iron ore, but he appropriated it to his own use.

A Mine Disaster.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 22.—An awful explosion took place in No. 4 shaft of the Kingston Coal company at Edwardsville. The shock of the explosion tore away timbers, smashed mine cars and horribly burned three men and one boy, who are not expected to recover.

Barrett Didn't Say It.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Captain Barrett, to whom was attributed the story that the Mohican had been disabled by the Alexandria, has arrived here. He denies that he ever made such a statement, and says he does not believe the reported fight ever occurred.

Cowardly Miners.

WEIR CITY, Kan., July 22.—No violent outbreak has occurred here, but it is looked for tomorrow. The woman are being constantly stirred up by the men to take the leading part in violence, on the suppcsition that they will not be fired upon.

The Maine's Engines Tested.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The official trial of the new United States cruiser Maine was begun at the Brooklyn navy yard. The results warrant the assertion that the starboard engine has more than exceeded the official government requirement.

Judge Lynch Presided.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 22.—The negro convict who outraged and murderer the 9-year-old daughter of Carr Elliott last Wednesday was lynched last night on the spot where he committed the crime by a mob. The negro confessed.

"War" Story Exploded.

LONDON, July 22.—In the house of commons Sir Edward Grey stated that Russia has assured the foreign office that the stories about an armed Russian force being dispatched to seize the Pamir country was entirely false.

Story Was a Fake.

RICHMOND, July 22.—There is no truth whatever in the report that a bloody battle was fought in Wise county, Virginia, in which four members of a state troop were killed and six mortally wounded.

To Wed a London Lady.

LONDON, July 22.—The Morning Post announces that a marriage has been arranged between Norrland Dessau of Boston and Mrs. Clara Bulley, second daughter of Dr. Zacharie of London.

Suicide Followed a Quarrel.

RICHMOND, July 22.—Miss Bessie Stone, elder daughter of Thomas G. Stone, committed suicide near Warrenton by shooting herself in the mouth after having quarrelled with her father.

A New Yorker's Houseboat.

William Skinner & Son has launched a houseboat which was built for a New Yorker. It is a unique vessel, upon which a person can live comfortably in summer or winter. The vessel will go to New York bay and the Hudson river. It was named the Half Moon, after the vessel in which Hendrik Hudson explored the river which bears his name. The owner's wife, who was to christen the craft, refused to do so, believing that to insure good luck an unmarried lady should officiate, so Miss Fannie Thompson, a young Baltimore girl, did it.

The Half Moon is 84 feet long, 18 feet abeam and 9 feet deep from roof to floor. She will draw but 2½ feet of water. She is built up bluff from the water line to the top, inclosing 11 apartments, representing all the rooms needed in a home. She has an engine room in the extreme after end. Below are cabins, staterooms, lockers, toilets, crew apartments and engine room. Ten windows of heavy French glass will light each side, and the ventilation will be perfect. Mr. Skinner will fit the vessel for sailing purposes only, for which she will have two masts and a bowsprit, spreading but three sails. The whole frame is cedar, with selected Georgia pine for planking. The interior is being finished in cypress, relieved with mahogany. In a few weeks the Half Moon will be ready for delivery.—Baltimore Sun.

Death From a Toothache Cure.

Simon Kintzer, a leading citizen of Hummeltown, had been suffering for two days with toothache. On Monday evening a stranger called at his house and said he was a traveling toothache doctor and had a magic cure which would relieve the worst case in a short time. He induced Kintzer to let him try the cure on him. He applied some strong liquid to the aching gum, and in a short time the pain became easier and finally ceased. Kintzer gladly paid the stranger his fee of $1, and the man went away.

An hour later Kintzer's tooth began to pain again, and soon he was in greater agony than ever. His jaw became swollen and badly inflamed, and the pain extended to his head and neck. Early yesterday morning a physician was sent for, Kintzer having become insane from pain. The doctor pronounced him suffering from blood poisoning induced by the stuff the stranger had used on his gums. An hour later Kintzer died. No one knows who was the traveling dentist and no trace of him has been found Kintzer was 57 years old.—Cor. Pittsburg Dispatch.

Big Carpet Mills to Close.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., July 22.—The 2000 or more people employed in the carpet mills of S. Sanford & Sons are much worried over the announcement that the mills are soon to close. The semi-monthly payroll amounts to $50,000.

A New Departure.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The navy department has adopted a new policy in the examination of officers for retirement and promotion when on foreign stations. Heretofore it had been customary to order these officers home, but now they will be examined by boards organized on the station.

A Smallpox Scare.

ELIZABETH, N. J., July 22.—The excitement here over the discovery of smallpox in Aldene, a suburb of Elizabeth, has not subsided. Two of the children who were stricken with the disease are likely to die.

Shall I Complain?

Shall I complain because the feast is o'er
And all the banquet lights have ceased to shine
For joy that was and is no longer mine;
For love that came and went and comes no more;

For hopes and dreams that left my open door—
Shall I, who hold the past in fee, repine?
Nay! there are those who never quaffed life's wine—
That were the unblest fate one might deplore.

To sit alone and dream at set of sun,
When all the world is vague with coming night—
To hear old voices whisper, sweet and low,
And see dear faces steal back one by one
And thrill anew to each long past delight—
Shall I complain, who still this bliss may know?
—Louise Chandler Moulton

TO FIND A CURE FOR

RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA, KIDNEY, LIVER and BLADDER COMPLAINTS, DYSPEPSIA, LAME-BACK, &c.

DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELT with Electro Magnetic Suspensory will cure without medicine all of the above troubles. Those who suffer from Nervous Debility, Losses, Drains, Lost Manhood, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Poor Memory, all Female Complaints, and general ill health, the effects of abuses, excesses, worry or exposure, will find relief and prompt cure in our marvelous invention, which requires but a trial to convince the most skeptical. In ignorance of effects you may have unduly drained your system of nerve force and vitality —which is electricity—and thus caused your weakness or lack of force. If you replace into your system the elements thus drained, which are required for vigorous strength, you will remove the cause and health, strength and vigor will follow at once. This is our plan and treatment, and we guarantee a cure or refund money. It should be read by every young, middle-aged and old man, sent sealed, free. Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt is no experiment, as we have restored thousands to robust health and vigor, after all other treatments failed, as can be shown by hundreds of cases throughout this and other States, who would gladly testify, and from many of whom we have strong letters bearing testimony to their recovery after using our Belt.

Our 200 page book "THREE CLASSES OF MEN,"

WE HAVE CURED THESE—WE CAN CURE YOU!

NERVOUS DEBILITY AND WEAKNESS.

NEW YORK CITY October 24th, 1892.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—About three years ago I purchased one of your electric belts for the cure of nervous debility, which I had in its worst form and which was undermining my health. For years I had suffered from this terrible debilitating drain on my vital forces and I did not know what it was to have a good night's sleep, but in one month's time after using the belt I felt a much stronger man both mentally and physically, and in a short time was entirely well.

Yours truly, H. SEELIG, 287 Bowery.

RHEUMATISM AND LOST VIGOR.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., October 25th, 1892.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—Four years ago I suffered such pain from rheumatism that at times it was impossible for me to get around, and I always carried a cane for support. I used your belt and felt a relief in one hour. I gained in weight from that day and it was only a short time until the pains left me and to-day I am a well man. I always keep my belt near by for fear there might be a return, but as it has now been four years since you cured me, can safely say it is permanent. A. E. VOSS, Musical Director, 309 St. Mark's Place.

RHEUMATISM—LOST VIGOR.

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 30, 1892.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—I can report to you that the belt has entirely cured me of rheumatism from which I suffered for fourteen years almost continually. I am a letter carrier, and the long daily tramps necessary in my rounds, up to the time of getting the belt, were painfully gone through with, but thanks to your wonderful invention, I can now walk as well as I ever did, and will recommend your treatment to all afflicted. The current has also brought back my vigor in other ways as you said it would.

Yours very truly, JAMES MEAD, 24 Perry St.

OFFICE OF SARGENT & SON,
DRY GOODS, 870 CANTON, Maine, Feb. 25, 1893.

DR. A. T. SANDEN, Dear Sir:—I am glad to add my testimony to the many you have of the great value of your belt. My health has improved wonderfully, and I have gained twelve pounds of flesh, and now sleep well and have an excellent appetite. Your so-called electric belt with your "rules of health" has been a very valuable benefit to me, and I take pleasure in recommending your belt. Yours respectfully, WM. GEO. SARGENT.

THE DR. SANDEN ELECTRIC BELT

is a complete galvanic battery, made into a belt so as to be easily worn during work or arrest, and it gives soothing, prolonged currents which are instantly felt throughout all weak parts, or no forfeit $5,000. It has an Improved Electric Suspensory, the greatest boon ever given weak men, and we warrant it to cure any of the above weaknesses, and to enlarge shrunken limbs, or parts, or Money Refunded. They are graded in strength to meet all stages of weakness in young, middle-aged or old men, and will cure the worst cases in two or three months. Respite.

Drowsing, the other afternoon I lay
In that sweet interlude that falls between
Waking and sleeping when all being is seen
Of one complexion, and the vague dreams play
Among the thoughts, and the thoughts go astray
Among the dreams. My mother, who has been
Dead almost half my life, appeared to lean
Above me, a boy in a house far away
That once was home, and all the troubled years
That have been since were as if they were not.
The voices that are hushed were in my ears;
The looks and motions that I had forgot
Were in my eyes, and they disowned the tears
That now again beneath their lids are hot.
—W. D. Howells.

Hearts, like apples, are hard and sour
Till crushed by pain's resistless power
And yield their juices, rich and bland,
To none but Sorrow's heavy hand.

People Who Met Scott.

Under the caption of Scottiana a correspondent of London Notes and Queries records in that journal the further snapping of links which bind the present to the living personality of Sir Walter Scott himself by the death, within the past few months, of four individuals who were more or less associated with him. The correspondent states that last August there died at Selkirk an old mason who, in his youth, helped to build Abbotsford. He used to relate that frequently, while engaged in his work on Abbotsford, Sir Walter came and conversed with him and his fellow workman. "For," said he, "the shirra' had nae pride aboot 'im."

And then toward the close of last year died Dr. Skene, historiographer royal of Scotland, who was the son of Scott's old friend Skene of Rubislaw, and who had actually resided in Abbotsford as the guest of Scott. Next there was the late Dr. Wordsworth, bishop of St. Andrew's, who it is believed accompanied his illustrious uncle, the poet, and Dorothy Wordsworth on their tour through Scotland, when they visited Abbotsford and saw Scott before he set out on what proved to be his last excursion to the continent. Lastly, there died during February William Haldane of Earlston, who was personally acquainted with Scott and was present at his funeral. He had many recollections not only of Scott, but of Hogg, Lockhart, Willie Laidlaw, Andrew Gemmel (Edic Ochiltree) and Tom Purdie.

The Nizam's Pleasure Boat.

There has just been completed by Messrs. Messum, the well known boat builders of Richmond, to the order of the Nizam of Hyderabad, a pleasure boat peculiar in shape and for its size exceedingly costly in construction. Two boats of the size of a large skiff have been joined side by side by a deck, upon the extremities of which rise a number of finely carved pillars supporting a pagoda shaped roof. The whole of the woodwork is of teak, a wood which is not warped by heat. As an instance of the great expenditure of labor upon the boat, which is only 28 feet long by 14 feet wide, it may be stated that the tiles of the roof are composed of some 3,000 small pieces of teak, most of which have had to be specially cut.

There are no windows, but all four sides of the barge will be hung with pure silk of the richest quality, while the deck will be cushioned in the same costly way to a height of some feet. The barge will be propelled by two feathered paddles placed between the bows and sterns of the two supporting boats and turned by handles after the manner of a small canoe. The barge is intended for use on a lake near to which the nizam has a summer palace. It is now moored in the river opposite to Buccleuch House at Richmond.—London Times.

SOLUTION AT HAND.

Officers on the Track of Cunningham's Assassin.

A HUNT OF NEARLY A YEAR

Which Will Result In Clearing Up a Mystery.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 22.—The Cunningham murder mystery, which has puzzled for nearly a year the officers of New Hampshire and Vermont, seems to be in a fair way of being cleared up. The Mirror, in a special from Hanover, publishes the following:

On the morning of Oct. 21, 1892, the body of James A. Cunningham, Jr., a graduate of Dartmouth college, class of '88, was found one-half mile from the Olcutt (Vt.) railroad station, on the Boston and Maine railroad track. The head and legs were cut off, and all the remains were easily put in a bushel basket.

Cunningham left White River Junction, presumably on the midnight train, with three companions, bound for Hanover. His body was found in less than five hours, and the next day

His Companions Had Disappeared.

Nearly 100 feet from the body was a pool of blood as large as a hat, but, strange to sap, there was no blood on the wheels of the train that ran over the man, nor could any be found at the place where the body had rested.

A couple of days afterward Cunningham's overcoat was discovered two miles from the body. In it were two cuts, like knife stabs, under the left shoulder, and one long stab from the right shoulder to the middle of the seam of the coat. On examination, similar stabs were found on Cunningham's undercoat, vest and shirt, showing quite conciusively that the murder theory had some foundation.

While in college Cunningham played third base on the 'varsity nine, and the

in the case. The authorities offered a large reward, and detectives were at once put upon the case.

Not until the present time has anything been known. Sheriff Peck at Hartford, Vt., said:

"I am daily expecting to learn of the arrest of the Cunningham murderer. The detectives have followed the case carefully, and now are hot on the trail of the man. He is not in this part of the country, but will probably be landed this week."

It is believed the men are along the Canadian border. This week will doubtless bring out some startling developments.

STRUCK A HANDCAR.

Railroad Employes Injured In a Wreck Near Woodstock, Vt.

PLYMOUTH, N. H., July 22.—About 11 a. m. yesterday a train of six empty flat cars left Woodstock to go to Thornton for looms. It was a wild train, and Conductor Beedee was in charge, with Engineer Pebbles in the cab.

The cars were being pushed down, the engine in the rear. About two miles south of Woodstock, just before the track goes over a short bridge over a river, some track men were at work, and their handcar was on the track.

The train hit the obstruction, the end car was derailed and dumped into the bridge. This car and the next went off the bank and into the brook, throwing Conductor Beedee about 25 feet into the water. Another car was forced directly across the bridge at right angles and the cars piled up against it.

Foreman Chet Mason of the shovellers was found between the trucks of one of the wrecked cars and had to be sawed out. The end of one thumb was cut off.

Conductor Beedee was taken out of the water insensible, but recovered very soon. A shoveller, name unknown, was also hurt somewhat.

Conductor Beedee's injuries are not considered serious, and Foreman Mason will be all right in a day or two.

ASSESSORS' RETURNS

Show That Bay State Towns Are In a Prosperous Condition.

BOSTON, July 22.—Reports of assessors in neighboring cities and towns give these statistics: In Malden this year the tax rate is $15 on $1000. Total valuation of real estate, $18,838,850; personal, $2,458,030; total valuation, $21,338,636. The population is given as 30,299, number of polls, 7870.

The rate of taxation in Manchester this year will be $7 per $1000.

The Abington assessors announce that the tax rate is $17.40 on $1000. The valuation of the town is $3,560,225. The number of poll is 1862.

The valuation of Ipswich has increased $180,000 and the rate of taxation has been reduced $1 on $1000. This year it will be $10.70.

From the report of the Woburn assessors for 1893 these statistics are obtained: Valuation, total $9,497,342; real estate $7,751,090; personal estate, $1,746,252. Rate of taxation, $16.60 on $1000.

GAVE HIMSELF UP.

Young Connecticut Man Says He Killed an Insulting Stranger.

NORWICH, Conn., July 22.—Ransome L. Shotes, Jr., who resides with his parents in Preston, about three miles southeast of this city, came to town yesterday afternoon, and going to police headquarters told Policeman Irish he had killed a man and wanted to surrender himself. He said he was talking to two girls when the stranger came up and inquired where he could get a drink of water. He was told there was a spring in the lot. He had some words of an insulting nature, and Shotes knocked him down. The man got up and went to a tree some way off and sat down. Later two boys who were passing saw him lying there dead. Policeman Irish said the Norwich force had no jurisdiction, and Shotes left. Shotes was arrested at 11 o'clock last evening on Laurel hill and taken to police headquarters and put in a cell. Shote told Sheriff Rogers that he had never met the man before and did not know his name.

A Mad Dog Scare.

DARIEN, Conn., July 22.—When a yellow dog came trotting into this village June 10, everyone who saw him at first laughed—he looked so comical. The people are now in a very nervous state on account of that amusing cur. He was on the rampage, but the villagers did not know it until he took to biting cows and other dogs. The animals that his felt teeth are showing symptoms of rabies every day.

A Shattered Idol.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 22.—A number of local business concerns are losers by the disappearance of William D. Meagher, until recently a clerk in a drug store here, and quite a popular society swell. He went on a vacation a month ago and failed to return. He is said to be in Kingston, N. Y. Meagher's tailors and his boarding mistress are also cut by his departure.

Salem's Mayoralty.

SALEM, Mass., July 22.—As it is very positive that Mayor Rantoul will not run for that office again there is a candidate already in the field to take his place. It is Cyrus A. Jordan. He has been a candidate before and received a very flattering vote. There are two other candidates named for the same berth, Aldermen Little and Turner.

Barrett vs. Bennett.

BOSTON, July 22.—It is said that the friends of Hon. W. E. Barrett are anxious to have him appear as a candidate for re-election to the legislature. It is common talk that he will be opposed in his own town, and that he will make a strong fight against the re-election of Frank B. Bennett to the legislature from Everett Honored by Bostonians.

BOSTON, July 22.—Hon. Hilary A. Herbert, secretary of the navy, has accepted an invitation to dine with Mayor Matthews in this city tonight. It will be a private affair. Governor Russell, Congressman O'Neil, Mr. Quincy and some of the naval officers on the station are invited.

Both Accept.

BOSTON, July 22.—Ex-Governor Robinson has written to Colonel Winslow of the Republican state committee accepting the position of chairman of the committee on resolutions at the Republican state convention. Colonel W. A. Bancroft has consented to preside on that occasion.

Business Dull at Ansonia.

ANSONIA, Conn., July 22.—Wallace & Sons, large brass manufacturers, have shut down for 10 days. Several men were discharged last week and enough more this week to make an even 100. Business is suffering a depression and other factories are running on short time.

Must Obey the Law.

BOSTON, July 22.—Captain William Watts of the British schooner Ocean Lily, appeared before the United States district court for not having a bill of health issued by the consul at the port of sailing. He was held in the sum of $5000 until his next return to Boston.

Can't Get Their Pay.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 22.—About 400 employes of the city could not obtain their weekly wages yesterday, as the city council committee on audit refused to audit the pay roll on account of a dispute with the board of public works over itemized bills.

To Meet at Long Island.

PORTLAND, Me., July 22.—The Fourteenth Maine Infantry association will hold its eighth annual reunion at Long Island, Portland harbor, Aug. 2 and 3. The dedication of its new headquarters building will take place on this occasion.

Shorter Hours.

LOWELL, Mass., July 22.—A notice was posted in the Middlesex mills announcing a new time schedule, to go into effect next week. On the first five working days of the week work will commence at 8 o'clock in the morning and close at 5 p. m.

Brakeman Instantly Killed.

BOSTON, July 22.—Devhier Lucier, an Italian, was instantly killed by being run over by an engine on the Boston and Maine road at Mystic wharf. He was a brakeman and was shifting cars when the accident happened.

An Officer's Blunder.

WARE, Mass., July 22.—Dr. William B. Yale of Enfield was arrested here while on his way to Chicago, by Policeman Rennison, who suspected him of being a cracksman. Dr. Yale proved his identity and was released.

A Step Forward.

BOSTON, July 22.—Hon. Sherman Hoar appeared before Judge Nelson in the United States court yesterday and was admitted to practice in the United States court and in the United States court of appeals.

Killed by a Falling Derrick.

BOSTON, July 22.—Judson Durkee, aged 26, was instantly killed by a derrick falling upon him at the new works of the Brookline gas and electric light company on Cambridge street, Allston.

Brief Mention.

The prize list for the Springfield (Mass.) fall meet aggregates over $500 in diamonds and other valuable trophies.

Messrs. Goodall, proprietors of the plush mills at Sanford, Me., deny the rumor of a probable shutdown of their mills.

The forest fires on Peak's island, Casco bay, Me., has swept away several cottages, and it is feared that some of the hotels may go.

James A. Kiddey of Malden, Mass., a farm hand working at Nashua, N. H., for George T. Spaulding, dropped dead in the hay field.

Retta Oelhalf, of Norwich, Conn., aged 17 years, died from burns received by setting her clothing on fire while over a bonfire.

Henry C. Torr, 62 years of age, a former tanner of Peabody, Mass., died of apoplexy. He was a Mason and he belonged to many other secret orders.

About 60 cases under the drunk law were before the Boston police court yesterday. One peculiar thing was that more than half claimed Lynn as their home.

Curtis N. Blake, a lifelong prominent citizen of Hill, N. H., is dead, aged 67. Mr. Blake was, in past years, merchant and postmaster, and had held other positions of trust.

Bunco O'Brien's Friend Squealed.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., July 22.—The man who exposed the plot of the convicts at Dannemora to murder the guards and escape is said to be George F. Post of New York, the friend of Bunco King O'Brien.

On the Commissioned List.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The cruiser Detroit was placed in commission at the Norfolk navy yard yesterday, and the gunboat Machias went into commission at Portsmouth, N. H., at the same time.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

TO CURE A BUNION. Bathe the effected part in hot water, to which a teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of starch and a few drops of arnica have been added, wipe dry with a solt linen towel and apply iodine with a camel's hair brush. Wear a loose shoe out of doors, and while in the house a shoe which has the leather covering the bunion entirely cut away. Bunions are caused by undue pressure. A good plan, if you have to be out a great deal, is to have the shoe-maker cut a piece from your shoe where it presses upon the bunion and replace it with an invisible patch.

IVY POISONING—We offer again a simple remedy for ivy poisoning, which numerous correspondents have said is worth many times the cost of the paper. It is hot water, which, applied hot as can be born, affords instant relief. Ivy poisoning is often a very serious matter. Some who get a bad dose of it find that it recurs every summer and causes great discomfort and much pain. Apply hot water every hour or two as often as the itching returns. Poison sumac yields to the same treatment.—Healthy Home.

CLEVELAND'S VIEWS

On Tariff Legislation and the Silver Question.

WANTS PUBLIC CONFIDENCE

Immediate Repeal of the Sherman Law Looked For.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The World publishes the following:

The World is enabled today to announce authoritatively the immediate policy of President Cleveland and his administration in regard to the approaching special session of congress. Briefly it will be as follows:

First—Silver reform by the absolute and unqualified repeal of the Sherman law.

Second—Tariff reform to be prosecuted in accordance with the pledges of the party as soon as, but not before, the finances of the country are again upon a staple basis.

This policy does not mean postponement of tariff reform, but the accomplishment of that reform in a reasonable, logical and conservative fashion. It is a policy based upon the broad view that includes the financial, commercial, manufacturing and of the country as a great whole suffering from various ailments, each of which must be treated with regard to its relation to the others.

Of two ailments, one chronic, the other acute, it is the latter that must be treated first. Dr. Cleveland does not believe in giving a patient medicine for his dyspepsia when he is dying of typhoid fever. When the augean stables are burning it is the fire department and not Hercules that is needed first.

To the president's mind the silver question is an obstacle unexpectedly springing up in the path projected for financial and taxation reforms. It must be disposed of once and for all before substantial progress can be made. To dodge, to evade it, to build a new path around it would be fatal. It would, he believes, increase the prevailing distress, perpetuate financial disorder and in the end block permanently tariff reform, for the apparently earlier achievement of which the evasion might have been attempted.

Mr. Cleveland is annoyed and exasperated at the unexpected interference with his tariff-reform plans, but he is not discouraged. He proposes in the same open, straightforward manner that has characterized his handling of tariff matters.

President Cleveland's advice to the coming special session of congress will be for the repeal at once of the Sherman silver law. He believes that any complication of this issue with amendments, substitutes or similar propositions, will be detrimental to the repealing of the act, which is not so much for the purpose of working any instant change in the financial system of the country as the restoration of business confidence throughout the land.

From the information at his command Mr. Cleveland has no doubt that his policy will be adopted by the house of representatives after reasonable discussion and consideration. It is in the senate that the trouble will come. That body is a peculiar one. Its members are largely committed by past votes to a free silver policy. It is a question whether many of them are broad enough in mind to be able to change an opinion which has proved to be a wrong one, or when the circumstances under which the opinion was formed have changed.

Mr. Cleveland and his advisers believe that the silver question has got and personal hobbies. They believe that in the minds of a vast majority of the people the free silver movement stands revealed in all its native greed and selfishness.

The east and the central west are unmistakably against it. In the south the farmers and merchants see northern factors buying southern cotton with cheap silver and sending it abroad for dear gold. Northern merchants are already making gold payments a condition of the contract in the sale of goods south and west. What will follow repeal is a matter that will not be injected into the present fight if the administration has its way. That further financial legislation will be needed the president considers probable, but what its nature shall be is a matter for future determination. The first thing to be done is to clear the ground. When that is done the question of construction can be considered upon an intelligent basis.

New England Pensions.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The following pensions have been issued: Massachusetts—Original, George H. Hook, Joseph Savory, Delavan Richardson, Charles E. Remic. Original (widows)—Susan M. Goodwin (mother), Nannie G. Ryder, Catherine Hart, Bridget J. Reardon. New Hampshire—Reissue, Asahel G. Flanders.

A Duel to the Death.

KNOXVILLE, July 24.—A desperate fight occurred between two prominent citizens of Rivior county, Robert McMahon and Robert Caton. Eighteen shots were fired and Caton was struck by six. He fell and expired in an hour. McMahon was saved by his pocketknife, which was struck by a shot.

Negroes to Take Their Places.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 24.—About 500 negroes were shipped from here last night for Leavenworth, Kansas. It is proposed to replace strikers with them. Agents of the mine owners will endeavor to secure 4000 more negroes.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The Gates Closed Yesterday to the Public. Scenes and Incidents.

CHICAGO, July 24.—The White City was deserted yesterday. The Sunday closing order was rigidly enforced, and any person who entered the exposition grounds had to prove that his presence there was absolutely necessary. Only two gates were open, and these were for passholders.

The nearest approach to a disturbance was at 9 o'clock, when a drink-flushed individual mounted a box across the street from the Fifty-seventh street entrance and called vociferously for 100 volunteers to aid him in tearing down the fence in order to allow poor laboring men to see the fair free. A policeman took the man away.

Toward noon a man appeared at the Sixty-fourth street gate and offered a ticket for admission and was refused. He then took the numbers of the gatemen who refused to let him in. It is supposed he was securing evidence for prosecuting the exposition officials for contempt of court, Judge Stein having granted an injunction to restrain the officials from closing the fair Sundays.

A RACE RIOT.

Drunken Miners on a Rampage—Thirty Injured, Three Fatally.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 24.—Saturday was pay day at the mines at Priceburg, and the Huns and Poles of the town began to drink heavily, and in the night a Hun and a Pole engaged in a fight in a saloon, their countrymen taking sides with them, a free fight resulting. The police arrived and jailed four Hungarians.

The Hungarians afterward held an indignation meeting and then proceeded in a body to the jail, where they overpowered the keeper and liberated the prisoners. The Poles objected to the actions of the Huns, and a race war commenced, lasting three hours, during which there was a reign of terror, all the saloons in the town being taken possession of and the officers driven off.

Over thirty men were injured, three fatally. One Pole had his ears cut off. Many windows were broken with stones and clubs. Shortly before midnight Deputy Sheriff Craig and an armed posse overawed the rioters and restored peace. Many arrests will follow.

DOUBLE FATALITY.

Two Men Killed While Walking on the Track—Bodies Recognized.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 24.—The train from Newport, R. I., to Boston struck two men near the Globe company's pockets about 7:30 last evening. One of them was walking on the track when the train came in sight, and his companion tried to get him off. He did not succeed before the engine was on them.

Both were shockingly injured, one being killed outright, and the other died before medical assistance could be obtained. Medical Examiner Dolin was called and took charge of the bodies. One was recognized as that of Patrick McCarthy, dry goods clerk and former resident of this city, recently employed at Stearns', at Tremont street and Temple place, Boston.

The second body has been identified as that of a young man named Brady, a glassblower, whose home was in Cambridge.

He was a friend of McCarthy and came out with him Saturday to spend Sunday.

Will Return the Compliment.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Congressmen who were most interested in defeating the passage of the force bill may aid their western colleagues in opposing the unconditional repeal of the Sherman silver bill. This state of affairs is represented to have been brought about by correspondence between western silver men and many southern senators. It is said that at the time the force bill was before the senate the western silver senators bolted their party caucus to aid their southern friends.

Confident of Success.

CHICAGO, July 24.—Mr. Humphrey, secretary of the national Republican league, has arrived here, bringing with him the books, papers, and all the property belonging to the league. "I want to get settled as quickly as possible," he said, "for the league purposes going into the fall campaign aggressively. There are four states that elect governors, and in three of them—Ohio, Iowa and Massachusetts—we expect to win."

No Serious Damage

PASQUE ISLAND, Mass., July 24.—In Tarpaulin cove, Naushon, Saturday night, while the schooner Hattie G. King, Collins, was getting under way she found the schooner George A. Lawry, Dobbin, Philadelphia for Dover, N. H., carrying away her jibboom and doing other damage, also doing slight damage to the King. The captains have made temporary repairs and sailed yesterday.

Post Was Not Released.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 24.—The story that George Post was the prisoner pardoned by Governor Flower for his action in making the exposure of the recent attempt of prisoners to escape from Clinton prison is untrue. The prisoner who was pardoned was a New York man well known to the police.

Collision at Sea.

BOSTON, July 24.—Schoone Aldine of Boston, Captain Steele, from Rockland, Me., July 13, for Port au Price, with a cargo of ice, etc., arrived here Saturday in distress. She was in collision at 9:30 a. m., July 16, with brig J. F. Jerry, since arrived at Boston from Guantanamo in a damaged condition.

Guests Were Scared

CHICAGO, July 24.—A panic was narrowly averted in the Palmer house yesterday by a slow fire in the hot laundry in the basement. Great volums of smoke from the wet cloths, which were in the room, filled the halls and rooms of the house.

Fatal Explosion.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Though the carelessness of a contractor Sarday Mrs. Marie Posey, aged 35, and her daughter, Marie Adele, aged 5, were killed by a heavy blast and six others baly injured.

JERSEY CITY, July 24.—Gteral William F. Abbett, oldest son of Supreme Court Justice Leon Abbett, died at his father's house yesterday.

MATTERS AT SIAM.

France's Ultimatum Finally Agreed to by the King.

WILL GIVE SATISFACTION.

Siam's Reply Considered Unsatisfactory by the French.

PARIS, July 24.—Upon a second demand of France's ultimatum Siam agrees to evacuate the posts on the left bank of the Mekong within a month. The king deplores sincerely the loss sustained by France and the incidents at Cam, Mon, Kang and Chay, as well as the attack on the French gunboat at the entrance of the Melam. Banghion will be set at liberty and every satisfaction given so far as compatible with the demands of justice and the independence of Siam, which the French government declares itself

Willing to Respect.

The reply continues: We agree to punish those who have been guilty of aggression in accordance with either international or French law, and to make reparation to the families of the victims.

With regard to the indemnity of 2,000,000 francs the king of Siam admits liability, but proposes that a mixed commission be appointed to ascertain the exact amount of the injuries suffered. As to the immediate deposit of 3,000,000 francs to cover the French claims, his majesty says that, having reason to think that this sum done, he relies upon the justice of the French government to return the balance after inquiry is made.

KING OF SIAM.

This reply not being considered satisfactory in any point, the French minister at Bangkok will comply with the instructions previously sent to him and will quit the place.

The news of Siam's defiant reply to the French demands caused much discussion in the city last night. On the boulevards and in the public places intense interest was manifested in the policy which the country would pursue to enforce the demands upon Siam.

At midnight it was stated that Siam's reply to France's ultimatum is considered unsatisfactory. M. Pavie is probably leaving Bangkok on Wednesday to go aboard the cruiser Forfait.

The refusal of M. Develle, French minister of foreign affairs, to give Siam an extension of time for her reply to the ultimatum is ascribed to his desire to force Siam's hand and prevent her negotiating for British support.

Maine's Grand Army.

AUGUSTA, Me., July 24.—Wainwright Cushing of Foxcroft, department commander of the Maine Grand Army, has completed arrangements for a trip to Aroostook county, where he will visit the posts there. He will be accompanied by Assistant Adjutant General H. C. Vaughn, Assistant Quartermaster General A. M. Warren and Aid-de-Camp E. C. Morrill.

Work of a Jealous Husband.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., July 24.—Charles Blunk, being jealous of his wife, sent a messenger to his home to see if any men were there. The messenger, returning, told Blunk that William Blackford was there. Blunk went home and killed Blackford. He also assaulted his wife, inflicting serious injuries upon her, and then gave himself up to the police.

Daniel Rooney's Horrible Death.

BOSTON, July 24.—Daniel Rooney, a resident of Winchester, was instantly killed by a train on the Boston and Maine railroad yesterday. His head was discovered about 4 a. m. near the crossing at the Center, and the trunk and limbs were scattered along the track, the body being shockingly mutilated.

Saturday Yacht Races.

The yacht race at Hull Saturday, was sailed in a strong breeze and was a very pretty contest among some of the crack yachts.

It the third class Commodore Cavanagh's Beatrice outsailed the Halidee, Posy and Moondyne.

The Magpie showed the way in the fifth class to the Hegedorn, Koorali, Aurisa and Opeeche.

The Mab had a walkover in the sixth and the Joker won in the special.

The first boats in the cash regatta of the Dorchester and Savin Hill clubs on Saturday were the Exile, Adolph, Arab, Flora Lee and Icure, and second prizes went to the Thrush, Romance, Egeria, Jackdaw and Midget.

STRUCK AND BURNED.

The Cow Barn of John R. Graham Totally Destroyed.

COW STRUCK BUT NOT KILLED.

Three Boxes Pulled and a Mixed Alarm the Result—Loss $1000.

It was a heavy shower that passed over this city Saturday evening, and for three hours the sky was lit up with sharp flashes of lightning, and there was plenty of thunder. As these two grew nearer together many a faint-hearted one shook with fear.

During the heaviest of the storm a bolt entered an old building situated back of the residence of John R. Graham and used as a stable for cows. One of the cows was struck, having a piece of flesh torn from her side, but she was got out of the building, which the lightning had fired.

Parties who saw the fire ran to give the alarm, one party to Box 75 and another to Box 71, and a few minutes later a third party had pulled Box 34. The whistle on the electric light station had been cut out by the storm and no sound came from that. At the central fire station the alarm came in first as Box 62, was shown on the indicator, and the department tore down Hancock street toward Atlantic. When they had reached Butler's brook they saw the fire back of them and realized that something was wrong, and back they turned and started for Washington street, Engineer Packard leading the way.

When the department arrived a line was run from the corner of Washington street, and a stream was soon thrown on the burning building. There was but little force to the stream and the line was cut and let into two streams one of which was taken each side of the building. The work of these two streams soon began to tell on the burning building, and when the Point Hose arrived a line was laid for the steamer and the fire was extinguished, having been confined to the main part of the building.

The Quincy Point Hose was drawn to the fire by hand, as no horse could be had. There was considerable talk on the part of the bystanders at the failure of Box 71 to work and of the lateness of the central station apparatus in arriving, but as the men got box as 62 they cannot be blamed.

Something like thirty-five miles in the fire alarm circuit is too much, and if anything happens to it, as is very liable at any heavy storm, the whole circuit is out and the city without proper attention. When the new circuit repeater, which is being put in, is completed, this will be done away with for if one circuit is cut the next nearest box will be on another circuit which will save all this trouble. Then again with the new repeater, while one box is working it will be impossible to pull another and have it work. The pulling of two boxes about the same time Saturday night was doubtless the cause of the wrong box being struck at the central station.

In the matter of the horse for Hose Two, there seems to be a difficulty of providing one that is handy to the engine house. Councilman Drake while at the fire Saturday night said that Patch & Son had not been applied to for a horse. This may be true but as Patch & Son stable is over half a mile away it does not seem as though that would be a very good place to keep a horse that is wanted for the service.

The only reasonable remedy for Ward Two seems to be for the city to purchase a horse which shall be kept either in the Hose house or near there, so as to be ready at all time in case of an alarm of fire.

Herbert Adams' barn, in the rear of Patch's coal yards at Quincy Point, was lso struck, but little damage was caused.

LADIES KNOW HOW.

An Enjoyable Picnic Under the Auspices of the Loyal Ladies.

The Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor, No. 5, together with their male and juvenile friends, held their picnic at Merry Mount park on Saturday last. Starting at an early hour, a most enjoyable day was spent.

In providing for an excursion of this kind, ladies' societies have decided advantages over masculine associates. Their naturally tasteful faculties are quickened for the occasion, and by numerous deft touches which men but dimly perceive they contrive to make all surroundings doubly attractive. All embellishments of art are not sacrificed to cold business principles, as is too often the case with their husbands and brothers.

The present occasion was certainly no exception to the general rule. The viands were carefully prepared and skilfully spread; the fruit was of the choicest quality; the ice cream of the most approved flavor. Swings and races for the children, athletic sports for the gentlemen, games and exercises for the ladies were the special features of the day, while at intervals they

"Woke the silence of the desert's gloom
With their hymns of lofty cheer."

Towards evening the threatening approach of storm made a return to the city advisable, the ladies again demonstrating their superior foresight by refusing to heed the emphatic assertions of the gentlemen prophets that fair weather would continue.

The whole arrangements were admirably looked after by Miss L. Huntington, the president of the society, assisted by the two secretaries, Mrs. Annie Pratt and Mrs. Mary Bissett, and others.

Squalls on Saturday and Sunday Made It Lively for Yachtsmen.

Those boats of the Q. Y. C. which participated in the Hull race Saturday had a very exciting experience. In the morning a four reef breeze whistled across the bay. This gradually died out as the start drew near and reefs one after another were shaken out. The race finally became a drift. As the boats were squaring away for home an easterly squall turned the smooth waters into a green and white mass of tossing waves. Sails were dropped and the boats went reeling along under poles alone No accident happened.

Something similar happened on Sunday; in this case more boats were out and less experienced skippers were at the stick. About three o'clock a squall from the North caused boats large and small to drop anchor and sails. One or two boats out in the West way tried to scud for a lee.

One little boat containing three or four occupants capsized off the spit on Pig Rocks So many boats were anchored around and so many were willing to put off in small boats to help them, that they were rescured and carried to the pile of rocks near by, where they stood shivering and waiting until the storm should pass.

The yacht Halycon was capsized off Hull. The five on board clung to the bottom of the boat and were rescued.

Sunday on shore was a lively one, each side of the shower. The cars were literally jammed. A larger crowd would never have visited the beach, had the squall held off for a few hours longer.

All the hotel keepers wore a very pleased expression. There was little driving, owing to the threatening look of the heavens. Taken as a whole, the day was a success. Many failed to see the awful beauty of a squall.

There was quite a sensation Sunday. Word was passed quickly along that "Taber's flying horses are running." Soon after Chief Langley came and witnessed the violation of the old-fashioned Sunday law. He will make a test case of it, and it will probably be brought up on Tuesday morning.

The chemical has been thoroughly cleaned. It was tried with salt water Saturday night and throws a very good stream.

A grand concert by the Atlantic band will be given at Houghs Neck on Wednesday evening. This new band is giving excellent concerts, and a large crowd is expected from all the Quincy villages.

Three of a party of five young men were drowned off Deer Island by the capsizing of their boat, a small sloop. They were J. W. Johnson and A. T. Scott of East Boston and Joseph M. Murphy of Charleston.

Sunday afternoon's squall made things lively for the yachtsmen down in the harbor. A small boat was capsized off Pigs Rocks, but the occupant was rescued with only a ducking. Thirty boats run under the lee of Paddock's Island and anchored until the squall blew over.

The Railroad Knows Them.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

It his been generally noticed and remarked that the gentlemen who made up the meeting at Mears the other evening are the ones to whose wishes the railroad company should not show the most attention.

Said gentlemen have fought against the proposed changes on the road and with one or two exceptions are never seen riding on the electrics. And these are the men who preend to represent Manet beach.

Congregational Picnic.

The Congregational picnic at Merry Mount park Saturday afternoon was largely attended, and a few hours were pleasantly passed. Free lemonade and ice cream were the greatest attractions for the little ones. Basket ball played by the Y. M. C. A. nine and picked nine was a new game to many and was much enjoyed. There was also a few innings at base ball between two picked nines in which Mr. Theophilus King was one of the leading spirits. There were other sports. The shower terminated the pleasures rather abruptly.

FARMERS AT THE FAIR.

A Royal Reception Awaits the Agriculturist.

THEY WILL BE GUESTS OF HONOR.

A World in Itself To Be Seen in the Agricultural Building—Most of the Nations of the Earth and Our Own States and Territories Represented at the Columbian Exposition.

WORLD'S FAIR, July 21.—[Special.]—Now the harvest is about finished throughout the country. Soon the threshing will be done and marketing of the golden grain begin. Then the farmers will come to the fair. Not only will they be welcome, but a royal reception awaits them. The man who feeds us, the man whose prosperity is the prosperity of all of us, whose ill-fortune hurts us all, has not been neglected in this exposition. On the contrary, he and his contributions to the world's industries—the foundation of all industries and source of all wealth—have a front seat. They will be guests of honor here.

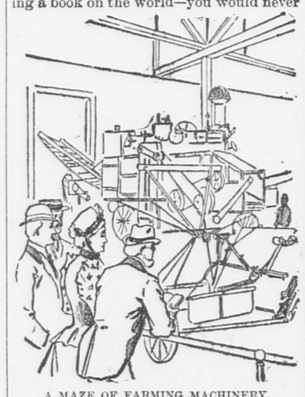

It is the fashion among some of the people one meets here to sneer at the agricultural display, to say it is not worthy their time or attention, that it is dull and commonplace. I pity these people. They are thoughtless. Their horizon is narrow. To my mind the Agricultural building is one of the most interesting of all the great departments of the fair. It is more than interesting—it is fascinating. It takes us nearer to the heart of the people, not only of our own country but of all countries, to the mass of humanity everywhere, than any other feature of the exposition, excepting not even the Fine Arts gallery, which surely is next to it.

The creator of this fair builded wiser than they knew when they gave the Palace of Agriculture the proudest position in their marvelous landscape—running from the lake by the side of the splendid central basin to the canal—and made that palace the most beautiful of all the exposition buildings. There are just five really noble structures in this exposition assemblage. One is the Administration building, a merely ornamental, crown-like structure, a vestibule, its only practical use being for offices; the Manufactures building, noble in proportions, magnificent in dimensions; Machinery hall, cathedral-like, ornate, impressive; the Palace of Fine Arts, which would be a noteworthy structure if taken up bodily and set down in Versailles, Rome or Athens; and the Palace of Agriculture, classical in its form and decorations, perfect in proportions, the most beautiful of all in the opinion of many who are competent to judge.

It will do the hearts of the farmers of this country good when they come here and see that they have not been assigned to the back yard of the fair; that a rude and hastily-constructed shell was not deemed good enough for them; but that they are received in a veritable palace, a structure worthy its uses and too glorious a creation to be suffered to disappear from the face of the earth when the exposition shall have closed its gates.

This Agricultural building is a world in itself. In point of size it is the fourth structure of the exposition. Let the farmer imagine fifteen acres of ground floor under one roof, with several acres more in the galleries. That gives space equal to the average farm in France and England, and larger than the average farm of Belgium and Holland. The space is well used. Not a square foot of it has been wasted. If there were no building in Jackson park but the Palace of Agriculture, no display but that of the products of the soil and the machinery and processes used in their propagation, harvesting and manipulation, the World's fair would still be worth taking a long journey to see.

Shall I tell you what is in this building? I wish I could. I should like to write a book about it. But it would be like writing a book on the world—you would never know where to start or where to end. It would take a pretty big book to do the subject justice. Therefore in the space of a single letter I can hope only to point out to you some of the most interesting things, to give you a few samples from the mighty whole. When you come to the fair set apart at least one whole day for the Agricultural building. Make it two days if you have the time to spare. It will not be time wasted. This applies with even greater force to the city man, to the professional man who comes from his desk or office, than to the farmer himself. The man from the city can learn more here that is worth his knowing than in any other department of the exposition.

Let us now take a rapid run through this world of the farm and briefly mention the most interesting things that fall under our eye. Passing through the great rotunda we arrive at the center of the vast building. It is a wonderful scene that we are in the midst of. Here are most of the nations of the world and states and territories of our Union with little palaces of their own, showing therein their farm products. As far as the vision extends the facades of these little palaces—and some of them not so very small, either—greet the eye. In the broad galleries which run through and around the great structure are thousands more, the property of firms and individuals engaged in the manufacture of foods and preparations. Away to the south is seen a wide vista of mowing machinery, and thence comes a rumbling, a clicking, whirring sound. There tens of thousands of farm machines are in motion.

At the very center of the building two American states, an eastern and a western, Pennsylvania and Iowa, and two foreign nations, Great Britain and Germany, have posts of honor. A single glance suffices to show us they are worthy the distinction. England proper is largely confined to fine food products, such as pickles and tinned goods; but her colonies, each an empire of itself, make wonderful displays. Canada shows in graphic form the results achieved by scientific agriculture, which has been pursued with great energy under government protection. Australia, especially New South Wales, handsomely illustrates the wonderful development of her farm industries which is making of that Pacific empire a dangerous rival to the United States. In the year '91 the wool product alone of New South Wales was valued at $35,000,000. Cape Colony shows her farming methods, which are highly picturesque.

The richest and most costly structure in the building is that of Spain, in which Cuba joins and where the display of Havana cigars delights the eye of every smoker. South America is well represented. Brazil, Uraguay, Paraguay, the Argentine Republic show their wools, coffees and grains. Mexico has a splendid exhibit, and other Central American states are not far behind. Some of the most interesting features come from Africa. Besides Cape Colony, already mentioned, Liberia, the little republic of the west coast, surrounds her products with a pleasing array of birds, of stuffed animals, of native fancy work. She shows us photographs of her farms and houses, her people and officials.

These are features of nearly all the exhibits. In addition to the agricultural products the natural history of the country is represented. Liberia shows us hippopotami, leopards, and the vampire bat. British Guiana mixes tapirs and jaguars, great birds and giant ant-eaters with her sugars and carved calabashes. The skin of a boaconstrictor, thirty feet long, drapes the pavilion of Johore. No better use of photography was ever attempted than that which we find here, for the pictures throughout these foreign exhibits show us more of the world in a day than we could see by travel in a year. The art of photography has conquered the globe, and here the pictures alone form a vast exposition, admirably supplementing the articles and products.

My advice to every fair visitor is to carefully study these foreign displays in the farm palace. See how little Curacoa produces the liquer for which she is famous. See the macaroni and vermicelli products of Italy. See Siam's quaint pickles and funny bread and crackers. See Japan's infinite variety of farm products, all put up like bon-bons; her teas and tea plantations, and her Shinowarata or long-tailed fowl, with feathers touching the ground from a hight of thirteen feet. See France's scientific agriculture, especially its great veterinary college and hospital, with a clinic or operating room as fine as that of any medical college in America. See Germany's exposition of the art of brewing beer, of bottling, of clarifying, and the model brewery. See the model of a horse farm in Great Britain's section, with the green grass growing in the paddock. See France's model of a farm in the suburbs of Paris and learn how the thrifty French tickle the soil quicker and easier than you could learn by a trip across the water. See Russia's magnificent display of grains and read, if you can, some of the Russian agricultural reports.

Of course the American states are here in all their glory. Iowa, proud of her position, gives a notable example of the decorative possibilities of grains and grasses. In this feature Illinois, Pennsylvania, Kansas and other states are not far behind, while New York and Ohio are severely simple, though effective. In Nebraska "corn and sugar wear the crown," and the beet sugar industry, newest thing in the west, is fully illustrated. New Mexico shows growing alfalfa, and Mississippi growing cotton which is picked and made into boutonnieres. Kentucky "leads in hemp, tobacco and horses," while South Dakota flings out her banner, "We lead all in hogs, pigs, cattle, corn, 1892." Wyoming shows grain grown by irrigation, while California displays a shock of corn thirteen feet high.

Corn seems to be king. Kansas glorifies maize in a huge column, and claims the proud record of 188,000,000 bushels in '92. New Hampshire erects an old-fashioned granary with corn and sheep skins tacked on its outer walls. Connecticut erects a wigwam of corn stalks and labels it, "The Indian's Gift to the World." Michigan, Wisconsin, North Carolina, West Virginia, Florida, Minnesota, Indiana and other states make fine displays. Louisiana's sugar exhibit is very interesting. Even Oklahoma is resplendent. North Dakota claims to be "the bread basket of the world," and astonishes foreigners, who do not understand our system of endowment of public schools from the public domain, with the proud boast that she possesses "three million acres of fertile school lands." Great, indeed, are the states and territories of the American union.

As yet we have not been in the galleries at all, where much that is interesting awaits us, nor in the section devoted to agricultural machinery, which is a world in itself—a world in which there would not be much if what the ingenuity and enterprise of the Americans have done was left out of it.

It is clear that if we are to ever touch upon many of the most instructive and valuable features of the agricultural department, within and without this splendid building, we must recur to the subject in a future letter. ROBERT GRAVES.

Young Men's Christian Association,

The moonlight excursion tonight will leave Commercial wharf at 7.15.

The basket ball team played the first half of a lively game with a picked nine at the Congregational picnic Saturday. The score was 8 to 0 in favor of the association team. This was the first time the out-door game had been played before Quincy spectators, and much interest was manifested.

By special arrangements with Mr. Ripley the agent in charge of the bicycle rooms at No. 2 Washington street, members of the association will receive a discount of ten per cent. in renting a bicycle for an hour or more, by presenting their membership ticket. This will enable those who do not own cycles to join the cycle club. The next club run will be on Thursday night.

Way up in C.

In Webster's dictionary you will find the word "Genuine." It applies particularly to the bargains in furniture offered by Henry L. Kincaide & Co. at the present time. For instance, beautiful oak side boards with beveled mirrors, they are usually counted cheap at $25. What are they then at $18?

The Wild Man Again.

One of John Hall's drivers was coming through Quincy avenue Saturday night just before the second shower when his attention was attracted by loud screams. Hastening ahead he overtook a badly frightened girl who lives outside of Boston who said she had been visiting her sister at 51 Howard street. She was on her way to the depot through Quincy avenue and when near the entrance to Mrs. Eldridge's residence a naked man rushed out and put his arm about her. The girl seemed thoroughly frightened, and Mr. Hall's man took her in his carriage to the depot.

FALL RIVER'S MILLS

Prospects That They Will Run Through The Summer.

EMPLOYES WANT TO CLOSE.

What Labor Leaders Have to Say on The Matter.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 24.—The situation in the cotton trade in this city is indicated pretty clearly by the talk resulting from the statement of the condition of the cloth market.

There are 23,000 pieces of goods held here. The contracts extend into March of next year, but most of the mills have few or no contracts that will amount to anything as a factor in determining the production of manufacturers. Eight corporations have contracted ahead into September for about half of their production.

These mills are in an excellent financial condition, as indeed are all the Fall River mills, as compared with any previous time in their history.

They Will Continue to Run until their contracts have expired, as much because of the desire of their owners to make money as from the force of another cause, growing out of a plan recently adopted. Heretofore it has been possible for mills desiring to shut down to purchase and deliver the goods of other mills in fulfilment of their contracts. This practise is not allowable now, owing to a rigid rule established by printers to the effect that all contracts must hereafter be filled with goods made by the mills signing the contracts.

There are some factors at work at the present time which will induce business men and others to think seriously before shutting down at the present time. For some time print works in various parts of the country have been shutting down The curtailment of output that will result from this cause between June and September will be between 700,000 and 800,000 pieces, or nearly four weeks' production in the Fall River mills.

Again, last year there was a great call for bunting and cheap material for decorative purposes, perhaps 700,000 pieces or more. This year the demand for these purposes is nothing and the production of the mills has been turned into regular channels again.

Ths withdrawal of the output of 1,500,000 pieces must have its effect, and manufacturers and brokers agree that the weaker and older mills must feel the strain first. There are other minor causes to which manufacturers attribute the present dull trade, but unquestionably the great cause in their minds is

The Financial Situation.

Money is not very tight with them, but it is tight with their customers and the customers of the converters to whom they sell.

The New Bedford mill which, a short time ago, offered 7 per cent to the Spinners' union for $25,000 or any part of it for six months will not be accommodated, because the spinners think their money is worth a higher rate of interest. Knowing all these conditions, the talk after the issuance of the statement became clearer and more positive.

Secretary Howard of the Spinners' union and Secretary Whitehead of the Weavers' union are both in favor of a shutdown.

The former said in an interview: "The manufacturers should shut down at once for two weeks, and if that isn't sufficient then let them shut down again in September. When talks of a shutdown go abroad it gives croakers a chance to talk cutdown. The operatives have been working steadily and hard for the last two years, and from what I know of the spinners they would not be averse to it. Talking of a cutdown always angers men, and a shutdown will cause a continuation of good feelings, and Will Materially Benefit the Market.

We are producing too much just now, and we ought to shut down and give the demand a chance to catch up with the supply."

Secretary Whitehead has always been in favor of a shutdown in August if it could be accomplished. He says he cannot speak for all of the weavers, but those with whom he talked favor shutting down as early as possible and in the hot months.

Although the operatives are in favor of a shutdown at once there is no unanimity of feeling among manufacturers. There were manufacturers who said that they would enter into no agreement to shut down as long as there was a dollar in sight. They say their mills were made to run, and if the older and weaker ones cannot run at a profit they should not look for help from others. In any case they will not shut down when nearly 50,000 pieces of goods are sold in a week, and when only 236,000 pieces of goods are in sight. A shutdown, therefore, will not take place here before September, and maybe not at that time.

Had Both Legs Crushed.

LYNN, Mass., July 24.—Edward McCullough of Jefferson street, while attempting to alight last night from the 10:37 train at the Lynn depot, fell between the wheels, and both legs were crushed. Dr. M. N. Mangan bound up the mangled limbs and undoubtedly saved the man's life. McCullough is a shoemaker, is married and has several children.

Had His Foot Crushed.

BOSTON, July 24.—Edward S. Kincaid, 44 years of age, living at 364 Broadway, Chelsea, fell from a southbound car on Tremont street. The car passed over his left foot, crushing it badly, and he was also severely injured about the head. At a late hour his condition was critical.

FITCHBURG, Mass., July 24.—When the help employed by the Beoli company, the Star Worsted company and the Fitchburg Worsted company were paid off Saturday, they were notified that the mills would be run but four days a week until further notice.

Brakeman Killed In a Collision.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 24.—A collision of two sections of a through freight train occurred here Saturday. Several cars were wrecked, and A. H. Lucier of Nashua, N. H., a brakeman, was killed instantly.

Fatal Accident.

BOSTON, July 24.—Yesterday morning Thomas F. Flynn of East Boston, 38 years of age, fell from the third story of his house, a distance of 40 feet, and was instantly killed.

PALMER'S ASSAULT CASE.

Mr. Lawrence's Assailant Under Arrest. Claims He Did It In Self-Defense.

PALMER, Mass., July 24.—The negro who so brutally assaulted S. Wilson Lawrence was captured Saturday evening at Gilbertville. He gives his name as Charles G. Fields and his residence at no particular place, but lately on the California coast. He has in his possession a deed for a piece of property in the state of Washington, which, he says, he bought out of his earnings before he started east last fall.

Field says his action on Wednesday was in self defense; that when he went to work for Lawrence it was with the understanding that if he understood the work he was to have employment. Words followed, and finally Lawrence ordered him to leave and attacked him with a pitchfork.

Fields says he dodged the attack as well as he could and in running around a wagon in the barn, he stumbled over a rock which he picked up and used to defend himself with. The shot which he received in his left side bothered him a great deal and he was several times on the point of giving himself up.

Mr. Lawrence is improving and hopes are entertained of his recovery. Those who know Mr. Lawrence do not believe that he first assaulted the negro.

SUES THE PRIEST.

A Pupil of a Parochial School Seeks to Recover Damages.

BENNINGTON, Vt., July 24.—Sheriff Reeves of Burlington has served paper upon Rev. Fr. Cevarec, pastor of St. Joseph's church, in favor of Lida Godette, summoning him before the September term of the county court.

Suit is brought to recover for personal injuries received at the hands of the late Miss La Chapelle, who was a teacher in St. Joseph's parish school. The amount of damages is set at $10,000.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendant had exclusive control of the school and selected the teacher. It is claimed that Miss La Chapelle was known to be a woman of violent disposition, given to punishing children excessively and unnecessarily, and that he knew this from complaints made to him.

It is charged that Miss La Chapelle excessively punished Lida Godette, causing meningitis, which left her in a crippled condition.

At the last term of the county court a verdict was obtained against Miss La Chapelle for upward of $2850, but she has since died. She had no property and the present suit is therefore brought.

A Matter of Health

IT costs more to make Royal Baking Powder than any other, because its ingredients are more highly refined and expensive. But the Royal is correspondingly purer and higher in leavening strength, and of greater money value to the consumer. The difference in cost of Royal over the best of the others does not equal the difference in leavening strength, nor make good the inferior work of the cheaper powders, nor remove the impurities which such powders leave in the food.

Where the finest food is required, the Royal Baking Powder only can be used.

Where the question of health is considered, no baking powder but Royal can be used with safety. All others are shown by official analyses to contain lime, ammonia or alum.

BROKERS IN A FIGHT

One Receives a Blow Which May Prove Fatal.

A TYPEWRITER INSULTED.

Mr. Marsh Demanded an Apology From Mr. Randall.

BOSTON, July 25.—John O. Marsh of the firm of Worcester & Marsh, real estate dealers in the Equitable building, avenged an insult to a female employe yesterday afternoon, given by a brother real estate dealer, at the cost of his freedom for probably some time to come. He is now locked up in a cell charged with assault and battery, with intent to kill, on John L. Randall, a real estate stockbroker at 302 Washington street. The latter now lies at the point of death at the Massachusetts general hospital as a result of the injuries received.

The trouble was all about a woman. Her name is Julia Jordan, and at present she is in the employ of Mr. Marsh as typewriter. Formerly she worked in the same capacity for Randall.

It appears that when she left the employ of the Washington broker the latter owed her in back wages exactly $40. Since she left his employ it is said that several times she has tried to collect this from Mr. Randall, but each case, it is alleged, has failed.

Finally, becoming tired of this, she put the matter into the hands of lawyers, who, within a few days, placed an attachment on Randall's commission in a trade, amounting to about $50. The latter being in need of the money at what Miss Jordan had done. He hardly knew what to do relative to the matter, but if the stories told are true he acted anything but like a gentleman.

Early yesterday afternoon he went to the office of Worcester & Marsh. Neither of the proprietors were in, but Miss Jordan was in charge of the office. Randall, it is alleged, immediately began talking to Miss Jordan in an insulting manner, and, it is said, called her vile names.

Her feelings were greatly hurt by the abusive language, and for the time her only comfort was found in tears. He opened the door, and, with a final oath, it is said, left the room and the building.

Presently Mr. Marsh returned to the office, and, finding his respected typewriter greatly agitated, he inquired about it. Her reply was a fresh burst of tears. She, finally composing herself, however, confided to her employer everything that had taken place. The latter was greatly excited and, finding out the cause of the whole trouble, declared that the man and said that he would see that Mr. Randall apologized to her for the language he had used.

Without further conversation with Miss Jordan, he left the office, and developments go to show that he at once went to the place occupied by Randall. The latter was in his room at the time. Mr. Marsh did not enter the room, but called Randall out into the entryway and immediately informed him of his errand. Then Randall became excited again and replied to Marsh in a most derogatory manner. The latter said that Randall would have to pay dearly for what he had said and done, but just at that moment Randall raised his hands as if to strike him.

Seeing what Randall was about to do, Mr. Morse, according to his own admission, with his right fist, landing squarely on the face and leveling him to the floor. Randall dropped with a thud on the floor. He did not rise, and Mr. Marsh, little thinking the trouble he had gotten himself into by avenging the insults to Miss Jordan, went directly to the Court square police station and told the officer in charge his story.

Struck Randall a Powerful Blow

He said he would be responsible for the affair, and without investigating the case Captain Hemmenway allowed him to depart. In leaving, Mr. Marsh added that, if he was summoned into court, he would be heard. He then left, little realizing that within a few hours he would be a prisoner behind the cell bars.

MAIL CLERK KILLED

And Several Passengers Injured In a Railroad Wreck In Rhode Island.

PROVIDENCE, July 25.—The first section of the mail train from Boston to New York was wrecked opposite Dodgeville station this morning. The train consisted of Old Colony engine 147 and two United States mail cars, a baggage car and several passenger coaches. A freight train from Boston had passed through Attleboro at midnight and switched off some of the cars at Dodgeville, and one of them left the main track in the way of the mail train.

The train approached the obstacle at the rate of 30 miles an hour and crashed into it before the engineer could reduce the speed of his train. The engine was completely demolished. A mail clerk named Miller was instantly killed and another mail clerk named Murphy was seriously hurt. Several of the passengers were also injured. The mixed train was in charge of Conductor Keene and Engineer Bowen.

CHOKED BY A SNAKE.

Doctors Are Puzzled by the Peculiar Affliction of a Danbury Man.

DANBURY, Conn., July 25.—George P. Raleigh of this city, while haying for William Odell in Brookfield one morning last week, lifted a forkful of hay to place it on the load. when he fell to the ground with the hay on top of him. When he was picked up Raleigh had hold of a black snake, which was coiled about his neck. The serpent did not bite him, but it left a black mark. Raleigh was disabled from work for the day. The next morning, and every morning at the same hour that the snake wound itself around the man's neck, he has been taken with choking spasms and fits of strangulation, and is growing weaker every day. The case is being watched by local physicians, whose efforts to allay his sufferings have thus far proved futile. The snake was 4 ft. 3 in. long.

He Wielded a Razor.

ESSEX, Mass., July 25.—John Ford, colored, is wanted by the police of this place for an assault with a razor. Ford resides in Lynn and boarded a train at that place. He made himself decidedly obnoxious to his fellow passengers, and just as he was alighting drew a razor and tried to assault several persons. After slightly wounding one man he escaped.

A Change of Name.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 25.—The grand jury yesterday returned an indictment against Jose Correa de Mello for the killing of Bertha May Manchester of Fall River. De Mello was before indicted under the name of Jose Correiro. The new indictment is exactly the same as the previous one, except the substitution of the correct name.

Francis Resigns.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 25.—Cashier Francis of the Pittsfield National bank, who has been the subject of much unpleasant newspaper notoriety of late, tendered his resignation to the directors yesterday afternoon, and it was accepted. The reason assigned is ill-health and the need of rest.

Woodbridge Succeeds Chamberlain.

HARTFORD, July 25.—Chief of Police Jabez L. Woodbridge of this city was elected warden of the state prison at Wethersfield, to succeed General Chamberlain, Aug. 1. The position pays $2400 per year, board, house rent and everything necessary. Woodbridge is a Democrat.

An Engineer's Misfortune.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 25.—Elias H. Woodsum, engineer at the Portsmouth shoe factory, was frightfully scalded yesterday. He was on top of the boiler when the safety valve blew out, and was at once surrounded by the escaping steam. It is not expected that he can live.

Olmstead Still Unheard From.

NORWALK, Conn., July 25.—No tidings have been obtained of William A. Olmstead of Wilton, who left for New York on June 20 to hire some farm hands. Diligent search is still being made, but no trace of the missing man has been found.

Through a Bridge.

PEABODY, Mass., July 25.—The steam road roller owned by the town broke through the bridge on Foster street yesterday. One of the heavy flagstones became displaced, letting the ponderous machine fall through into the brook.

Herbert Visits Russell.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., July 25.—U. S. S. Dolphin, with Secretary Herbert and others on board, arrived late yesterday afternoon at Magnolia and fired a salute in honor of Governor Russell, whose guests they were last evening.

The Salem Harbor Accident.

SALEM, Mass., July 25.—The remains of three men drowned in the harbor Sunday afternoon have not yet been recovered. There is no doubt that these three persons were Antonine Liebsch, his son Andrew and James E. Dixon.

Program Unchanged.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 25.—The same routine as last week was continued yesterday by the president, Colonel Lamont and Dr. Bryant. They spent the day down the bay, returning with a successful catch.

Leased to a Chicago Man.

BEVERLY, Mass., July 25.—The Kidder mansion, which is one of the most costly villas on the North Shore, worth $125,000, has been leased to W. B. Walker for the season. Mr. Walker is one of Chicago's millionaires.

Jefferson Is All Right,

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 25.—Joseph Jefferson was shown a published dispatch which stated that he was dying from a cancerous affection of the throat. Mr. Jefferson said the story was absolutely false.

A Brave Rescue.

ESSEX, Mass., July 25.—Three young girls came near being drowned at Conomo. J. A. Towns of Lynn went to thair rescue, and he, too, came near being drowned. All four were rescued after much difficulty.

Brief Mention.

Frank Lord of Dover, N. H., is missing.

Suspicious circumstances are said to attend the death of Jacob Strout of Raymond, Me.

Contracts for the $60,000 gymnasium for Wesleyan university have been awarded. The building will be finished in May next.

The two-masted schooner Lizzie Brainard capsized in a sudden squall at Westbrook, Conn. The colored cook was drowned.

James Kearns, aged 27, brakeman on a Shore Line train, fell from his train at Saybrook, Conn. He died on the way to the hospital.

Miss Grace Shattuck, a young society woman of Springfield, Mass., was killed and a young lady friend seriously injured by a runaway horse.

Dennis Judge, aged 36 years, died at Portland, Me., from the effects of a fracture of the skull, received by a fall into the hold of a coal barge.

Julius M. Ellendorf, editor of The Mechanics' Journal and the Fairfield County Anzeiger, died at South Norwalk, Conn., after a lingering sickness.

John Miller, a 16-year-old boy, was arrested at New Haven while on his way west to fight the Indians. He says his parents reside at Lowell, Mass.

The Lynn and Boston railroad has equipped six cars with the new electric air brake. It is said that one will stop a car going 10 miles an hour while moving its length.

FRENCH FLAG DOWN.

Minister Pavie Preparing to Depart From Bangkok.

COAST TO BE BLOCKADED.

Military Operations Are Also to Be Opened.

BANGKOK, July 25.—M. Pavie, French minister resident, has lowered the flag over his offices and notified the Siamese government that he will leave the city to go aboard the French warship Inconstante tomorrow. He has requested the government to provide pilots to conduct the Lutin and Comete down the river. French subjects in Bangkok will be placed under the protection of the Dutch consul.

Action In France.

PARIS, July 25.—The government has notified the powers that it intended to establish a blockade of the Siamese coast without prejudice to the other measures that may be taken, with the object of securing to France the guarantee to which she is entitled. A council of the ministers will be held at once to decide what additional measures shall be taken to insure the obtaining of guarantees from Siam.

The Liberte, newspaper, says that France will seize and hold Battambang and Angkor as guarantees that her demands will be satisfied.

The Temps says that the beginning of the blockade will be deferred until Thursday or Friday to enable France to take the steps prescribed by international law. Besides the blockade, military operations will be opened shortly.

The details of these operations will be settled at a cabinet council within a day or two. Steps will be taken in Indo-China immediately after the arrival of the battalion of the foreign legion. The second portion of this battalion sailed from Marseilles yesterday. The native militia will be reorganized, and with the imported companies of the foreign legion will cooperate with the force already in active service in the Khong district.

Toward Serious Action

The Soir comments thus in an extra edition on Siam's reply: Siam concedes only the least important of the conditions put by France. Her resistance is due obviously to English influence. M. Develle would do well to speak clearly and firmly to Lord Dufferin.

All the other Paris newspapers are conducting a vigorous campaign in favor of the government's full demand and are warning Great Britain against any interference in the present complication.

Cracking at England.

The papers devote as much space to denunciations of England as to the matter at issue between France and Siam. England is reproached by them with supporting the Siamese in their opposition to France's just demands, and with planning to give the Siamese secret aid when hostilities begin. The extreme combative and radical newspapers alone abstain from discussing the situation. They are holding back so as to denounce the government in case the Siamese venture prove a fizzle.

A dispatch from Rome says that Italy has asked England to protect Italian subjects in Siam. The Siamese minister in this city has not received his passports from the French government. Immediately after M. Pavie's departure from Bangkok, however, he will go to Lisbon and Madrid, as he is a minister to Spain and Portugal as well as to France. The minister still hopes for a peaceful settlement of the trouble.

The Siamese secretary of legation said last evening that no further news had been received at the legation yesterday from Bangkok. Upon seeing M. Pavie embark, he added, the Siamese government might decide to accept the terms of the ultimatum. This supposition, however, was merely personal and did not reach any definite information.

How England Feels.

LONDON, July 25.—The Franco-Siamese complications have been the one absorbing topic in the lobbies of the house of commons. The situation is regarded with apprehension by all parties, and the last news from Bangkok and Paris is read with as much anxiety as eagerness. On all sides regret is expressed that the British warships in Siamese waters were not reinforced a month ago, as the British interests in Siam outnumber the French 100 to one.

A council of ministers was summoned yesterday afternoon at the instance of Lord Roseberry, secretary of state for foreign affairs, to meet in the prime minister's room of the house of commons. The only subject discussed was the situation at Bangkok.

Uncle Sam Not Worried.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—So far as the state department is informed there are no American citizens residing in Siam, except about a score of missionaries. It is not believed to be necessary to take any special measures for their protection. The United States has no diplomatic representative in Siam, and the consul-general at Bangkok, Mr. Boyd, is in this country at present, leaving the office in charge of his son, the vice consul.

Bavaria's Crazy King.

MUNICH, July 25.—The condition of King Otto of Bavaria is daily becoming worse. The paralysis is increasing. The mental afflictions of the king are such that it was found necessary to place him under restraint several yeaas ago. King Otto is now about 45 years old.

Lynn Man Missing.

LYNN, Mass., July 25.—James C. Scanlon, 60 years of age, residing on Barker Court, this city, has been missing from his home since July 18. His wife has had no idea of his whereabouts, and has brought the matter to the attention of the police.

Silk Weavers on Strike.

PATERSON, N. J., July 25.—About 130 weavers in the employ of Pelgram & Meyers, silk manufacturers, went on a strike against a reduction of 10 per cent in their wages.

THERE ARE those who will pooh-pooh at the communication of Miss Parker in another column, but these will be largely non-church goers. It is a thoughtful contribution with considerable common sense. There is altogether too much desecration of the Sabbath. Flying horses would not be permitted to run in any of the other villages of Quincy, and should not be allowed at Houghs Neck. Altogether too much sympathy has been shown to Mr. Taber, and now that he has deliberately defied the law, let the law take its course.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY ALLEN attributes his removal before his term of office expired, to his excessive zeal in certain bank cases. His work to have justice done in the case against Work, French and Potter is appreciated, however, and it is to hoped that money will not triumph after all. His successor may be equally assiduous, but there has already been too much delay, and the ch arge is likely to further defeat justice.

ANOTHER CITY reports an increased tax rate. That of Waltham is $16.40, an increase of 90 cents, and higher than for ten years. The average rate of the six cities heard from,—Lawrence, Woburn, Malden, Lynn, Pittsfield and Waltham—is $16.30. But one is below $16 and none over $17.

THE CITY has lost two of its bright young men as citizens this year,; Josiah Quincy and Sigourney Butler are dropped from the poll list this year at their request and are assessed in Boston.

Young Men's Christian Association.

The boys' camp at Silver Lake has been a great success, over thirty boys being in attendance. Through the courtesy of the Old Colony, the party has had the privileges of the entire grove. Eight tents were pitched and for two weeks the boys have had a thoroughly good time. The daily programme has been as follows: Rise at 6.30, breakfast at 7.30, followed by a thirty minutes' Bible study conducted by Evangelist John M. Dick, who is known all over the country for his successful work among boys. From 9 to 11 was spent in base ball or fishing. From 11 to 11.30 swimming, 12 30 dinner. Until 4.30 the boys played ball, rowed on the lake, picked berries or fished. At 4.30 they went in swimming again for half an hour. After supper there was a short song and testimony meeting. In the evening a trip is usually made to the village for supplies. No accidents have happened, so far, and all the boys report a good time. The Christian influence of the camp has been very good and many boys have manifested an interest in the Christian life. The success of the camp is chiefly due to Mr. Dick who has had charge of it.

The Rescued Party.

The names of the persons who had a narrow escape in the squall of Sunday and who were landed at Houghs Neck, were Mr. E. C. Woodworth the Tremont street jeweler of Boston, his two boys, aged 9 and 5 years, and Messrs. S. V. Brown and H. A. Birch. They had started from Houghs Neck only a short while previous to the squall. The catboat had been borrowed for the sail.

The Pleiad took them abroad, gave them a change of clothing and afterward landed them at Houghs Neck. One of the boys was with difficulty brought to, and all were in an exhausted condition, having struggled in the water for 15 minutes before being taken out. The capsized boat was righted and towed ashore.

Waltham's Valuation.

The tax rate of Waltham this year will be $16.40 on each $1000 of valuation, as against $15.50 for the year 1892. The figures of the Assessors show the city's total valuation to be $18,621,876, of which $14,055,000 is for real estate and $4.566,876 for personal estate, including resident bank stock.

There are 6613 polls, an increase of 219 over last year, while the increase of personal estate is $271,120 and of real estate $734,000, making the total increase of valuation $1,005,120. The amount assessed for city taxes, including overlayings and State sewerage assessments, is $284,745.

The State tax on polls is $6113, and on property $11,987. The county tax on polls is $6113, and on property $8666.76, making the total tax to be assessed on property $305,398,76, and on polls $12,226.

WEYMOUTH.

The completion of 20 years of service of Henry A. Thomas of this town in the Boston post office was the occasion of a barquet at Young's Hotel, Monday evening. Many distinguished gentlemen were present.

—Clark & Marshall's bonnet wire factory at Medfield was struck by lightning and destroyed Saturday night; loss $18,000.

OLD FASHIONED LAW.

It Should be Respected—No Compromise—A Bedlam Day Not Wanted.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

Mr. Taber's flying-horses have divided honors with the weather in being favorite topics of conversation of late. Perhaps there has been too much talk already over the matter, but the remark in Mondays LEDGER that Chief Langley came and witnessed the violation of the old-fashioned Sunday law, provokes me into an attempt to say something on this point.

To be sure that law, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," is rather old-fashioned being quite as antiquated as its nine companions in the decalogue. But this same old-fashioned decalogue is of vast importance to the world, for every pulse beat of true life lived today draws its vitality from the great heart of law which God gave to Moses and which he transmitted to the people. It is the foundation of all our modern law and upon it rests our and all that makes life worth the living. As an eminent townsman recently said of our United States that all the good and glorious in the country was radiated from Plymouth rock, so of the christian world, its beauty, purity and success are dependent upon the Mosaic law.

In the centuries of advancement it has been found impossible to hold strictly to the letter of the law, and we are obliged to keep the law comparatively rather than positively. And just here comes the struggle, for, according to the old fable of Arabic law, we have admitted the camel's nose and the camel, being the embodiment of men's selfishness, is importuning us, because of his cold nose, to admit his whole ungainly form.

It is Necessary

For us to perform upon the Sabbath a certain portion of work done upon each weekday, but this work takes but a fraction of the day, and the remainder is to be kept holy, that is, in an orderly, decent, respectable manner.

When one man or more affirm by their action that they cannot earn money enough in six days but must make the seventh exactly like the other six, it is quite time to turn the camel about and begin to drive him out.

We shall not probably be called upon to answer for the sins of these persistent Sabbath-breakers but a refluent wave of their allowed action will touch and sting us keenly

In Years to Come.

As long as beach houses and their attendant attractions (?) are open on the Sabbath they will probably be patronized. A majority of the patrons are young people and children, and what they do and see done at these places on these days is to bear fruit in the coming years of city and state government that will be disagreeable to harvest.

Why is it that we are today seeking almost vainly for men in public life, and why are we turning each day with loathing and contempt as rumor deepens into certainty of the disloyalty to honor, trust and virtue of those occuping high places in our social and political life? Simply because old fashioned law is not honored and these natures were not sound in childhood and maturing years have developed the decay which Is Now Unsightly.

With the turbid tide of immigration that is peopling our country, it is more and more urgent that those who know the right should stand squarely for the right and not rest until it is gained or saved.

It is to be hoped that no compromise, such as was suggested to me by a wise little six-year-old maid, will be necessary in this particular case. Talking together one afternoon of the days of the week, their names, uses, etc., she said, after some moments of brooding, "I think in the by-and-by years we shall have eight days in a week;" and in answer to my rather surprised "Why?" she replied, "Well, the six week-days, just as we have now, Sunday, the rest day for the good people, and Bedlam day for the hoodlums."

I believe that the good people are today more numerous than the hoodlums, and it is to be hoped they are sufficiently strong to make said hoodlums respect the good old-fashioned rest day, and not allow them to distort it into a Bedlam day.

Clan McGregor Leads.

In connection with the Order of Scottish Clans from Maine to California, there is 110 subordinate Clans working under the Royal and Grand Clans. Clan McGregor, No. 5 of Quincy is to be congratulated for keeping the lead of the subordinate Clans in membership. At the regular meeting held Monday evening, new members were initiated which make its membership 237, and 8 applications were received. Last year this Clan alone paid $800 for sick benefit. Its workings and business principles are admitted to be the best of the order.

Way up in C.

In Webster's dictionary you will find the word "Genuine." It applies particularly to the bargains in furniture offered by Henry L. Kincaide & Co. at the present time. For instance, beautiful oak side boards with beveled mirrors, they are usually counted cheap at $25. What are they then at $18?

A SLUGGING CONTEST.

Senators Get the Best of the Beaneaters In the Ninth Inning.

BOSTON, July 25.—The Senators beat the champions out in a terrific batting game. Stockdale, the Johns Hopkins pitcher, outpaced Gastright up to the ninth inning, but by good luck the champions had a lead of one run. Nichols then went in to hold the Senators down, but he failed utterly. The record against him was five runs, made on a base on balls, five hits, with a total of seven and a sacrifice. This was a lead beyond Nichols's reach. The features were the batting of Long, Duffy, Stricker and O'Rourke, and the batting of Wise, O'Rourke, Sullivan, McCarthy and Duffy.

Bold Burglars Bagged.

JAMAICA, L. I., July 25.—The gang of burglars who have been raiding a portion of Queens county for the past two years were run down at Ridgewood by Detectives Ashmead and Harris and were turned over to the Queens county authorities. They were John Kelly, Frederick Weisman, Ferdinand Weisman, Carl Meyer, John Weisman and John Miller. The gang is said to have been one of the best organized in the country.

Hanging His Ultimate Fate.

CHICAGO, July 25.—John Leary stabbed Henry Walsh Saturday afternoon. Walsh died last night. Leary came to Chicago from Brooklyn a year ago to escape being arrested for stabbing a man in New York city. Leary had gouged out the eyes of a man named Sinclair last week and Walsh upraided him when they met Saturday, when Leary suddenly stabbed him.

All Caused By a Bullet.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., July 25.—Schaeffer's powder house exploded yesterday afternoon. Homer Household and Hugh Harvey were shooting when a rifle bullet entered a window. Both men were blown clear across the river and their bodies torn to pieces. Houses were wrecked all around and several persons were injured.

Huston's Bank Closes.

CONNORSVILLE, Ind., July 25.—The Citizens' bank of Connorsville, owned and controlled by Hon. J. H. Huston, ex-treasurer of the United States, closed its doors yesterday. Mr. Huston says his liabilities will not exceed $150,000, while his assets will more than cover that amount.

A Cork Trust.

Public Hearing.

CITY OF QUINCY,
IN COUNCIL, July 17, 1893.

WHEREAS, in the opinion of the City Council of the City of Quincy, public necessity and convenience require that the way therein called Adams street be widened on the northwesterly side thereof, along the entire frontage of the estate owned by the Wollaston Land Co., to a uniform width of 45 feet, also that said street be widened on the southeasterly side thereof by taking a small strip of land belonging to the estates of Mrs. Laura E. Sturtevant and Thomas A. Whicher as shown by stakes located thereon, and that the grade of the street be established, all as shown on a plan by H. T. Whitman, Surveyor, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, it is therefore ORDERED, That due notice be given to the Adams Real Estate Trust, Thomas A. Whicher, Miss Caroline M. Beale, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Dewson, John C. Randall, Mrs. Laura E. Sturtevant, George A. Brackett, Mrs. Helen L. King, William B. Rice, Mrs. Mary F. Reed, the Wollaston Land Co., the Adams Temple and School Fund, Mrs. Caroline F. Faxon, the estate of William Newcomb, the Adams Street Syndicate, the estate of Jacob F. Eaton, and all other parties interested, by an officer competent to serve civil process, who shall make return of his doings in this Order by serving them respectively with copies of this Preamble and Order, in accordance with the provisions of Section 69 of Chapter 49 of Public Statutes, that it is the intention of the City Council to widen said Adams street under the provisions of law authorizing the assessment of betterments, as above recited, and for that purpose to take portions of the land of the Wollaston Land Co., Mrs. Laura E. Sturtevant and Thomas A. Whicher, and that Monday, the 7th day of August, 1893, at 8 o'clock P.M., in the City Council chamber at the City Hall, in said Quincy, are the time and place appointed for making said widening and for hearing any of said owners upon the question of damages occasioned thereby, and that a copy of this Order be printed in the Quincy DAILY LEDGER, the Quincy PATRIOT and the Quincy Advertiser, at least seven (7) days before the date of said hearing.

Adopted July 17, 1893.

KICKAPOO INDIAN SAGWA

Why it is The Safest Liver and Stomach Remedy Known.

Indians Have No Knowledge of Mineral Drugs and Poisons—They Cure With Roots and Herbs of the Field and Forest.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa is a remedy that many claim will almost raise the dead.

Kickapoo Indian Woman known to be at least 108 years old—from her photograph.

Sagwa is the remedy upon which the Indian relies at all times and seasons.

Sagwa gives strength, tones the appetite, purifies and enriches the blood, and is the greatest liver, stomach and blood renovator ever known to man.

Greater and grander than all this is the fact that Indian Sagwa cannot possibly contain anything harmful, no mercury, no strychnine, no bismuth, no arsenic; nothing but the leaves, barks, berries and roots of the field and forest which the Indian has learned to use.

Indians know nothing of those harmful drugs, and could not use them if they would.

This fact is important.

The medicine you take into your system should be to strengthen and build it up, not merely to stimulate it, and add the fuel of poison to the consuming flames of disease.

Indians don't have Dyspepsia, yet they eat anything and everything, at all times and under all conditions.

Indians don't have Malaria, yet they sleep out of doors, exposed to night air, live in damp places, and frequent changes are quite common to their mode of life.

Yet both these ailments and many others that the red men never have are frequently found among white people.

How is it with the Indian?

Knowing the value of Kickapoo Indian Sagwa he keeps it constantly with him and when his system feels run down, needs toning up as we say, the Indian takes a few doses of Sagwa.

He keeps well!

He don't wait until danger overtakes him, but craftily watches for its approach and wards off the attack.

Here is a lesson to profit by.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa,

made by the Indians from roots, barks and herbs of their own gathering and curing, is obtainable of any druggist, at one dollar per bottle; six bottles for five dollars.

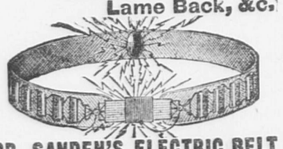

All the Kickapoo Remedies are Sold by Druggists Everywhere.

Personal Items of Interest—Roughs Cause a Disturbance at Taber's.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood and Miss Mellen are occupying the Webb Cottage and entertain their friends in a very hospitable manner.

The party which gathered at the club house Monday evening were very much entertained by some very pleasing vocal selections by one of the lady residents of the beach.

A square meal was enjoyed by the occupants of Saints Rest, Monday evening. Starvation was avoided by the generosity of Mr. A. M. Coffin, a popular business man of Boston. Meals at all hours.

Mr. Henry Moebs is resting from his arduous labors.

Mr. Dolan our popular bicyclist, received a severe shaking up this morning by falling from his wheel in trying to break his record to Rock Island.

There seems still to be a faint idea among the visitors at the beach that the no-license law extends no farther than the bridge. Another party of savages came properly loaded with liquor, as they thought, to have a good time. A good time may be enjoyed if kept to itself, but when it annoys others there it stops.

Mr. Taber was again forced to assert his authority as officer of the law and eject several intoxicated men from his bowling alley Monday night. One or two arrests would teach these parties to keep within the bounds of decency.

Miss Hattie Pierce of Quincy is stopping at the Loretto.

The party at the Snowflake cottage on Bay View avenue return to their homes in Worcester tomorrow.

From Fourth to First.

Over 700 votes were cast today in the popularity contest for the $100 sea shore lot and all the leaders change positions. Mrs. Connors of the Brockton cafe gained 500 and moves up from the fourth place to that of leader. Mrs. Emery of the Loretto received 160 and retains second place, crowding Mr. Hutchins into third place and Conductor Dunham into fourth. Miss Meehan continues fifth. There are three new candidates and a few changes in the vote of others.

Reasonable Living at the Fair.

While so many people are hesitating over a visit to the World's fair on account of the expense, the testimony of a tolerably experienced and sagacious man of this city may help some to make up their minds. He went with his wife and spent something over a week at the fair, paying out about $80 besides railway fare.

The hotel where they had expected to stop was so recently finished that the plaster was still damp, and they wisely declined to sleep there. They had no trouble in getting suitable quarters, paying $2.50 a day for a large double chamber with a bathroom attached. They took their meals at a restaurant and found the prices about the same as at the most expensive of the restaurants in this city. For 50 cents one could get a fair meal. Their midday meal they took at the fair grounds, where the prices were higher, but not extortionate. In the opinion of this visitor there is no reason why any one should fail to get comfortable accommodations as easily and as cheaply as in other large cities. He gave enthusiastic pictures of the fair, and especially of the German and French exhibits, the unity and skillful arrangement of which contrasted singularly with the go-as-you-please methods of the English.—Springfield Republican.

Imprisoned Miners Swam Out.

Fifty-eight miners dripping wet and much the worse for a very singular and remarkable experience underground, crawled from the mouth of the old slope of the Marshall mine and seemed to be generally satisfied that they had been able to find a way out. The men were threatened with imprisonment, and but for the old workings would have had a siege.

The engine at the Marshall broke down suddenly, stopping the cages about the middle of the shaft, which is 200 feet deep, and imprisoning all of the 58 men at work. They had no way of exit with the exception of walking a mile and a half under ground to the old slope which had very fortunately been connected with the Marshall by an underground tunnel about a year ago.

This they all set out to do, and upon emerging from the mouth of the old slope they were very much "drowned out" from having been obliged to wade and swim through water and mud four to six feet deep. The experience is said to have been anything but pleasant.—Louisville Cor. Colorado Sun.

Kidnaped by Indians.

It is just 10 years since the small children of Thomas Schless, a boy and girl, were lost at Medford, this state, while on an errand for their mother, and all hope of finding them was given up by their parents, as neighbors searched the woods for two days without a trace of them. It was supposed that they had been destroyed by wild animals. It seems now that they were not lost, but stolen by Indians. The boy recently escaped and has been working on a farm near Mishicott. He speaks the Indian language fluently, but very little English, and it is only through words dropped here and there to his employer, who happened to be acquainted with his folks, that he finally recognized him. His father arrived yesterday from Medford. The boy says he knows where his sister is, and she will also probably be found. The boy was 5 and the girl 7 years old when they disappeared.—Wisconsin Cor Philadelphia Ledger.

Imprisoned In Their Cyclone Pit.

In Hart county, Ga., there lives a family by the name of Finley, who dug a storm pit in the front yard. They fitted it up with heavy doors, ventilation tubes and furniture to make it comfortable for a day's abode if necessary. With the indications of an approaching cyclone Monday the family retired to the underground quarters. When the storm subsided, they found that some immovable obstruction had been blown across the door of the stormhouse, and they were prisoners. Finally the neighbors in searching for their bodies, supposing them all to be dead, removed a great tree that had fallen across the door, and the family were rescued in time to save their lives.

The Curfew In Canada.

The ringing of the curfew bell is to be revived in the cities and towns of Canada. Under the provisions of the new law, or rather of the ancient law revived, all persons under the age of 17 years are expected to make for home at the first tap of the bell. The idea is to force children off the streets nights and to keep them within the benign influences of the family circle, rather than to allow them to learn deviltry in the company of evil associates. The law is universally applauded in Canada, and the brightest hopes are entertained of its beneficial effect on the young.—Chicago Herald.

An Incident at the National Capital.

The two daughters of Jeff Davis, Mrs. Hayes and Winnie Davis, visited the national capital Sunday to view the wall paintings in the room of the committee on agriculture. As children Jefferson, Jr., and Mrs. Hayes acted as models for the Cupids in the painting. The doors were locked, and there was no one around who had a key, so the captain of the capitol police burst in the doors for the women to see the works of art. I was a witness.—Cor. New York Advertiser.

The big plaza rocking chair comes this season with a fan attachment. While you rock the fan sways, and if it is not done with the grace of a Spanish dame the arrangement has possibly a charm for a lazy woman.

Congressman O'Neill of Philadelphia, the "father of the house," has served continuously in congress over 30 years. He is optimist enough to believe that the Republicans will regain control of the next congress.

THE WEYMOUTH GAME.

Full Score of the Institutes—North Weymouth Contest of Saturday.

The long looked for rubber game between the Institutes and the North Weymouths took place Saturday before the largest crowd ever on the grounds at North Weymouth. The game was loosely played on both sides, but was the most exciting game ever seen here, being made so by the closeness of the score, as the score by innings will show. The batting was light, but the hits of the visitors were the most timely and won the game, Reardon alone driving in four of the nine runs for his team. The base running was in favor of the home team, stealing bases about as they liked. Buckley leading with three bases to his credit. Burrell did some daring base running which counted for the Norths when it was greatly needed. The errors were mostly made on the easiest of chances and were about all costly to the team making them. It was a great game to watch and the losing team need feel no disgrace because of it.

Next Saturday the North Weymouths have for opponents the Braintrees and their battery will be one that all ball cranks in this section have been wanting to see.

August Magazines.

The August number of Current Literature devotes the opening pages to the great Fair at Chicago in its many popular aspects. It gives a resume of the Industrial Scientific and odd displays, together with sketches, serious and humorous, of everyday incident. Published at 52-54 Lafayette place, New York.

Godey's Magazine for August shows a varied and attractive contents, both literary and artistic; not only does it retain all the old features, but many new features have been added. The complete novel in the August number is by W. J. Henderson, splendidly illustrated by E. L. Durand, and those who have read the advance sheets pronounce it a brilliant work. Eleanor E. Greatorex writes about and illustrates the Flower Markets of Paris.

The Delineator for August is called the midsummer number, and its contents are well suited to the season. In addition to the fine assortment of styles for Ladies, Misses and Children, there is a special illustrated article on Mourning Costumes, Customs and Etiquette. The Delsarte article is the first on Gesture, a most important phase in the art of Expression. The Butterick Publishing Co., 11 West Thirteenth street, New York.

Worthington's Illustrated Magazine for August opens with the second of the interesting papers entitled, "Random Notes on Hawaiian Life," written by C. T. Rodgers, M. D., a prominent physician, now and for many years a resident of Honolulu.

"Mental Characteristics of the Japanese," by Walter Dening, is a thoughtful paper upon a people who excite in the minds of intelligent observers a curiosity which the superficial remarks of mere travelers fail to satisfy.

"Reminiscences of an Army Bride," by Mrs. Sue Nickerson Thorne," relates to army life in the frontier posts of twenty years ago. Published at Hartford Connecticut.

The total gold production of Central Queensland for the last year was 160,000 ounces, with ore averaging one ounce 13 pennyweights to the ton.

THE OLD FRIENDS.

The old friends, the old friends
We loved when we were young,
With sunshine on their faces
And music on their tongue!
The bees are in the almond flower,
The birds renew their strain,
But the old friends, once lost to us,
Can never come again.

The old friends, the old friends!
Their brow is lined with care;
They've furrows in the faded cheek
And silver in the hair;
But to me they are the old friends still—
In youth and bloom the same
As when we drove the flying ball
Or shouted in the game.

The old men, the old men,
How slow they creep along!
How naughtily we scoffed at them
In days when we were young!
Their prosing and their dozing,
Their prate of times gone by,
Their shiver like an aspen leaf
If but a breath went by.

But we—we are the old men now,
Our blood is faint and chill;
We cannot leap the mighty brook
Or climb the breakneck hill.
We maunder down the shortest cuts,
We rest on stick or stile,
And young men half ashamed to laugh
Yet pass us with a smile.

Oh, weary, weary drag the years
As life draws near the end,
And sadly, sadly fall the tears
For loss of love and friend.
But we'll not doubt there's good about
In all of humankind;
So here's a health before we go
To those we leave behind!

Willed Himself a $10 Funeral.

The will of the late William John Macdonald of this city, who died on the 4th of March, leaving an estate valued at $44,151.04, was filed for probate yesterday. A strange clause in the will is that regarding the funeral of the deceased, which he requires shall not cost more than $10, and he gives the most minute directions as to how the funeral can be conducted on this economical scale.—Toronto Mail.

Following Harvard.

Harvard sets the fashion every year for the walk of the Boston gilded youth. It changes constantly in some slight degree, enough to stamp it to the knowing ones. This season the young swells stick their heads forward and jerk along, with one hand in the pocket in faithful imitation of their Cambridge leaders.—Boston Letter.

Where Germany Stands.

A TERRIBLE BEATING

Administered to a Woman Missionary In Turkey.

SATISFACTION IS SOUGHT

But Government Officials Show No Sign of Compliance.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Letters to the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions in this city contain news of an unprovoked attack upon Miss Annie Melton, an American missionary who was stationed at the time of the outrage in a little village among the Nestorian mountains in Turkey. Miss Melton escaped with her life, but was mercilessly beaten by her assailant. The letters are dated from Amadia, Turkey, June 14, last.

A little more than a week before that date Rev. E. McDowell with his family and Miss Melton left Mosul, a missionary station in West Persia, to go to Amida, Turkey, a journey of five days duration. Having reached there in safety, Miss Melton proposed to continue on to the mountain village of Duree, some miles away. She had received an invitation from the people there to make them a visit.

Although the route was a somewhat dangerous one, Miss Molton went unattended, save by her servant and a native preacher who was considered to be wholly trustworthy. On the night of her arrival she pitched her tent on the roof of a house in the village, as is the custom of the country. The preacher slept on the roof about 10 feet from her tent, and the family of the house also occupied places not far away. There was no indication at any time of a hostile feeling on the part of anyone against the American, on the contrary her reception

Having Been Most Friendly.

In the middle of the night, however, she was awakened from a sound sleep by the appearance of a man in her tent. The intruder was armed with a heavy stick. With this weapon he began to attack the defenseless woman, who screamed loudly for assistance. No one came to her aid, however, and she was compelled to defend herself single-handed. In some way she was able to break away from her assailant and ran bleeding from the tent. The man followed, but in the darkness missed his footing and fell to the ground. At the same time forms were seen running about and the sound of firearms was heard from the distance.

No trace could Miss Melton find of the preacher or of the others who had occupied the roof with her. They had all fled in terror without giving her any help. She was brutally cut about the head and body and blood was flowing from her wounds to such a degree that her night clothing was saturated. When all had become quiet again some of the people of the house, and others who had fled at the first intimation of danger, appeared on the scene. Miss Melton managed to dress her injuries herself, and the following day was carried to Amida, where the others of the missionary band were staying.

A subsequent examination of her tent showed that a few of her effects had been stolen, but robbery was evidently not the purpose of the attack upon her. Mr. McDowell laid the case before the authorities but was Unable to Obtain Satisfaction.

They said that Miss Melton should not have gone through comparatively unprotected, but should have asked for some soldiers. They claim that the outrage was perpetrated by the Koords, a tribe of robbers and thugs that infest the Nestorian mountains, of which the villagers are in abject fear.

After much insistance on the part of Mr. McDowell an inquiry was instituted by the authorities, but with little satisfaction. The matter has been called to the attention of the state department at Washington.

Miss Anna Melton, the victim of the outrage, has been a missionary of the Presbyterian church for many years. She was appointed from Bardolph, Ia.

Assets Exceed Liabilities.

BALTIMORE, July 25.—The Southern Electric company has made a voluntary assignment. Failure to collect overdue accounts made it impossible for the company to meet its obligations. The assets of the concern are estimated at $175,000; liabilities, $100,000.

DE BARBOLES IS "BROKE"

And Would Like to Garner In a Share of American Dollars.

MADRID, July 25.—The Marquis de Barboles, brother of the Duke of Veragua, in regard to the proposition that has been raised in the United States to collect a fund for the benefit of the duke, while expressing himself in favor of the proposal to raise a fund, said he regretted that the subscription was intended only for the benefit of the duke. The marquis declared that he, equally with his brother, was a descendant of Columbus. He had spent a large sum of money during his recent visit in company with his brother to the United States, and, as a matter of fact, he was poorer than the Duke of Veragua. The marquis thought that he should be considered in the matter, and said he intended to write to friends in the United States, telling them all the facts. He expressed the hope that the organizers of the fund would see to it that he was given a third or a quarter of whatever sum might be collected.

AN AGED SCOUNDREL

Charged With Offenses Which May Lead to His Hanging.

BALTIMORE, July 25.—William Kemper, aged 60 years, is locked up, charged with enticing little girls into his house for immoral purposes. Five young girls, none over 13 years of age, and some as young as 10, admitted to Justice Anderson that Kemper had committed an assault after enticing them into his house on the promise of giving them candy. So far, at least 18 children are said by the police to have been in Kemper's house, and many are thought to have refused to testify against him on account of the compromising position the charge would place them in. At the hearing the station house was filled with children and wildly excited parents. In case of conviction Kemper will probably hang.

BY SEVEN LENGTHS.

Gaudaur Defeats Hanlan and the Latter Does the Baby Act.

ORILLIA, Ont., July 25.—In the Hanlan-Gaudaur championship boat race here the start was made at 6:04. Hanlan shot to the front like a flash and was soon leading by a full boat's length. Both men were rowing about 34 strokes a minute. Hanlan kept in front the first mile, where Gaudaur reduced the lead to a half-boat length and soon spurted by his opponent. When the turn was reached Gaudaur was leading by a boat length, with Hanlan apparently out of it. Gaudaur crossed the line an easy winner by seven lengths in 19m. 32s. Hanlan finished 12 seconds behind. Hanlan has notified the stakeholders not to pay the stake money, claiming that the course was changed, causing his defeat.

Home Rule Advanced a Stage.

LONDON, July 25.—The house of commons, sitting as committee of the whole on the home rule bill, discussed last night Mr. Gladstone's new financial clause, which proposes that Ireland's contribution to the imperial exchequer shall be one-third of her total revenue for six years. Shortly before midnight the clause in question was adopted by a vote of 236 to 191.

The Sunday Closing Again.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Charles W. Clingmann's Sunday closing injunction against the World's fair was revived today, when Attorney Wason called the attention of the court to the fact that the restraining order was violated Sunday. Notice was served on the defendants to show why they should not be attached for contempt of court.

Ainsworth and Others Indicted.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The grand jury found a true bill against Frederick C. Ainsworth, George W. Dast, William E. Covert and Francis Sasse, holding them responsible for the old Ford's theater disaster of June 9 last, in which 23 persons lost their lives and a large number of others were injured.

Murder Over a Dentist's Bill.

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—Dr. Herman Hirschberg shot and instantly killed Theodore K. Miesse, a grocer. The doctor had pulled a tooth for Miesse and went to the store yesterday to collect the bill. They got into a dispute and a fight followed. Hirschberg gave himself up.

Broken Neck Didn't Kill Him.

A BRUTAL HUSBAND.

His Wife Said to Have Died From Cruel Treatment.

NEIGHBORS DREADED HIM.

Was Serving a Term In Jail When His Wife Died.

PALMER, Mass., July 26.—Mrs. Edward Welch of Stafford Springs has just died at her home, a victim, it is charged, of a most abusive husband. Her troubles were manifold, and her emaciated form bespeaks the terrible suffering through which she has passed.

Her husband is not a man addicted to the use of liquor, but is pronounced by his townsmen a brutal man. Complaints against him are a common thing. Dr. Newton has attended his wife in repeated sickness brought on by the want of food and clothing. Repeatedly has Welch thrown away the medicine prescribed by the physician, and once he said he would bury his wife this fall.

Last winter he kept her in a shanty too small for a decent habitation and so exposed to the blasts that the frost stood upon the walls, and there the poor woman, too ill to notify anyone, suffered.

His cruelty reached the climax Saturday, when he and stood her up, saying she was making believe ill. His brutality was reported to the police, and he was arrested. Some difficulty was found in securing testimony, for his son feared to say anything against him, and Mrs. Welch's two sisters, who were at the house, disliked the notoriety attending the affair if they appeared against the prisoner.

He had just commenced his sentence of 30 days in the Tolland jail when his wife died. No new charges, if any are made, can take effect until this term has expired.

Another instance in which he was brought before the court was occasioned by his

Driving His Wife and Son From Home

with an axe. He was fined, but the Grand Army, of which he is a member, interceded in his behalf.

Dr. Newton, when consulted, said that he had given up the case some time ago, but thinks the death of Mrs. Welch was hastened by her husband's conduct. Lawyer King says the man is a graduate of the Meriden state reform school, and corroborated the general verdict.

Mrs. Welch's sisters, who were caring for her at the time of her death, are not residents of the town, and had not, until recently, learned of the state of affairs. July 9 one of them came to Stafford, and when she called at the house and saw the condition of her sister, she at once sent for the other sister, and they have stayed with Mrs. Welch ever since. The sisters say that Welch pulled his wife from the bed Saturday night, but he did not strike her.

Italian Warships to Visit Boston.

BOSTON, July 26.—Dr. Brindisi, the Italian consul here, has just received the information that the Umberto I, the big Italian cruiser, is now on her way across the Atlantic, and within two or three weeks will be in Boston harbor. The Etna, the Giovanni Bausan and the Dogali, all three among Italy's most powerful warships, will bear her company during her stay in Boston waters. The ships will remain four or five days.

Dodgeville Collision to Be Investigated.

BOSTON, July 26.—The railroad commissioners will tomorrow investigate the accident that occurred yesterday at the Dodgeville depot in Attleboro. As was reported, the first owl train from Boston to New York crashed into a car of the regular freight from the east. The collision was accompanied with loss of life and severe injury to passengers.

Mr. Randall Better.

BOSTON, July 26.—The condition of John L. Randall, the real estate broker who was assaulted by Broker John O. Marsh, at 302 Washington street Monday, was somewhat improved last evening. The doctors at the Massachusetts general hospital say that the chances for his recovery are good. They think he is suffering from concussion of the brain, instead of a fractured skull.

Winding Up the Endowment Orders.

BOSTON, July 26.—The cases of the last of the endowment orders came up yesterday before Judge Barker, who will appoint receivers for each of them at once. There were six orders, including the American Friendly society, the Abraham Lincoln Benefit association, the American Mutual Relief association, the Order of Franklin, the National Fraternal and Beneficiary union and the United Order of Equity.

Cotton Mills to Close Down.

WARE, Mass., July 26.—The Otis company's cotton mills in this town will shut down Saturday for one month on account of being unable to find a market for their product. The number of hands employed is 1750 and the pay roll is $50,000 per month. The company's mills at Warren, Palmer, Thorndike, Bondville and Three Rivers will also curtail production to the same extent as the mills are at Ware.

Looks Like Foul Play.

ALTON, N. H., July 26.—An unknown man was run over and killed by Conductor Bickford's train last night, near Davis crossing, in New Durham. It is thought here that there is foul play connected with the case and that the man was laid across the track by some person unknown at present. The remains were brought here and given in charge of Undertaker Evans.

Concerning Moody Merrill.

BOSTON, July 26.—The latest report concerning Moody Merrill is that just prior to his departure from Boston he assigned some $6000 worth of real estate and other property to Mrs. Winthrop S. AN EXCITING SCENE.

British Government Denounced For Truckling to the Nationalists.

GLADSTONE'S WARM ATTACK

He Roundly Scores Chamberlain's Attitude.

LONDON, July 26.—In the house of commons last night Joseph Chamberlain, leader of the Liberal-Unionists, moved to make permanent the provisional arrangement that Irish taxes should be collected for six years by the imperial government.

In speaking to his motion, Mr. Chamberlain denounced the government for truckling to the Nationalists. These gentlemen, he said, would be masters of the situation after six years, and would be able to do pretty much as they pleased.

The Irish government would then conduct Ireland's finances so as to give a good pretext for wringing still more favorable terms from the imperial government.

The financial plan as now presented by the government put a premium on extravagant administration under the Irish legislature.

The house filled rapidly during the Chamberlain speech, as it was known Mr. Gladstone would reply at length. When the premier rose few seats were vacant.

Mr. Gladstone began by comparing Mr. Chamberlain's attitude with the proverbial

Attitude of the Devil's Advocate, whose function it was, he said, to seize eagerly on every human failing, and to misconstrue everything capable of misconstruction.

After repelling the charge that the British might eventually do as they pleased under the provisions of the bill, the premier turned toward Mr. Chamberlain, and in a voice of anger and indignation, said: "The right honorable gentleman has brought into public life the mischievous practice of continually and deliberately, with the utmost confidence in his own infallibility, ascribing to men who have the right to stand on the same level with him, who were at one time his colleagues and supposed to be his friends, motives for their acts which they indignantly disclaim.

By What Gift of Infallibility is the right honorable gentleman enabled to pronounce on the state of things in Ireland six years hence? The Irish members in the house now number 103, yet nobody will contend that they are omnipotent. They will return in diminished numbers after the passage of the bill, yet we hear the argument that they will prevail against 500 English and Scotch members.

After describing Mr. Chamberlain's exaggeration of facts as "gross and habitual," Mr. Gladstone closed his speech with the declaration that the government felt satisfied that their proposals would meet the approval of the taxpayers of the country. As soon as the cheering and counter-cheering subsided, Mr. Balfour rose to the defense of Mr. Chamberlain and his speech.

Not another man in the house, he said, would have been permitted to diverge from the subject as the premier had done. The term settled, in reference to the provisions of the bill, was hardly appropriate. The normal course in the house was to debate and divide on a measure.

The prime minister had seen fit, however, to omit the first of those processes.

The offices of "devil's advocate," to which the prime minister had referred, was performed only in relation to the defunct. Did the prime minister wish the house to understand that the home rule bill was defunct? If so, Mr. Balfour said in conclusion, he himself was quite ready to take any part its authors desired in its canonization.

The English Miners' Strike.

LONDON, July 26.—A new feature was added yesterday to the impending struggle between the Miners' federation and the Mine Owners' association, the Northumberland miners asking for an advance of 16 1-4 per cent in their wages, and the Durham miners for an advance of 10 per cent. It is not known what action the men will take in the event of a refusal.

SORRY, BUT we cannot suspend the publication of the DAILY LEDGER tomorrow and join in the Grocers' day outing. It may not be as dead as Chelsea if the stores are all closed, and the picnickers will be the more anxious to obtain their favorite daily upon their return, to learn of the happenings. Here's that the "Grocers" may have a good time.

WE QUESTION if the right granted the Quincy Electric Light & Power Company to set poles and string wires for electric lighting includes the privilege to run guy wires across streets. Even if it does, the company has no right to attach its wires to small trees, fence posts, etc. It would not seem as if a guy was necessary to support a pole carrying but two wires; either the pole should be set deeper, or it should be larger and stronger. Guy wires run nearly to the ground are dangerous and unsightly.

WE HAVE often thought of late that the Republican dailies could not do more to defeat their ends than to pursue their present policy of keeping Josiah Quincy prominently before the people. If nominated either for Governor of Massachusetts or Mayor of Boston, he will have the advantage of being a widely known candidate, and as his record is good, it will count for considerable, and two to one he will be successful. An editorial in today's Herald coincides. It says:

"Mr. Josiah Quincy is receiving a large amount of advertising in certain quarters in this city. Not a day passes that he is not largely favored in this way. We know of no man who is more indebted to political opponents for being brought into prominence. He has a cool temperament, which enables him to estimate the full advantage of this without being greatly disturbed by the personal abuse that accompanies the same. We remember few instances where the rise of a young man into distinction in public life has been more rapid and signal than has that of Mr. Quincy. He has demonstrated superior ability in all he has undertaken, and no evidence of this is more impressive than that shown in the gnashing of teeth on the part of those who fear him. He has a highly important present and the promise of a more distinguished future as a public man, and those who are disturbed by this fact count among the most useful agencies in promoting his fame and popularity."

Lazy Club on an Outing.

At a session of the trial committee of the Lazy club, held Tuesday, charges were made against the treasurer of the club, it being alleged that upon a certain date did with a brush, covered with paint, in the hand of the aforesaid treasurer, then and there being, did perform certain manual labor, to wit, daub with said brush, a house and other wrongs then and there did, contrary to the form of the rules in such cases made and provided.

He was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $8 which he did. The check was drawn and paid over to the Treasurer protem who immediately called a meeting for today at 12 o'clock at Anderson's, Fort Point, where the $8 will be expended in dinners.

TODAY'S COURT.

Cornelius Duggan of Quincy, for disturbing the peace, was fined $15.

Peter Sutton of Randolph, for illegal transportation of liquor, was fined $50.

In Webster's dictionary you will find the word "Genuine." It applies particularly to the bargains in furniture offered by Henry L. Kincaide & Co. at the present time. For instance, beautiful oak side boards with beveled mirrors, they are usually counted cheap at $25. What are they then at $18?

MANUFACTURERS' OUTING.

Granite Men Ask the Citizens Generally to Accompany Them to Barre.

The Quincy Granite Manufaccurers' Association at the meeting on Tuesday evening ratified a former vote to have their annual dinner at Montpelier, Vt. Spend a day among the quarries of Barre, where they have so much that is new in the way of machinery, plants and modes of handling granite.

This is a trip that will well repay the effort of every manufacturer to leave his business, and the committee hope that Quincy manufacturers will appreciate the importance of every member going. There are no business men that work so hard, or so many hours, as is done in the granite trade. So let each member lay aside business for two days and devote it to recreation.

Arrangements have been made with the railroads for a special train to and from Barre, to leave Boston on the morning of the 4th of August at the rate of one first-class fare for the round trip.

Any of the citizens of Quincy that would like to see the Green Mountain state could not have a better chance, and the committee would be pleased to have them join them. Further particulars can be had of the committee, Messrs. John L. Miller and Fred L. Badger.

JOSIAH QUINCY SPEAKS.

Not Seeking the Nominations—Mayor Matthews for Governor.

The Globe today says: Mr. Josiah Quincy was seen at his office yesterday by a representative of the Globe and asked whether he was willing, in view of the use of his name in the press in connection with the democratic nomination for Governor or for mayor of Boston, and of the report that he intended to resign shortly his position at Washington, to make any statement in regard to his political intentions.

Mr. Quincy replied as follows:

"I highly appreciate the kind spirit in which my name has been mentioned in the Globe and some other papers in connection with offices of such importance and dignity as the governorship of Massachusetts and the mayoralty of Boston, but I am in no sense of the word a candidate for the nomination to either of these positions.

"Ever since discussion of the matter first began I have, in conversation with those who have spoken to me on the subject, discouraged the use of my name in connection with the governorship, and expressed my strong reluctance to go into the contest for this office.

"While the newspaper talk of mysterious conferences at which the democratic nomination for the governorship is settled is merely the product of the silly season, it is tolerably clear to everybody that unless there is a marked change in the situation Mayor Matthews is altogether likely to be the choice of the democratic state convention, if he will consent to accept the nomination for governor.

"So far as I am aware, he has not authorized any statement that he will do so, or come to any decision about the matter.

"Only one thing seems to be certain, and that is that there will be no contest over the Democratic nomination, and that the action of the convention will be taken with substantial harmony and unanimity.

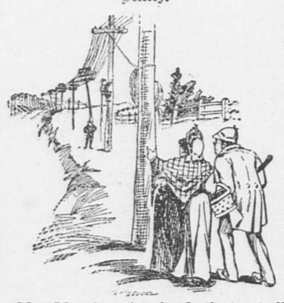

"While it is an open secret that I do not mean to remain at Washington through the present administration, I have fixed upon no time for resigning, and have no present intention of doing so.

"I shall return to Washington when congress meets and resume my duties there and am not giving any thought whatever to future political preferment.

BOSTON'S TURN.

The "Senators" Defeated by Heavy Batting and Good Fielding.

BOSTON, July 26.—Boston won yesterday's game by timely batting and supefior fielding. Stivetts' home run and Lowe's three-bagger were made with two men on bases. Sam Wise was in great batting form, and his fielding was brilliant in the extreme. Sullivan had an off day, his errors being very costly in each instance. Long's work at short was superb.

Negro Ravisher Lynched.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 26.—At Gaston two negroes named Handy and Thompson forced an entrance into the dwelling of Archie Sightler and knocked Mrs. Sightler down, threatening to kill her little boy if he made any outcry. The boy escaped and met a party of fox hunters, who returned to the house, but the negroes had escaped, it is presumed after outraging the lady. Handy was lynched yesterday, it is reported, and Thompson is supposed to be in Columbia.

Miss Melton's Case.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The department of state has not yet entered a complaint in the case of Miss Melton, who was abused in Kurdistan, but yesterday a cablegram was received from the American minister saying that the Turkish government has done all in its power to protect American missionaries in Kurdistan and to punish the robbers who perpetrated the outrage on Miss Melton.

Public Hearing.

CITY OF QUINCY,
IN COUNCIL, July 17, 1893.

WHEREAS, in the opinion of the City Council of the City of Quincy, public necessity and convenience require that the way therein called Adams street be widened on the northwesterly side thereof, along the entire frontage of the estate owned by the Wollaston Land Co., to a uniform width of 45 feet, also that said street be widened on the southeasterly side thereof by taking a small strip of land belonging to the estates of Mrs. Laura E. Sturtevant and Thomas A. Whicher as shown by stakes located thereon, and that the grade of the street be established, all as shown on a plan by H. T. Whitman, Surveyor, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, it is therefore ORDERED, That due notice be given to the Adams Real Estate Trust, Thomas A. Whicher, Miss Caroline M. Beale, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Dewson, John C. Randall, Mrs. Laura E. Sturtevant, George A. Brackett, Mrs. Helen L. King, William B. Rice, Mrs. Mary F. Reed, the Wollaston Land Co., the Adams Temple and School Fund, Mrs. Caroline F. Faxon, the estate of William Newcomb, the Adams Street Syndicate, the estate of Jacob F. Eaton, and all other parties interested, by an officer competent to serve civil process, who shall make return of his doings in this Order by serving them respectively with copies of this Preamble and Order, in accordance with the provisions of Section 69 of Chapter 49 of Public Statutes, that it is the intention of the City Council to widen said Adams street under the provisions of law authorizing the assessment of betterments, as above recited, and for that purpose to take portions of the land of the Wollaston Land Co., Mrs. Laura E. Sturtevant and Thomas A. Whicher, and that Monday, the 7th day of August, 1893, at 8 o'clock P.M., in the City Council chamber at the City Hall, in said Quincy, are the time and place appointed for making said widening and for hearing any of said owners upon the question of damages occasioned thereby, and that a copy of this Order be printed in the Quincy DAILY LEDGER, the Quincy PATRIOT and the Quincy Advertiser, at least seven (7) days before the date of said hearing.

Adopted July 17, 1893.

MANET BEACH.

Roast Pork for Fishing Party—New Leader in Contest.

Band concert tonight at Mears'.

Dance tonight at Taber's.

Taber's test case will be tried next Friday.

William F. Macy, the agent of Manet Land Co., has just returned from a shooting excursion at Chatham. The birds flew his way and he had a very good time.

The Hull Corinthian yacht club will hold a cash race on Saturday.

A party of webb-footed fishermen sailed on what proved to be a very exciting cruise yesterday. Starting at about 8.30 A. M., they reached the grounds a few hours later. Fish began to come in over the railin grand style. Suddenly to the surprise and horror of his companions George was seen tugging fiercely at his line and something was being drawn slowly but surely out of the water. Everyone stood spell-bound witnessing the fierce struggle between man and fish. The waves were lashed into feathery foam. Freddie, with the assistance of first mate, John, the rest of the crew and the boat hook, succeeded in landing George and his prize in the bottom of the boat. Talk of startling surprises, truth stranger than fiction, there lay George clasping a monstrous fish. On closer inspection all declared it to be a puffing pig. George will have roast pork for dinner for several days now.

Q. Y. C. hop tomorrow evening. There will also be a meeting of the house and regatta committees to arrange for ladies' day.

Mosquito Remedies.

Mosquitoes are sometimes seen at Houghs Neck and it is well to be fore-armed. An exchange tells how the pest can be circumvented. It says an East Indian surgeon is authority for the statement that the oil of cloves is abhorrent to the mosquito. It is his habit to pour three or four drops of this oil on his pillow on going to bed. The insect never troubles him after that. Those of his family and friends who have tried the experiment report similar gratifying re, sults.

Another remedy and it is one which is easily obtained, is that of menthol. Says one who has tried it:—"Before I go to encounter the mosquitoes, I rub a menthol pencil over my hands, neck and face, being careful to keep it from my eyes, as its pungent odor makes the tears come. Mosquitoes will not bite so long as they smell the peppermint. If I ever get bitten I don't irritate the part by scratching it, but simply rub the mentholine pencil over it and the stinging sensation disappears in short order."

Mrs. Emery Leads.

A gain of 270 for Mrs. Emery of the Loretto places her first today in the popularity contest for the $100 sea shore lot. Smaller gains were made by others. After Saturday next no more five-vote coupons will be printed, and now is the time to get in a supply. "One price" to all, with discounts for 100 and 1000 lots.

AN ECONOMICAL PLAN.

The Rooms So Arranged That Every Inch of Space Is Utilized.

[Copyright, 1893, by American Press Association.]

The problem in this case was to secure a large amount of available room at the least possible cost. The success of the undertaking can be seen by examination of the accompanying floor plans. Of course an attractive exterior would have been desirable and would have added much to the desirability of the house. By the application of $200 or $300 on the exterior the appearance could be changed from a rather plain to a very attractive house, which, with the excellent arrangement of rooms given, would make a most desirable house.

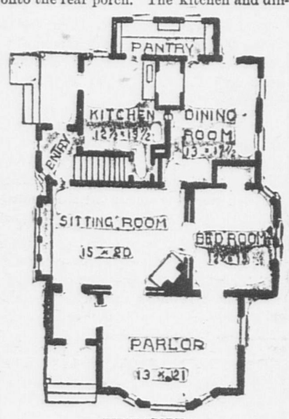

FRONT ELEVATION.

In the arrangement of rooms it will be noticed that every nook and corner is so utilized that there is absolutely no waste room in the house. The house is built in the suburbs and facing to the north, with the left side toward the business portion of the city. Thus the head of the family in coming to his home finds the front entrance at the part of the house first approached. He enters the vestibule from a front porch and thence into the sitting room or parlor. These rooms are quite large and connected by wide sliding doors.

In the parlor is a wide bay of slight projection containing two ordinary sliding windows in the sides. The front window has a large plate glass, with art leaded stained glass transoms over it. This enables one to have a nice view of the surrounding landscape. The sitting room contains an open fireplace with a neatly designed mantel. The projecting window in this room contains four double sash windows with four drawers under the stool.

The family bedroom opens off the sitting room and is also connected with the parlor. The dining room is directly connected with the sitting room. The kitchen is reached through an entry or lobby, which also opens onto the rear porch. The kitchen and dining room are connected through a large pantry, which is fully equipped in modern style with pastry table, bins, shelves, drawers, etc. Between the kitchen and dining room is placed a large china closet, reached from either side. The space between the bottom shelf, which is placed 2 feet 8 inches above the floor on the dining room side, is divided into two lockers, with a case of drawers between. On the kitchen side is placed the sink and drainboard, which is inclosed underneath for pot closet.

The stairs to cellar lead down from the kitchen under the main stairway. The stairs to second floor lead up from the entry between kitchen and sitting room. It is 3¼ feet wide and is inclosed between walls, thus saving quite an item of expense. Landing in an ample hall above, we have entrance to five chambers and bathroom and to the attic stairs. Each chamber is provided with closet room and well ventilated.

The interior is trimmed throughout in white pine, the first floor being finished natural in hard oil and the second floor painted in suitable tints. The house is built in the style known as "balloon framing," of good, sound pine timbers or following sizes: Sills, 6 by 8; floor joist, 2 by 10; ceiling joist, 2 by 6; studs and rafters, 2 by 4. The exterior is of white pine, first story covered with ½-inch siding and second story with cypress shingles, laid on over matched sheathing. A cellar is provided under the sitting room and bedroom. Height of ceilings: Cellar, 7 feet; first story, 10 feet; second story, 9 feet. The house is heated by furnace and was erected complete at Cathage, Ills., for $2,600. E. A. PAYNE.

Disastrous Fire at Rockaway Beach.

ROCKAWAY BEACH, N. Y., July 24.—A disastrous fire ravaged a small section of the beach yesterday. The large ice factory of Jameson & Bond, their coal and wood yard, stables and the residence of John A. Boyd were totally destroyed.

THE LITTLE ARMCHAIR.

Nobody sits in the little armchair;
It stands in a corner dim,
But a white haired mother gazing there
And yearningly thinking of him
Sees through the dusk of the long ago
The bloom of her boy's sweet face
As he rocks so merrily to and fro
With a laugh that cheers the place.

Sometimes he holds a book in his hand,
Sometimes a pencil and slate,
And the lesson is hard to understand,
And the figures hard to mate,
But she sees the nod of his father's head,
So proud of the little son,
And she hears the word so often said,
"No fear for our little one."

They were wonderful days, the dear, sweet days,
When a child with sunny hair
Was hers to scold, to kiss and to praise
At her knee in the little chair.
She lost him back in the busy years
When the great world caught the man,
And he strode away past hopes and fears
To his place in the battle's van.

But now and then in a wistful dream,
Like a picture out of date,
She sees a head with a golden gleam
Bent over a pencil and slate.
And she lives again the happy day,
The day of her young life's spring,
When the small armchair stood just in the way,
The center of everything.
—Margaret E. Sangster in Harper's Bazar.

THE FATHER.

Thord Overaas, of whom we are about to speak, was the wealthiest man in the parish.

His tall figure stood one day in the pastor's study. "I have got a son," he said eagerly, "and I wish to have him baptized."

"What shall he be called?"

"Finn, after my father."

"And his godparents?"

They were named, being relatives of Thord and the best men and women in the district.

"Is there anything else?" asked the pastor and looked up.

The farmer stood a minute.

"I should like to have him baptized by himself," he said.

"That is to say on a week day?"

"Next Saturday at 12 o'clock."

"Is there anything else?"

"Nothing else."

The farmer took his hat and moved to go.

Then the pastor rose. "There is still this," he said, and going up to Thord he took his hand and looked him in the face, "God grant that the child may be a blessing to you!"

Sixteen years after that day Thord stood again in the pastor's study.

"You look exceedingly well, Thord," said the pastor. He saw no change in him.

"I have no trouble," replied Thord.

The pastor was silent, but in a moment he asked, "What is your errand tonight?"

"I have come tonight about my son, who is to be confirmed tomorrow."

"He is a clever lad."

"I did not wish to pay the pastor before I heard how many were to be confirmed. I have heard that, and here are $10 for the pastor."

"Is there anything else?" asked the pastor, looking at Thord.

"Nothing else." And Thord went away.

Eight years more passed by, and one day the pastor heard a noise without his door, for many men were there and Thord first among them. The pastor looked up and recognized him.

"You come with a powerful escort tonight."

"I have come to request that the banns may be published for my son. He is to be married to Karen Storliden, daughter of Gudmund, who is here with me."

"That is to say, to the richest girl in the parish."

"They say so," replied the farmer, stroking his hair with one hand.

The pastor sat a minute as if in thought. He said nothing, but entered the names in his books, and the men wrote under them.

Thord laid $3 on the table.

"I should have only $1," said the pastor.

"I know that perfectly, but he is my only child. I will do the thing well."

The pastor took up the money. "This is the third time now, Thord, that you stand here on your son's account," he said.

"But now I am done with him," said Thord. Taking up his pocketbook, he said good night and went.

Just a fortnight after this the father and son were rowing over the lake in still weather to Storliden to arrange about the wedding.

"The cushion is not straight," said the son. He rose to put it right. At the same moment his foot slipped, he stretched out his arms, and with a cry fell into the water.

"Catch hold of the oar!" roared the father. He stood up and stuck it out. But when the son had made a few attempts he became stiff.

"Wait a minute!" cried the father, and began to row.

Then the son turned over backward, gazed earnestly at his father and sank.

Thord could scarcely believe it to be true. He kept the boat still and stared at the spot where his son had sunk, as though he would come up again. A few bubbles rose up, a few more, then one great one. It burst, and the sea again lay bright as a mirror.

For three days and three nights the father was seen to row round and round the spot without either food or sleep—he was seeking for his son. On the morning of the third day he found him and carried him up over the hills to his farm.

It was about a year afterward when the pastor one autumn evening heard something rustling outside the door and fumbling about the lock. The door opened, and in walked a tall, thin man with bent figure and white hair. The pastor looked long at him before he recognized him. It was Thord.

"Why do you come so late?" asked the pastor.

"Why, yes, I do come late," said Thord. He seated himself. The pastor sat down also, as though waiting. There was a long silence.

Then said Thord, "I have something with me that I wish to give to the poor." He rose, laid some money on the table and sat down again.

The pastor counted it. "It is a great deal of money," he said.

"It is the half of my farm, which I have sold today."

The pastor remained long sitting in silence. At last he asked, but gently, "What do you intend to do now?"

"Something better."

They sat there awhile, Thord with downcast eyes, the pastor with his raised to Thord. Then the pastor said slowly and in a low tone, "I think at last your son has really become a blessing to you."

"Yes, I think so myself also," said Thord. He looked up, and two tears coursed slowly down his face.—Bjornstjerne Bjornson. Translated For Romance.

Petroleum For Diphtheria.

In the village of Neuville-Champ-d'Oisel, about nine miles from Rouen, a malignant type of diphtheria broke out last year. The country doctor, M. Frederic Flahaut, treated the cases in the usual way, but the deaths were numerous. Remembering, as he says, that the English use petroleum as an antispasmodic and an antiseptic, he determined to try it as an experiment. His first trial was in the case of a little girl 7 years old. He had already given her up and proposed to the parents to make the experiment, which consisted in swabbing the throat with common petroleum. He had little hope of the success of his new method, but to his astonishment he noticed an improvement after the very first application. He continued the treatment, and the child recovered. Then he tried it successfully with his other patients.

This year he had 40 cases of diphtheria to treat, and he was successful in every one. In order to be perfectly sure that the cases in question were genuine ones of malignant diphtheria he had the expectorated matter submitted to the analysis of Professor Francois Hue of the Rouen College of Medicine, and the professor reported that he had clearly discovered the presence in it of numerous bacilli of diphtheria. Moreover, his diagnosis was confirmed by Drs. Deshayes, Lerefait and Ballay of Rouen, the last named being the physician in chief of the hospital of that city.

The treatment presents little difficulty or danger. The swabbing is done every hour or every two hours, according to the thickness of the membranes, which become, as it were, diluted under the action of the petroleum. The brush, after being dipped in the petroleum, should be shaken to prevent any drops falling into the respiratory channels. The patients experience relief from the very first application. The disagreeable taste of the petroleum remains for a few moments only.—Normandie Medicale.

From Beggary to Wealth.

Simon Oppasich, a millionaire who has been sentenced in Vienna to seven years' hard labor for repeatedly perjuring himself, was born without feet or arms. His father and mother were professional beggars, and in his twelfth year he was put on the street by them to solicit alms. His physical defects brought him an exceptional amount of sympathy and guldens. He saved his money, and in 1880, at the age of 47, he had accumulated $60,000. With this sum he began business as usurer and real estate speculator. In 1888 he had increased his fortune to $125,000 in cash, and some $200,000 in Trieste and Parenzo real estate. Since then he has quadrupled his wealth by trading on the Boerse. His miserliness led to his present troubles.

He had promised to marry a woman, but eventually threw her over to avoid incurring the expense of a wedding. When she threatened him with legal proceedings, he bought her forbearance for 4 cents a day. This expenditure was impoverishing him, he told her after a few months, and so he discontinued it. In the trial of the case which she then made against him he swore that he had never contemplated marrying her, had never promised to do so, and had never paid her 4 cents a day. After all this had been proved false, he was tried and condemned for perjury.—Boston Journal.

Eat Bananas and Turn Brunette.

Those who eat heartily of bananas may run some risk of becoming tawny or copper colored. This may be inferred possibly from the peculiarities of plumage in the turacos of Africa. As long as the weather is dry these birds are gay, the primary and secondary feathers being gorgeously crimson, but when rain comes the color is washed out, and the birds seem to be humiliated and ashamed at the transformation. But the color returns in dry weather. The cause of the coloration has been traced to copper in a very pure state. A single feather burned gives the characteristic indication. The source of the turacin has now been traced to bananas, on which the turacos feed chiefly. All the aborigines who make bananas a diet are very deeply tinted, but the color is sooty rather than red. The North American Indian cannot owe his coppery hue to bananas. He has only known of this fruit on reservations and chiefly by the peelings.—San Francisco Call.

Making Marble Out of Chalk.

In nature marble is made out of chalk by water, which percolates through the chalky deposits, dissolves the chalk particle by particle and crystallizes it, mountain pressure solidifying it. It has been found that similar results may be accomplished by chemical means. First, slices of chalk are dipped in a color bath, staining them with tints that will imitate any kind of marble known. For this purpose the same mineral stains are used as are employed in nature. For example, to produce counterfeit "verde antique" oxide of copper is utilized. In like manner green, pink, black and other colorings are obtained. Next, the chalk slices go into another bath, by which they are hardened and crystallized, coming out to all intents and purposes real marble.—London Science Siftings.

Her Attractions.

She has no dazzling charms, no classic grace,
Nothing, you think, to win men's hearts about her.
Yet, looking at her sweet and gentle face,
I wonder what our lives would be without her!

She has no wish in the great world to shine,
For work outside a woman's sphere no yearning,
But on the altar of home's sacred shrine
She keeps the fire of pure affection burning.

We tell our griefs into her patient ear;
She whispers "Hope!" when ways are dark and dreary.
The little children like to have her near
And run into her open arms when weary.

Her step falls lightly by the sufferer's bed;
Where poverty and care abound she lingers.
And many a weary heart and aching head
Find gifts of healing in her tender fingers.

She holds a helping hand to those who fall,
Which gently guides them back to paths of duty.
Her kindly eyes, with kindly looks for all,
See in uncomeliest souls some hidden beauty.

Her charity would every need embrace;
The shy and timid fear not to address her.
With loving tact she rightly fills her place,
While all who know her pray that heaven may bless her.

Connected Somehow.

He—So he failed to win your love?

She—Not exactly; his failure was the precise reason he did not win it.—Truth.

Chrystallized Dream of Peace.

The person who goes to the World's fair with the deep-blue, cynical, blase idea of getting into some kind of a row to relieve the monotony of life, or with the resolve to get chewed by an Arab or pummeled by a cliff-dweller, is the most sadly disappointed individual ever known before night closes in. Nothing ever happens to him. He pursues his flower-strewn way in unmolested peace and quietude amid a discouraging atmosphere of smiles. People whom he purposely runs up against accept with limpid sweetness his curt apologies, Columbian guards answer the most absurd questions with suavity unequalled in this country, exhibitors allow him to pry into their exhibits and do not even reprove him for promiscous handling of them, wild Arabs are afflicted with an immortal wave of politeness, Turks beam in oriental effulgence at him a mile off—he is discouraged, heart-sick, spirit-crushed, for he can't raise a riot to save his soul. "This is the most abominably paradisiacal place I was ever in," said a man in hollow tones of woe as he sat and fired stones at the plaster statuary with no visable effect on the guard. "I want to be miserable and I can't, because there's nothing to be miserable over except that I'm not miserable. I've been let do just as I want to ever since I passed the turnstile. I'm going down to the beer tunnel and get a hard drink and then maybe I'll be persecuted—I'd fade away of ennui if this chrystallized dream of peace kept up," and he sauntered away to the plaisance.

THE SIAM QUESTION.

France to Uphold Her Interests and Preserve Her Dignity.

THE ENGLISH SENTIMENT.

Exciting Discussion In the House of Commons.

PARIS, July 26.—A cabinet council was held yesterday at Marly-le-Roi, where President Carnot is temporarily sojourning. M. Carnot presided over the deliberations, which were entirely devoted to the Siamese question. After the council rose a semi-official statement of the proceedings was issued. This statement was that in conformity with the unanimous vote of the senate and the chamber of deputies the government had taken such measures to safeguard the interests and dignity of France as were considered from the Siamese reply to the French ultimatum to have been rendered necessary.

TIEN TSIN, July 26.—The Chinese government has received the news of France's territorial demands upon Siam with amazement and indignation. That France should lay claim to country up to the 23rd parallel is regarded as an intrusion upon the rights of China, for at Pekin the contention is that both banks of the Mekong, to a point well south of the 23rd parallel are Chinese possessions. The mandarin party, which is anti-French, is trying to force the government to interfere.

SAIGON, July 26.—The division of the far east of the French fleet which is commanded by Admiral Humann sailed yesterday for the gulf of Siam. The merchant vessels lying off Bangkok probably will receive time before the blockade to leave the Menam river and put out to sea.

BANGKOK, July 26.—M. Pavie, French minister resident, started down the river yesterday in the warship Inconstante, accompanied by the warships Lutin and Comete. All is quiet in this city.

English Sentiment on the Siam Question.

LONDON, July 26.—In the house of commons yesterday John Long (Advanced Liberal), member for Dundee, asked if the government was aware that British subjects possessed rights over 40 square miles of lands in the Siamese province of Chantaborn, Krat and Batambang, for working ruby and sapphire mines, and whether in the event of France annexing those provinces, care would be taken to guard British interests.

Sir Edward Grey, parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, stated in reply that the government was aware of the mining rights held in Siam by British subjects, but he pointed out that the provinces in which these rights are held lie to the west of the Mekong river and were not, therefore, in the territorial demands made by France.

Hon. George N. Curzon, Conservative, member for the Southport division of Lancashire, asked whether that she had established a blockade of the Siamese coasts; whether the establishment of such a blockade would be regarded as an act of belligerency between France and Siam; whether the blockade had been or would be recognized by Great Britain, and what measures the government proposed to take in regard to the matter.

Sir Edward Grey replied that Great Britain had received from France verbal notice of the intention of the French government to blockade the Siamese coast. The blockade would certainly be an act of belligerency. The British government, Sir Edward added, proposed to continue its present protection of the lives of British subjects in Bangkok, and of the property of British subjects.

The government thought that the value that attaches to a declaration of blockade must vary with the circumstances of each particular case.

Mr. Curzon then asked: "Suppose any British vessel, even a ship carrying mails, should ascend the Menam river after Thursday, will it risk being captured or fired upon by the French? If so, what steps will the government take to mitigate such a state of affairs? And further, when may we expect notification of the proceedings of our ambassador in Paris?"

Sir Edward stated that any further communications he might make to the house must depend upon the communications now passing between Great Britain and France.

Railroad Employes to Hold a Conference.

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—The grievance committee of the Lehigh Valley employes will confer with Vice President Voorhees tomorrow. A member of the committee said that the employes recognize the financial troubles of the Reading company and will most probably not insist upon an increase in wages, although their salaries are less than those on any railroad in the country.

Sage Must Answer the Charge.

NEW YORK, July 26.—"Motion denied, with $10 costs," was the decision of Judge Bookstaver yesterday in the case of Delia Keegan, who asks $100,000 damages from Russell Sage for an alleged wrong done her 24 years ago. The denial of the motion for a vacation of the order leaves Mr. Sage and his counsel, Henry S. Bennett, with several days in which to attend the answer.

Bank of Rome Rumor.

LONDON, July 26.—A dispatch from Rome says it is reported that the late Augustine de Pretis, some time premier, and several times cabinet minister, received from Signor Tanlongo, the imprisoned ex-manager of the Bank of Rome, more than 300,000 francs for political and other purposes.

National Cordage Stock Transfer.

NEW YORK, July 26.—There was a continued transfer of National Cordage preferred and common stock at the United States Trust company's office yesterday, and it was said that at least 65 per cent of the preferred and common stock had been deposited.

Terrific Explosion in China.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—Advices from Hong Kong which arrived yesterday give details of a terrible explosion at the government powder magazine at Canton, on June 24, which killed many persons, injured over 300 people and wrecked 400 houses.

Large Brewing Company Fails.

MILWAUKEE, July 26.—The J. Oberman Brewing company failed yesterday. Hermann P. Obermann is the assignee. His bond is for $1,200,000.

THE KANSAS STRIKE.

The Governor in Sympathy With the Strikers—All Quiet at the Mines.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 26.—Lieutenant Governor Daniels has returned from the strike district and made a verbal report to the governor. The governor promptly turned the command of the state militia over to Daniels, and two regiments were at once ordered to be in readiness to move on three hours' notice.

The governor sent his private secretary, Fred J. Close, to Pittsburg, and yesterday he received a telegram announcing that 300 negroes from Birmingham, Ala., had arrived there and were placed in the stockades erected about the Keith and Perry mines. Mr. Close informed the governor that the arrival of the negroes had created no visible excitement. A mass meeting of the strikers will be held at Pittsburg soon.

In an interview with a correspondent the governor said that if the negoes were put to work in the mines and were not interfered with, it would practically end the strike. He unhesitatingly declared himself to be in sympathy with the strikers because he believed they had been dealt with unfairly.

TRAIN WRECKED.

Miraculous Escape From Loss of Life on the Pittsburg and Western.

KENT, O., July 26.—A sandy roadbed, rotten ties, a heavy loaded train and fast running over a sharp curve, are the causes which resulted in one of the most miraculous railroad wrecks that ever occurred in the history of the Pittsburg and Western road. The wreck occurred at what is known as the Devil's Point, four miles west of Hook, at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. The ill-fated train was a through excursion from Washington, D. C., to Chicago, carrying nearly 400 passengers. Three rear coaches left the track and were precipitated down a ten-foot embankment, seriously injuring 33 people. Fortunately no one was killed outright, but it is expected that several will die.

DESTITUTION IN DENVER.

Thousands Out of Employment—Great Need of Immediate Relief.

DENVER, July 26.—Up to date 3700 men have registered as out of employment, and the list is steadily increasing. Means are being taken to furnish employment and provide food for the hungry and destitute. Dean Peck and Rev. Thomas Uzzell announce that on account of the scarcity of relief funds they cannot continue to feed the hungry longer than today. Meetings are held nightly to provide means for aid, in which Denver's most prominent people take part. It is estimated that 10,000 persons, men, women and children, are in need of immediate aid. Food is being distributed at the various missions.

News From Honolulu.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—The steamer Oceanic brings news from Honolulu of the appointment of William Dale Alexander as special commissioner to Washington to assist in the negotiations for annexation. He will leave Honolulu about the 22d inst. Minister Blount has concluded his report on Hawaiian affairs, and it was stated he would probably forward it to Washington by the steamer Australia, which was to sail July 19.

Colorado Silver Mine to Resume Work.

ASPEN, Colo., July 26.—The management of the Montezuma silver mine has decided to resume operations and ship its output to the smelters, where it is to be stored, awaiting a more favorable condition of the silver market before it is settled for. About 300 men will be given employment.

In Favor of the United States.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—A rumor reached here last night that the arbitrators in the Behring sea controversy between the United States and Great Britain, who have been in session at Paris since March listening to arguments in the case, had decided in favor of the United States.

Democrat Congressman Elected.

EASTON, Pa., July 26.—In the special election in the Eighth congressional district yesterday, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. William Mutchler, his son Howard, Democrat, was elected over General Frank Reeder, Republican, by about 2800 majority.

Verdict For the Defendant.

LONDON, July 26.—The libel suit of Joseph Havelock Wilson, M. P., secretary of the National Seaman's union, against the London Evening News and Post to recover £7000 damages, is concluded. The jury gave a verdict for the defendant.

In Favor of Universal Suffrage.

BRUSSELS, July 26.—The chamber of deputies has adopted by a large majority a proposal that three-fourths of the senate shall be elected by direct universal suffrage and the other fourth by the communal councils.

Dynamite Explosions in France.

PARIS, July 26.—Four explosions shattered the Ablon dynamite factory in Honfleur, near Havre, yesterday. The ruins caught fire and were still burning when the last dispatch was sent to this city.

Tennessee Town Devastated.

HOLLOW ROCK, Tenn., July 26.—The business portion of this town was destroyed by fire. Only The Record newspaper office and Lovelace Bros.' store remain standing.

Drummers on Parade.

CHICAGO, July 26.—The parade of commercial travellers yesterday, in honor of the World's fair, was a notable one. It is estimated that 5000 of them participated.

SIAM'S CONCESSIONS

Greater Than France Could Reasonably Expect.

ISLANDS IN GULF OF SIAM

Will Soon Be In the Possession of the Enemy.

BANGKOK, July 27.—M. Pavie, the French minister resident, prior to his departure had a final interview with Devawongsie, the Siamese foreign minister, who said that his government was astonished that France considered their reply to the French ultimatum as a refusal to comply with its terms. It was impossible, he said, to accept definitely an indefinite proposal.

France had never derived her rights in Annum and Cambodia, but the king, earnestly desiring peace and a speedy settlement of the whole case, had declared his readiness to abandon Annum and Cambodia, all the posts that had been attacked, as well as the territory near them, including Stungtreng and Khong, although these places were admitted to be Siamese.

French Operations.

SAGON, July 27.—Captain Villers, who is in command of the French forces at Khong, reports that the capture of Fort Donson by the French produced an excellent impression. The governor of the island of Khong was killed during the attack, and his death hastened the retreat of the Siamese. The French flag has been hoisted on the island of Rongsamlem, which will be made the basis of future operations. The French government has also decided to take possession of other islands in the Gulf of Siam.

The Fight on the Menam.

PARIS, July 27.—The Temps gives a detailed account of how the French gunboats forced a passage up the Menam river. The gunboats entered the channel about 6 p. m. and immediately both forts and the Siamese gunboats opened fire on the French warships. The French gunboats crossed the bar, notwithstanding the explosion of a submarine torpedo directly ahead of the fleet. The Inconstante rammed and sank a Siamese gunboat. About 9 o'clock the forts at Paknam opened fire at a quarter of a mile range. The French gunboats all this time were making 10 knots an hour against the stream. At 9.30 o'clock the French fleet anchored in front of the French legation at Bangkok. The cannonade had little effect, owing to the darkness.

No Love For England.

BERLIN, July 26.—The Tageblat rejoices over the prospect that England, who scornfully holds aloof from the dreibund, may become embroiled with France over the Siamese affair. England, says The Tageblat, will be taught a lesson, and she need not expect to receive German support. Other newspaper express similar sentiments, although in milder language.

Tonquin Again.

PARIS, July 27.—The Chinese charge d'affaires has stated to M. Develle that Siam had no territory east of the Mekong as far north as latitude 23, which parallel was claimed by the French as the northern limit of their influence. He regarded it as unlikely that the black flags would join the Siamese in the event of hostilities, but, he thought, that if they saw France and Siam embroiled, the black flags might resume the offensive in Tonquin.

Proceedings Kept Secret.

LONDON, July 27.—A Paris dispatch to The Times says: A cabinet council was held last evening but the greatest secrecy was maintained as to what took place at the meeting. Another cabinet council will be held on Saturday next.

England's End of It.

LONDON, July 27.—The Standard's Paris correspondent says he believes that the French cabinet is becoming more amenable in its negotiations with England, over the Siamese dispute.

Prejudiced.

PARIS, July 27.—The police of this city are seizing cheap maps of Siam which are offered for sale on the boulevards and which represent the Siamese frontier in accordance with English ideas.

Held For the Grand Jury.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 27.—Edward Cunningham was arraigned for the murder of William Baxter in Holden. The examination, which was held before Judge Utley, lasted all day, and resulted in the prisoner being held without bail to await the action of the grand jury next month.

A Three-Story Jump.

BOSTON, July 27.—While suffering from the effects of liquor Mrs. Julia White, 19 years of age, living at 103 East Lenox street, jumped out of a third-story rear window into the back yard. She received severe injuries to her back and legs.

Dan Lamont In Maine.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 27.—There was too much wind yesterday for the president to take his regular fishing trip down the bay. Colonel Lamont has gone on a short visit to his family at Sorrento, Me.

A Receiver in Charge.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 27.—C. M. Dorr, a national bank examiner, has taken charge of the suspended National Bank of the Commonwealth. All the banks are confident the worst is over, locally.

Brother and Sister Killed.

MUNCIE, Ind., July 27.—The two children of William Caynor, a farmer, a boy and a girl, aged respectively 3 and 5 years' fell out of a haymow and were instantly killed. Their backs were broken.

HAVE PATIENCE!

America's Big Crops Will Bring Her Out of Financial Troubles.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Henry W. Cannon of the Chase National bank about expresses the views of other leading bankers. Mr. Cannon says:

"In times like these, people are apt to lose sight of the important features of the situation in the contemplation of the details. The country is all right. Our crops are good this year. The crops in other parts of the world are poor. Europe wants some of all our crops, even hay, and Europe must take them and send us money for them. We shall receive a great deal of money from Europe this fall. In the meantime people have no need to be scared. Let them keep their heads cool and exercise a little patience. It will pay them best in the long run."

The head of a prominent trust company says: "The banks will stand by each other and will see this thing out. Times have changed since 1884 and the banks were never better organized or prepared to stand a siege."

A Singular Suicide.

BOSTON, July 27.—John W. S. Marshall, 60 years old, and who for the past three or four years has made his home at 15 Allston street, was found hanging by the neck with a rope which he had thrown over the door that led from one room to the other of the two which he occupied. It is supposed that he had been in that condition since last Friday. He was very wealthy, but eccentric.

Coming Naval Changes.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Admiral A. A. Weaver has signified his intention of retiring from active duty. His total service is 45 years and 4 months. The vacancy caused by his retirement will be filled by the promotion of Commodore Brown, and will make Commodore Walker and Ramsay No. 1 and 2 respectively in their grade. Captain Potter also will also be made a commodore.

Liquor Sellers Punished.

LYNN, Mass., July 27.—Thomas Davey was fined $100 and sentenced to six months imprisonment by Judge Berry in the police court yesterday afternoon. The defendant claimed that he purchased 80 gallons of liquors jointly with three well-known business men for the purpose of treating friends. Humphrey Murphy was fined $75 and sentenced to three months in jail.

An Interesting Case.

WOBURN, Mass., July 27.—Frank K. Sweetser of Stoneham has been sued for $10,000 by James H. Murphy, and his property attached for that sum. Mr. Murphy is the man whom Governor Russell has appointed clerk of the fourth district court at Woburn, and Lawyer Sweetser has preferred charges against him to prevent his confirmation.

Swift Vengeance.

DENVER, July 27.—Daniel Arata, proprietor of the Hotel D'Italia, a tough resort, killed Benjamin Lightfoot, 60 years old, member of the Grand Army, in a quarrel over the price of a glass of beer. He was taken from the county jail by a mob, led by a relative of Lightfoot, strung up to a tree and his body riddled with bullets.

Spreckels' Opinion.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Claus Spreckels, who arrived from Honolulu yesterday, says the provisional government of Hawaii is doomed. He says the census of opinion is that the queen must be restored. He thinks the question of government will eventually be put to a popular vote, and Liliuokalani will win.

Will Be a Big Regatta.

LONDON, July 27.—Frank Pratt of Chicago says that he has met with a cordial reception both in London and Paris, and has obtained sufficient promises from English and French rowing clubs to insure a most successful international regatta in 1894, under the auspices of Chicago oarsmen.

An Exodus of Italians.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Steamship agents are at a loss to understand the sudden increase in the number of Italians sailing from this port for Italy. For two weeks past more men of this nationality have sought transportation to their native land than the steamship companies could accommodate.

Cheerful News.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 27.—The Corey needle works of this city have just completed a substantial enlargement of their plant, whereby employment will be given to 175 hands. This is the largest individual plant devoted to the manufacture of knitting needles in the world.

Lightning on the Rampage.

BOSTON, July 27.—A generous display of lightning took place along the stretch of this city and the New Hampshire line yesterday. The lightning performed electric gymnastics and aerial flip-flaps in nearly all the towns from Malden to Lowell.

Rajah Killed Himself.

BRINDSI, July 27. — Maharajah Taiti Brago committed suicide by poison shortly after his arrival here by steamer. It is supposed he was despondent over the theft of a casket containing all his jewels and money. He was 19 years old.

Poisoned Milk.

LOUISVILLE, July 27.—A mysterious case of poisoning occurred here yesterday. As a result 27 people have been taken violently ill. All who were taken ill drank milk purchased from the dairy of Frank Moser. Several may not recover.

POUNDED TO DEATH.

Awful Treatment of Swedish Missionaries by Chinese.

THEIR HOUSE BATTERED IN

And They Become Victims of the Heathens' Passion.

VANCOUVER, July 27.—Advices brought by the steamer Empress of India give full particulars of the barbarous massacre of Swedish missionaries which occurred July 1 at Sungpu. The two Swedish missionaries, Rev. Mr. Wikolm and Rev. Mr. Johansen, arrived in Sungpu in April last and were the only missionaries in the town. Sungpu is an important market place and contains from 25,000 to 30,000 inhabitants. When the two unfortunate missionaries went there they rented a Chinese house in the busy part of the town.

They had their Christian servants living with them. The efforts of the missionaries and their continued presence in the town to the highest pitch. Their lives were in danger almost from the moment of their coming. A couple of weeks ago the Chinese servants heard that their masters were to be murdered on the 18th of July. They told the foreigners to lose no time in getting out of the town, but apparently the poor fellows did not think the danger so very pressing, for the only precaution they took was to write a letter to the local officials, telling them what was threatened and asking protection, an appeal of which the mandarins took not the slighest notice.

Inflamed the Passions of the People

On the day named, the house where they lived was surrounded by a howling mob early in the morning, chiefly composed of the loafers of the town, but containing also a number of laborers, trades people and scholars. The latter went about from man to man inciting them

To Kill the Foreign Dogs.

The missionaries came to the door, but were greeted with stone, and beat a hasty retreat inside the house and patiently awaited events. Stones continued to be thrown at most every point, so that by 2 o'clock in the afternoon the windows were all battered in and the rooms inside no longer afforded safe shelter from the missiles that were rained in through all apertures.

The unhappy men then made a desperate but futile attempt to escape. Clambering out of one of the upper windows at the back of the house they reached the roof, but as soon as they made their appearance on the top of the house they became a mark for a perfect hailstorm of stones, some of which struck them, cutting them badly.

Finding they could not remain they ran along the roof and over the roofs of a score or so of the adjoining houses.

The Mob Pursued Them down the street, yelling, cursing and pelting them till at last the missionaries could proceed no further. A high house barred their further progress and despairing the poor men dropped down into the street into the midst of the mob.

Happily their agony was not a long one. A huge man smashed in the skull of Mr. Wikolm with an axe and Mr. Johansen was speedily pounded out of human guise by the shower of stones and blocks with bamboo bars that were rained upon him. Tho bodies were then stripped naked, subjected to needless and revolting mutilation and left lying in the street, a prey to the dogs, while the mob went off.

Chicago Banks Victimized.

CHICAGO, July 27.—It is reported that the Chicago Trust and Savings bank and several other banks in the city have been swindled to a large extent by forged securities. A smooth confidence man disposed of the securities to different banks to the amount of $50,000 or $60,000.

The Strout Case.

RAYMOND, Me., July 27.—The physicians have concluded the post-mortem examination over the body of Jacob Strout. The report is jealously guarded. There were black and blue places all over the dead man's body. There were also many bruises on the back of the arms

Secretary Herbert at Kittery.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 27.—Secretary Herbert was tendered a grand reception yesterday on board the old and historical Constitution. The vessel was elaborately decorated with bunting and evergreen.

All Quiet In Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, July 27.—There were no disturbances at Weir City, Pittsburg nor Litchfield. The negroes brought from Alabama have not been molested and the strike leaders say they will not be.

Denver's Unemployed.

DENVER, July 27.—Thirty-five hundred hungry people were fed with bread, meat and milk yesterday by the missions. The list of idle men is increasing as the miners come in from the camps.

Hard on the Little Ones.

BUFFALO, July 27.—The cholera infantum epidemic is spreading in Buffalo to an alarming extent. Twenty-four deaths were reported from that cause last week.

Drank Herself to Death.

BOSTON, July 27.—Mary Geary, 36 years old, died yesterday afternoon at 57 Oak street. She had been drinking hard for several days.

Asked to Resign.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Secretary Carlisle has requested the resignations of several collectors of revenue, including Frank E. Orcutt, Massachusetts. Their terms, it is said, have about expired.

Orchard Thieves Badly Hurt.

PITTSBURG, July 27.—W. A. Dunlap of this city shot and badly wounded three orchard thieves, who, with others, were trespassing on his property last night.

Postoffice Robbed.

NANTUCKET, Mass., July 27.—The postoffice here was broken into and between $700 and $800 was stolen.

THE YOUNG city of Everett has a tax rate of $15.40 this year, which is an increase of $1.40 and is the largest rate for ten years. That of the city of Haverhill is 90 cents larger than in 1892. With an increase in most of the cities, Quincy will do well to keep its rate down to last year's figures, which was, by the way, below the average of Massachusetts cities.

Took a Maine Bride.

The Eastport Sentinel says:—The ceremony which united in marriage Mr. George S. Burr, son of the late ex-councilman James Burr of Quincy, Mass., and Miss Jessie K. Fearebay, daughter of Captain and Mrs. C. T. Fearebay, was solemnized July 18 at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on Washington street in this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. E. Colburn, the witnesses being only the nearest relatives and friends. The bride was attired in a dress of blue bengaline silk, trimmed with point lace, the usual maze veil of tulle, caught up with white roses, while she carried a boquet of the same. Miss Lucy Fearebay, sister of the bride, and Miss Mabel Burr, acted as bridesmaids, and Mr. Nelson Harris and Mr. Winthrope Fearebay as best men. Mr. and Mrs. Burr started on a brief wedding trip, and on their return they will reside in Quincy, Mass.

Norfolk County Probate Court.

The following wills were allowed in the Probate court at Hyde Park, Wednesday: Of Joseph Adams of Quincy, Mabel E. Adams, executrix, bond $15,000. Of Augusta Phillips Churchill of Milton and Helen A. H. and Annie P. P. Bennett of Richmond, Va., executors, bond $40,000.

Letters of administration were granted on the following estates: Annie A. Jackson of Hyde Park to William F. Donlan, bond $300; Alexander Thompson of Quincy to Gertrude Thompson, bond $3000; Ephraim Wales of Randolph to Mary R. Wales, bond $200; John G. Nelson of Brookline to Mary Estelle Nelson, bond $6000; Millie G. Pond of Norwood to William H. Pond, bond $6000; Charles H. Osgood of Wellesley to Henrietta A. Osgood, without bond.

The petition for a partition of the estate of Ann Hardwick of Quincy was granted.

Cities in Bad Box.

Mayor Hodgkins of Somerville recommends the suspension of public work in his city because of the stringency of the money market. He explained that municipalities are prohibited by law from paying over 6 per cent. interest, and that the law would have to be technically violated by some subterfuge if the money was obtained. He said he had spent some time, and notably the greater part of yesterday, in an attempt to borrow money at a reasonable rate, but had not been able to find any one who would accommodate the city of Somerville at anything less than 8 or 10 per cent. He hoped that better times would come in a few months—at present the wisest course was not to spend money borrowed at the prevailing rates. The bonds of the city would not bring more than 87 per cent. now.

Bicycles Restricted.

A new bicycle ordinance was enrolled by the Somerville city government Wednesday evening, to the effect that every person riding a bicycle on a city street shall be provided with a bell, gong, whistle, horn or trumpet, which shall be loudly sounded whenever the rider approaches an intersecting street. The speed is limited to 10 miles an hour, except by special permission, and a fine of $20 will punish an infraction.

Still Alarms.

The permanent men at the Central station were called out Tuesday afternoon to extinguish a small blaze in a barn off Quincy avenue occupied by Mr. James Sullivan.

Wednesday afternoon at 4.15, Hose 1 was called out on a still alarm to extinguish a small fire in the stable of Charles Field on Pleasant street, caused by boys. The loss was small.

TODAY'S COURT.

Augustus L. Tirrell of Randolph for keeping a liquor nuisance was fined $60. Appealed.

The vessels containing liquors, found on the premises of Augustus L. Tirrell of Randolph were forfeited to the Commonwealth.

Way up in C.

In Webster's dictionary you will find the word "Genuine." It applies particularly to the bargains in furniture offered by Henry L. Kincaide & Co. at the present time. For instance, beautiful oak side boards with beveled mirrors, they are usually counted cheap at $25. What are they then at $18?

GROCERS' DAY.

Quincy Nearly as Quiet as Sunday Today.

BANKS CLOSED IN AFTERNOON.

Practically all the Store Business of the City Suspended.

It is rather awkward to get out a paper today.

Editors and printers don't enjoy working when every one else is taking an outing.

All the stores of the city are closed and the drawn curtains must cause surprises to strangers in town today.

The postoffice is open; also the periodical stores, druggists, and a few of the smaller stands.

Even the banks are closed this afternoon, the Savings and National banks.

The grocers and the business men are in great luck. It is a beautiful day.

The Old Colony Grocers Union includes the cities of Quincy and Brockton and the towns of Braintree, Weymouth, Hingham, Whitman, Abington, Rockland, Holbrook and Randolph.

In most of these neighboring towns therefore, it is as quiet today as in Quincy.

With the exception of Quincy the grocers have gone to Downer Landing, and a gathering of 500 is expected.

The grocers and business men of this city have united in an annual outing at the Atlantic House, Nantasket. The assessment was $5 upon each one participating and they went in style.

In the party were:

JOHN F. MERRILL
JOHN W. NASH
GEORGE H. WILSON
OSBORNE ROGERS
T. L. WILLIAMS
JOSEPH W. JOHNSON
LESTER M. PRATT
FRANK KEMP
H. F. DOBLE

The party was conveyed in two landaus and two of Crossman's drags, one drawn by four horses and the other by six. They left the Square shortly after eight o'clock this morning. A pouch of base ball bats was conspicuous and there were horns large and small. It was a jolly party bent upon a good time and a square meal, and they will doubtless have both.

Many amusing incidents occurred in the Square this morning owing to the fact that strangers knew nothing about its being Grocers' day, and the business places closing up.

They Were Missed

By us all.

By two ladies in a-buggy who drove from one market to another in search of something for dinner, and finally stopped and read the sign "grocers' day."

By a husband who rushed up to one of the stores and tried the door. It failed to open. Again he tried it and as he began to rattle the glass he was heard to mutter, "it is —— strange this store is not open yet; my wife told me to be sure and send down a yeast cake and my train goes in a few moments." The LEDGER representative who overheard the remark soothed his ruffled countenance by a word of explanation, and our friend wended his way toward the depot conscious that he had tried to do his duty.

By a hard looking citizen from down the line with a week's growth on chin who bethought himself to get shaved while waiting for court to open, but was surprised when trying the door of Mueller's rooms to be confronted by the sign, "This shop is closed Grocers' day." He could not see what Grocers day had to do with a barber's shop closing.

By a drummer alighted from an early train with a grip and heavy iron bound trunk and a look on his face which spoke louder than words, that he meant to sell a large bill of goods. He chartered a depot carriage and was soon on his way to one of our stores. Shortly after he was again seen coming toward the depot, but oh, what a different expression. His face which a few moments before was wreathed in smiles, while the blue smoke from the Havana which he was smoking rolled heavenward, was gone and a dark cloud overspread his face as he upbraided the innocent carriage driver because he had not told him what he would find before he started.

By a carpenter from Ward Three, who walked as far as Tilton's store for a sheet of sand paper, but found the store closed up. The proprietor drove by while he was trying the door. He was requested to open up. Charles, however, did not even check the 2.40 gait of his animal, but simply shouted back, "I have not got any key." The carpenter could not see why a hardware store should close on Grocers' day; but, then, there are lots of things he will understand before he dies.

By an inquirer for a bottle of Packard's Sarsaparilla, who met with the response that Chief Mixer Ford had gone clamming in honor of Grocers' day.

By the girl they left behind them, who learned that the grocers in the other towns had taken their wives and sweethearts.

By the Lazy Club, which had a few pennies in the treasury for fruit.

These are only a few of the incidents that came under the observation of the LEDGER man as he wandered through the almost deserted streets about the centre and south districts this morning.

MANET BEACH.

Rain Interferes with the Band Concerts as with Other Events.

MAILS—Close for Quincy at 8 A. M. and 5 P. M. Arrive from Quincy at 9 A. M. and 6 P. M.

THE DAILY LEDGER is for sale at Post Office, Manet Lunch Room, by Henry W. French and by Newsboys. Mr. French is the authorized local agent of the paper. Items of news solicited from everybody.

Disappointments seem to be the order of the day. Wednesday evening would have been a perfect one had not that interfering shower spoiled the enjoyment of every one. The Atlantic Band, which gave its first concert at Mears' collected quite a crowd. Those who were fortunate to be friends of the members of the Q. Y. C. appropriated the veranda and escaped a wetting.

The dances at Taber's casino seem to gain in popularity nightly.

Miss J. C. Thontorn is at the Loretto this week and expects her sister to be with her on the coming week.

Mr. Charles Brackett and family are at the Turner cottage, Rock Island.

Misses Mamie and Ellen Crimmins of Brockton are spending a few days here.

Messrs. Franc, Haskell and Provandi were guests at Saints Rest, Wednesday evening.

The question is "Do you like olives?" If so enquire of H. P. for such entertainment.

Tomorrow will decide in the Quincy court the now momentous question whether the flying horses will be allowed to run or will stand in sad and gloomy silence all day Sunday.

Mrs. Emery Forging Ahead.

Mrs. Emery is now setting a lively pace for her rivals in the popularity contest for the $100 lot and is now over 400 ahead of No. 2, but look out for surprises. Tomorrow and next day the last five-vote coupons will be printed, and all these must be cast before August 7, at 5 P. M Supplies should be ordered before it is too late:

An inquest was held before Judge Humphrey this morning on the death of Thomas F. Haley who was killed at West Quincy by the cars, July 18.

Following the death of Parker A. Haskell in this city on Saturday last, comes a cable announcing the death at sea of his uncle, Capt. Dennis H. Haskell of Deer Isle, Me. He sailed for John S. Emery & Co. of Boston.

Many places in New England report severe thunder showers and small cyclones yesterday, but Quincy escaped most of it. There was a smart shower in the evening and the lightning was sharp but the thunder was distant.

The clerks and other employes of the closed stores are enjoying the day as well as the business men. Some are at Nantasket and others at Houghs Neck, Downer Landing and elsewhere.

Ground has been broken for the Col. Robert Gould Shaw memorial in Boston. The base of the bronze piece is to be of Quincy granite. This base or foundation will be started below the level of the Beacon street mall, and built up flush with sidewalk.

Work on the new power house of the street railway is being rushed. The boilers are in position and the engine in place and men are at work doing the piping. The two generators are expected to arrive in a few days. The engine is the largest in the city, being 350 horse power.

The outing of the Lazy Club, Wednesday, at Fort Point, proved to be a very enjoyable one. The party went down in a barge, accompanied by one of Quincy's "finest" and by several Custom House officials. They all said they had an excellent dinner, and it is safe to say that every member violated Rule 1 at the dinner table, if eating can be called work.

Boys Wanted.

To sell the DAILY LEDGER. Apply in the afternoon between 3.30 and 4.30. Smart boys can easily earn more in three hours per day than clerks during their first year in Boston, who work for $2 a week and pay over $1 for car fares.

—The following is a new law, approved by the legislature June 3, and, if enforced, will make some change in the local custom of placing posters and notices on trees about town. It reads as follows:

Chapter 403: An act to protect trees from disfigurement. Be it enacted, etc., as follows: Whoever affixes to any tree in a highway, public way or square, a play bill, poster, notice, advertisement or printed paper of any description, or cuts, paints or marks on such tree, except for the purpose of protecting such tree, without first obtaining a written permit from the officer in charge of such trees in a city or from the selectmen in a town, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars and not less than five dollars for each offence.

KICKAPOO INDIAN SAGWA

Why it is The Safest Liver and Stomach Remedy Known.

Indians Have No Knowledge of Mineral Drugs and Poisons—They Cure With Roots and Herbs of the Field and Forest.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa is a remedy that many claim will almost raise the dead.

Kickapoo Indian Woman known to be at least 108 years old—from her photograph.

Sagwa is the remedy upon which the Indian relies at all times and seasons.

Sagwa gives strength, tones the appetite, purifies and enriches the blood, and is the greatest liver, stomach and blood renovator ever known to man.

Greater and grander than all this is the fact that Indian Sagwa cannot possibly contain anything harmful, no mercury, no strychnine, no bismuth, no arsenic; nothing but the leaves, barks, berries and roots of the field and forest which the Indian has learned to use.

Indians know nothing of those harmful drugs, and could not use them if they would.

This fact is important.

The medicine you take into your system should be to strengthen and build it up, not merely to stimulate it, and add the fuel of poison to the consuming flames of disease.

Indians don't have Dyspepsia, yet they eat anything and everything, at all times and under all conditions.

Indians don't have Malaria, yet they sleep out of doors, exposed to night air, live in damp places, and frequent changes are quite common to their mode of life.

Yet both these ailments and many others that the red men never have are frequently found among white people.

How is it with the Indian?

Knowing the value of Kickapoo Indian Sagwa he keeps it constantly with him and when his system feels run down, needs toning up as we say, the Indian takes a few doses of Sagwa.

He keeps well!

He don't wait until danger overtakes him, but craftily watches for its approach and wards off the attack.

Here is a lesson to profit by.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa,

made by the Indians from roots, barks and herbs of their own gathering and curing, is obtainable of any druggist, at one dollar per bottle; six bottles for five dollars.

All the Kickapoo Remedies are Sold by Druggists Everywhere.

Newspaper Men and the Fair.

The following letter and comment is from the Chicago News-Record:

I am pleased to see your manly defense of the country editor in his relation to the World's fair. Your remarks apply with equal force to editors in general, outside the larger cities. I have published matter pertaining to the fair which could have been billed at $1,000 were the fair a private instead of a public enterprise. The 4-column article in this week's paper defending the management against charges of incompetency would cost any other institution $50, not including what I paid the writer for preparing the article. In the light of such services I agree with you in the assertion that it would be short sighted for the management to curtail the privileges of a class that has labored so zealously for the success of the great fair. Yours truly, E. A. STOWE.

We did not use the mild epithet suggested by our Michigan friend. "Short sighted" is altogether too conservative a term to apply to the policy hinted at. To curtail to any extent the privileges of the country editor would in our opinion be the apotheosis of meanness, treachery and ingratitude.

Parsimonious Royalty.

The royal family of England is said to be the most money loving of the princely blood of Europe. The queen has accumulated a vast fortune from her savings, and she pays her servants less than they can get in any first class hotel. Her daughter, the Princess Louise, inherits this parsimonious spirit, and just now the radical press of London is making an outcry because the princess competed with other sculptors for a statue to the queen and got the contract through royal influence. The princess charged full price for the work—$2,500—and exacted $500 in advance. The poorer sculptors had to stand aside. The Prince of Wales, however, does not inherit the thrifty instinct. He wears 1,000 pairs of gloves a year and buys them all from Denmark instead of encouraging the home industry.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Quakers Who Could and Did Fight.

A hay harvest in the heart of the city is the unusual sight that presented itself to people passing the old "Fighting Quakers'" burying ground on Fifth street south of Locust last week. The Society of Free Friends, as they call themselves, is now extinct, as the general society has broadened to meet their views, and no burials have been made in the ground for years. During the civil war many Union soldiers who died in the hospitals of this city were given a resting place alongside the "Fighting Quakers" of the Revolution.—Philadelphia Record.

A Birmingham Oracle.

A Birmingham (England) oracle assures us that it has followed almost without exception in the past 30 years that a cold spring has been followed by a cold, wet summer, as in 1861, 1877 and 1879, and that a hot spring has been followed by a hot, dry summer, as in 1865, 1868, 1870 and 1872. From this he deduces the probability that this summer will be one of the hottest and driest and thirstiest on record.

A Dress Suit at a Swell Breakfast.

At the mayor's reception to the infanta there was only one break, and strangely enough it was made by President Higinbotham of the World's Columbian exposition. Mr. Higinbotham came ready for breakfast clad in evening dress, and at sight of him Mr. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor almost collapsed.—Chicago Dispatch.

The Old, Sad Story.

One afternoon last week there was a private funeral service in a fine mansion situated on an uptown street in Portland, Me. The funeral procession consisted of a single landau and a hearse. Passersby looked at the pathetic little cortege as it came out of the graveled driveway from the rear door of the stately dwelling and lightly remarked, "One of the help is dead."

None of the papers in their mortuary column furnished a clew to the identity of the dead. Only the heartbroken father, the mother and sisters knew the old, sad story which for ages bards have sung. It was indeed an awful lesson. Decades ago the trite saying was penned, "There are sermons in stones, and good in everything," and that truism is as potent today as it was then.

None knew and few guessed that the poor, frail frame that was on its last long journey was once the body of a young woman who, seven years ago, had fashionable Portland at her feet, was courted and petted by all and was allowed every pleasure that mind could invent or money procure except freedom.

She longed for New York. The nightingale was caged, and she longed for freedom. She burst the tiny, woven golden chains of love and became as the moth to the candle.

Three years on Fifth avenue, then to Broadway, then in the human maelstrom toward the Battery, then that haven of rest—home.

Last of all, Calvary.—Exchange.

How a Snake Fight Ended.

A remarkable occurrence took place lately in the zoological gardens at Breslau. In the cage of the large snakes a South American boa constrictor contended for a rabbit with a large python from west Africa. It did not succeed, however, the python being the stronger of the two, and it withdrew. About two hours later the keeper found the same snakes fighting for another rabbit.

As the keeper supposed that the boa, which was the weaker of the two, would again give up its prey, he left them to themselves and went home. The next morning he was horror stricken to find that the unfortunate boa had not let go its hold and had been swallowed by the python as a pendant to the rabbit. The boa was nearly 7 feet long and correspondingly thick. The python had already swallowed one rabbit before the one which proved fatal to the boa. Its circumference throughout its length was from 23 to 28 inches, and its skin was expanded to double its usual size. The supposition that the snake might perhaps not be able to digest the boa proved false. Digestion proceeded only somewhat more slowly than usual.—Pall Mall Budget.

A Graceful Act of a Noble Man.

An interesting incident in San Francisco the other day was the gift of $30 by William T. Coleman, the head of the famous vigilance committee, toward making comfortable the last days of Ned McGowan. The latter was the leader of the lawless element of 1856 whose conduct brought about the murder of James King of William, brother of the Buffalo police justice, and the execution of the murderer Casey by the vigilantes.

McGowan was himself condemned to death by the committee, but escaped, first to southern California and then to Europe. He afterward returned, stood trial for his offenses and upon securing an acquittal assailed Coleman savagely in a newspaper which he started and in a history of his own career. About three years ago he went once more to California to sue the historian, H. H. Bancroft, for libel in his history of the state, but came to grief, and is dying of destitution at the age of 86. He was once a political boss, the head of a great gambling establishment and worth half a million.—Buffalo Courier.

Works Both Ways.

The district court has rendered a decision in regard to the Jim Crow car law requiring the railroads to provide separate cars for whites and negroes that will seriously interfere with justice.

The decision declares that the law makes no exception of deputy sheriffs or officers accompanying prisoners, and that a white officer having a colored prisoner in charge cannot accompany him in the same car. The case arose over the sheriff of Lafayette parish who was taking a negro to an asylum for the insane, and who was forced from the car. By the decision no negro prisoner or lunatic can be conveyed by car to jail, prison or asylum by a white officer. The law will in this respect work a great inconvenience.—New Orleans Cor. Philadelphia Press.

Edwin Booth's Successor.

Now that Mr. Booth has passed into history, the American stage is cleared of its conspicuous men. It can hardly be said of any living American actor that he is the leader of his profession in this country. Among the younger actors Mr. Mansfield has won a strong place, but it would be straining language to call him the successor of the great player whose name is on all lips today. The simple fact is that the heir to Booth's place on the stage has not yet made himself known to the public.—New York Herald.

An Honest Judge Tells a Story.

An Aroostook judge who looked thoroughly honest and ingenuous has been telling this story to some of the Portland lawyers, and they believe him. The judge says that one farmer in his county raised last season 800 bushels of oats upon 10 acres of land. He sold the oats at his door for 50 cents a bushel and tucked nearly $400 in the bank. He valued the land at $150.—Lewiston Journal.

A Strange Cargo.

The Hilda has just arrived in the Mersey from Montserrat, West Indies, after a protracted voyage. Her cargo consists almost entirely of lime juice, of which she brings no less than 50,000 gallons, being the first arrival of the new season's juice.—London Tit-Bits.

PITTSBURG, July 27.—The Pittsburg wire works at Braddock shut down yesterday on account of dull trade. An early resumption is not expected. The plant gives employment to 500 men.

A Singular Reunion.

A romantic story in which a young lady who has been living near Blacklick, Indiana county, is a prominent character comes from Curwensville, Clearfield county. In the spring of 1870 Isaiah McDonald of Grampion Hills, Clearfield county, married a young lady from Michigan. After a few short months of wedded life the young man got into trouble. A separation followed, and the young wife returned to her western home.

A short time afterward a daughter was born. The mother's death followed swiftly on this event, and the child was taken in charge by its grandparents. It was years before the father knew he had a daughter. After discovering it he spent a great deal of money in a fruitless endeavor to locate her.

About the beginning of last March the daughter, now a young lady of 22 years, learned of her father's residence. She wrote to him, giving her address as Blacklick, Indiana county. The father was overwhelmed with joy and wrote, giving undeniable proofs of his relationship.

Arrangements were made for a meeting. Father and daughter met at Curwensville, and an affecting scene followed. They are now living together at Grampion. The girl is described as fine looking. She has been reared tenderly and possesses a good education.—Indiana Gazette.

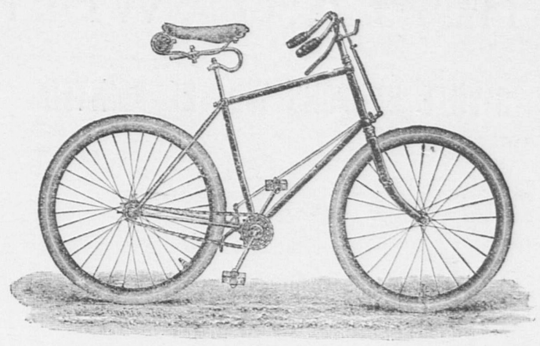

Commencement Days.

Commencement days are with us once again. Along the streets go closed carriages, through the drawn curtains of which one catches glimpses of smiling young faces, dainty diaphanous gowns and a veritable forest of blooming flowers. In all the colleges and seminaries parents and friends are gathering to witness the graduation exercises of those in whom they are interested, and to the fair participant the day is one that marks a new era in their lives.

As we look upon such sights, how vividly our own commencement day comes back and with it all the hope and promise of the future that was budding in our breast that day! School days over, our greatest troubles left behind between the closed covers of "Virgil" and "Sallust," we looked forward to days of no more study as to a dream of bliss about to be realized.

Dear graduates, you will find, as we have done, that there are lessons to be learned after the college doors have banged to behind your retreating forms, and the great halls cease to echo to your wonted footsteps. They will be hard or easy, as you yourselves make them. It lies with you to make your life worthy and noble or aimless and colorless.—Philadelphia Times.

Stand to Your Work.

Stand to your work as a man who loves labor
Come, fear not to toil with a vigorous arm;
Heed not the sneers of an eye serving neighbor,
Or a coward skulk's hate, which can never do harm.

Man is but man when he glories in duty:
Work is the heritage given to all;
High is the soul in its measure of beauty
When proudly it answers to labor's roll call.

What though your labor is granite stone breaking,
Turning or fitting or wielding the spade;
Add to your laurels of manhood by making
An honest day's work as the soul of your trade.

Say! are they heroes in life's rugged battle
Who will not with fervor their day weapons wield?
Behold them! They stand as poor somnolent cattle
That crouch in the shade of the sun lighted field.

Experience.

So fares it since the years began,
Till they be gathered up;
The truth, that flies the flowing can,
Will haunt the vacant cup;
And others' follies teach us not,
Nor much their wisdom teaches,
And most of sterling worth is what
Our own experience teaches.
—Tennyson.

A Terrible Solecism In Dress.

A correspondent with a humorous turn writes to a New York newspaper as follows: "With the spring fever and the jubilant mosquito there has come among us a bacillus more insiduous than the dreadful cholera germ—a disease whose rapid spread among our better classes is terrible to contemplate. Men who do not look quite lost to better things may now be seen parading in high hat, frock coat and tan shoes, and compared with this new deadly sin against proper attire the execrable combination of high hat and sack coat is as nothing. There is no saying whither this new sartorial idiocy may not lead us if we do not check it. What say your readers to the passage of a city ordinance making it a misdemeanor for any one to wear tan shoes after noon, or at any time in combination with a frock coat and top hat? Would 30 days be too light a penalty? We must

"Strike 'gainst this innovation dire,
Strike for the cause of right attire,
Black shoes and our native land."

Smith Looking For a Fight.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Joe Lewis, Billy Smith's backer, visited Richard K. Fox's office, deposited $1000 and issued a challenge on behalf of Smith to fight anybody in the world at 140 pounds for $10,000 a side, Jack Dempsey preferred.

Five Deaths Resulted.

WELCH, W. Va., July 27.—In a collision between a freight and passenger train on on the Norfolk and Western road, a brakeman was killed. Four unknown men who were beating their way were also killed.

Two Dollars a Day the Scale.

CHICAGO, July 27.—President Walter Groves of the Lake Seamen's union has ordered the 2500 men in the Chicago branch to do no work for less than $2 a day. Only sailing vessels are affected.

Bates Mill to Close.

LEWISTON, Me., July 27.—Notices have been posted in the Bates mill, stating that the mill will shut down Aug. 5 for five weeks. The mill employs 1800 people, with a monthly pay roll of $120,000.

Willing to Be Treasurer.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., July 27.—Senator E. P. Shaw announces that he will not be a candidate for a third term in the legislature. He is, however, willing to succeed Mr. Marden as state treasurer.

Lightning's Work.

CONEY ISLAND, N. Y., July 27.—During a terrific thunder storm yesterday afternoon a man was struck by lightning and instantly killed, and three others were very seriously injured.

TWO MEN ARRESTED

In Connection With the Death of Osias Dubreuil.

WAS KILLED BY A RIVAL

Is the Opinion of Friends of the Dead Man.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 27.—The death of Osias Dubreuil, who, it was reported, was stabbed and thrown from a Concord and Montreal train, is as much of a mystery as ever. The St. Jean Baptiste society, of which the dead man was a member, claims to have found out that an assault was committed upon him at Suncook.

It is said that two men were quietly arrested at Suncook, charged with murder. One of them, so Dubreuil's friends claim, was a rival of the dead man's for the hand of a young lady, and it is claimed that Dubreuil was killed to prevent his Marrying the Woman Next Month.

Dubreuil was formerly employed at W. B. Thorne & Co.'s hat factory here, and lived on River street. He was never known while here to get into trouble. He was 24 years old.

French circles are full of rumors. The opinion seems to be that he was murdered, and that jealousy was probably the cause.

It is now said that he left Haverhill only three months ago, but his name does not appear in the recently published city directory. It seems to be reasonably sure that last Monday he started from some point in Canada to come to Lowell, and that his body was at the side of the Codcord and Montreal railroad track near Suncook; that it was sent to Lowell, where an investigation will be made, and if any plot existed in connection with his death it will be ferreted out.

Reliable information is meagre, and friends of the deceased are anxiously waiting further developments.

VISITING THE HUB.

Rajah Rajagan of Kaparthalia and Suite Seeing the Sights.

BOSTON, July 27.—Jajajit Singh, whose official title, among other things, is Rajah Rajagan of Kaparthalia, is in Boston. He left his home, far away in the Punjaub, for the purpose of visiting the great fair at Chicago. He is accompanied by his fourth wife, and in his party are Colonel Massey, the official escort provided by the British government, Dr. Sadik Ali, Major Nahal Singh, Captain Sundal Singh, Miam Azis Baksh, master of the revenue, and Dawlet Ram, private secretary. Today they arrived at the Vendome in this city.

The prince is the first native Indian of high rank who has ever left home to travel extensively in the world. He is distinguished in appearance and of graceful bearing, and as he will not be 21 years of age until next November, he is rather young for his position as ruler of 3,000,000 people. During his travels he wears a suit of broadcloth, made in the English style; and on his head, as almost the only indication of his nationality, a big yellowish turban. He takes a deep interest in everything, and has apparently been enjoying his taste of American life.

His wife is a quiet, girlish-looking little woman, slender, with her blue-black hair combed straight back from her forehead. She has the clear, dark complexion of her race, but cannot be called beautiful. She is the first woman of an Indian royal family to travel out of her native country.

The stay of the prince and party in Boston will be brief, for his time is limited, and he must be at home again by the middle of November. After leaving this city he will visit Saratoga, Niagara Falls, Chicago and the fair, Washington and Philadelphia. Then he will return to New York to sail for Europe.

Colonel Massey, in speaking of the prince, gave the following outline of his trip: "He has yet to visit Berlin and Vienna. He has already visited Rome, Paris and London. In Rome he met the king and queen of Italy and his holiness the pope. He also had the honor of visiting Her Majesty Queen Victoria at Florence, Italy, and also, later, of being entertained by her majesty at Windsor. He was present at the opening of the Imperial Institute in London, and also at the wedding of the Duke of York. His highness will, of course, call on the president at Washington."

A SUCCESSFUL TEST

Of a Plan For Fighting Fire With Gases Instead of Water.

SALEM, Mass., July 27.—An interesting experiment in fighting fires was tried here and it appeared to be successful. All the apparatus used in the experiment was a sheet iron cylinder about three inches in diameter and 16 inches in length. This cylinder was charged with gases and chemicals sufficient to throw a stream half the size of an ordinary lead pencil about 12 feet continuously for five or six minutes.

After the cylinder had been charged, a box 8ft. long and 4ft. high by 4ft. wide was obtained and the inside smeared with tar. Then, to add to the inflammable quality of the material, a half-gallon of kerosene oil was sprinkled upon it and the whole thing set on fire. The heat created by the fire was intense, and those who were witnessing the experiment had grave doubts as to the success.

After the fire had burned the boards nearly half through, the contents of the little can were turned on, and in less than a minute the flames were extinguished. The test was certainly a severe one. The inventor of this extinguisher thinks that eventually gases will take the place of water entirely in the fire departments.

BLOW OR A FALL

Caused the Almost Instant Death of Thomas Walsh, a Marine.

BOSTON, July 27.—Thomas Walsh, a private at the navy yard, received injuries on Chelsea street, near Chestnut street, Charlestown, about 9 o'clock last night from which he died a few minutes afterward. He was found lying upon the sidewalk unconscious and with three cuts over his left eye.

One bystander told an officer that he saw two young men around with Walsh and they appeared to be "out skylarking," but he did not see any blows struck and knew nothing of how the cuts came to get hurt. However, the companions had disappeared, before the officer appeared on the scene.

Walsh was 25 years old and had been in the marine service but a short time.

About midnight the police arrested James J. Mullen, 17 years old, on suspicion of having made the assault. He told the police that he was "out with his girl" last evening and knew nothing about the affair.

CHANDLER'S HOT SHOT

Directed Against High Law Officials In the Granite State.

CONCORD, N. H., July 27.—Senator W. Chandler in to-day's Monitor publishes an open letter or editorial address to Harry Bingham and Hon. W L. Foster, presidents, respectively, of the Grafton and Coos and New Hampshire railroad Associations, preferring charges against Chief Justice Doe and Associate Justices Smith, Clark, Blodgett and Carpenter of the New Hampshire supreme court for their alleged palpable error and erroneous opinion adverse to the claimed rights of the people of New Hampshire in the Concord railroad which has been rendered to the house of representatives.

Mr. Chandler desires these charges to be placed before the members of the two associations together with accompanying papers, and says that if these charges are found to be false then the instigator should be given the severest possible punishment. If proven, then the judges deserve to be driven from their places by all the powers of a plundered and outraged people.

Christians Gather.

HAMILTON, Mass., July 27.—The Essex county W. C. T. U. is holding an all day meeting at Asbury grove today. An address was given by Dr. Esther H. Hawkes of Lynn, subject "Hygiene," followed by an address on "Prison, Jail and Almhouse," by Mrs. E. T. Hill of Boston. Devotional exercises were led by Miss Elizabeth S. Tobey of Brookline and a musical drill by W. C. Fessenden. Rev. N. T. Whittaker of Lynn delivered an address.

Taking Big Chances.

BOSTON, July 27.—It is reported that McCall and Mullen, the only two of the notorious sewer gang who have not yet been returned to the Charlestown state prison, have been seen in Boston recently. There is a rumor that Mullen has been seen about the prison, signalling to some of the convicts in the workshops. McCall, it is said, was in a barroom on Charlestown street Monday afternoon.

Master and Two Men Died.

BOSTON, July 27.—A cable received in this city announces the arrival of the barque Shetland of Boston, in quarantine at Port Spain, Island of Trinidad, and the death of her master, Captain Dennis H. Haskell, the second mate, F. L. Woodworth, of Boston; also one seaman, name not given. Captain Haskell was 57 years old and a native of Deer Isle, Me., where he leaves a family.

Haverhill's Financial Standing.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 27.—The valuation of the city is: Personal estate, $4,928,874; real estate, $15,472,471; total, $20,401,345, against $19,788,110 a year ago. The tax rate will be $10.10 per thousand, against $17.20 last year, the increase being necessitated by an increase of $31,957.30 in the tax levy. The number of polls is 8675 against 8006 last year.

A Novel Invention.

BIDDEFORD, Me., July 27.—John P. Kelly of this city has built a unicycle sulky, in which he will drive one of his horses at the state fair. Great saving in weight, draft and friction is claimed over the bicycle sulky. The wheel is 40 inches high and the seat directly over the ball bearing centre. Neither traces nor breeching will be used.

Death the Result of a Fall.

ALTON, N. H., July 27.—The unknown man run over near Davis' crossing was identified as Frank Zellhan, a farm hand. He started to walk to New Durham on the railroad track. Being under the influence of liquor, he probably fell across the track, striking his head against the rail, the blow killing him instantly.

Crushed to Death.

BOSTON, July 27.—William Harper, 45 years of age, a plasterer, while working at 180 Tremont street, jumped into a freight elevator and started it. On finding that he could not stop it, he tried to jump off. In doing so he was caught between the elevator and the partition and crushed to death.

Father and Child Missing.

MALDEN, Mass., July 27.—Clark H. J. Eaton of Linden left his home with his 3-year-old daughter Tuesday morning and has not returned. It is claimed that he had had domestic difficulties but that he will return in a day or two. His whereabouts are now unknown, however.

Not Looking For Office.

BOSTON, July 27.—Hon. Josiah Quincy has left for Waskington. Before departing he said: "I am in no sense a candidate for either the mayoralty or gubernatorial nomination. I have only to thank my friends for mentioning me in those connections."

A July Snowstorm.

PROVIDENCE, July 27.—Off the Long Island coast the steamer Berkshire of the Providence, Norfolk and Baltimore line encountered a heavy snowstorm yesterday. Her decks were covered and the storm was so thick that she was forced to lay to until it abated.

Understands the Business.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 27.—Alfred A. Ordway, who has been appointed one of the three judges of the shoe and leather exhibit at the World's fair, was noted for his excellent judgment on matters connected with shoes and leather production.

A Dastardly Deed.

ROCHESTER, N. H., July 27.—Henry Bickford, aged 16, while berrying in the woods was seized by two hunters and horribly mutilated. The boy is expected to die from the wounds. He made a desperate fight against his assailants.

Fatal Fall From a Masthead.

BOSTON, July 27.—While at work on the schooner William H. Allison, lying at the wharf of the Boston Towboat company, Thomas O'Donnell, a rigger, fell from the masthead to the deck, a distance of 65 feet, and was instantly killed.

A Bay State Cyclone.

GEORGETOWN, Mass., July 27.—A terrific thunder shower, accompanied by a cyclone, passed through this town yesterday. A path 300 feet wide was cut, in which trees were uprooted and vegetation suffered much damage.

A Bullet In His Stomach.

NORWALK, Conn., July 27.—Michael English, 20 years old, while attempting to charge the cylinder of a revolver, was wounded by a 32-calibre ball, which passed through his left hand into the stomach. He may die.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

SHADE FOR THE POULTRY YARD. A few squash vines growing in the poultry yard make an excellent resort for young chicks, and may be made to yield squashes as well, as the fowls seldom molest the vines of the squash. A few pieces of brush thrown on lath, nailed to posts, also answers well, while a piece of muslin fastened to the top of fence, with the bottom tied to small stakes, also does good service. A good kind of shade should be provided for naked yards.—Lewiston Journal.

TIRED OF HIS LIFE.

Cashier Francis Ended It With a Pistol Bullet.

HAD LED A LIFE OF EASE.

Left a Widow, Son and Daughter to Mourn.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 28.—Edward S. Francis, ex-cashier of the Pittsfield National bank, put a bullet through his brain yesterday morning and died almost instantly. The suicide took place in the room occupied by Mr. Francis in the Maplewood hotel, North street. A crisis had been reached in his business troubles which he dared not face. Claims aggregating about $25,000 had been made against the Pittsfield National bank on account of the ex-cashier's transactions. Exposure was inevitable.

The bank had notified the American Trust company, Francis's bondsmen, of these claims, and yesterday the company's attorney, Lawyer Strong, called upon him. At the interview Mr. Francis was entirely calm and pleasant, though he seemed to realize the gravity of the situation.

When Mr. Strong had gone Mr. Francis, who was recovering from a serious illness, to his daughter Nellie and sister-in-law, Mrs. Pinkham, and asked them to retire for a little time that he might rest. A few minutes afterward the report of a revolver rang out. Francis had paid his debt to the world in the only way left to him. Miss Nellie rushed into the room and found his father seated in an easy-chair facing the window, with the smoking revolver in his hand.

Complained of Weariness

He was unconscious and blood was streaming from his head. She gave the alarm, and soon the fashionable hotel, which is crowded with city people, was in a turmoil of excitement.

Drs. Colt and Paddock were sent for, and they found the wounded man still breathing, but sinking rapidly, and he died in a few minutes.

An examination showed that the bullet had entered the right temple just in front of the ear, passed completely through the head, came out at the left temple and buried itself in a black walnut music stand. He was insensible from the moment he pressed the trigger.

The dead man has not left a scrap of paper making any final statement, so far as can be learned, and there is no way at present of Telling How Matters Stand.

It was his habit to keep a personal account book in his desk in which are recorded dealings with personal friends, but the pages seem to be in much confusion and the bank men say they can't gather much from the figures.

The opinion prevails that the dead cashier was cognizant of more than has yet been made public concerning the trouble in the bank which resulted in his retirement from the institution.

It is considered that his suicide indicates his knowledge of false dealing with his friends and his conclusion that he could not face them and take the consequences. It is now feared that more disclosures will come, and that affairs will prove even worse than was at first thought.

His relatives claim, however, that he was on the verge of a second attack of apoplexy and was not responsible.

It is the tragical last act in an unhappy domestic drama, which began, so goes local gossip, six years ago, when Mr. Francis married for the second time, began to live beyond the limits of his $5000 salary, speculated in stocks, and finally, two weeks ago, reached a business crisis and was deposed from the position he had held for 28 years as cashier of the Pittsfield National bank.

This action of the bank directors, the consequent public scandal, the fact that he had overdrawn his account at the bank $500, and the impending arrangements for legal separation from his wife, formed a burden of mental suffering which reacted on the physical man, and for over a week Mr. Francis had been prostrated by serious illness. Mr. Francis leaves a family consisting, besides his widow, of his daughter Nellie, who lived with him, and a son, who is a dentist in Texas.

WATCHMAKERS ALARMED.

The Waltham and Elgin Watch Companies to Reduce Their Forces.

WALTHAM, Mass., July 28.—Consternation reigned last night in consequence of the official announcement given out by Superintendent Fitch of the American Waltham Watch company, the biggest industry in the city and the largest watch producing concern in the world. On July 1 the company gave the hands a month's vacation. Yesterday Superintendent Fitch announced that the vacation would be extended a week, the factory starting up on Aug. 7, and that only half the employes will be given work. The balance of the June and July pay roll will be paid on Aug. 1. The foremen of the departments will at that time notify the hands who are selected to begin operations.

Coupled with this announcement comes the statement from President Fitch that the Elgin National Watch company will discharge half of its hands Aug. 1. The Waltham company at present has on its payroll a little less than 3000 employes and the Elgin company has a little more than that number. For a long time the watch trade journals have been predicting the closing indefinitely of most of the smaller watch factories, owing to the poor times, but the announcements in regard to the Waltham and Elgin companies come without warning upon this city.

Ice Houses Destroyed.

WALTHAM, Mass., July 28.—The Swift Beef company's ice houses on the Charles river were burned yesterday. The property was assessed at $6000. The fire was probably of incendiary origin.

Essex Press Club's Outing.

SALEM, Mass., July 28.—The Essex County Press club will hold its first outing at the Willows tomorrow afternoon and evening. There will be a ride in a steamer to Baker's Island and a supper at the Pavillion. Mayor Hayes and Judge Berry will be the guests of the Lynn newspaper men, Mayor Gurney and ex-Mayor Titcomb of the Newburyport, Mayor Mack and ex-Mayor Bruce of the Lawrence, and Mayor Rantoul of the Salem. General Cogswell will be the special guest.

Marshall Was a Millionaire.

BOSTON, July 28.—Yesterday the police made a thorough search of Mr. Marshall's apartments at 15 Allston street, and discovered papers that prove that the suicide could not have in any way arisen from financial troubles. Two bank books representing a cash deposit of over $60,000 were found in the bureau drawer. Papers and deeds were also discovered which go to show that the eccentric old gentlemen was worth within the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

Struck the Blow In Self-Defence.

BOSTON, July 28.—It is stated that after Timothy Sullivan had been arrested, charged with killing Thomas M. Walsh Wednesday night in Charlestown, he confessed to having struck the fatal blow in self-defence after he had been struck by the dead man. Sullivan and a young man named Buckley were held in bonds of $5000 each on the charge of manslaughter in causing the death of Walsh.

Death of a Salem Lawyer.

SALEM, Mass., July 28.—Benjamin Barstow, 71 years of age, died at the Salem hospital yesterday of heart failure. He was prominent in public life, having been elected to the common council in 1858, but declined. He was elected in 1861 and accepted. In 1886, '87 and '88 he was a member of the school committee. He was a lawyer, graduating from the law school at Harvard.

Boy Drowned in Portland Harbor.

PORTLAND, Me., July 28.—Three boys, Johnson, Furlong and Donahue, were fishing off Great Diamond island and in attempting to lift their anchor a large rock upset their boat. The Donahue boy attempted to swim ashore, but went down twice before he was rescued. He will recover. The Furlong boy was saved by a fisherman. Johnson was drowned.

A Nervy Old Man.

NEW LONDON, Conn. July 28.—Ray Earl, 80 years old, started yesterday to walk to Chicago, on a wager of $100 that he can cover the distance in 42 days and take with him no money for food or other purposes except what is necessary to pay ferryage, trusting to luck and the notoriety of his trip to obtain sustenance for him on the way.

An Ungrateful Embezzler.

PROVIDENCE, July 28.—John Hawkins, a convicted embezzler, who fleeced the firm of J. H. Preston & Co., and returned to their employ on probation, is an embezzler for a second time and a fugitive. The conviction of Hawkins was called to the attention of the court yesterday, the bond defaulted, and a capias issued to arrest Hawkins.

A Portland Business Man Missing.

GORHAM, N. H., July 28.—For a week Samuel Thurston, a well known Portland business man, has been missing, and it is thought that he lost his way among the mountains and has perished of hunger. He is an aged man, and his having been compelled to make an assignment a short time ago is thought to have preyed upon his mind.

Will Close For a Month.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 28.—The directors of the Weetamoe mills have decided to suspend for a month after Aug. 5. They find it difficult to hire money to carry on further operations without paying a higher rate of interest than they believe the present condition of business will justify.

Another Quiet Day.

Walter J. Gilbert, of the Newfield district, Middletown, Conn., aged 31, committed suicide, while crazed from the effects of alcohol.

Wednesday a Portuguese farm hand was terribly gored by an infuriated bull. The injured man was taken to Portsmouth, N. H., where he lies in a critical condition.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

What Commissioner Roosevelt Has to Say About Changes.

THE PARTIES BALANCED.

Classified Officers Should Be Removed From Politics.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt discussing yesterday the current changes in departments and the general comments which those changes had elicited from both political parties said: "Well, I am not in sympathy with the outcry for wholesale dismissals from the clerical force in the departments in order to 'even them up' between the two parties. The published statement that 90 per cent. of the clerical force in the departments in Washington is Republican is all nonsense.

"There are in the departmental force about 8500 persons all told who are subject to competitive examination. Of these about 4000 now in office have been put in through the examinations of the civil service commission, wholly without regard to political consideration, and are about evenly divided between the two parties. The remaining 4500 represent those still in office from among the 6000 who were originally classified in 1883 by order of President Arthur

And Are Mainly Republicans.

They also represent 3000 who are included in the classification of 1888 by order of President Cleveland, the great bulk of whom are Democrats. Probably about the same proportion of these two classes are now in office, or, in other words, of the 4500 persons now in the departmental service about three-fourths are Republicans and one-quarter Democrats.

"In addition to this, there are about 1400 excepted places, such as chiefs of divisions, private secretaries and the like, and 2000 laborers and others below the classified service, making 3400 in all. The great majority of them are changed with each administration. It is fair to assume that nearly all of these places either are or soon will be filled by Democrats. It is probably a fact that in the entire departmental service here in Washington the Parties Are Now Substantially Balanced.

"In the railway mail service there are about 7000 places. Here also the parties are on a practical equality.

"About 80 per cent of the Republicans were discharged between 1885 and 1889 and Democrats put in their places.

"On the change of the administration in 1889 and prior to the time the civil service law went into effect, nearly one-half of these Democrats were turned out and replaced by Republicans, dividing the force about equally between the two parties."

Mr. Roosevelt said he protested as strongly as he could against the dismissal of this large number of Democratic postal clerks at the time, although the reason given was that they were displaced in order to reinstate previous clerks who themselves had been Dismissed by the Previous Administration.

"Nothing but harm," he said, "can ever come from turning out one-half the people in office on the theory of equalizing the representation of the parties. The only honest way to act is when an office is classified to treat it as entirely removed from politics. The working of the civil service law itself if honestly enforced will speedily bring about a state of things where Democrats and Republicans alike will be treated wholly without regard to their politics."

GOLD TO BE IMPORTED.

New York Banks Extending Aid to the Exchange Houses.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Several of the banks here have decided to extend to the large exchange houses whatever aid may be necessary to facilitate the importation of gold. Owing to the low rates of exchange, several large houses considered it advisable to purchase gold, and to this end they approached the banks to ascertain if the necessary accommodation would be extended. The banks replied that every facility would be afforded them, and on the strength of this nearly $3,000,000 of gold was ordered for tomorrow's shipment from the other side.

Trouble In the Camp.

OMAHA, Neb., July 28.—The trouble in the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, which culminated in the charter of the Omaha division being revoked, has led Grand Chief Ramsey to say that the whole trouble has been started by Carl Smith, a member of the order, who is a reporter on an Omaha paper, and who is disgruntled because he was not elected editor of the organ of the order.

Hard on the Silk Workers.

PATERSON, N. J., July 28.—The William Strange company announced last night that it will close its extensive silk mills for three weeks. All the hard silk workers in the Adams mills have also been suspended for an indefinite period, and the looms in the soft silk departments in many of the factories are idle. More than a thousand weavers will be thrown out of work next Monday.

New Hampshire's Crops All Right.

CONCORD, N. H., July 28.—Hon. N. J. Batchelder, secretary of the state board of agriculture, says that the condition of the farm crops in New Hampshire, on the whole, is satisfactory, and that they promise to equal, if not exceed, those of previous years.

Hopes of Bickford's Recovery.

ROCHESTER, N. H., July 28.—Harry Bickford, who was the victim of a fiendish crime on Tuesday, is as comfortable as the nature of his wounds will admit, and the attending physician says there is hopes of his recovery.

VICTOR BICYCLES

THE VICTOR PNEUMATIC IS ALL RIGHT

With the only complete bicycle plant in the world, where every part of the machine is made from A to Z, is it any wonder that Victor Bicycles are acknowledged leaders?

There's no bicycle like a Victor, and no plant so grandly complete as the one devoted exclusively to the manufacture of this king of wheels.

AN ADVANCE of fifty cents in the tax rate is the news from the city of Somerville, and this with an increase of over three and a half millions in valuation. The rate is $15.50, the highest since 1885.

And Salem which had the same rate as Quincy last year, $16 per $1000, has put it up to $17.30 this year. The increase in valuation in Salem was but $460,100.

Even in Hull, with all its revenue from liquor licenses, the rate is $16.50 this year.

THE EDITORIAL of the Evening News is as applicable to Quincy as Malden:

Now that dogdays are upon us, it would be well to dispose promptly of all stray and unlicensed dogs. Not only would the people of Malden be benefited by being relieved of all danger from the neglected animals, but it would be merciful to the dogs to dispatch them, and end their misery. Any domestic creature not properly cared for, is better off out of existence, and any owner of a dog who does not care enough about it to to keep its license paid is not likely to give it the care it requires to prevent its being an annoyance and nuisance to the general public.

Birthday Party.

Mr. Frank S. Rideout, entertained quite a large party of his friends at his home in Germantown, on Thursday evening. It was the occasion of his twenty-first birthday. Music and dancing were enjoyed. The latter especially as it took place on the piazza which was brilliantly illuminated by Japanese lanterns. Refreshments were served during the evening. The party dispersed at about midnight after wishing their host many happy returns of the day.

Young Men's Christian Association.

Mr. W. Clements of South Quincy, who is a student in Newton Theological school, will speak at the Men's meeting Sunday. Subject:—"Comparing spiritual things with spiritual."

The association lost a grand worker and friend in Mr. John C. Wyllie, who departed for California last week.

A practice game of basket ball will be played Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Merrymount park. The vaulting pole, hammer and shot have been received and will be ready for use at the same time. The athletic work is looking up.

Dr. E. R. Johnson spent a few hours in the city Wednesday. He has been attending Prof. Roberts' summer school for physical culture during July. He will return to take charge of the Quincy gymnasium the first week in October.

Reception at Hull.

Miss Floretta Vining gave a very swell reception to the engaged and young married people, guests at her house at Stony beach, Hull, on Thursday evening. Tea was served from five until seven, followed by dancing until eleven.

The spacious rooms were thrown open to the guests and friends, and was tastefully decorated with ferns and cut flowers, presenting a cool and inviting bower of green. Outside was one of brilliancy, the broad piazzas and balconies being hung with Japanese lanterns, while the glorious moon smiled benignly over all. As to the evening it was not too warm nor yet too cold, just a perfect beach night for dancing, promenading, or gazing at the moon, the music lending its enchantment to the scene. Ices and refreshments were served during the evening.

Miss Vining received the guests in the large hall way and was resplendent in white silk and diamonds. The guests were in full evening dress, the ladies all looking dainty and pretty in their gowns of many colors.

About two hundred were present, coming from all along the beach, from the Jerusalem road to Hull, and by boat and train from surrounding towns. Among those from Quincy were Miss Cornelia Elliott, Miss Pearl Elliott, Miss Annie L. Prescott, Miss Alice Keith Prescott, and Mr. William Tanner from Wollaston.

THE NATIONAL GAME

As Exemplified at the Grocers' Outing Yesterday.

MANY BRILLIANT POINTS.

An Elaborate Menu Enjoyed With a Relish at Atlantic House.

Picked nines from among the business men of Quincy did, without malice, aforethought and intent, attempt to play a game of ball upon the green diamond at Nantasket, Thursday.

A hundred or more interested spectators watched the brilliant plays and astonishing manœuvres made by the players in their vain attempt to battle with the sphere.

For four long innings the two nines struggled, and plays entirely new to the game followed each other in rapid succession.

Twenty long black marks represented the nine captained by John Curtis, and nine told the tale of woe for the other side.

It was a funny game if we are to believe our informant who spent his time in watching the contest and looking after biscuit shooters on the piazza of Hotel Nantasket.

The two nines were made up as follows:

BLUES	GRAYS
Tisdale, p.,	Callahan, p.,
Goodhue, c.,	Johnson, J. W. c.,
Johnson, R. 1b.,	Porter, 1b.,
Little, 2b.,	Merrill, 2b.,
Patch, 3b,,	Curtis, 3b.,
Dinegan, ss.,	Dyer, ss.,
Pratt, lf.,	Emonds, lf.,
Nash, cf.,	Tirrell, cf.,
McAnarney, rf.,	Wilson, rf.

The preliminaries of the game were soon over and a young man stepped forward as umpire to show

What he did not Know about the game. C. C. Hearn with his pockets filled with empty bung holes and railroad tunnels came forward and agreed to do all the cheating possible for each individual side. T. L. Williams and T. J. Lamb also tried to keep score but the attempt of all three was without avail.

The first victim was none other than Tisdale. He picked up the stick and gently fanned away the dust as he measured the distance of the home plate with his eye. His stay was short. A ball, a strike and zip went the leather sphere through the long grass toward third.

Bob Johnson then stepped forward and after carefully selecting a stick he removed his straw hat showing a glossy head that shone so in the sun as to dazzle the pitcher. Bob meant well but he did not see first.

Dinegan, the hero of the day, then appeared. He realized his position and after a little exercise with the sand announced himself to do or die and he did, for he died on third. He, however, made it up later, for when the game was finally ended two home runs were credited to him.

Nash was the next to try his luck. He stepped forward, took a hitch in his trousers, rubbed his hands in the dirt and with a hit-or-die look in his eye faced the pitcher. As he did so the ball sped toward him with a sort of inward and outward motion, took a turn or two about the plate and passed into the hands of the catcher. He struck at it as it passed but missed by a foot and a half. The pitcher now looked for a record. Nash smiled and quietly remarked to the scorer

"We're in It."

One ball; two balls; the batter smiled; off sped the ball the batter seemed in doubt but finally let go with all the force of his powerful frame. "Out," shouted the umpire and the side retired a victim of circumstances.

The Grays now had their innings with Callahan at the bat. He struck an attitude but nothing else, for every time he swung the bat he revolved like a top. Two strikes, a foul and out.

Joe Johnson picked up the spheroid, looked at it carefully as though he had seen something like it before. He realized that the ladies were watching him and he struck a beautiful attitude, evidently convinced that it was easier to strike an attitude than the ball. He proved a good waiter and got base on balls, 'though the umpire insisted on a recount.

Porter then came tripping lightly forward and threw aside the wrap that concealed his sylph like form and stood before his fellow gladiators, a classic study, his beautifully moulded limbs encased in white duck pants and some variegated hosiery. He got first base on a fly to right field, which McAnarney failed to catch in the basket which he had, that is, he did not take the base away with him, but ambled down there and sat down and waited for some one to send him home.

The next batter was easily recognized by he always has between his teeth, and even on this occasion he could not do without it. He tapped the homeplate a few times and assumed an easy position. He glared at Tisdale and Tisdale glared at him, while crowd set up a howl. Ye gods, what a picture it made. Two strikes John advanced, picked up the sand bag and hit the umpire where the chicken got the axe. Out!

The last victims in this innings was Tirrell. He appeared with rubbers on his feet and a checkerboard hat. He reached first. The scorer turned to take a drink of lime juice when some one cried out and out the scorer called it in spite of the umpire's decision that it was safe.

Thus they struggled on through the game Little and Goodhue distinguishing themselves with home runs.

After the dust of the battle had been washed away the party turned their faces toward the Atlantic, and although many of them will have cause to remember the game for many a long day. They all did justice to the following:

Menu.

Steamed Duxbury Clams.
Consumme Julienne. Clam Chowder.
Cucumbers. Radishes.

Baked Bluefish au Vin Port.
Potatoes Duchesse.

Roast Sirloin of Beef, Dish Gravy.
Philadelphia Chicken.
Giblet Sauce.
Green Peas, Mashed Browned Potatoes.
Green Corn.

Sweetbread, Patties a la Trianen.
Banana Fritters au Maraschino.
Lobster Salad Mayonnaise.

Harlequin Ice Cream.
Lemon Sherbet.
Assorted Cake.
Chilled Watermelon, Coffee.

After dinner the time was spent as each individual taste inclined, and when the time came for leaving for home, it was with reluctance that they realized that the outing was over.

On the way home a brief stop was made in Hingham at the Cushing house to grease the wheels, and, as the old clock was striking nine, they wheeled into the Square at Quincy.

BOTTLE WITH A MESSAGE.

Atlantic Man Sends It Adrift—Found at Houghs Neck.

R. F. Tobey has forwarded to the office of the DAILY LEDGER, as requested, the following letter found in a bottle on Manet Beach, Houghs Neck, near Maryland cottage. The Atlantic man is probably contemplating suicide and wants to know in advance where his body will be picked up. Or he may be anxious to learn who gets the full benefit (?) of the Boston sewage disposed of off at Moon Island. The experiment has established a new means of communication between the two peninsular. The letter:

ATLANTIC, MASS., July 23, 1893.

Will the finder please write me and tell how, when and where this bottle was found. Social correspondence.

Please also have it printed in the DAILY LEDGER, Quincy, Mass., U. S. A., under Atlantic news. Will be printed free of charge. Write immediately to Box 104, Atlantic, Mass., U. S. A.

TODAY'S COURT.

Frank Woodman, John Bibbey and Bartholomew Connelley of Boston, were arraigned for breaking glass at Squantum, and fined $10 each,

James D. Taber of Houghs Neck, was arraigned for violating the Sunday law. Case continued until Saturday.

Charles White, alias Charles Allen, was arraigned for playing the three shell game at Randolph and was fined $25.

Henry A. Alden was arraigned for non-support of his wife, Mary S. Alden. The court ordered him to give bonds to pay $5 per week for her support.

William Heaney of Randolph, for drunkenness, was fined $5.

Charles A. Stanley of Quincy was arraigned for selling a leased horse. After a hearing that occupied the most of the morning the case was continued for one week.

John O'Keefe of Randolph, for assault and battery on his wife, was fined $6 97 and was placed under $200 bonds to keep the peace for four months.

The liquors and vessels seized from the premises of Frederick C. Merrill in Holbrook were forfeited to the Commonwealth.

Charles Mullaney of Quincy who was arraigned for bastardy on the complaint of Annie Bradley concluded to marry the complainant.

MILTON.

The stores of East Milton were closed Thursday, on account of Grocers' day.

Work tearing down the old mansion on the Lovering estate has commenced.

Worshippers Disturbed.

An attendant at the West Quincy M. E. church writes: The winding of the fire alarm in the tower during the hour of public service on Sunday ought to be discontinued. It greatly disturbs the service. Public attention was called to it last Sunday. It ought not to be necessary for the pastor and church to take any action in regard to it. The fact that it disturbs the worship ought to do away with it at that hour.

The Last Day But One of the Five Vote Coupon.

A large party is expected at the Casino today.

Many yachts went moving majestically around in the moonlight Thursday evening, looking more like ghosts than anything earthly. The singing and laughter of their crews alone dispelled the weirdness of the picture.

The case against Mr. J. D. Taber for running his flying horses on Sunday was continued this morning until Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Whittemore of the Loretto gave a pleasing musicale to the inmates of Saint's Rest, Thursday evening. After the party were reseated on the veranda refreshments were in order.

Mr. Warren B. Haskell is recuperating his expended mental energy at Houghs Neck.

The three Cape catboats Myth, Dorothy and Scylla, were chartered Thursday by a crew of bearded pirates who seemed to entertain some lady friends in a highly satisfactory manner. Robin makes a very good skipper. Lunch was discussed at the club house and the party started for Nantasket. A four reef breeze was blowing but the young ladies are perfectly at home in a blow. A glorious good time was enjoyed.

Miss Alice Cuddy, Miss Isabella Ford, Miss Mae Barry, Mr. J. A. McCarty, Mr. R. Ford and Mr. Harry Flanigan, of Lawrence, are guests of Mrs. W. H. Glynn at Hillstrum cottage.

Wednesday morning, July 19, Fayolin cottage was tastefully and gaily decorated with flags, and its inmates, from Mrs. Robinson to little baby Fay, gave a most cordial and cheery greeting to the representatives of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Braintree Congregational church, who had been invited to spend the day. Nearly twenty went and very much enjoyed the invigorating air, the rambles by the waters and the social intercourse, to say nothing of the clam chowder with its accompaniments, and went home with a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Robinson and her sisters for the good time they had had.

Still Gaining.

Three hundred more votes gives Mrs. Emery twice as many votes as her nearest rival in the grand popularity contest for the $100 sea-shore lot. No one can tell, however, what the reserve vote is.

Tomorrow the last 5-vote coupon will be printed and these must be cast before August 7, at 5 P. M.

FRANCE GIVES WARNING.

Her Fleet Expected to Attack Bangkok Early In August.

BANGKOK, July 28.—Notice was given yesterday of the blockade by the French fleet. Outgoing vessels have been warned that they must clear from Bangkok and Koh-si-Chang by tomorrow or submit to detention. The blockade will extend along the entire north coast of the Gulf of Siam.

The French fleet, with M. Pavie, French minister resident, has gone to Koh-si-Chang.

The general expectation is that early in August the French fleet will attack Bangkok and land some 5000 men. There is little doubt here that France's purpose is to make Siam a French colony. The Simaese government is exceedingly anxious to avoid open warfare.

When the gunboat Lutin was at the Menam bar, the foreign minister sent to M. Pavie a note to the effect that the king and his advisers were most anxious to maintain peace. All such efforts, however, are believed by the English residents to be vain. Unless England interveues to assist in a settlement of the dispute, there can be little expectation, or even hope, that France will refrain from extreme measures.

The Bangkok correspondent of The Times telegraphs under yesterday's date: Every steamer here cleared out Wednesday, except the Hydra, which carries the mail. She sailed for Singapore today. The captain of the Forfait has given notice that the blockade began from 5 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. Proceedings will be taken according to international law and treaties against vessels trying to violate the blockade. It closes completely the Bay of Bangkok, in addition to the whole Siamese coast and the islands northward of the lines running between the Malay and Indo-Chinese peninsulas along the 13th parallel of latitude.

Perfect calm prevailed here. The Swift (British warship) has left to recruit the health of her crew at sea. Only three gunboats remain, representing England, Germany and Holland.

The Standard's Paris correspondent says: I gather that M. Develle and Lord Dufferin have agreed to compromise on the frontier question. The newspapers have no inkling of this and are as aggressive as ever.

A FATAL WATERSPOUT.

It Carries Death and Destruction Before It at Pueblo.

PUEBLO, Col., July 28.—Pueblo was overtaken Wednesday night by the greatest disaster in the history of the city, resulting in the loss of at least seven lives and the total destruction of an immense amount of property, the aggregate loss being not far from a million dollars.

The Arkansas river flowed bank full, and now and then a wave topping over the top of the heavy levees, which are maintained by the city government to prevent floods. The fountain Qui-Bouille, the principal local tributary to the Arkansas, had but in a couple hours from a peaceful, babbling brook become a raging torrent, carrying death and destruction in its wake.

A great water spout had emptied tons upon tons of water into the streams, filling their banks in an instant. The police and fire departments immediately dispatched mounted messengers to warn the dwellers in low lying portions of the city of the impending danger.

In a short time the streets were filled with men, women and children, clad in their night clothes, having been driven their beds by the encroaching waters. Many families were separated in the confusion and frantic mothers ran about the streets bewailing the loss of children.

It is known that an emigrant, with his wife and five children, were encamped in the fountain bottoms, and that they were swallowed up by the resistless swell of water. The corpses of two men floated down the Arkansas yesterday, but all efforts to stop the bodies were in vain.

SUNDAY OPENINGS.

Chief Justice Fuller Reverses the Decision of the Lower Court.

CHICAGO, July 28.—Chief Justice Fuller yesterday decided the case of the World's Columbian exposition against the United States of America in the circuit court of appeals by reversing the decree of the lower court and remanding the cause for further proceedings. In the United States circuit court Judges Woods and Jenkins had granted a preliminary injunction closing the fair on Sundays.

Judge Grosscup, dissenting, delivered an opinion favoring the opening of the fair. The order leaves both sides free from any legal ties. Application can now be made by the government to the circuit court for a permanent injunction and a final hearing had. From the decision, if then rendered, another appeal could be taken. These proceedings would occupy considerable time and more than probable the fair would be closed long before the end would be reached.

A BUNGLING JOB.

Taylor's Terrible Death by Electrocution. A Second Current Necessary.

AUBURN, N. Y., July 28.—The electrocution of murderer William E. Taylor yesterday was not a success. The foot rest of the chair broke and the dynamo gave out; so that a second current could not be applied. He was not dead from the first contact and soon began breathing heavily. He was placed on a cot and conveyed back to his corridor where he continued breathing and groaning with pulse growing stronger.

The physicians say he was unconscious after the first contact of over 1700 volts. His condition was analogous to that of a man stricken with apoplexy. Morphine was administered. As soon as was possible Taylor was again carried to the chair and a current from a city electric light dynamo was passed through his body. The second attempt proved successful.

Denver's Mayor Calls For Peace.

DENVER, Col., July 28.—The following proclamation was issued yesterday:

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
CITY OF DENVER, July 28.

All citizens of Denver who prize the good name of our city and state are earnestly requested to refrain from addressing assemblages of laboring men and others. The state, county and city are doing everything possible to help the needy. Let us have no unnecessary excitement.

Chicago's Bank Swindler.

CHICAGO, July 28.—The man who is alleged to have swindled Chicago banks out of about $50,000 is Charles C. Lockstaedt, for whose arrest on the charge of forgery warrants are out. It is alleged that the money was secured by means of false promissory notes, to which the signature of the general manager of the Westing House Electric company of Pittsburg was forged.

BOSTON LEADS THE LEAGUE

Yesterday's Victories Over Baltimore Won In an Easy Manner.

BOSTON, July 28.—Two easy victories over the Baltimores yesterday sent Boston to the front in the league race with a jump. The first game, though captured on easy terms on account of Hawke's wildness, had more brilliant features in fielding and base running than have been seen in any game at the South End this season. A strong breeze straight across the field could not "phase" the boys. Herman Long made a marvellous catch which robbed Taylor of a base hit. In the second game Boston won in a canter by superior all-round playing. The "Orioles" could do nothing with Stivetts, and only once after the first inning did they get a man around to third.

A Cigaret Law to Be Tested.

CINCINNATI, July 28.—The new cigaret law, which imposes a heavy tax on dealers in that product, is to be tested in the courts. Suit was brought by J. Stacey Hill, a retail dealer in tobacco, to enjoin the county treasurer from collecting the cigaret tax. A similar suit was filed by John Davis, a wholesale dealer.

Barker Files an Answer.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—Wharton Barker filed an answer to the equity suit brought against him by the Finance company of Pennsylvania, in which he was charged, while president of the company, with realizing $1,000,000 brokerage fees by improperly unloading securities upon it. He makes a general denial.

Supposed Cases of Cholera.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—Wazek Prosch died Wednesday in Chester, and Dr. A. L. Boahner pronounced it a case of cholera. The board of health placed the locality under quarantine. There have been five deaths in the same neighborhood within a week, and two more are sick in the house where Prosch died.

Death of a Church Dignitary.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 28.—Rev. Alizis Granger, first vice-president of Notre Dame university, died Wednesday night, aged 76. Father Granger was connected with Notre Dame University for 50 years, and for many years he was the provincial general of the order of the Holy Cross in America.

An Embezzling Bank Director.

A Warning.

"Shame! Shame! Thrice shame!" Hear an indignant cry
Against your sordid Dives of the towns,
That let your herders burn and your dull clowns
Hew the Sierra's grandest forestry.

I of the mountains loudly cry you shame.
Is there not gold enough in your hard grip,
But you with sacrilegious hands must strip
These temples old, where God first set his name?

Before your hirelings rise the pillared pines
In majesty of swerveless rectitude,
Like sages old and tried that brood
On wisdom, past the unrest of the times.

Less lofty, but with more of grace, the firs
Spread forth their velvet branches tipped with light,
And wind kissed aspens quiver, glad, despite
The frowns of gnarled and wrinkled junipers.

Behind—one dreary waste from ax and flame!—
The clown hands strike, but you, you guide the blow.
What care you that a barren, ashy woe
Leaves hill and vale in gaunt and naked shame;

That frightened deer fly panting from the change;
That burned are nests where songsters chirped and cooed?
You care not. What is lost? A little wood—
And now your sheep ("Gold, man!") at last have range!

No! Pity will not move! Then fear, instead,
Arouse you to withhold your grasping hands!
How is it that none of you understands
He calls a doom on his devoted head?

Look here! The mocking of the sand's hot glare,
Well, once the whole year here the waters laughed,
Here hourly man or beast refreshment quaffed;
The springs, unbared, are shrinking back! Beware!

The rivers that your darling commerce bear
Are nourished at the wilderness you burn.
Take heed! Take heed! The hand you raise shall turn
And from your tightening grasp your gold-bags tear.

A Wall Street Broker and His Millions.

If multimillionaire Russell Sage when the excitement of the dynamite episode was over had drawn a check in favor of Laidlaw, who passed through the awful experience with him, the expensive litigation into which he has been plunged might have been averted and the imputation lifted from his reputation of having endeavored to save his life by the sacrifice of another's. Mr. Sage must have known that Laidlaw was permanently injured and that he was a poor man. We are glad to believe that the impulse to lighten the seriousness of such an experience for one's less fortunate associate would at least occur to most men.—New York Advertiser.

A DISGRACEFUL ROW.

Members of Parliament Engage In a Knock-Down Argument.

ORDER FINALLY RESTORED.

Date Fixed For the Passage of the Home Rule Bill.

LONDON, July 28.—On the government program 10 o'clock last evening was the hour set for the closure of the debate in committee on the home rule bill. The galleries were filled with persons expectant of an exciting scene, and few members were absent from the benches on the floor of the house. John Clancy, Parnellite from North Dublin county, moved an amendment to the effect that the imperial government should guarantee to Ireland £500,000 during the provisional period of six years.

Mr. Gladstone declined to accept this amendment. The financial scheme under discussion, he said, provided fully for equitable, even liberal treatment of the new Irish government. If the estimates, which had been made with the greatest care, were realized, Ireland would have £512,000 annually assured her. Mr. Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer in the last Salisbury cabinet, also spoke against Mr. Clancy's motion.

Then Joseph Chamberlain rose to deliver the final broadside of the opposition. He was still smarting under the lash which Mr. Gladstone swung on Tuesday evening, and Spoke With Corresponding Bitterness.

After a few scornful and biting words as to the conduct of the ministers, he began giving his opinion of the closure as applied by the government.

"The members," he said, "were about to witness the last scene in a discreditable farce. The debate on the financial clauses had been a mere sham. Still the debate was regarded as necessary, since, whatever was altered, the bill was always found perfect by the adherents of the prime minister."

Jeers from the Irish, cheers from the unionists, and counter-cheers from the liberals interrupted Mr. Chamberlain at this point. He waited two or three minutes before the confusion abated sufficiently for him to speak with effect. He then proceeded thus: "The prime minister calls 'black' and his adherents say it is good. The prime minister calls 'white' and they say it is better.

"It is always the voice of God. Never since the time of Herod had there been—" Mr. Chamberlain got no further. Immediately on resuming his speech he had been warned that a storm was gathering. He could hardly have expected the suddenness with which it broke, for, with his half-finished reference to Herod, there came from the Nationalists a roar of indignation as has not been heard in the house

Since the Days of Parnell.

Mr. Chamberlain was plainly startled, but he tried to talk on. His voice was inaudible to the members on the next bench. He turned toward the Nationalists and shrill yells of execration rose above the uproar. Then T. P. O'Connor sprang to his feet and leaning toward Mr. Chamberlain, shouted "Judas" so loudly that the epithet could be heard throughout the house. The rest of the Irishmen took up the cry and for half a minute shouted "Judas" in chorus. Chairman Mellor tried to put the closure, but his voice could not be heard amid the shouts of the Irish and Unionists.

Then came a scene unprecedented in parliamentary history. Mr. Mellor gave the customary directions to clear the house for a division. As the order came, the Conservatives flatly refused to quit the house. Vicary Gibbs, Gibson Bowles and William Hanbury shouted to the chairman that he must first call Mr. O'Connor to order for having called Mr. Chamberlain names. Mr. Meller protested that he had not heard the epithets in question.

Gibbs, Bowles and Hanbury got together, and, to make themselves heard, shouted in chorus at Mr. Mellor: "Will you direct that their words be taken down?" Sir Randolph Churchill and Sir Edward Clarke got hold of Mr. Gibbs and started him for the front bench that he might elucidate the cause of the row to Mr. Mellor. Mr. Gibbs tried to go forward, but gave up his purpose, and Mr. Mellor remained uninformed. Meantime half of the Unionists had climbed to the benches and were shouting "Gag."

John Logan, Liberal, ran down to the first bench and began upbraiding Edward Carson, a Tory. George Wyndham and William Fisher jumped to the assistance of their party colleague, seized Mr. Logan by the neck, head first, and then bundled him under a bench.

Threw Him to the Floor,

A free fight then broke out at the top of the gangway. The centre of it was William Redmond, Parnellite, who had taken advantage of the general license to push over Colonel Saunderson, the champion of the men of Ulster. Blows were struck right and left. Eventually Mr. Gladstone begged Edward Marjoribanks, a sturdy Liberal, to do something to stop the fighting.

Mr. Balfour had been absent during the riot. Mr. Gladstone, sitting bolt upright, had watched the scene with inflamed face, and an expression of sorrow, indignation and astonishment. Chairman Mellor sent for Speaker Peel as soon as order was restored. When the speaker entered several Conservatives rose and, pointing at Mr. Gladstone, exclaimed; "There sits the author of it all."

When business was finally resumed the new clause was adopted by a vote of 312 to 201. When the committee rose and Chairman Mellor reported to Speaker Peel ths home rule bill as amended in committee, cheer after cheer was given and hats were waved for Mr. Gladstone by the Liberals and Irish, who were answered by the Unionists with counter cheers. The report stage was fixed for Aug. 7 and the house adjourned.

Knights of Labor Reports Disposed Of.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., July 28.—Thomas B. McGuire, grand lecturer of the Knights of Labor, says it is true that T. V. Powderly is to resign as master workman of the Knights of Labor, but it is not true that he (McGuire) is to succeed him.

About Fast Bicycle Riding.

The alarming increase of accidents to bicycle riders this season has been a subject of considerable comment. Last year and the year before there were accidents to riders and to those with whom they happened to collide while riding at a rapid pace through the streets, but this season one can hardly glance over the columns of a newspaper without reading accounts of several of these mishaps. It almost seems that the wheelmen had entered in a compact to injure themselves and others as often as an opportunity presented itself. The reasons for the increase in the bicycle accident list are in the first place that there are more wheels than ever before, and in the second that the alleged improvements in construction tend to accidents. The new style wheels, with their pneumatic tires, are without brakes, so that the rider cannot stop as readily as formerly when he sees that he is approaching danger.

The construction of the tire is such that were it supplied with a brake the sudden and determined use of that article would burst the tire, allowing the air to escape. The new style wheels run over the pavements so much more easily than the old style ones that when a vigorous young man gets astride of one of them he is seized with a desire to go like a racehorse, and he does. The combination of swift riding and no brakes is responsible for probably 50 per cent of the accidents to the wheelmen and the mortals who happen to get in their way. It might not be a bad idea to regulate their speed by law, especially through the crowded parts of the streets.—Boston Transcript.

Johnnie's Body Had Run Away.

While fishing on the bank of Stony creek, Jonnnie Johnson, a lad of 12 years, tumbled into the water and sank beneath the surface. Other boys saw him disappear, and they scampered away for aid. Johnnie struggled until he reached dry land and then took to his heels.

Half an hour later he stood on the Main street bridge watching a crowd of men raking the waters of the creek with grappling hooks. He became interested in the strange occupation of the men, never dreaming they were looking for his own body. His clothes were wet, and it was nice and sunny on the bridge. He remained there an hour until thoroughly dry, and then descended to the creek bank, where the anxious crowd was watching the dragging of the stream.

"What you doin?" inquired Johnnie of one who had just come out of the water.

"Lookin fer Johnnie Johnson's corpse," replied the man. "He tumbled in there two hours ago."

"Why, I'm Johnnie Johnson," said the astonished lad. Then he explained to the disgusted crowd of people who had been eager to see a limp body pulled from the creek.—Norristown Cor. Philadelphia Record.

Another Embassador.

Germany has promptly followed the example of England and France by appointing to the United States an embassador instead of a minister.

It may be taken for granted that President Cleveland will acknowledge the courtesy and return the compliment by advancing Minister Runyon to the rank of embassador.

Now that the reform has set in it will doubtless move on until the leading powers of the world are represented by embassadors at Washington and the United States by diplomats of that grade at foreign courts. This will be a decided gain for the United States. Ex-Ministers Reid and Lincoln have forcibly pointed out the disadvantages under which our representatives abroad have labored, not merely on ceremonial occasions, but also in matters of state business, by reason of the fact that foreign embassadors have taken precedence of American ministers.—New York Herald.

Billions and Billions of Violets.

The Hempstead plains on Long Island are worth traveling a day's journey to see on account of the violets that are blooming there. The great grassy level is dotted and splotched with masses of these delicate flowers, whose purple masses, sometimes covering many square yards in extent, illuminate every view from the windows of the railroad trains as they ply to and fro between Jamaica and the near neighborhood of Babylon. These violets are wild and almost odorless. They do not pay for the plucking, as they wither speedily, but they have uncommonly large blossoms and are so abundant that they could furnish a bouquet for every man, woman and child in New York and still remain abundant.—New York Sun.

Fine Flavors In Trade.

Commerce may be a cold blooded occupation, as devoid of sentiment as a fish, but sometimes things happen that have a wonderfully appropriate flavor even in trade. We note in this connection the arrival of three steamships in Montreal in a single day, the first loaded with gin, the second with lemons and the third with sugar. Montreal has no kick coming, and if she can keep this sort of thing up we don't see why the United States should object to being annexed to the Dominion.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

To Dredge the Yukon For Gold.

The hull of the steamer Rustler of Juneau, Alaska, has been transferred from Lake Washington to the harbor and is ready for the machinery now being built. The steamer is 66 feet long, with a 16-foot beam, and specially constructed with a view to work on the Yukon river. Many stories have been told about the fabulous wealth concealed in the bottom of Alaska's most celebrated river, and it is with a view to dredging that she has been built.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

A Monster Shad.

What is believed to be the largest shad ever taken in the waters near the head of Delaware bay was caught opposite Delaware City a few days ago. It measured 27 inches in length, 4 inches in thickness and 19 inches at its greatest circumference. Its weight was 10 pounds.

No More "Lagniappe" In New Orleans.

"Lagniappe" will be more honored in the breach than in the observance among tradesmen of New Orleans in future. This is the name of the gratuity which the creoles were wont to give to customers, the recipients being chiefly children and colored people. It took the form usually of confectionery, pastry or nuts. The practice is a relic of the old Spanish domination in Louisiana. The word "lagniappe" is a transformation of the Spanish phrase "la nappa," which means a gratuity, a sweetener, to make a purchaser pleased with his bargain.

This custom it seems has never obtained outside of the second and third districts of the city, and "lagniappe" was so prescriptively grounded that it came to be regarded as a right to which the people were legally entitled. In an age of sharp and sordid competition, however, the tradesmen find the gratuity too much of a tax on their profits. A few days ago the Retail Grocers' association of the second and third districts adopted a resolution doing away with the picturesque usage.—New York Post.

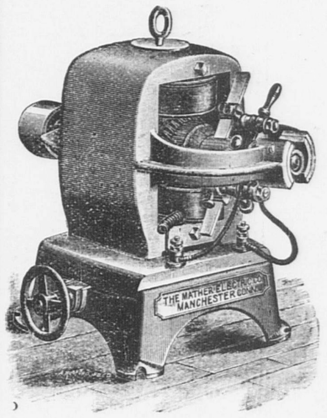

Chili to Chicago In a 22-foot Boat.

An eccentric navigator named Bosman proposes to make a trip from Valparaiso to Chicago in a 22-foot boat and has actually sailed away from Valparaiso on his long voyage. He comes via Panama, whence his craft will be transported to Colon by rail. From Colon he will embark for Chicago by way of the St. Lawrence river, and if he does not come to grief in his perilous undertaking expects to arrive in Chicago about the middle of June. Mr. Bosman appears to forget that the Hudson river and the Erie canal furnish him a much easier as well as shorter route to the great city of the marvelous show, and that passengers on the longer St. Lawrence route would not be deliberately courted.—Panama Star and Herald.

Bank Cashier Morrill Missing From Manchester.

ABUSE OF TRUSTS HINTED.

Held a Prominent Position In Three Institutions.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 29.—The city is stirred as it seldom has been by the sensational developments which have recorded the disappearance of Charles F. Morrill, cashier and treasurer of three of the representative financial institutions of the city.

A meeting of the directors of the Derryfield Savings bank, of which institution Mr. Morrill was the treasurer, was held yesterday afternoon, and it was voted to apply to the court for the appointment of a receiver to wind up the affairs of the bank. The feeling at the meeting was that the entire capital stock of $100,000 had been wiped out by worthless paper.

As is ordinarily the case, there are two claims set up as to Mr. Morrill's destination on Wednesday. One party maintains that he went south and was seen that day in the Haymarket square depot, Boston, while the other is to the effect that he went toward the Canadian line. The authority that he went north is absolutely invincible. Added to the fact that he is known to have passed Wednesday night in Concord, and there is not much left of the Boston story.

The Principal Anxiety

that is now felt over Mr. Morrill's departure is on account of the People's Fire Insurance company. This institution was founded after the passage of the celebrated valued policy law by Dr. Moore. Mr. Morrill was its treasurer. Mr. Moore was its president and Mr. Morrill treasurer of the National Bank of the Commonwealth. As a result the companies' securities were all stored away in the safety deposit vaults of the suspended institution. What condition they are in nobody knows.

When ugly rumors commenced to float about regarding the condition of things in the Commonwealth bank the directors of the People's Insurance company called a meeting to elect a successor to Mr. Morrill as treasurer. It was supposed that he would be present and make a statement of the condition of the company, but to the dismay of the directors he Could Not Be Found.

The greatest depression exists here as a result of the uncertainty into which everything is plunged. If the National Bank of the Commonwealth proves to be insolvent, according to law the stockholders can be holden for twice the amount of capital stock, and should anything happen to the People's Fire, in addition many young men who have stock in both institutions

Would Be Ruined.

With a shut down on the Amoskeag and the above condition of things staring Manchester in the face, the gloom here is something oppressive.

It is but fair to the missing cashier to say that he has a large amount of public sympathy, and there is an inclination to hold others beside himself responsible for any wrong doing that may come to light.

Bank Examiner Gatchell of Massachusetts has taken charge of the commonwealth's books, Mr. Dorr being called to Exeter by the troubles there, but, like his predecessor, he is as silent regarding the bank's condition as a graven image.

SPLIT IN A CHURCH

Likely to Be Widened by a Little Matter Concerning a Will.

BOSTON, July 29.—The Post this morning says that Mrs. Hannah B. Goodwin died June 1, 1893, at 281 Newbury street, leaving a will, one clause of which bequeathed to Rev. Philip S. Moxom, pastor of the First Baptist church, $3000 in money and various articles of personal estate. This will bore date of June 18, 1892.

In May, 1893, Mrs. Goodwin wrote a letter, whose signature was attested by two witnesses, to her legal adviser, directing that this clause in her will be stricken out, and replaced by one giving to an aunt the sum of $250 annually. It turned out that the letter was not in legal form to have the effect of a codicil and Mrs. Goodwin died before a proper codicil could be signed by her, leaving the original clause in the will in full force.

Rev. Mr. Moxom has declined to abandon his legal rights under the will, notwithstanding the undoubted intent of the testator, but has expressed himself as willing to pay the sum named, $250 per year, to the aunt, who, by the way, is 83 years old. There is an intimation of undue influence against him by some of his friends.

In consequence, the old controversy which rent the First Baptist church has broken out afresh and now rages fiercely. What will be the result of this schism, with this new weapon in the hands of the opponents of the pastor, no man can predict.

A FAMILY QUARREL

Wound Up by a Woman Dangerously Assaulting Her Husband.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 29.—Mary Burke, residing at 27 Eagle street, is under arrest for assault on her husband, Michael Burke, who is now at the hospital. He says she struck him with a dinner pail in a drunken quarrel. When Burke was found by a policeman he was bleeding from a wound in his skull and temple, and it looked like a murder.

Mrs. Burke, who is in the central station, said she did not intend to hurt her husband. Mr. Burke may recover, but police officers say he has received dangerous wounds. The couple live in the shore section of the city.

WAS POPULAR WITH LADIES.

A Hartford Man's Deceit Has Got Him Into a Bad Scrape.

HARTFORD, July 29.—Joseph Frank Briggs, a young man who tunes pianos at Wood's Palace of Music, is in a bad scrape, in that he has trifled with the affections of two estimable young ladies, became engaged to each and promised to marry both girls.

For several months he has been attentive to Miss May Richardson, the daughter of Mrs. Tatt, and she recently accepted him. The wedding was set for next month. A few days ago Miss Richardson heard through an anonymous letter that he was also engaged to Miss Sparks of South Windsor.

This he denied to her one evening, but Miss Sparks, who was concealed behind a curtain, appeared and verified the fact, showing proof that he was also to marry her next month. Both girls have wedding trousseaux ready, and each recently received a letter from Briggs stating that he could not marry her.

Miss Richardson will sue Briggs for breach of promise. It appears to have been an aggravated case of deceit. Both young ladies are highly respected. Briggs is a divorced man, and was quite popular with young ladies.

Considering a Shutdown.

WALTHAM, Mass., July 29.—At a meeting of the directors of the Boston Manufacturing company and of the Waltham bleachery and dye works there was a debate as to whether or not the concerns should be shut down until better times come. It was finally voted to defer action until Monday. The concerns, which are under one management, employ more than 3000 people.

Employes Are Satisfied.

LYNN, Mass., July 29.—The Thomson-Houston Electric company will commence next week to run the factories but five days in a week. This will enable the company to retain on their payroll their present force of nearly 4000 employes. The employes seem to be pleased with the rules, as it will give them a vacation during the summer months.

Figures From Danvers.

DANVERS, Mass., July 29.—The assessors have completed their work, with the following result: Number of polls, 2107; valuation—personal estate, $971,597.50; real estate, $8,377,550; total, $4,349,147.50; rate of taxation, $16.60. Increase over last year—polls, 135; personal, $88,957.50; real, $267,800; total, $356,757.50. Decrease in tax rate 20 cents on $1000.

Was on His Own Hook.

LYNN, Mass., July 29.—Dr. Taylor of Dayton, O., came to this city yesterday in search of his runaway 14-year-old son. The youngster was found at Franklin park race track. He has been riding under the name of Leo Bellows, having followed the string of trotters that have come east from his native state. He has been a very successful jockey.

Death of Hon. R. H. Foss.

DOVER, N. H., July 29.—Hon. Robert H. Foss is dead. He was born in Barrington, now Strafford, in 1814. In 1843 he went to Chicago, carrying the first wood planing machine ever carried west of the Alleghenies. He early became a Free Mason and for many years was standard bearer of the active members of the 33d degree.

Lucky For Kennedy.

CHELSEA, Mass., July 29.—Judge Bosson found Thomas Kennedy not guilty of the charge of breaking and entering the premises of Vincent Farnsworth, at Revere, on June 25. Had Kennedy been found guilty he would have come under the habitual criminal act, which would have meant 25 years.

Not Going to Machias.

BAR HARBOR, Me., July 29.—The Dolphin, with Secretary Herbert on board, arrived here last evening. He will remain here a few days and then sail to Bath to inspect the shipping and be in Washington next Friday. He will not go to Machias as planned, as the Machias will not be there.

To Close For Five Weeks.

BIDDEFORD, Me., July 29.—The directors of the York mills in Saco voted to shut down the mills for five weeks. This action is in accordance with agreements made by the directors of all colored-cotton mills in New England.

Reduced One-Fourth.

LOUISVILLE, July 29.—The Ahrons-Ott Manufacturing company has notified its men that the factory force will be reduced to one-fourth till further orders. About 100 will be retained for the present.

Politicians Go to Law.

BOSTON, July 29.—Papers have been filed on behalf of Albert N. Hoxie, against Senator A. C. Ratshesky, in the matter of an alleged attempt at bribery. Mr. Hoxie wants $25,000 on account of the libel.

Five Hundred Men Out.

PITTSBURG, July 29.—The Bessemer steel department of Jones & Laughlin's mill has closed and 500 men are idle in consequence. Mr. Jones refuses to answer any questions on the subject.

A house owned by Benjamin Hall of Portsmouth, R. I., was struck by lightning and damage amounting to $300 was caused.

A party of 25 Italians, Swedes and Canadians, returning from a social gathering at an Italian boarding house at Milford, Mass., indulged in a general row. Nelson Parge, aged 23, received two cuts and has but slight chances of recovery.

FIGHT ON THE TAPIS.

England to Take a Hand In the Siamese Trouble.

THE NOTICE OF BLOCKADE

Was Not Officially Delivered to Great Britain.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The Sun prints the following cablegram this morning:

LONDON, July 29.—It may be jumping at conclusions to say that England has begun preparations for war with France, but a series of events points strongly in that direction.

News came from Bangkok that France had begun the blockade of the whole Siamese coast without giving Great Britain official notice. The terms of the blockade included the cutting off of all commerce in ships of whatever nationality.

Lord Rosebery, on receipt of the news, sent a high official of the foreign office to Paris with dispatches, which he was instructed to place personally in Lord Dufferin's hands. The secretary of the Chinese legation was summoned to the foreign office and a Long Conference Followed.

Lord Roberts, minister of war, was in Glasgow. He was summoned at once to London, his special train arriving last night. Mr. Gladstone had accepted an invitation to spend three days in the country. He abandoned the trip and is in consultation with his colleagues of the cabinet. Lord Kimberly of the cabinet and others of the privy council were sent by special train to Osborne for consultation with her majesty. The Duke of Cambridge, the veteran commander-in-chief of the army, was hard at work all the afternoon and evening. There was in both the war and admiralty departments until long after the usual hour for closing.

Rumors were rife among members of parliament that Lord Dufferin would within a few hours demand his passports from the French government. It is no longer doubted at Westminster that diplomatic relations between the two countries are at great tension and that gravest events portend.

China, it is now definitely known, has notified France that between the 21st and 23d degrees of latitude, which is part of what France demanded of Siam.

She Claims the Territory

Some wild rumors were circulated late last night. At the army and navy clubs it was reported that France was rapidly assembling a fleet at Cherbourg in anticipation of possible hostilities with Great Britain and that England was making counter preparations. It was also rumored that orders had been issued to army officers on leave to return to their posts.

TORIES ARE BLAMED

For the Free-For-All Riot Indulged In by "Gentlemen of England."

LONDON, July 29.—Mr. Chamberlain ought now to be satisfied when his conduct in the home rule debate brought about the most discreditable scene ever witnessed in the British parliament since the days of the Stuarts, a scene so disgraceful that the occupants of the public galleries rose spontaneously and hissed the conduct of their representatives. It was this unexpected rebuke that prevented the fierce passions of the chief actors from rising still higher.

Worst of all, the leading offenders belonged to the party arrogating to itself the title of "gentlemen of England." Mr. Chamberlain's comparison of Mr. Gladstone to Herod was the spark that fired the train, while W. H. Fisher, who at one time was secretary to Mr. Balfour, was the first to violate the sanctity of the house by attacking G. W. Logan. One evidence of the furious scene was furnished by the rack for papers behind the benches, which was smashed and had to be removed. After the fracas a diamond pin and portions of members' attire were found on the floor of the house.

Smallpox Near Worcester.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 29.—Robert Howe, a small son of Mrs. E. A. Howe, postmistress of Auburn, has developed a case of smallpox. The postoffice is in one room of Mrs. Howe's house and the mother is taking care of the boy, besides attending to her official duties. The Worcester board of health has ordered the Worcester postmaster to refuse mail from Auburn.

True Charity.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Rev. John McGuire, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church of Long Island City, which was destroyed by fire a few days ago, has accepted the offer of the trustees of the East Avenue Baptist church in that city to use that edifice for services until his church is rebuilt. The action of the Baptists is widely applauded.

[Husband Suspected of Crime.

HARTFORD, July 29.—As the result of the autopsy and inquiry into the cause of the death of Mrs. Louise Le Frenier on Wednesday night, a warrant was issued for the arrest of the woman's husband. The woman died from injuries to her head. Frenier is under arrest.

A Peacemaker Knifed.

BOSTON, July 29.—Half a dozen Italians got into a dispute on North street yesterday afternoon. Luigi Retzo tried to make peace. Guiseppe Lorocco stabbed Retzo with a knife, making a bad wound in the thigh. Lorocco is now in custody.

For the Second Time.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 29.—E. W. Chapin & Co., manufactures of satines at Northboro, have assigned to the bookkeeper. Mr. Chapin failed two years ago. The mill employs 200 or 300 hands. It will now be shut down for a time.

Working on His Message.

TELEPHONE, 213-3 QUINCY.

If the city of Quincy had followed the same course as it did as a town, our tax rate instead of being $16 would be nearer $30.—Advertiser.

Our idea of the duty of a local paper is, to speak well of the city and not be continually making such reckless charges as the above. The city debt of Quincy last January was $287,442. Of this amount $61,862 will be paid this year, leaving a net debt of $225,579.

Should all this be paid in one year it would require an assessment of but $13.66 on a $1000, the present valuation. If divided among the five years of the city government it would have caused an increase in the rate of but $2.73 per year.

Allowing that the rate this year is $16 per $1000, the average for the five year of the city government is but $14. With the $2.73 added it would have been but $16.73 and it would not have been as large as this, because it would not have been necessary to raise so much for interest which this year requires—an assessment of nearly $1 per $1000.

It is not improbable that the rate would therefore have been smaller than under the pay-as-you-go policy of the town. A very proper question, then, is, Why has not that policy been continued? It is easily answered. The law of 1885, applicable to cities, limits both the amount that can be raised and the rate for current city expenses to $12 on a $1000 on the average valuation. Could the city have assessed $16.70 per $1000, as it did under the last year of the town government, instead of $10.80 and $13.60, as it was obliged to as a city in 1889, 1890 and 1891, there would have been no debt now, but rather a large surplus in the treasury.

It is extremely doubtful if Quincy as a town would have paid for the construction of the Willard and Lincoln schools, the enlargement of the Wollaston school and the rebuilding of Neponset bridge any quicker than the city is doing. It is doubtful, further, if it would as a town have had all the improvements. Whether it did or not, there is no doubt but the tax rates as a town would have been much higher. It should be remembered that the rate was $16.70 in the last year of the town government, the highest with three exceptions in the 100 years of Quincy's history, and further, that it was rapidly increasing each year.

THE COMPTROLLER of the currency reports 105 of the 3890 National banks of the country to have suspended. It is gratifying to know that in Massachusetts, which has with the exception of Pennsylvania and New York the most banks, none have suspended. It speaks well for the officials. In 30 States and territories there are suspended banks, and only 21 where there have been no failures.

BROCKTON'S PLAN.

It Secures Money for Current Expenses at Five per Cent.

The Brockton Enterprise tells of the following novel plan for securing money for current city expenses:

Thursday afternoon a large batch of postal cards were received from the city treasurer's office. They bore a suggestion and offer to tax-payers which will not only prove of advantage to the city but will be of financial value to those having money to invest.

The notice informs tax-payers that if they have money on hand which is not yielding interest, the city would like to hire it until October 15th as a temporary loan in anticipation of taxes, and will pay interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum for the same

The cards were not sent out until Wednesday afternoon, and at 10 o'clock this morning $11,000 had been received.

The idea promises to result happily, and save the city hundreds of dollars which would otherwise be expended at excessive rates of interest.

The scheme was suggested and carried into effect by City Treasurer Jones, and promises a solution to the vexed problem.

At Fall River, Springfield and other cities a rate as high as 8 per cent. has been paid, and in the two cities above named work has been suspended in many of the departments.

PROMPT AGREEMENT.

Awards in the Quincy Water Case to be Made Public in a Few Days.

Counsel in the water case of the city of Quincy vs. the Quincy Water company have been notified that the Supreme court commissioners have arrived at an agreement as to the price which the city will be called upon to pay the company.

The report that the amount is $500,000 has no foundation in fact, as the award has not been made public and will not be until the commissioners have time to prepare a statement showing how they reached their decision. This may be expected in a a few days and will make interesting reading.

It is very probable that the award will be between $500,000 and $600,00, with interest from the time the city took possession.

J. D. TABER FINED.

He Appealed and Will Make It a Test Case.

The case of James D. Taber for violating the Sunday law by running flying horses on the Lord's day, came up in the Quincy Court this morning on continuance.

Chief of Police Langley was the only witness. He testified that he had notified Mr. Taber not to run his horses, and that for two Sundays he complied with that notice, but last Sunday he ran them. There were a number of people about there and the horses were well patronized.

In response to a question by Mr. Taber, the witness said it was an orderly party and that there was no disturbance. The court imposed a fine of $25. Mr. Taber appealed and furnished bonds in $200.

Mr. Taber was asked after court adjourned what he intended to do Sunday, but he would give no information, simply saying if anybody wanted to know they must come down and find out. However, Mr. Taber, has talked previous to this morning and if all reports are true there will be plenty of business at the District court Monday morning, as he has said if he was not allowed to run his horses Sunday, no one would be allowed to transact any business except that permitted by a victualler's license. That he would close his establishments and that he would prosecute every man who sold any soda, tonics, cigars, confectionery or anything in that line, and there is not much doubt but what he will put his threat in execution.

If he does it will prove a serious inconvenience to the many Sunday visitors as it is practically the only place along the South shore where intoxicating liquors cannot be had and visitors who wish to quench their thirst will be obliged to ask for water at some of the numerous cottages. The man who smokes will also have to do without his after-dinner smoke, unless he is fortunate enough to have cigars in his pocket or some friend who has a pocket full.

It is believed by many that this is but a beginning of a reform wave that is about to sweep the city, and that at no distant day it will be impossible to purchase anything unless it is medicines, and doubtless those cannot be procured only at certain hours of the day. Opinions vary as to the benefit to be derived from this closing movement.

CITY CHIT CHAT.

Items of Interest from All Parts of Quincy.

Few of the Quincy pastors will occupy their own pulpits tomorrow.

Mr. William C. Pierce of Wollaston is at Camp Wollaston, Lake Winnipesaukee, for a few days.

Miss Fannie A. Magee of Dorchester is the guest of Mrs. Thomas F. Keenan, of South street a few weeks.

Two and one are such small figures that many had difficulty in counting the alarm from Box 21 last evening.

District Deputy W. H. Cobb and suite of this city, installed the officers of Rising Sun lodge, I.O. O. F., of Randolph last evening.

Rev. Eugene R. Shippen late of Wichita, Kan., will again supply the pulpit of First church tomorrow. For special and important reasons, the Parish Assessors ask a full attendance of all interested in the society.

The Trustees of the City Hospital have received from three little girls Misses Matilda McDonnell, Sarah Gavin and Helen Gavin, twenty-five dollars being the proceeds of a small garden party held by them for the benefit of the children's ward of the City Hospital.

Schooner Hattie Lewis, Capt. O. A. Clark, from Calais, Maine, before reported towed into Boothbay Harbor, Maine, full of water, loaded with lumber for A. Keating, has been repaired, reloaded and has arrived all right at Mr. Keating's wharf, River street, with 75,000 feet of lumber.

BRAINTREE.

The present has been a week of picnics, accompanied by picnic weather. Tuesday the South Congregational Sunday school had its annual excursion and picnic to Nantasket. The means of conveyance was by rail and those that went filled five carriages. It was a complete success.

Wednesday the M. E. church and Sunday school had an excursion and picnic at Great Pond. Thomas J. Cain furnished the means of conveyance. Those that went enjoyed a good time.

The Loyal Knights and Ladies have a picnic, Wednesday, in Abbott's grove, South Braintree.

James Cox and family of East Braintree are occupying a nice cottage at Fort Point, North Weymouth.

Gen. Sylvanus Thayer Post 87, G.A.R., have their annual clam bake a week from today, at Great Pond.

Nathaniel White of East Braintree left yesterday morning to visit a brother-in-law living in New Hampshire.

We have with us in Braintree fourteen hundred and twenty-one poll tax payers, five hundred and fifty-seven horses, four hundred and fifty-one cows, only two asses, and one hundred and thirty-three hogs, the latter, to the credit of Braintree, being far below the average.—Observer.

There will be services in the Mayflower Park chapel on Sunday, July 30, at 3.30 P. M., by Rev. Wm. Hyde of Weymouth. All are invited.

Delphi lodge, K. of P., of Weymouth has accepted the challenge of Monatiquot lodge of Braintree, to play ball on the Institute grounds, Saturday, Aug. 12.

Thursday night Mr. Alva S. Morrison had thirty, and the man who works for him on his place had ten hens stolen. Things really have come to a pretty pass among us in Braintree and something ought to be done of an extraordinary nature to make them straight.

J. Eliphas Hayward of East Braintree left this morning for Onset Bay to attend the Spiritualist camp meetings that are being held there, and which are so largely attended. O. L. Gillette, also of this town is a constant attendant every Sunday.

John Kelley's new residence on the corner of Commercial street and Quincy avenue is making headway. The cellar has been built and the sills and floor laid. The style of the house is Roman Cruciform one and a half stories high, with eight rooms and a bath room. Simon Rogers had the contract for the building of the cellar which is finely done and James Downs of this town is the carpenter.

TODAY'S COURT.

Henry F. Rooney of Randolph for assault on William H. Sheppard was fined $7.

John W. Mulcahy of Cohasset was fined $6 for drunkenness.

Martin Ford of Quincy, for assault on Harry McCabe, was fined $7.

Fred Manning, for malicious mischief at Quincy was fined $10.

Gavin G. Derrick of Weymouth, for assault on Bertha A. Derrick, was fined $25.

—On Tuesday, August 1st, a special train will be run from Quincy and all stations to Somerset, including Taunton, to Newport and return, for which very low fares have been made for round trip tickets. This outing affords ample opportunity for passengers to enjoy the many delights and attractions of this famous watering place, and the cost of the trip should induce a large patronage on the part of our citizens. Full particulars may be obtained by a perusal of the advertisement in another column.

WEYMOUTH.

The Hop at the Bayside House a Swell Affair—Those Present.

Ball games today—Braintrees at North Weymouth, Institutes and North Abingtons at Weymouth.

The Catholic societies of East and North Weymouth will picnic at Lovell's grove Saturday, Aug. 12.

A more inviting scene than that presented at the Bayside House, North Weymouth beach, last evening, would be hard to find. The occasion was the first full dress party given in honor of the guests of the house.

The large dining room at the east end of the house had been turned into a ball room and dainty hands had transformed the room into a perfect bower. The walls around the room were draped in light colored bunting, on which were clusters of cat o'nine tails. The pillars in the centre of the room were also draped in the same manner and from the ceiling hung numerous Chinese lanterns. In one corner almost hidden by a large bank of tropical plants was Monk's orchestra, which furnished the necessary accompaniment for the merry dancers.

The ladies were all gowned in light airy summer costumes while the gentlemen were in full evening dress, all entered into the spirit of the occasion and as a result a most enjoyable evening was had.

The program of dances was very unique as they were hand painted, the work of one of the guests.

During the time intervening between the dances the participants used the broad piazzas as a promenade, enjoying the cool breezes that were wafted from the ocean, and enjoying the scenery which cannot be surpassed in this part of the state.

Refreshments were served during intermission.

Among those present were:
Mr. and Mrs. E. B. West, Somerville.
Mrs. Robert Harrison, South Boston.
Mr. J. W. Sanborn, Quincy.
Mrs. C. P. Hewes, Philadelphia.

Protection of Animals By Kodaks.

At the July meeting of the Directors of the "Massachusetts Society for the the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals," held recently, President Angell exhibited pictures taken with society's kodaks. He proposes to use the kodaks to show through the press and otherwise not only high check-reins and horses mutilated for life by docking, together with owners who drive and ride them, but also all kinds of cruelty that can be found on cattle cars, in cattle yards, slaughter-house, markets, horse recing, polo games, and otherwise.

On suggestion of the president, it was voted to send placards into every town in the State asking humane persons not to hire or ride on or behind any horse mutilated for life by docking.

False teeth are now made from paper, and are said to wear well and last a life time.

KICKAPOO INDIAN SAGWA

Why it is The Safest Liver and Stomach Remedy Known.

Indians Have No Knowledge of Mineral Drugs and Poisons—They Cure With Roots and Herbs of the Field and Forest.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa is a remedy that many claim will almost raise the dead.

Kickapoo Indian Woman known to be at least 108 years old—from her photograph.

Sagwa is the remedy upon which the Indian relies at all times and seasons.

Sagwa gives strength, tones the appetite, purifies and enriches the blood, and is the greatest liver, stomach and blood renovator ever known to man.

Greater and grander than all this is the fact that Indian Sagwa cannot possibly contain anything harmful, no mercury, no strychnine, no bismuth, no arsenic; nothing but the leaves, barks, berries and roots of the field and forest which the Indian has learned to use.

Indians know nothing of those harmful drugs, and could not use them if they would.

This fact is important.

The medicine you take into your system should be to strengthen and build it up, not merely to stimulate it, and add the fuel of poison to the consuming flames of disease.

Indians don't have Dyspepsia, yet they eat anything and everything, at all times and under all conditions.

Indians don't have Malaria, yet they sleep out of doors, exposed to night air, live in damp places, and frequent changes are quite common to their mode of life.

Yet both these ailments and many others that the red men never have are frequently found among white people.

How is it with the Indian?

Knowing the value of Kickapoo Indian Sagwa he keeps it constantly with him and when his system feels run down, needs toning up as we say, the Indian takes a few doses of Sagwa.

He keeps well!

He don't wait until danger overtakes him, but craftily watches for its approach and wards off the attack.

Here is a lesson to profit by.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, made by the Indians from roots, barks and herbs of their own gathering and curing, is obtainable of any druggist, at one dollar per bottle; six bottles for five dollars.

All the Kickapoo Remedies are Sold by Druggists Everywhere.

Woman's Danger.

No man can ever know the devoted martyrdom of many women.

Unselfishly a woman works and suffers that home and loved ones may be happy.

When it seems as though her back would break, when she grows irregular, faint, irritable, loses all interest in society, gets the "blues," is crushed with that indescribable feeling of "bearing-down," she "drags along," day after day, suffering agonies that would appal a man.

The cause of all her trouble is some derangement of the uterus or womb, perhaps the development of a tumor, or cancerous humor, — anyway, give it instant attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the sure cure. It is recommended by thousands of women. Its cures are unparallelled.

All druggists sell it. Address in confidence, LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., LYNN, MASS. Liver Pills, 25 cents.

THE DAILY LEDGER is for sale at Post Office, Manet Lunch Room, by Henry W. French and by Newsboys. Mr. French is the authorized local agent of the paper. Items of news solicited from everybody.

Mr. A. D. Fullerton of Brockton has as guests at the Alberta cottage, Mrs. John Sproul, Whitman; Walter W. Fullerton and Chandos Conner, medical students of Baltimore, Md.; Charles Fullerton and Earnest Risely of Campello.

About twenty ladies of the First Baptist church of Brockton, spent Friday with their president at Alberta cottage and enjoyed the sea breezes.

The party which visited the Linden yesterday consisted of forty or more Hyde Park and Canton firemen. They simply owned the place having hired the alleys and billiard and pool tables in advance for the day. All day long the place presented a scene of unusual activity, and it was not until late in the evening that the firemen heard the recall.

Rain will make this a dull Saturday evening. Please Mr. Rainmaker let it be pleasant.

Mrs. F. C. Jacobs and friends are enjoying a pleasant time at Home cottage. Mrs. Jacobs is an expert bowler and has already captured two prizes offered for the ladies.

Mackerel are biting furiously off between Sheep and Grape islands. The old fishers are getting out their lines in anticipation of the coming of our friends the blue fish.

A party of the sterner sex is expected at Saint's Rest for today and Sunday.

Several guests are expected at the Loretto for the coming week.

NOT A BAD SHOWING.

Business World Has Withstood a Severe Test.

ADVANCE ORDERS SLACK.

A Falling Off In the Number of Failures Reported.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The hardest week yet has left the business world still able to rejoice in the soundness and strength disclosed. Prices of stocks were greatly depressed Tuesday and Wednesday, closing lower than any other day since January, 1879, and the fall on Wednesday averaged over $2 per share and yet only two failures resulted and those of brokers—not especially important. A sharp rally followed on Thursday, with buying from London and by shorts, and especially significant buying by small investors. No banks here or at other eastern cities and no eastern firms of large importance have gone down, but numerous banks failed at the west, including some of high repute and large business.

Might Be Worse.

Many woolen factories are closing for a month or more indefinitely because orders are slack, for while jobbers' orders are about as usual, clothiers still hold off. Fall trade is said to be not more than a third of the usual size, and many dealers expect to do no more than half the usual spring business. Dress goods are better in tone, but an unusually large proportion of carpet works are closed. Fall cottons, though 1-2 cent lower than last year in price and exceptionally attractive, meet but moderate demands. Orders for boots and shoes are restricted, many shops running on short time.

Reports From Business Centers.

Boston reports wholesale and jobbing trade very conservative, but retail trade as large as usual. Cottons have sold well until lately, and there are no accumulations, but some mills are closing to prevent overproduction. Woolens are quiet, lightweights being slow at prices 5 per cent below last year, and wool is weak, with small sales. Orders for boots and shoes are small, leather and hides are dull and the lumber trade quiet.

Philadelphia reports better feeling, though very little commercial paper is sold at 7 per cent and banks are hoarding money, though caring for depositors.

Trade is quiet at Baltimore; banks are strong, but close. No gain is seen at Pittsburg, where the demand for iron is small and the majority of mills are closed. Chicago reports smaller receipts of most products, decrease of 22 per cent in clearings, 34 per cent in real estate sales and 26 per cent in eastbound shipments; jobbing trade fair and retail very satisfactory.

Failures During the Week

number 386 in the United States, against 171 last year, and 23 in Canada, against 22 last year. Only three failures were of capital above $200,000 each, and only 99 of capital over $5000 each.

Over 50 banks stopped during the week, but nearly all were at the west.

Last week the failures in the United States numbered 457 and the previous week 374.

A Significant Statemement.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Warden Durston of Sing Sing, and formerly warden of Auburn prison, has sent the following dispatch to the United Press:

A number of press reports of the Taylor execution at Auburn refer to the chair used at that execution as the one heretofore used by me. This is not the fact. The chair used was one made since I left Auburn. The one I used had four legs and not three.

Asked Forgiveness From Enemies.

DALLAS, July 29.—Henry Miller, colored, was hanged here for the murder of Policeman Drewer. On the gallows he said: "I bid you all goodby, hoping we will meet in heaven. If anybody has anything against me, please say so, and I will drop on my knees and beg his pardon."

Murderess Hanged.

CHARLESTON, July 29.—Ada Hiers, a negro, was hanged at Waiterboro for the murder of her half-brother last June. She confessed on the scaffold that her aged father, who was also convicted, but respited by Governor Tillman, had nothing to do with the crime.

Free Passage East.

DENVER, July 29.—Four hundred men took possession of a Union Pacific freight train in the yards here. They made the train crew throw out loaded cars and put on empties, and now are on their way east. It is not probable that they will be molested.

Murder and Suicide.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., July 29.—Hardy Caldwell killed his wife and then committed suicide. He is a well-to-do farmer and stood high in the community. About a year ago his son killed Fount Justice and Charlie Hancock, but escaped.

Great Strike Inaugurated.

LONDON, July 29.—The great strike of the English coal miners has been inaugurated at a majority of the pits. No disorder has been reported from any quarter. Something like 350,000 men are directly affected by the strike.

A New Trust Likely.

NEW YORK, July 29.—All the cordage interests of the United States have received a call for a meeting in New York on Aug. 9. It is understood that an effort will be made to unite the cordage interests of the Union.

His Name Fits Him Well.

DANVILLE, Ky., July 29.—At Cocilian park Flying Jim, a 2-year-old by Happy Day, paced an exhibition half mile in 1:04 1-2—a 2:09 gait. This is the fastest public trial ever made by a 2-year-old in harness.

To Study Agricultural Statistics.

LONDON, July 29.—The government will send Major Crozie next week to Chicago to report on the agricultural statistics accumulated by the various governments at the World's fair.

Wisconsin Town Badly Scorched.

PHILLIPS, Wis., July 29.—Fire broke out in a shop back of the Clifton House, and in less than an hour the block, comprising the entire business part of the city, was destroyed.

Oct. 5 the Date.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The date of the international yacht races for the America's cup has been officially fixed for Oct 5.

Braintree Electrics.

On Thursday a joint meeting was held in Boston of the Braintree Street Railway Company, and the Randolph Street Railway Company, and it was voted to consolidate the two Companies, and another meeting is called for Monday next, to elect a permanent board of officers. These will probably consist of four of the present Directors of the Braintree Company, one from the American Railroad Improvement Company, one from Randolph and one from Holbrook. The Selectmen of Holbrook have granted the franchise for the extension through that town, and the same has been voted to to be accepted by the Braintree Company,

On Monday the Selectmen of Randolph are to give a hearing on the proposed route in that town, and the Braintree Directors will be represented at the hearing.

It is expected that work on the line between Holbrook and Braintree village will commence within a short time, and if the financial situation improves, the whole road will be completed and in operation before another spring opens.

Valuation of Braintree.

The Assessors have so far completed their labors as to be able to furnish us with the following statistics of Braintree for the year 1893. The figures show that the town is growing quite rapidly and has increased in valuation over $200,000 the past year:

Real Estate,	$3,329,025 00
Personal Estate,	1,096,125 00
Total valuation,	$4,425,150 00
Gain in valuation from 1892,	$202,350 00
Number of Polls,	1421
" " Horses,	557
" " Cows,	451

Rate of taxation $16 80 on $1000.

—The excursion season of the Old Colony System of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, is now at hand. For the present year the popular outings to the shore resorts and watering places so numerous and so famous upon these lines, must be confined to week-days only, the Massachusetts State Railroad Commissioners having decided that special trains and reduced fares upon the railroads of Massachusetts cannot be allowed on Sundays.

—Scientists say if the bed of Pacific ocean could be seen it would disclose to view several mountains with truncated tops scattered over it. These mountains would be perfectly bare at their bases, and all around their tops they would be covered with a beautiful growth of coral polypi.

HAVE CHARITY.

A Correspondent's Version of "Six Days Shalt Thou Labor and Do Thy Work."

Editors of the Daily Ledger.

"The law was given by Moses but grace and truth come by Jesus Christ."

"Remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy." I do not believe that this was ever meant to be interpreted in as sordid a manner as a great many seem to think. Far be it from my intention that I believe in desecration of the day, I do not, neither do I believe that the meaning here is meant to be interpreted thusly—to sit in church, hall or house all day long, and never enjoy the beauties of the outside world.

I believe in the ten commandments, but Jesus modified these codes of law when he condensed them all into the two given in the twenty-second chapter of Matthew, 37-39 verses. "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul and with all thy mind."

This is the first and great commandment and the second is like unto it, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets.

The ten commandments have been always holden up to us from the time we were children at Sunday School, to be true Christians they should be lived up to, obeyed. But Christ gave us a law, the heading of my subject, and through all his teachings, in all the lovliness of his perfect character we can see "charity." Charity is the greatest of all standards. "Faith, hope and charity abideth all three," (he tells us) "but the greatest of these is "Charity."

In all the beauties of nature we behold God's handiwork. In the beautiful flowers that blossom around us, in the foliage of the trees, in the sea, whether it be calm or in the disturbance of the elements, and the waves are tossed high as we beheld them in the storm. In all this how can we forget God? How can we help but realize and appreciate his great beneficence, whether we be in the house, out of the house, in church or out of church, among the beauties of nature; and did he intend that we should have such narrow views as to never notice all this, or can we enjoy all the beauties of the outside world every day, save Sunday, and then we must stay in church or the house all day? "Six days shalt thou labor and do thy work."

Sometimes a change is "rest" and God doubtless meant the menial work of the week when he made that law. I do not believe that God ever intended (is the blue law in the bible?) that Sunday should be a day as some would like to make it. I can not see why it is any more wrong to ride a bicycle on Sunday than it is to ride in a carriage; any worse to go where one can enjoy the refreshing sea breezes of Nantasket beach; than the invigorating air of the Blue hills of Milton. God is here—there—everywhere! and we recognizing his presence in all around us.

Let me present a common picture of Sunday—Here is a party of three going by my house,—a man on a bicycle, his little child in front of him, his wife following behind also on a bicycle. They stop at the fountain for a drink of water perhaps, but this is a sin—the fountain should be moved—it is too near the Unitarian Church—still I could sit Sunday after Sunday and if my mind was intent on the sermon, never notice what was going on outside.

This man works all the week. He has purchased his bicycle. The only time he can enjoy his rides with his little family perchance is on Sundays. It does not cost him much to keep this inanimate source of conveyance, as it does the rich man to keep his horse. The rich man rides by in his carriage and says: "These bicyclists are a nuisance and ought not to be permitted to ride Sundays!"

Perchance both men have been to church in the morning, perhaps each gives their portion to the contribution box. With this difference the poor man gives in his "mite," but all he can, the rich man throws in his check for a large amount, (easily gotten perhaps in some speculation) and all it has cost him is the trouble of writing his name. Has God any preference for either?

Have charity. Why cannot one go to church part of the day and enjoy the rest of the day in the manner that so many do, and still be Christians? To be sure my opinion is only one and I may be all wrong, but I don't believe God "made" the Sabbath day any more for the rich man than for the poor man, and I don't believe he would lay down the law in such a rigid way as some of the people whose ideas are so narrow they think they can improve even on Him, and envy all people the small privilege of enjoying a bicycle ride on Sunday. Try and conform His laws to suit their own convictions, are bigotted, uncharitable.

Be charitable. Instead of seeking to deprive people of innocent pleasure, let us aid each other. "Lend a hand." B.

Desecration of the Sabbath.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor which has now become quite a large organization in this city, and a power for good has begun a crusade against those who desecrate the Sabbath. The subject has been considered at the meetings and in some of the church services, and notice of a mass meeting next Wednesday will be found in the advertising columns. Prominent speakers are expected to address the meeting.

—The town of Medway in this county has added to its valuation by taxing bicycle $4000.

The Prisoner.

A man's skull is his lifelong jail.
Behind its prison bars
From its eye windows does the soul
Peep at the earth and stars.
But unlike jails of wood or stone
Its prisoner ever dwells alone.

Though through its front doors perfumed gales
Are blown from glens of gladness,
And through its back doors music strains
Roll in in waves of madness,
And though he hear and heed each tone,
The prisoner still must dwell alone.

Though past the windows of the jail
Sweep scenes of solemn splendor,
And through the doors float hymns of joy
Or dirges deep and tender,
The prisoner hears the mirth and moan,
But in his jail he dwells alone.

No lover ever knows the soul
He loves in all its sweetness;
The fullest love, however strong,
Is marred by incompleteness;
No heart is ever fully known—
The prisoner ever dwells alone.

Training For the Sickroom.

The Massachusetts Emergency and Hygienic association has just prepared a class of young women for a new occupation—that of trained attendants for convalescents, chronic invalids, elderly persons and little children. It often happens that members of a family are either unfitted, unwilling or unable through business engagements to care for their own sick or feeble. The trained nurse is too expensive a luxury to be kept through weeks, perhaps months, of weary convalescence, and the patient, who perhaps was doing well at her departure, begins to suffer for proper care. The trained attendant, who has been instructed by competent trained nurses, is then prepared to take her place.

She has been taught how to ventilate the rooms, make beds, bathe the patient, serve and prepare attractive food and do the many other things necessary to make life as pleasant as possible for the sick. The young women admitted to the Boston classes must be at least 20 years of age and be possessed of good antecedents. The course of 30 lessons, for which $3 is paid, is followed by an examination, which if creditably passed entitles the pupil to a diploma.—New York Post.

Closed Up.

CONCORD, N. H., July 29.—The Derryfield Savings Bank and Trust company of Manchester, which has been under temporary suspension since the closing of the National Bank of the Commonwealth, with which it was connected, was enjoined last night from transacting any further business by Bank Commissioner Lyford.

Unable to Place the Blame.

DENVER, July 29.—The coroner's jury investigating the death of Dan Arata, the Italian murderer who was lynched Wednesday, returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death by being hanged by parties unknown to the jury.

A Bad Wreck.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 29.—A passenger train from Chicago collided with a freight train just north of this city. Both engines and baggage and express cars of the passenger were wrecked. Six people were badly injured.

After Twelve Years.

BUFFALO, July 29.—F. D. Wannamaker, a travelling horseman, was arrested here yesterday for a crime he committed 12 years ago, in borrowing $25 from Charles Baker by misrepresentation.

Ready to Go Into Commission.

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—Captain J. W. Philip, commander of the New York, has been directed to put the cruiser into commission next Tuesday.

A CHANGE OF RATIO

Would In No Wise Help to Solve the Silver Question.

AN UNCONDITIONAL REPEAL

Will Be Insisted Upon by the Administration.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—In anticipation of the meeting of congress the secretary of the treasury and the Democratic leaders who are here are discussing the different phases of the silver question and the propositions which are likely to be presented in the ways of compromises. The administration, it is ascertained, has no other proposition to make than the unconditional repeal of the silver purchasing provisions of the Sherman act.

"The assumption of the free coinage men that the repeal of that act will demonetize silver," the secretary says, "is absurd. There are 360,000,000 of coined silver dollars, and also the millions of ounces of silver bullion, purchased under the Sherman act, in the treasury. With this large quantity of coined and bullion silver in the treasury, the latter whenever required by congress, the assertions of the silver men in this respect are ridiculous."

Liable to Coinage

The president and Secretary Carlisle fully understand that there will be many schemes proposed as substitutes for the Sherman act. Many of these have already been talked over with the secretary of the treasury. The proposition suggested by Senator Vest and other Democrats interested in the silver question to increase the ratio from 16 to 20 or 22, as a compromise, is not regarded as feasible or practicable.

In the words of the secretary: "Under such legislation every silver coin, standard or subsidiary, would have to be recoined. This fact alone of that form of compromise. Then again," said the secretary, "the incessant fluctuations in the value of silver bullion might render constant changes necessary, and in the end would upset the whole monetary stability of the metallic circulation of the country. Therefore the proposition to change the ratio is not likely to receive serious consideration."

There are other schemes which will be discussed by congress as compromises, any of which, if adopted by the two houses, would probably be sanctioned by the president if it is a reversal of the statutory provisions now in force. The restoration of the Bland act, which is being agitated, is not regarded in administration circles as any improvement on the Sherman act, and therefore would by the president. In administration circles there is a confident feeling of the unconditional repeal of the Sherman act by the house, but they do not entertain the same confidence in the senate. A protracted struggle is regarded as likely to follow there. It is believed that if a direct vote could be had on the question of repeal it would carry, although the vote would be very close.

The secretary, adverting again to the demonetization, remarked, "The repeal of the Sherman act would undoubtedly in an international adjustment of the silver question, as it would show to the foreign governments that the United States is not wedded to a free coinage policy.

"The great commercial nations like England, France and Germany, have been and are still fearful that this government proposes ultimately to adopt a silver basis. When they are assured that this is not the fact, I think the silver problem will have become of easy solution."

British Naval Maneuvers.

LONDON, July 29.—The annual maneuvers between the red and blue squadrons have begun. The red fleet consists of 31 men-of-war and about a dozen torpedo boats. The blue fleet is of approximately similar strength. The objects of the maneuvers are, on the one side, to obtain command of the Irish seas, and on the other side to prevent it.

Presidential Plums.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Private Secretary Thurber announced the following appointments as made by the president: James T. Kilbeth, collector of customs for the district of New York, vice Henry Cruger Van Schaick, resigned. Walter H. Bunn, appraiser of merchandise for the district of New York, vice Cooper, resigned.

Gates May Be Open Tomorrow.

CHICAGO, July 29.—The hearing of the contempt proceedings against the World's fair management for closing the gates of the fair on Sundays in violation of the injunction issued by Judge Stein, was on yesterday. Everything now points to open gates tomorrow.

Deputy Sheriffs on Guard.

RICH HILL, Mo., July 29.—Only seven mines are being worked, and they with less than half the full force of men. The miners are quiet and no disturbance has taken place yet. Between 400 and 500 deputy sheriffs are guarding the mines.

Enough to Keep Him Busy.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—A. W. Lyman is editor of the Helena (Mont.) Independent, collector of internal revenue for Montana, and was yesterday appointed a national bank examiner and placed in charge of one of the Helena banks.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Dr. Henry C. Meyer has at last secured counsel. The law firm of Brooke, O'Sullivan & Brooke will defend the alleged poisoner.

TWO MORE VICTORIES

Place the Bostons In a Safe Position In the League Race.

BOSTON, July 29.—The champions have clinched their hold on the lead by again winning two games from Baltimore; the first by perfect fielding and remarkable luck against base running. Mullane was wild as a hawk in the first game, and was batted all over the lot. He kicked so much at Emslie's decisions that he was fined $10. Nichols pitched a very effective game. Nash's home run was made on a hit that struck the centerfield seats, the ball dropping underneath out of reach. A home run of this kind has never been made before on the grounds.

AGRICULTURAL SHOW.

An Interesting Exhibit at the World's Fair.

POPCORN LOSING ITS POPULARITY

But Other Articles Are Appearing to Take Its Place—That Agricultural America Leads All the World Is Demonstrated at the Exposition—Display of the Large Packing Houses—Cotton Seed Oil.

WORLD'S FAIR, July 26. — [Special.] — In a former letter I pointed out some of the interesting features of the great agricultural exhibit of the exposition, and said it would be necessary to recur to the subject again. The exhibit is so vast, covers so much that is interesting and valuable, that it is with reluctance one leaves the doors of the splendid palace and goes to view other departments of the fair. One of the distinguishing features of the agricultural show is the popcorn display. Perhaps you will remember that the man who made the most money at the Philadelphia exposition was the owner of the popcorn right. His profits, I have heard, amounted to the snug sum of $125,000 for the summer, a pretty fortune to make in six months with a capital of two or three thousand dollars. I regret to say that though popcorn sells tolerably well here the owner of the right is not likely to make a fortune. He sells more in this building than any other, but even here, where the popcorn lovers most do congregate, he is not disposing of half as much of his wares as he had a right to expect. All day long the popping of corn over the flames of gas goes on in two or three different places in the building, and a certain percentage of the visitors buy and eat, with all that abandon and delight with which popcorn usually is accompanied, but the aggregate sales are disappointing.

It seems that popcorn is losing its popularity among the masses of the people. One explanation of this fact is that we are getting farther away from the farm. Twenty years ago only one-sixth of the population lived in cities, and not one-tenth of it was born within the borders thereof. Now one-third of all our population lives in large towns or cities. As we drift away from the farm we escape from its good influences. We lose our love, or partly lose—for I do not think we can wholly do so—for the things which on the farm were our greatest delights. Besides, we are growing proud. Many of us think it would be beneath our dignity to be seen eating popcorn in the corridors of the Agricultural building, or any other building here. Why, I can't explain, for certainly popcorn is a great delicacy, one of the finest of confections, and there is no more reason why we should leave off its consumption than there is why we should stop smoking if we care to smoke.

The decadence of popcorn in America has also been brought about in part by the popularity of other confections. Years ago it was the universal delicacy. Now there are scores of other sweetmeats, cheap and wholesome. Many readers of this letter will be able to remember when about all the confectionery we had in this country was either the home-made variety known as "molasses candy," or imported French goods. Now we beat the French and all other peoples in the fabrication of sweetmeats.

If popcorn is gradually stepping to the rear at great expositions many other articles are appearing to take its place. Here in the Agricultural building one may take his choice of a great variety of articles of food and delicacy without price. For instance, a foreign firm gives away samples of savory extract of beef soups in the Argentine Republic exhibit, choosing that exhibit, probably, because it is from the Argentine states that it derives most of its raw materials. Many visitors to the fair take a plate of this soup every time they find themselves in the Agricultural building.

A number of chocolate and cocoa firms have booths at which they give away samples of their wares. One of these firms has erected here a pavilion of solid chocolate. It is thirty feet high, and contains 30,000 pounds of the sweet stuff, filling all the air about with its aroma. The pavilion is surmounted by a statue of Germania hewn from a big block of chocolate and containing 2,960 pounds. Another firm erects a castle of chocolate. An American baker gives away samples of his crackers, and there are people who manage to make a lunch on crackers, chocolate, cocoa, and extract of beef soups. If this does not satisfy them they can go up into the gallery and look for the booth in which a trim old colored woman, named "Aunt Jerusha," bakes little batter cakes and hands them around as an advertisement for a baking powder firm.

Quite significant of the wonderful progress made during the last ten or fifteen years by Americans in the art of preparing foods is the number and variety of the exhibits of this sort to be found in the building, principally in the broad galleries. One, more significant than the others, is a pavilion at which the attendants are constantly baking nice little cakes as an illustration of what may be accomplished by the use of cotton seed oil instead of lard. The makers of these oil goods claim they are in every way equal to leaf lard, that cotton seed oil is, in short, a cleanly, wholesome and cheap article of food. If you taste one of their cakes you will readily see that the facts appear to be on their side. The importance, especially to the south, of development of the food-value of the seed of the cotton crop is very great. It adds millions of dollars a year to the agricultural arnings of that section of the country; and if it is as good an article as lard, and cheaper, the remainder of us have no right to complain.

We see here that the Americans are coming to the front as makers of vermicelli and macaroni. The manufacturers, of whom there are now quite a number in this country, claim that the finest wares of this sort are made right here in this country, by American workmen and of American wheat. If this is true it is a welcome addition to our prepared foods, a science which is revolutionizing the culinary art and the household economies of the land.

The fact that America feeds the world, or helps to do it, is well exemplified in this building. As we wander through its long corridors and wide galleries it is easy to see that in soil, fertility, diversity of product, vastness of output, agricultural America leads all creation. There is no better proof of this than the displays made by the great packing houses of Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha and other western cities. There are no more interesting exhibits than these, either. Here is one firm which builds a beautiful refrigerator car and runs it into the Agricultural building. It is just like any other car save that it is of finer workmanship and its sides and ends are of the best plate glass, of double walls. Within are shown the carcasses of beeves, dressed for market; of sheep, hogs, lambs, calves, and all the products of these animals. The variety of these products is simply amazing. This freight car, some forty feet long, is filled from one end to the other with them, and there are few duplications. Very tempting some of them are, too, to the hungry visitor who has wandered about all day looking at the wonders of the fair.

The car is constantly iced and a big thermometer hanging within the plate glass tells you that the temperature there is 48 degrees Fahrenheit. Several thousand cars of this description are running constantly from the packing houses of the west to New York. They make up many trains a day, express freight trains which go through to the seaboard with but one icing en route. At New York their contents are taken aboard refrigerator vessels and sent on to Europe and other countries.

A single firm engaged in this trade killed last year nearly 1,200,000 cattle, more than 1,100,000 hogs, more than 1,000,000 sheep. Its plant in Chicago alone covers 40 acres of land, 60 acres of floor, and has 20 acres of roofs. Its total sales last year were $90,000,000. This is but one of many similar firms doing business on a similar scale in this world-feeding west of ours.

An interesting display here is the great Canada cheese, said to be the largest cheese ever made. It scents an acre or more of the Agricultural building. To see the top of this monster cheese you have to climb a staircase, and there the scent is almost strong enough to be fatal. The exhibitor ingeniously puts over his cheese a placard which reads:

"This Cheese Weighs 22,000 (lbs. not) Tons."

At first glance one reads it tons and fails to notice the "lbs. not" after the figures. Hence many visitors go home declaring to their friends there that at the World's fair they saw a cheese which weighed 22,000 tons. Further information given by the exhibitor about his cheese is that the mass required the milk of 14,000 cows which were milked by 1,666 pretty dairy maids, though he neglects to say how many days the 14,000 cows and 1,666 pretty dairy maids were thus employed. In the absence of more precise information on this point the visitor will do well to assume that the 14,000 cows were milked once, or 1,000 cows fourteen times, or 200 cows seventy times, by a correspondingly smaller number of pretty dairy maids.

Some of the advertising methods employed here make very interesting exhibits of themselves. One firm builds a model of the great flouring mills in Minneapolis. Another erects with sacks of flour a mediæval castle. A third shows us that always interesting process, weaving silk from the cocoon to the finished handkerchief which may be bought on the spot with your name embroidered in the corner. An old-fashioned log house, with its well sweep, its oaken bucket, its spring and spring house for the milk, attracts much attention. French-made English plum pudding is shown in a huge pyramid of which the top cone weighs four and a half pounds and the bottom one 387 pounds, the weight of the whole pudding being upward of a thousand pounds.

It is in agricultural machinery that America completely outstrips the remainder of the world, and in this section some of the most enterprising and skillful of advertisers have been at work. Their amazing displays of machines and implements are in motion. They have costly pavilions over them, luxurious rugs on the floor, electric lights in profusion, statues and figures, expensive printing matter which is gobbled up by the ton. Nothing could be more effective than the advertising device of a reaper and mower manufacturer. He has employed artists and model makers to paint and set up a perfect model of his immense factory, with the surrounding scenery. Where railways run along on Bogus Certificates Used to Swindle New England Banks.

WORKED BY WESTERN MEN

Losses In Boston Are Believed to Be Small.

BOSTON, July 31.—Boston and New England generally have again been victimized by the rascally officials of a western corporation, but the case is not as bad as has been reported. The case in brief is as follows: Officials of the Northern Pacific Grain Elevator company of Minnesota issued a large number of duplicate elevator certificates, which were deposited in banks as collateral. Unfortunately the 100 elevators controlled by this concern were not terminal elevators, over which the closest supervision is kept by Minnesota law.

Instead, no state vigilance was exercised in the case of these way station elevators, and it was wholly in this fact that the opportunity of the swindlers lay. The grain had been obtained on the original certificates, and the banks had absolutely Nothing to Show For Their Money.

It was not until the colt was stolen and had been spirited out of sight that the granary doors were secured. Of course the frauds of the employes of the company swept it out of existence, and the Northern Pacific Elevator company is today in the hands of a receiver, for it was in no way connected with the Northern Pacific railroad, merely having its elevators scattered along that line at points convenient for farmers.

The new concern that succeded to the business of the Northern Pacific Elevator company was called the Lake Superior Elevator company, and many of the stockholders in the old became stockholders in the new corporation. Moreover, a large share of them are eastern men, and they had acted as indorsers, so terms of compromise were speedily offered, which Have Yet to Be Accepted.

What these terms are cannot be stated with absolute definiteness, but it is supposed that they provided for a large cash payment of not less than half the total value of the certificates, the balance to be cleared up by a series of annual payments.

Still, nothing was suspected and elevator receipts were in active demand, for they brought good rates of interest, and what better collateral could be asked for than receipts of grain in store?

The news of the big swindle fell like a thunderbolt on banks and stockholders in the concern, but great secresy prevailed in the matter, more especially because of the stringency in the money market.

A Meeting of the Mourners was held in this city to see what could be done in the matter, and a committee was appointed to act for the institutions represented. This committee consists of George Ripley, president of the Hyde and Leather bank; Theophilus King, vice president of the Bank of Redemption, and George Little, field, president of the First National bank of Providence, which institutions are supposed to hold a considerable slice of the bogus certificates.

A Post reporter called on Edwin A. Presbrey, cashier of the Bank of Redemption, and found him unwilling to talk much about the case, except in a general way. He said, however, that he personally would be willing to hazard a guess that the amount at stake would not reach half the sum reported, running from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

He stated that a circular had been issued looking forward to a settlement, but that no understanding had yet been reached and that another circular might very possibly be forthcoming. As for the number of banks affected and the actual amount of the steal, Mr. Presbrey said no one knew definitely, except the expert accountants at work on the elevator company's books, although the members of the committee might have a good idea of it.

He did state, however, that in his opinion the number of Boston banks involved nor nearly so great as has been given. As to the number of New England banks holding certificates, he had no idea beyond thinking it very likely many might have got hold of them, besides those mentioned at Providence and Boston.

Was Not Large,

George Cooksey of the firm of David Dows & Co. of New York has been chosen president of the reorganized concern, the Lake Superior Elevator company, and unhesitatingly acknowledges the swindle. Moses Williams, president of the Third Naitonal bank and the State Street Safe Deposit and Trust company, said that while he had heard words dropped about the swindle, he had not received any intimation that a meeting had been held. He said that neither of the institutions he is connected with has a dollar in the Northern Pacific Elevator company's certificates. Evidently the gathering was held with great secresy.

"ROT" is the newspaper word for the gush which appears in the Boston dailies concerning the "blue laws" at Quincy, of which the following is a sample:

Many believe that the Sunday observance movement will result in the city's voting yes on the license question next year. The municipal election in December will be the hottest fight the city has ever seen, as there are several councilmen concerned in the present movement whose heads the voters say must come off.—Advertiser.

That the esteemed Boston daily should flop over so, is surprising. Because the city ordered J. D. Taber to cease running his flying horses on Sunday, is no reason for the report that the blue laws will be rigidly enforced in Quincy. The city has not ordered the booths at Houghs Neck closed or placed any restrictions on business other than the horses. The line must be drawn somewhere, and it was drawn very properly at the horses. As the Advertiser correctly stated Chief of Police Langley has refused to take notice further. If the proprietor of the flying horses has not had enough law however, he can probably be accommodated. If he and his family wish to show their revenge upon their neighbors in business, they in turn can make it uncomfortably hot. If he expects to force the city into granting permission, he is mistaken for the city has not the authority. If "many" believe that the large majority, who have voted for no-license, law and order, will turn about and uphold lawlessness and the desecration of the Sabbath, they will surely be mistaken.

The Late Captain Arnold.

Capt. Seth Harris Arnold who died on Friday, after a long and painful illness, at the advanced age of seventy-nine years, had been a resident at the Neck for more than twenty years and will be missed by his family and the friends and neighbors who have so long been accustomed to see him at his home on Howard avenue. He leaves a wife, five daughters,—Mrs. Bessie Eldridge, Mrs. Perry of Boston, Mrs. Henry Terry of Richmond, Va., Mrs. Richards of London, England, and Mrs. W. A. Clark of New York, and one son, Mr. Albert Arnold of London. The funeral services were held on Sunday; the interment at Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

A Model House.

Notwithstanding several attempts to divide the New England trade, only one plate concern is now doing business in Boston—The American Association. The National appeared to be doing excellent business, but the field was thrown up. The fact is that the demands for a wide range of reading and that of the very best quality make necessary ample capital and expert management. This is provided by the American, which is in advance of all its competitors in experience and ability to supply exact wants. Under the careful management of O. M. Douglas the Boston office of this house is a model of its kind, and newspaper publishers will always find a welcome there.—Press and Printer.

Commissioner Slade.

Hennessey in the Sunday Globe says:—"James H. Slade of Quincy who has been commissioned by the Cleveland administration to ascertain how much the national government owes the Cherokee Indians, was at democratic headquarters yesterday. 'I don't know as I shall be able to do so accurately,' said Mr. Slade, 'but I shall do so as nearly as I can in justice to both nations concerned.' Speaking of what congress is likely to do when it comes together in August, Mr. Slade said:—'I have talked with almost every southern and western members of congress about the silver question and I feel that the purchase clause in the Sherman bill will be repealed. The tendency is to coin a better dollar, say on a ratio of about 23 to 1."

Tape Worm Removed.

Miss Mary Jacobson, who resides on Kidder stree in this city, had removed successfully on Saturday last a tape worm measuring thirty feet in length, by Dr. W. H. Wallace, a specialist of Brockton, Mass. 2t —On Wednesday next, August 2d, a special excursion train will be run from South Braintree, Brockton and stations to Middleboro, inclusive, to Newport and return, the fares for the round trip being placed very low for the occasion. The train will leave South Braintree at 9.25 A. M., Brockton at 9.45 A. M., and Newport on the return at 6.00 P. M. A day in Newport is sure to prove a most delightful experience, whether one is fascinated by beauties of natural scenery and situations, the charms of architectural and artificial display, or the presence of refined and cultured society elements and belongings. Newport at midsummer is a most delightsome place indeed, and no person should neglect an opportunity like that presented by this proposed outing for its visitation.

SUNDAY AT BEACH.

Some of the Booths Closed Through Fear of Prosecution.

THREATENED BY MR. TABER.

There Were Many Exceptions, However, and Fun May Follow.

Judging from the crowds which visited the beach Sunday, the closing movement interested them very much. Sunday was a day of rest literally speaking for Mr. Taber and most of his help. The casino and amusement pavilion were closed and those clerks who have charge of these buildings wandered aimlessly about the crowded thoroughfares of Manet beach. The places below Taber's held open house to all appearances. The crowds patronized the soda fountains, candy cases, and cream chests as if a closure was probable and their lives depended on a good fill of the contraband goods. Crews visiting the beach were told by the inhabitants that a boycott had been placed on Houghs Neck, and rather strong language from said crew left a faint smell of sulphur in the air. Little knots of shopkeepers gathered in open doors after the crowd had dispersed and talked over the probable result of the violation of the Sunday law.

The patrol man was a busy man. Without doubt he completed his beat at least fifty times. Every one viewed him with an awe struck expression as if he held the future of this little summer colony on the palm of his hand. What will next Sunday bring forth?

A large number of yachts from the Hull, Commonwealth, Dorchester, Squantum, and other neighboring clubs visited the beach and for an hour or more gave their crews shore time.

The Edith, a trim looking sloop belonging to Mr. Lang of the Commonwealth, lay off the club house all day, and the ex-vice commodore entertained his lady friends in the large cabin.

Members from many of the bicycle clubs made runs to the shore. The Shawmut in particular made a fine showing.

The people who visit the Casino dances Saturday nights seem to appreciate Mr. Charles G. Batson's endeavor to make it a pleasure to dance. Since Mr. Batson has taken it in charge the crowds have increased very much.

Several large parties on tally-hos and innumerable turnouts visited the beach on Sunday.

Mrs Marie Engquist and Mrs. B. Flodin of Worcester are at the Riverside cottage.

Mrs. W. H. Glynn and family of Malden, together with Miss Alice Cuddy, are sojourning at Houghs Neck until September.

Deviled Clams.

Table Talk for August gives the following recipe for "deviled clams." The LEDGER representatives will be pleased to sample any and all dishes made therefrom:

DEVILED CLAMS. Drain twenty-five clams free from their liquor, which will be more easily done by pouring a cup of cold water over them. Chop very fine. Scald one cup of cream or milk. Rub together one tablespoonful of butter and two of flour until smooth, add to the scalded cream and stir it until it thickens. Then add two tablespoonsful of dry bread crumbs, the yolk of two raw eggs, and one tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Take from the fire, mix well together, stir in the clams, then add salt and pepper to taste. Do not add the salt until after the clams are well mixed in, for they being salty may flavor the mixture sufficiently. Fill clam, scallop, or silver shells, brush over with the beaten yolk of an egg, sprinkled with bread crumbs and brown in a hot oven. Serve on beds of watercress.

ENFORCEMENT OF LAWS.

Loafing About the First Church on Sunday Prohibited—Bicyclists Arrested.

As was expected Mr. Taber of Houghs Neck had his place of business with the exception of his hotel closed up tight. The Manet lunch room and Vinton's lunch were also closed. Outside of these everything was running as usual and anything kept by the several places could be purchased as usual.

Ray Taber, a son of landlord J. D. Taber was about, however, armed with a book and pencil. With him was a young man who was perhaps taken as a body guard, and perhaps as a witness. Young Taber was seen to be making notes of sales made and it would not be surprising if several of these were summoned into court before the week is over. The booth proprietors do not seem to be very much frightened over the affair, and say if Mr. Taber can stand it they can. It was understood that Mr. Taber had notified all parties to close up their places Sunday, but this they deny.

There was probably more excitement in the Centre about City Hall and the public drinking fountain. There have been many complaints about the crowd which congregates there Sunday, and orders were issued by Chief Langley to keep the crowd moving, to allow the bicyclists to get a drink of water and catch their breath and then travel on. Loafing about the steps of City Hall and the First church and swinging on the chains about the church yard were prohibited by an officer who was on duty.

This order is all right and was enforced with good results, but in some cases the officers exceeded their authority. A young man rode up on his bicycle, which he left leaning against the curbstone in front of Pierce's waiting room while he went for a glass of soda. He was not allowed to get the soda, however, for the officer came up and ordered him to move on. The young man said he only wanted to stop long enough to get a drink, but this the officer would not allow and the young man went thirsty.

This was not all the excitement, for the Chief of Police having received many complaints against bicycle riding on the sidewalk, gave orders Sunday to enforce the city ordinances in this respect, and arrest all parties riding on the sidewalk. As a result four men were arrested by Officer De Forest for riding on the sidewalk, if such it can be called, in front of the Merrymount park. These young men were brought to the police station, and they expected to spend the night there. They knew not that Quincy had a Good Samaritan in the person of Representative John R. Graham, who said it was too bad to keep the young man confined all night, as they were guilty of no serious crime, and Judge Tirrell was sent for.

Mr. Graham held himself indebted to the commonwealth in the sum of $400 for their appearance in court this morning; also furnishing the bail commissioner's fee.

The young men were honest and this morning they were on hand promptly at 9 o'clock and paid their fine and reimbursed Mr. Graham for the money advanced.

The enforcement of the ordinance relative to riding bicycles on the sidewalks is a good thing but as it has not been enforced and is now to be, it would be a good idea to have copies of the ordinance posted at all entrances into the city; also at places where visiting wheelmen could see them. However, it is a law in most if not all cities and wheelmen know it.

Ladies' Day, Q. Y. C.

Ladies' day of the Quincy Yacht club will be held Friday. The flagship Miriam, Commodore Faxon, will be anchored off the club house and the warning gun will be fired at 2.30 o'clock, when the signal and number denoting the course will be hoisted.

At 3 o'clock the second gun will be fired which will be the signal for the yachts to pass in review and sail over the course.

From 3 to 6 o'clock there will be a promenade concert at the club house for those who do not care to take the sail.

Supper will be served at 6 o'clock, to be followed by dancing until midnight.

Special open race is announced for Friday, Sept. 1, at 2.30 o'clock.

Rev. Eugene R Shippen, the young candidate who made his second appearance in the pulpit of the First church, Sunday, made even a more favorable impression than on the first occasion.

The Leader of Barre, Vt., says: "It is reported that Badger Brothers of Quincy, Mass., have leased sheds and are to move their business to Barre." No such good luck for Barre, as Quincy is good enough for Badger Bros.

The Montclair property in Ward Six, Quincy, is reported to have been sold to A. D. McClelland for $34,000. They have also sold a 10-room house for $8350. The Montclair property is one of the largest and best known tracts of suburban land near Boston which has been developed and put on the market during the last few years.

The writer of the table gossip of the Globe says: "Dr. Willian Everett of Quincy, who goes to congress as Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge's successor, is remarkable for his extreme mildness of manner and affability on the one hand, and for the intensity of his wrath when he "goes it," in which latter condition he has been described as "a cyclone with tornado sauce."

The alarm from Box 41 at 4.50 Saturday afternoon was rung in for a fire in a hen house owned by Alex. B. Smith, off Granite street. The blaze, which was a small one, was extinguished with a small loss. Mr. Smith had been troubled by boys who stole his eggs from this hen house, and to prevent any further thefts he had nailed the place up, which evidently angered the young hoodlums, who set fire to the building.

Bulging Value,

The largest load the dollar ever tugged. Lower prices than ever you knew before. For instance, a woven-wire spring bed with hardwood seasoned frame, made of extra heavy steel woven wire. CHESLEY—In Quincy, July 29, Mr. William Chesley, aged 84 years and 4 months.

As You Like It,

Or what's to become of our silver dollars! If this is the question you wish to solve, here's the way out of the difficulty. Invest your money in good furniture, and like land it will not depreciate,—that's how it differs from the mighty silver dollar. Let us illustrate a feature of the business being done by Henry L. Kincaide & Co. A delightful antique finished chamber set, ten pieces complete, neat, attractive and durable, the kind that adds the charm of dignity to your home,—the price seems absurdly little, $18.75. You may look at it today, tomorrow, or in years to come. Your investment remains good value for the dollars invested, and you reap the benefit.

OPEN ON SUNDAY.

World's Fair Management Failed to Draw the Expected Crowds.

CHICAGO, July 31.—The World's fair was open to the public yesterday, that is, the gates were open, but they might about as well have been closed, for the public did not seem to care to take advantage of the fact. Not since the fair was opened has the attendance been so light as it was yesterday. The grounds, Midway Plaisance and all were practically deserted. The total attendance up to 3 o'clock, including employes and concessionaires, was scarcely 10,000, and the officials at the bureau of admissions did not think the total for the entire day and evening would run over 12,000.

All the restaurants, cigar stands and drinking water fountains were closed. There was no attempt on the part of the World's fair management to make things attractive to visitors.

HORRIBLE DEATH.

A Lever Pierces a Woman's Body Through and Through.

CHICAGO, July 31.—A peculiar accident occurred at the east end of the Harrison street bridge Saturday.

An open car approached the bridge at a good rate of speed. As it struck the east end of the bridge, the latter swayed up and down for a moment. The heavy pointed hard wood tightening lever at the east end of the bridge fell from its fastenings and swung around directly against the right side of the car.

Miss Nellie Riordan sat at the outer edge of a seat near the middle of the car, and the pointed end of the lever struck her in the groin, passed through her body and made a hole in the back of the seat in which she was sitting.

A physician, who was summoned from a house near by, said the woman would bleed to death if the lever was withdrawn from her body. A saw was procured and the lever was sawed off two feet from Miss Riordan's body. She regained consciousness and was told that she would probably soon die. The surgeons removed the piece of the lever, and, in a few minutes, she died from loss of blood.

The flying splinters made by the bridge lever crashed through the seats of the car and endangered many lives. A long, sharp splinter struck Mrs. Maggie Carey, Mrs. Annie Dexter and Mrs. Maggie Ashcroft who were seriously injured, but will probably recover.

THE SOUL WINNER'S JOY.

They that are wise shall get to heaven,
And there in God's effulgence shine,
Where all rewards are strictly given
As stated in the book divine.
God will the bliss of heaven bestow
According to our works below.
The last degree the saints receive
Is more than mind can yet conceive.

If aught can heaven's bliss enhance,
Or make the crown of life more bright:
If aught can there a soul advance
Much nearer to the throne of light,
'Twill be by having, through God's grace,
Brought many souls to seek his face
And turn from sin to righteousness.
This constitutes the highest bliss.

Then let us toil and never cease
To earnestly proclaim God's love
And help by all means to increase
The number of the saved above.
So when to us a crown is given
They will enhance our bliss in heaven—
Will make us through the life divine
In God's effulgence brighter shine.

Rev. B. F. Eaton took an unusually appropriate theme for his farewell sermons at the Universalist church on Sunday, closing a pastorate of ten years to accept a call from Worcester; his text was: "Finally brethren, whatsoever things are true; whatsoever things are honest; whatsoever things are just; whatsoever things are pure; whatsoever things are lovely; whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue; if there be any praise; think on these things. Grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ; and the very God of peace sanctify you wholly."

WON BY BRAINTREES.

North Weymouths made the Fewer Errors But also the Fewer Hits.

The Braintrees defeated the North Weymouths Saturday, by hitting safe at the right time and because of costly errors of the North Weymouths. The North Weymouths have released Cloney; Carney will play second base and Nolan of the City Point will play catch.

The score :

Earned runs, Braintrees 2, North Weymouths 1. Two-base hits, Bass, Nolan. Home runs, Nolan and Holbrook. Double plays, Maynard and Nolan. Stolen bases, North Weymouths 6. First base on balls, by Dolan 3, by Soutter 2. Wild pitches, Soutter 2. Hit by pitched ball, Holbrook. Time 2 hours. Umpires Jones and French. Struck out, by Dolan 9, by Soutter 6. First base on errors, North Weymouths 6, Braintrees 4.

The Result in Doubt.

The Norfolk, Jr.s, and Rovers played at South Quincy Saturday, and there is some dispute as to which club won. The Norfolks claim the game by the following score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Norfolk, Jr.s,	0	1	0	1	0	0	4	0	0	—15
Rovers,	0	5	0	3	1	0	0	0	4	—13

The Rovers claim that they scored four runs in the eighth inning which were not credited, which if allowed would give them the game.

North Weymouths at Weymouth, Aug. 5.

At Braintree the Monatiquots were defeated by the Casinos of Roxbury.

TODAY'S COURT.

Fred Tarbox, J. Irvin Williamson and Wilmot Whitman were fined $5 each for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk.

John Grady and John Johnson of Quincy, for drunkenness, were fined $5 each.

Elizabeth McManus of Randolph was arraigned for keeping a common nuisance. Case continued until next Monday.

Edward Quinn of Weymouth was fined $20 for the larceny of an overcoat from William F. Mott.

John T. Buckley of Weymouth was fined $10 for disturbing the peace.

Patrick McMahan of Milton was fined $5 for drunkenness.

Better Scores.

Mr. Morse again appeared at the Wollaston Trap Club's shoot on Saturday and carried off the honors,—tieing the best score that has ever been made at any of the club's shoots. Last year Mr. Marsden scored 21 points and now he is tied with the Quincy shooter.

The score out of a possible 25 is as follows :

J. C. Morse,	21

Modest Priced!

Have you ever seen in your travels a COOKING RANGE,—one that claims the title deservingly? There are such ranges in existence, few and far between. The Magee Mystic however, stands on its merits alone. It is the queen of bakers, tried and worthy, quick and responsive. Here is how it differs from some of the antediluvian makes. A direct heat on all sides of the oven. It is a wonderfully economical stove, not a particle of heat is wasted. It is the tip-top range on the market. Price it in Boston, then price it here; you look and wonder. Only a pinch of profit for us. the rest is all for you! Other ranges in great variety. HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

Hearing Resumed In Shrievalty Case

CONCORD, N. H., July 31.—In the hearing in the Grafton county shrievalty case Saturday the court ruled pro terma that the qualification of the voters might be inquired into. Exception was taken and the question will be determined at the December term of the court. Counsel for both sides agreed upon ex-Governor Pingree of Vermont and S. E. Shurtleff of Montpelier as referees, and they will begin the hearing Aug. 7. They will make their report at the September trial term of the Grafton county supreme court.

Rocky Mountain Oil Company Absorbed.

DENVER, July 31.—The Standard Oil company has absorbed the Rocky Mountain Oil company. The deal involves $1,000,000. It embraces all the oil properties of the Rocky Mountain concern at Florence, the big refining plant at Overton, near Pueblo, the distributing depot in Denver, and all the other appliances and good will held by the late western competitor of the huge Standard corporation.

Admits His Guilt.

PATERSON, N. J., July 31.—A defalcation of $10,650 has been discovered in the cash of the First National bank of this city The money has been abstracted since July 1. The loss was discovered by United States Bank Examiner Stone, who made a complaint against Abraham Fardon, the paying teller. Fardon admitted that he was responsible for the loss of the money and asked that he be committed to prison.

Good News.

CHINO, Cal., July 31.—The Chino sugar beet factory, the largest in the country, with a maximum reducing capacity of 740 tons of beets a day, started today. The industry gives direct employment to 200 men in Chino and 700 in Anaheim. The crop of the Chino range is estimated at 50,000 tons. The output of the season will be 16,000,000 pounds of refined sugar.

New World's Mile Record.

MILWAUKEE, July 31.—W. C. Sanger celebrated his return from his world-beating trip abroad Saturday at National park by clipping five seconds from the world's mile competion record, which was 2m. 14 4-5s. held by himself. His time was 2m. 9 4-5s. made in the mile handicap.

Charged With Assault and Battery.

BOSTON, July 31.—In the Charlestown district court Thomas F. Sullivan and Patrick Buckley were held in $1500 each for the August term of the grand jury on the charge of assault and battery on the marine who was found dead near the navy yard gate.

Electricity to Supersede Steam.

NEW YORK, July 31.—The Union elevated railroad of Brooklyn, after competing for many months, with steadily increasing loss, with the new trolley cars, which parallel its lines, will shortly abandon steam as a motive power and substitute electricity.

Fed by Missourians.

SEDALIA, Mo., July 31.—Colorado sufferers to the number of 160 arrived here from Kansas City on two Missouri Pacific trains. They behaved themselves admirably, and after being fed were sent east in empty box cars.

Sonnet of New York.

"Wonderful!" This ejaculation comes
Not from a stranger, but from one whose nurse
Led him in fields where now the city hums—
The capital city of the universe!
For strangers are New Yorkers in three days
But the New Yorker is an alien still
At fourscore years and ten among the ways
Familiar to his sight—his own doorsill
Marked by the eye of commerce, whose swift gnomes
Already fashion a fantastic change.
Oh, homeless city of most sumptuous homes!
If the old Knickerbockers' spirits range
Manhattan, they have viewed queer things, I ween, Since their tiled gables circled Bowling Green.
—J. Henry Boner.

Anxious to Break Gladstone's Heart.

Lord Randolph Churchill, speaking at Leicester on Wednesday, revived the history of the three conspicuous Irishmen who had broken their hearts over the repeal of the union, or something equivalent to it—O'Connell, Butt and Parnell. Now Mr. Gladstone is engaged in the same enterprise and will experience just the same fate. Great Britain will soon have an opportunity of showing its determination not to allow this empire to be disintegrated to please "the civilized world" or the powers who grudge England her prosperity and would gladly see her weakened by her own folly in taking a step backward into division, when all other states are taking steps to attain a stronger unity and a completer organization. Lord Randolph evidently expects an early dissolution.—London Spectator.

Stanford's Two Palm Trees.

Mr. Stanford was not superstitious, but he believed that his life was linked with that of two palm trees which he had planted in front of his Palo Alto home. He bestowed great care on these trees, and they flourished until a few weeks before his death, when their leaves began to turn yellow. No one noticed this change until one evening the senator called the attention of one of his closest friends to the trees and said he regarded this as a bad omen. He said solemnly, "When those trees die, my life will end." The palm trees are now dead, and Stanford lies lifeless in the shadow of their withered tops.—New York Tribune.

"What Did the Privates Do?"

Pæans of praise have gone up at Admiral Tryon's refusal, with the words "Save yourself," of a life belt offered him. He would have been base indeed had he taken it, and his heroism is simply naught compared to that of the man who had tendered the life belt. Not a single paper has touched on the grand unselfishness of the subordinate, yet—from a woman's point of view at any rate—his offer was a far nobler act than the admiral's refusal.—Cor. Pall Mall Gazette.

"Rattlesnake Pete," who was one of the competitors in the recent cowboy race, has a suit of clothes that is made of 125 snakeskins, which took him nearly four years to gather. The buttons of his coat are rattlesnake heads mounted with gold.

A statement issued by the Japanese customs bureau shows that the trade of Japan with the United States is increasing more rapidly than it is with England, France and Germany.

SETTLED AT LAST.

Siam Accepts France's Ultimatum Without Reservation.

FRENCHMEN ARE SATISFIED

Controversy Has Caused Trouble In the French Cabinet.

PARIS, July 31.—A cabinet meeting, with President Carnot presiding, was held at the Elysee yesterday. The decision was that Siam's offer to concede the demands of France's ultimatum should be accepted.

How Siam Stands.

BANGKOK, July 31.—While the government of Siam accepted without reservations France's ultimatum, it received previously the assurance that the kingdom would not be dismembered until after the consideration by all powers concerned of France's demand for the territory between the 18th and 23d parallels.

It is somewhat remarkable that before Prince Vadhana, Siamese minister in Paris, could have received his instructions to accept the ultimatum Great Britain's refusal to recognize the blockade had become known in this city. The blockade is still maintained by the Forfait, Lutin, Inconstante, Comete and Lion. The British warships Pallas and Swift remain at the Menam bar, inside the blockade. The British warship Linnet and the German warship Wolf are at anchor in the river off Bangkok.

The British government mail has been allowed to pass, but mercantile correspondence with Siamese firms has been cut off. An effort is making, therefore, to render efficient an overland postal service via Tavoy and Rangoon.

Rear Admiral Hsmann has arrived at Koh-si-chang. M. Pavie remains at the same port. The French have seized the Siamese mail steamer Chantaboon and the Hong Kong steamer Phra-Chula with 100 Chinese aboard.

Of the British steamers rendered by the blockade 12 are in the trade with Hong Kong, eight in the trade with Singapore and one in the trade with Bombay.

A Cabinet Crisis.

BERLIN, July 31.—Despite official denials, reports of cabinet dissensions multiply. The latest story concerns the cabinet council held on last Wednesday. It is substantially as follows:

M. Declasse, under secretary of state for colonies, proposed a treaty with Siam on the lines of France's policy toward Madagascar. A protectorate should be established, he said, and all of Siam's relations with other states should be arranged through the French government.

M. Develle, minister of foreign affairs, replied hotly that such a proposal could not be considered by the present ministry. He, himself, had pledged the government publicly to respect Siam's independence, and rather than violate his pledge by accepting M. Delcasse's project he would resign his office. After a long discussion M. Delcasse proposed as an alternative that France occupy Angkor and Battambang.

M. Develle refused also to agree to this. He would consent only to a pacific blockade, he said. On the following day M. Delcasse informed Premier Dupuy by letter of his intention to resign because he was convinced that a pacific blockade was an inadequate measure.

On the same day M. Develle, after a long interview with the Marquis of Dufferin, British ambassador, declared himself to be more determined than ever to confine the government's action to the blockade. The difference between him and M. Delcasse were adjusted at the cabinet council on Thursday afternoon. Nevertheless M. Delcasse is known to be dissatisfied and is believed to be on the point of resigning.

Seeking Satisfaction.

NEW YORK, July 31.—The Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions has sent a letter to Secretary of State Gresham requesting that immediate and decisive action be taken by the government in regard to the outrage on Miss Melton, the missionary of the board who was assaulted by unknown persons while staying in a Nestorian village in the heart of the Koordish mountains in Asiatic Turkey.

All on Account of a Pension.

PORTSMOUTH, O., July 31.—Secretary Hoke Smith was hanged in effigy by an enraged citizen mob of Rome Saturday night because the pension of J. L. Reed, a veteran, aged 83 years, was dropped. Mr. Reed's pension was his sole support. It was intended to burn the president in effigy also, but wiser counsels prevailed. Several speeches were made.

A Curious Case.

TACOMA, July 31.—Dr. J. S. Wintermute, complainant in a $41,000 damage suit against James Stinson, a Chicago stock man, was accused in the United States court of hypnotizing a witness who was on the stand. Stinson says Wintermute hypnotized persons in his house at Chicago and is positive he had the witness under his influence.

Work at Steel Mills Curtailed.

PITTSBURG, July 31.—The trouble among the iron mills resulting from the unsettled trade conditions has at last come to affect the steel works of the Carnegie company at Homestead. Commencing tonight the night turns will not run in the plate mill. This particular department has never been slack of orders before.

Criticised the American Branch.

LONDON, July 31.—Edward O'Flaherty sailed from Queenstown yesterday on the Umbria for America. The Cork Parnellites made a great farewell demonstration. O'Flaherty spoke at considerable length concerning Irish politics. He criticised severely the leaders of the Irish national federation in the United States.

A Crooked Warden.

DES MOINES, July 31.—Warden McMillan of the Fort Madison penitentiary, who was found to be short in his accounts and who sanctioned many irregularities in that institution, has been suspended by Governor Boies.

Spurgeon at Home.

LONDON, July 31.—Rev. Thomas Spurgeon preached in the Tabernacle yesterday for the first time since his return from Auckland. The congregation was exceptionally large.

Signs of Better Times.

HARRISBURG, July 31.—The American tube and iron works at Middletown will resume operations next week.

The Age of Publicity.

Old time privacy got a great blow when a Paris mob pulled down the Bastille. This is the age of publicity, and we have reason to rejoice at it. "Think," wrote President Eliot the other day, "how all sorts of abuses and cruelties are checked and prevented by the publicity of modern life—a publicity which depends on the universal capacity to read." It is true enough that so great an advantage has not been won without a good deal of accompanying detriment. Private life is pried into far too much for the edification of a servants' hall society. M. Taine's desire for seclusion was probably an outcome of personal temperament, but justification could be found for it, if that were necessary, in the abuses of the confidences of other men.

Newspapers every day meddle with matters that it is a needless cruelty to touch. The greatest journals in New York invited their readers the other morning to discuss with the federal authorities whether and how often a bride's wedding dress had been worn. Coroners subject the sanctity of dead clay to brutal violation and publish resulting surmises which it was villainy ever to have made. So the sunshine sometimes scorches and withers plants that are not fit to bear it. Nevertheless without sunlight there can be no wholesome life.—Harper's Weekly.

A Feat In Carving.

In all branches of sport beating the previous record is a performance of almost everyday occurrence, and no matter how excellent the achievement it is not likely to remain long unchallenged and unconquered. The establishment of a new kind of record, although not strictly within the realms of actual sport, cannot therefore fail to interest that large class of speculators who are ever ready to discover something new on which to stake their spare cash. A wealthy young Cuban recently made a bet with the carver of one of the leading night restaurants on the Boulevard—the wager being for 1,000 francs—that the latter would not cut and make 2,000 complete sandwiches in 24 hours.

The carver won the bet easily, accomplishing the feat in 19 hours and 40 minutes, demolishing 22 hams in the operation. This huge mass of sandwiches was divided among the principal hospitals of Paris and the environs, among whose inmates the unexpected advent of such tasty morsels created unfeigned delight. —Paris Cor. London Telegraph.

Admission Fees at the Big Fair.

The disappointment which follows the payment of a quarter to see the block-like but highly scented Eskimos illustrates the great ruling principle at this show, which is that the best that is to be seen is what is seen free of extra cost. If the Eskimos, the Irish village, the animal show, the Turkish town and that sort of thing are worth 25 and 50 cents each to a visitor, it is certain that the great exposition, common to all for one admission fee, should be rated at a thousand dollars' worth of sightseeing.

The wonders of every avenue of industry and the treasures of every form of art from all over the world are all to be seen for a half dollar paid at the outside gates. The things that cost extra are very closely like the sideshows of the circuses and the dime museum exhibits of the Bowery. They are genuine, and those in the Bowery are faked—that's the main difference.—Chicago Cor. New York Sun.

Schoolmarms Pestered by Mice.

Innocent little mice have caused such a commotion among the lady teachers of the new Neiser school at Bethlehem that a strike is hinted at unless the directors go gunning for the pestiferous beasts. Although the building is new, a large number of mice frolic about on every floor, and the schoolmarms are in constant terror. Feminine eyes glance nervously about beneath desks, and nervous hands twitch close to the skirts to be ready for a retreat in case a bold mousie scampers her way.

The pupils, especially the boys, whose sense of humor is better developed than their veneration, do not hesitate to scare the bothersome mice so they will run toward their teachers. The question is so grave the school board will take action, it is said, to abate what the pretty girl teachers say is "a horrid nuisance."—Philadelphia Record.

Perjury In England.

Confession is said to be good for the soul, and if such be the fact The Pall Mall Gazette and an English judge can take much comfort. They declare that perjury is becoming a fashionable vice in England. In trying a case at Birmingham Judge Chalmers, who has been a magistrate in India, says that as perjurers the false witnesses of Bengal, of whom dozens can be got for a sixpence, are not to be compared with their congeners in England. In the case he was trying the cross swearing was so hard that no verdict could be given. The Gazette says it is humiliating, but the same vice prevails in London. "The honor of a politician, the honor of a wife—it made no difference; you can always hire some one to swear it away."—Exchange.

The Mania For Suicide.

Another woman who has the suicide habit has turned up in the person of Maggie Benner of New York. Seven times during the past year has she attempted to end her life, but all have been unsuccessful. The first time was in March, 1892, when she jumped into the East river and was rescued. Several weeks ago she drank carbolic acid, and on Tuesday night she attempted suicide again by drinking paregoric and carbolic acid. She has also been sent to the Bellevue hospital four times while suffering from alcoholism. Besides these futile attempts at death she has been arrested for stabbing a woman.

True Love Is Immortal.

He was old and grim and grizzled and gray,
With whiskers that looked like a forkful of hay,
And he lived in poor style for a man of his means,
While his costume ran mostly to flannel and jeans.
His neighbors made a sort of a butt and a joke of him—
Called him "lazy old Bill" whenever they spoke of him—
And yet to his wife—and who dares call her silly?—
He was never aught other than "darling" or "Willie."

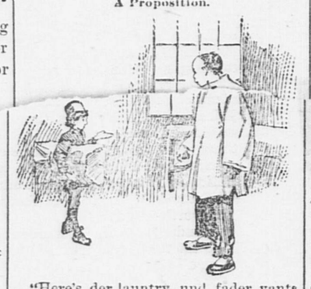

—Indianapolis Journal.

Let Me Believe.

Let me believe you, love, or let me die!
If on your faith I may not rest secure,
Beyond all chance of peradventure sure,
Trusting your half avowals sweet and shy,
As trusts the lark the pallid, dawnlit sky,
Then would I rather in some grave obscure
Repose forlorn, than, living on, endure
A question each dear transport to belie.
It is a pain to thirst and do without,
A pain to suffer what we deem unjust,
To win a joy and lay it in the dust;
But there's a fiercer pain—the pain of doubt—
From other griefs death sets the spirit free—
Doubt steals the light from immortality!

CRISP IS ON HAND.

Members of Congress Are Flocking Into Washington.

SHERMAN BILL SUBSTITUTE

Will Be the Administration's Chief Stumbling Block.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Speaker Crisp has arrived here in readiness for the opening of the extra session of congress. Already members are advancing upon Washington by every train, so that they may have an early opportunity of expressing to him their desires as to committee assignments. There is quite a respectable congressional contingent already here, and this week will be a busy one. There is still a good deal of uncertainty as to how long the session will last after it once assembles.

President Cleveland is expected to be at the White House by Wednesday or Thursday, and Vice President Stevenson is to be at his hotel by the middle of the week. All the members of the cabinet are expected to be here in time for the regular cabinet meeting next Friday.

While the president's message is understood to be practically completed, and while Mr. Crisp's committees are understood to be practically outlined, it is understood that both will this week between the president, his cabinet, Mr. Crisp and other leaders.

Be Considered In Conferences

It is expected that the president's message will be confined to a terse and trenchant presentation of the facts of the financial situation, together with a vigorous demand for the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act.

It is expected that Mr. Crisp's committees will be in harmony with the purposes of the administration. It is recognized, however, that the make-up of the committees is becoming less and less important as regards the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, as the pressure for that repeal becomes stronger and stronger.

It is the belief that the country has been brought to feel that the repeal must be made and made promptly, which induces members of the administration, and some of the senators and representatives already here, to expect that it will be carried early in the session, without filibustering on the part of the silver men and, therefore, without necessity for any form of cloture in either house.

It is stated that Vice President Stevenson is as strongly in favor of the repeal as Mr. Crisp, and as ready, if necessary, to filibustering against the vote. He feels, just as Mr. Crisp does, that the country is with the administration in its peremptory demands, and that it is a duty to do all he can to secure the action the people desire.

But the fact that most of the men over whose deliberations Mr. Crisp and Mr. Stevenson are to preside share their views about the country's wishes will probably make it unnecessary for either of them to take any heroic measures in the chair to secure the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act.

The troubles of the party in power will come after the repealing act has been signed by the president, when the subject of the substitute for the Sherman act comes to be considered.

Predictions as to the Outcome of this consideration are idle, for already a score of substitute propositions have been offered, and others will be forthcoming, while there has been no means of ascertaining which is most likely to command the support of a majority in either house.

Most public men of either party, in discussing this, usually wind up with the observation that it does not so much matter what congress may do, since Cleveland will have the final decision, so that, if the proposed legislation is good, he will sign it, and if it is not, he will veto it.

No one expects any action on the tariff question until the financial matter is out of the way, although William L. Wilson of West Virginia, who is almost certain to be chairman of the ways and means committee, with the other members of the majority of that committee, are expected to mature a tariff bill while the financial discussion is going on.

Brotherly Love.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Roman Catholics and Baptists worshipped in the quaint East Avenue Baptist church of Long Island City yesterday. Rev. Father McGuire, pastor of the burned St. Mary's, says that 4000 of his flock were there before noon. The Baptist pastor, Rev. Dr. L. T. Griffin, preached to 600 of his parishioners at the morning service. Both had warm words of Christian fellowship for each other, the priest dwelling upon gratitude, the Protestant upon sympathy.

Took $4000 With Him.

LEADVILLE, Col., July 31.—An old man named Judkins and his two sons for several years past have been living in the mountains some 10 miles from here. Yesterday one of the boys known as "Hank" complained of being sick and returned to the cabin. When the others returned at night Hank had disappeared and a search revealed that he removed a sack containing $4000 in gold.

Dr. McGlynn's Apology.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 31.—Five thousand people filled Asbury Park auditorium to hear Father McGlynn speak on the "Life and Character of Jesus Christ." In announcing his theme, Father McGlynn said he chose it because some people rebuked him for talking too much of Catholicism and too little about Jesus Christ.

Diamond Tips.

Keeler has been hitting the ball in great shape for the Brooklyns.

Taunton, Mass., is to have a first-class semi-professional club, under the management of John J. Piggott.

If young Bannon of St. Louis can really get his release, there will be a great demand for him as soon as his 10 days are up.

Joe Mulvey will not play again this season with the Washingtons, and it is very probable that the present season will wind up his base ball career.

Last year President Byrne gave it out that it was John Ward's inability to handle the players that kept the Brooklyns down. What is it this year?

She Found Out.

PATERSON, N. J., July 31.—William Gardner, his wife and baby were frightfully burned at their home by an explosion of benzine. They had been saturating the cracks and crevices in the bedroom for bedbugs. Mrs. Gardner lighted a match to see what effect the benzine had on the bugs, and dropped it into the can containing the liquid. A terrific explosion followed.

A Batch of Shutdowns.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., July 31.—Sandford & Sons' carpet mills have shut down for at least two weeks. They employ 2000 hands. The following mills have also closed: The Van Antwerp Knitting mills, indefinitely; Johnson Knitting Company's mills, two weeks; Shuler Spring works, one week, and Starin Silk mill, at Fulton, two weeks.

The only things in the machinery exhibit which struck me as being positively new were a corn-planter which uses wire ropes stretched from one side of the field to the other to enable the driver to mark straight lines, and projections on the wires automatically to drop the corn in hills of absolute uniformity; and a potato harvesting machine which it is claimed will dig the potatoes without cutting them, put them in sacks, and plow the land ready for any crop which it may be desired to follow, all by going once over the ground.

ROBERT GRAVES.

STRUCK BY A BALL BAT.

A Malden Boy Probably Fatally Injured by a Youth of 19.

MALDEN, Mass., July 31.—Frank Hession, aged 11 years, is at the Malden hospital in a dying condition, and Eugene Callahan, aged 19, is locked up on a charge of inflicting the injuries upon young Hession.

It is claimed that both boys were playing ball in Flavin's field, and Callahan was batting a ball, and the bat, which was a broken one, slipped out of his hands and the broken end struck Hession in the eye, putting his eye out and entering his brain. The doctors think that his skull may be fractured.

He has remained in an unconscious condition ever since the accident, and at the Malden hospital the doctors thought there was no chance for his recovery.

Hession lost his other eye several years ago by a carpenter throwing a chisel and hitting him in the eye.

The police arrested Callahan and will hold him until the extent of Hession's injuries can be learned. Callahan had been drinking, but claims that Hession's injuries were accidental.

EDITOR HAYES ARRESTED.

Police of North Adams Have Long Been Looking For Him.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., July 31.—Elmer Keyes, editor of the Tunnel City Telescope, for whom the police have been looking since July 4, was arrested last Saturday night. In the latter part of June Keyes completed a term in the jail of Pittsfield for libellous statements in his paper, and, returning to North Adams, announced that he would resume publication of the Telescope.

The first number was printed out of town and appeared July 4. It contained libels on the chief of police, members of the police force and prominent citizens. The whole edition was seized by the police and the selling agents was arrested. Hayes stayed at Bennington, Vt., until Saturday, when he came to Adams to consult his lawyers, and was promptly arrested. J. Kearns of Adams, the selling agent, has been held for the grand jury.

Two Bodies Recovered.

SALEM, Mass., July 31.—The yacht Olive which went down in a squall a week ago Sunday was found yesterday and two bodies of men drowned in her were recovered. She was found off "The Haste" ledges. The yacht was sitting on an nearly even keel. Forward, still grasping the jib halyards and entangled in them was found young Andreas Liebsch, he evidently having been caught while lowering the jib and in that position had gone down with her. On the other lee side of the boat was found his father Anton Liebsch.

An Encouraging Prediction.

WARE, Mass., July 31.—Rev. James Boyle, pastor of All Saints' Catholic church in this town, addressed 1400 persons in his church on the present business situation and the lockout of 1000 persons Saturday for one month by the shut down of the Otis mills in this town. Rev. Boyle, who is a strong Republican in politics, declared that no just reason could be given for the present depression in business and gave it as his opinion that the mills now being shut would be running night and day to make up for lost time by Oct. 1.

Charged With Malpractice.

RUTLAND, Vt., July 31.—Herbert H. Pitkin of Fair Haven and Mrs. Loraine Gould of this city were arrested here charged with a criminal operation, causing the death of Eva S. Shaw, daughter of George Shaw, a prominent resident of San Francisco. They both pleaded not guilty before Justice Bailey and were held in $2500 bonds to await examination. The maximum penalty in this state for this offense, resulting in death, is 20 years, and the minimum five years.

Mercier at Worcester.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 31.—Honore Mercier, ex-premier of Quebec, addressed two large audiences at Lincoln park, Lake Quinsigamond. He spoke in both French and English in favor of the independence of Canada. A banquet followed in the evening. Mercier was entertained at several of the club houses.

Doctor's Services Not Needed.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 31.—President Cleveland spent the greater part of Sunday on the veranda. At 6 o'clock President Cleveland and Dr. Bryant drove to the station, and Dr. Bryant boarded a train. Dr. Bryant said that his visit at Gray Gables was ended.
